Resort City Of Siem Reap Is Again Hit; School Also Damaged In Shelling

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops carried out harassment raids across Cambodia Monday night, including attacks near the resort city of Siem Reap, military spokesmen said today. American forces battled Communist units in the Cambodian Fish Hook region.

A Cambodian military spokesman said Communist troops also attacked around Kompong Thom, 80 miles north of Phnom Peh and opened fire on a school south of the capital. Damage and casualties in all cases were light.

RETAKES AIRPORT

Cambodian forces retook the airport of Siem Reap, near the ancient ruins of Angkor Wat, and Kompong Thom Sunday.

Cambodian troops fanned out from Siem Reap today and reported no apparent damage to Angkor Wat in the fighting.

In Saigon, U. S. and South Vietnamese spokesmen said the campaign in Cambodia had killed 11,512 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops. They said 19,156 individual weapons and 2,534 crew-served weapons had been captured along with 7,016 tons of rice.

U. S. casualties in the six and a half weeks of the Cambodian operation were placed at 263 men killed and 1,098 wounded. Government losses were reported as 686 dead and 3,120 wounded.

HIGHLY PLACED SOURCE

Highly placed Allied military sources said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong had launched the third "high point" of a summer offensive last week but they could not sustain the drive.

The heaviest reported fighting in the Fish Hook region of Cambodia flared early today 86 miles north-northwest of Saigon. Three Americans were killed and 15 wounded in fighting eight miles north-northeast of Mimot. The battle involved a unit of the U. S. 25th Infantry Division.

One American was killed and six wounded Monday afternoon 108 miles north-northwest of Saigon when a 1st Air Cavalry Division patrol fought a small band of Communist troops.

A delayed report from Saigon said a Marine Corps F4 Phantom jet was shot down Sunday 15 miles northwest of An Hoa and 28 miles southwest of Da Nang. One of the two crewmen was missing.

Cambodian military spokesmen in Phnom Penh predicted the Communist setbacks at Kompong Thom and Siem Reap would prompt the guerrillas to make further attempts to seize smaller towns in the area.

The closest action to Phnom Penh was at Kompong Speu school, 26 miles southwest of the capital on the American-built Freedom Highway linking Phnom Penh with Kompong Som, known under the regime of Prince Norodom Sihanouk as Sihanoukville.

FIRES ON STUDENTS

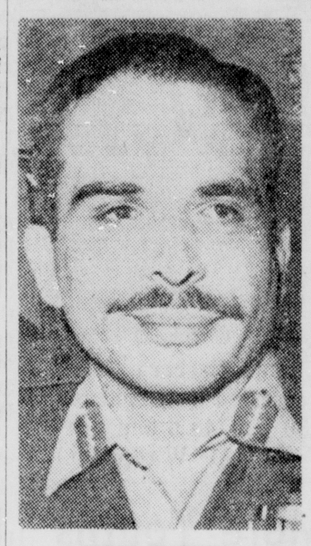
Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops opened fire with rifle and automatic weapons on students who live in the school. The attackers later withdrew, taking with them several wounded, the spokesman said. One student was wounded.

Viet Cong forces also harassed Prey Veng City, the scene of heavy fighting 10 days ago. They withdrew after a short battle at the provincial capital, 27 miles east of Phnom Penh.

An official communique said at least one battalion of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops was wiped out in the fighting at Kompong Thom and "heavy losses" were inflicted on the Communists at Siem Reap with great amounts of munitions, materiel and medical supplies captured.

The communique said Cambodian patrol boats on the Mekong River battled Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops near Prep Chik, 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh. Two boats were damaged and two sailors wounded.

Hussein Motorcade Hit Outside Amman



KING HUSSEIN
Escapes assassination

King Escapes Unhurt; Street Fighting Rages

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — King Hussein came under fire today when his royal motorcade was attacked on the outskirts of Amman while Arab guerrillas fought Jordanian troops in the streets of the capital city of Jordan. Amman Radio said the king escaped unhurt.

Heavy fighting broke out between the guerrillas and Jordanian soldiers early in the day and continued through the afternoon despite reports that a cease-fire had been arranged. The guerrillas said the troops were using tanks and artillery.

The Jordanian Interior Ministry said "large numbers" of persons had been killed or wounded in the fighting. It gave no specific figures.

A member of the French Embassy staff, however, was shot three times and seriously wounded at an army roadblock in the capital during the clashes.

Amman Radio, in announcing the attack on Hussein, said his motorcade came under heavy fire from armed men—presumably guerrillas — about eight miles from Amman. It did not make clear whether the attack was deliberate or accidental.

FORCED TO RETURN

Guerrilla sources said only that the king's motorcade was "forced to return to Amman" but made no mention of any shooting.

Amman Radio repeatedly broadcast reports that a cease-fire had been worked out between Jordanian officials and the leaders of the Palestine Arab guerrilla organizations. But reports from guerrilla sources in Cairo and Beirut said fighting was still going on hours after the reported agreement had been reached.

The official Jordanian radio interrupted its programs at 3:15 p.m. to report that King Hussein's motorcade came under attack, presumably by Palestinian guerrillas, near Suweihih, about eight miles northwest of Amman, this morning. Hussein was not hurt, the broadcast said.

TEXT OF MESSAGE

The radio broadcast the text of a message for Jordanian Premier Bahjat Talhouni congratulating Hussein on his escape "during a criminal attack" on the royal motorcade.

"I am aware of the prfound sorrow of his majesty caused by today's regrettable incidents but I have faith Jordan will pass through this ordeai under the king's wise leadership," Talhouni said.

Officials in Cairo said Yassir Arafat, leader of the Al Fatah guerrilla organization, who had been in Cairo for Palestine National Council meetings, rushed back to Amman Monday for talks with Jordanian officials to end the crisis. These Cairo sources said the fighting was "reminiscent" of the major clashes between guerrillas and Jordanian troops in November, 1968, when hundreds were killed or wounded.

Al Fatah sources said, the Jordanian army was using

Tiburon Approves 112-Home Project

By GEORGE NEVIN

The Tiburon City Council held a final public hearing last night and then approved a master plan for development of the Hilarita site. (Another Tiburon City Council story, page 19).

By a 5-1 vote, with Councilman Branwell D. Fanning dissenting, the council approved on first reading plans for 112 units of moderate income housing on an eight-acre site.

E. Morton Sshaffran, housing consultant for the Marin County Ecumenical Association for Housing, the project's sponsor, listened while the council granted the association the 112 units he consistently had maintained were necessary to make the project economically feasible.

Afflicted with a sore throat, Schaffran, leader of the pro-Hilarita forces at the two previous public hearings, did not speak.

A standing-room only audience crowded the city council chambers but followed Schaffran's lead and participated little in the discussion.

Councilmen did most of the talking, spending about half the three-hour public hearing deciding what it wanted built on an adjacent 4.8-acre parcel.

The owner of the land, the Marin County Housing Authority, has proposed to sell this parcel to a private developer for market value housing in order to recoup part of the loss incurred in selling at less than market value the eight acres to the ecumenical association.

On a motion by Fanning, which Mayor Denis T. Rice seconded, the council specified that six single-family residences be built on the lower two acres of the 4.8-acre site to serve as a buffer zone between Hilarita and surrounding homes.

For a time discussion centered around retaining the 4.8 acres in open space. Since the housing authority said it needs only $36,000 from the sale of the parcel, Littman suggested that either the city or Rolling Hills homeowners buy the parcel and leave it undeveloped.

But Philip S. Erlich Jr., chairman of the housing authority, told the council that his agency is "in desperate financial straits. We want to get all we can from the sale of this land. We mentioned the $36,000 figure only to show the lowest we can afford to go."

Erlich said he didn't know if six single-family homes on the parcel will be acceptable to the authority. '/We'll have to get our real estate experts on this. I'm not prepared to say yes or no on six units right now," he said.

Herbert E. Wenig, owner of adjacent property and a critic of the project, said of the 4.8-acre parcel: "I think the area should be kept in conformity with the surrounding lots. If we can't have a park there, then let's keep it at its present zoning single family residential)."

But Rice assured him that the council approval of the project does not preclude a later stipulation that the 4.8 acres be preserved for a park.

As discussion continued, it became clear that Fanning was the only councilman who still had serious questions about Hilarita Anne L. Ellinwood, Albert H. Sennett and Carlisle Becker had little to say.

"I'm still worried about the overall density," Fanning said. "Part of my concern is not just the number of units but the number of people."

He estimated that about 358 persons would live in the new project. "There isn't sufficient weight in the direction of one-bedroom units," he said, "and too much weight in the direction of three-bedroom units. The project would be much more feasible if the housing authority didn't try to extract so much money from it."

He suggested the city stipulate fewer three-bedroom units, but Planning Director Wayne E. Moody said that the time to do that is when the ecumenical association applies for approval of a precise plan, and not in the master planning stage.

Rice then called the question, and Fanning was the only councilman not in favor of the development.

Fanning explained his vote: "I don't want to see Tiburon acquire a ghetto that we'll have to live with for a long time. It's not a ghetto now, and I don't want to see it become one."

Stacking Charged In Mental Chief Search

The screening committee to pick a new director of the Marin Mental Health Center is stacked against incumbent Donald P. Wilson, two supervisors declared today at the Civic Center.

Supervisors Louis H. Baar and William A. Gnoss called for either a change in the screening committee or for the supervisors and Marin General Hospital directors to screen the 18 applicants. Among the applicants is Dr. Wilson, who wants to stay on as director.

Baar and Gnoss were outvoted by chairman John F. McInnis, Michael Wornum, and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., who decided that the screening committee should complete its job of selecting the top three, with the final appointment to be made by supervisors and hospital directors.

The matter came up with a statement from Marlene Allen of Mill Valley, a volunteer at the health center, who declared that the nine-member screening committee has been criticized in the press as prejudiced.

Baar said he read editorials in the Independent-Journal and the Pacific Sun that pointed out the committee is stacked against Dr. Wilson.

Arrigoni acknowledged that the committee includes Dr. Seymour Boorstein, whose wife was a supporter of Dr. Clyde G. Miller. A feud between Miller and Wilson led to a shakeup last year.

McInnis, Wornum and Arrigoni declared that it would be impossible to get a completely unbiased screening committee anyway, and abolishing the present committee would accomplish nothing.

"It startles me that this wasn't a stacked group until Dr. Wilson entered the picture," said McInnis. "I think we're on the path of idiocy. I think we all need psychiatric help."

Blackmun Is Sworn In As Ninth Judge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Judge Harry A. Blackmun took the oath of office from his boyhood friend, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, today to become the ninth justice of the Supreme Court.

The brief, formal ceremony for the 61-year-old Minnesotan filled a vacancy that had existed on the high court since the resignation of Abe Fortas 55 weeks ago.

The new justice — the 98th to serve on the court in its history — was accompanied to the swearing in by Attorney General John N. Mitchell.

In a combined judicial-constitutional oath, Blackmun swore to do equal right to the poor and to the rich and to uphold the U. S. Constitution.

The dignified ceremony, in a packed courtroom, lasted only seven minutes.

Mitchell presented Blackmun's commission, which was read aloud — with the audience standing — by the court clerk, John F. Davis.

The commission said Nixon has "trust and confidence" in the wisdom and learning of Blackmun.

Blackmun then stepped to the center of the bench and repeated the oath after Burger, a fellow Minnesotan with whom he grew up.

A federal appeals court judge from Rochester, Minn., Blackmun was Nixon's third choice for the seat vacated by Fortas. Two southern judges — Clement F. Haynsworth and G. Harrold Carswell -- were rejected by the Senate.

Cambodian Raiding Gets Nod, Ky Reports

SAIGON (AP) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said tonight Cambodian leaders have agreed to "let us launch military operations along the border as well as anywhere necessary for our security."

His report, which apparently opens the door to South Vietnamese military forays against Communist command forces deep inside Cambodia, came in a televised broadcast to the Vietnamese people.

FCC Ends Cable TV Freeze For Novato

By THERON A. NEWELL

A two-year freeze on cable television in Novato has ended with the Federal Communications Commission granting Western Caifornia Telephone Co. and G'tec Cable TV to go ahead with new hookups and new construction, Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District announced today.

This ends the frustration of approximately 2,700 families which have 30 miles of cable in front of them and could not hook onto it for the past two years.

It will also allow new construction to go ahead in areas of the city in which there is no television cable.

Frank Palik, chief of Domestic Services and Facilities Division of the FCC, wrote Clausen that the FCC would permit hookups to existing facilities and the construction of new facilities.

"Thank heavens, I'm glad this matter is settled," Clausen, in his office in Washington, told the Independent-Journal by phone today.

"I am pleased that it was settled in favor of the companies so that Novato could have better television reception," said Clausen.

The Novato City Council originally issued the franchise for cable television to Western California Telephone Co., a subsidiary of General Telephone Co.

That company had until July 1, 1968 to complete the facilities. In the meantime, the council at Western California's request, transferred the franchise to G'tec, another subsidiary of General Telephone Co. G'tec leased the facilities from Western California which constructed them.

On June 26, 1968, the FCC issued a cease and desist order on connections by telephone companies keeping the Novato residents served by Western California Telephone Co. from hooking onto the cable.

Merle L. Sebald, manager of G'tec cable TV and Gordon L. Lee, manager of Western California Telephone Co. in Novato, said that they had not received official notice of the FCC ruling but when they did would give the schedule for hookups to the cable and for new construction.

My Lai Charges Vs. One Dropped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army today dismissed all charges against one of the officers accused in connection with the alleged My Lai massacre, the Pentagon announced.

The Army said that "based upon available evidence, no further action should be taken in the prosecution of those charges," against Capt. Thomas K. Willingham, 25, of Allenhurst, N.J.

FCC Ends Cable TV Freeze For Novato

By THERON A. NEWELL

A two-year freeze on cable television in Novato has ended with the Federal Communications Commission granting Western Caifornia Telephone Co. and G'tec Cable TV to go ahead with new hookups and new construction, Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District announced today.

This ends the frustration of approximately 2,700 families which have 30 miles of cable in front of them and could not hook onto it for the past two years.

It will also allow new construction to go ahead in areas of the city in which there is no television cable.

Frank Palik, chief of Domestic Services and Facilities Division of the FCC, wrote Clausen that the FCC would permit hookups to existing facilities and the construction of new facilities.

"Thank heavens, I'm glad this matter is settled," Clausen, in his office in Washington, told the Independent-Journal by phone today.

"I am pleased that it was settled in favor of the companies so that Novato could have better television reception," said Clausen.

The Novato City Council originally issued the franchise for cable television to Western California Telephone Co., a subsidiary of General Telephone Co.

That company had until July 1, 1968 to complete the facilities. In the meantime, the council at Western California's request, transferred the franchise to G'tec, another subsidiary of General Telephone Co. G'tec leased the facilities from Western California which constructed them.

On June 26, 1968, the FCC issued a cease and desist order on connections by telephone companies keeping the Novato residents served by Western California Telephone Co. from hooking onto the cable.

Merle L. Sebald, manager of G'tec cable TV and Gordon L. Lee, manager of Western California Telephone Co. in Novato, said that they had not received official notice of the FCC ruling but when they did would give the schedule for hookups to the cable and for new construction.

Generals Win Resignation Of Argentina's President

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—A triumvirate of military commanders who ousted President Juan Carlos Ongania promised today to return Argentina to "an authentic democracy." They said they would name a new president within 10 days.

Three separate black limousines brought the commanders, Army Lt. Gen. Alejandro Lanusse, Navy Adm. Pedro Gnavi and Air Force Brig. Gen. Carlos Rey to the Pink House presidential palace early today.

Ongania's forced resignation near midnight Monday ended a 12-hour test of wills between him and the troika of officers. Ongania, 56, was deposed 20 days short of the fourth anniversary of the June 28, 1966, military coup that brought him to power and ousted Arturo U. Illia, the nation's last elected president.

Ongania drove off early this morning to the suburban Olivos presidential residence to meet his wife Maria Emilia. A guard at the official residence said Ongana and his wife were expected to leave today and move back into their personal luxury apartment in the city's Belgrano residential district.

"The circumstances facing the country in these final hours oblige me under pressure of arms to resign the post of president of the republic," Ongania said.

The commanders had challenged Ongania Monday morning by demanding a direct hand in running the country Ongania refused and fired Lanusse as army chief.

Ongania and the three commanders had spent Monday afternoon separately tallying which troops would support each if there was a showdown. Ongania called his personal Grenadiers Regiment to his side and vowed to fight for his job. But it was apparent by late Monday night most of the military backed the commanders.

Sources close to the commanders said it was the Rev. Mariano Castex, Ongania's spiritual adviser, who finally talked him into resigning.

After signing the resignation, Ongana urged that "no one will ever use the events of this sad night to divide Argentines. I pray to God that the irrevocable steps taken will be for the good of the republic."

The armed forces chiefs said Ongania was ousted for supporting "ideas foreign to our traditional way of life." It was an apparent reference to "Participacionismo" — a word coined by the Ongania regime. It referred to a proposed system of government with special interest groups such as labor, industry and agriculture forming committees to advise the president. Ongania's detractors said it was an Argentine version of the corporative state in Italy under the late dictator Benito Mussolini.

The coup reflected long-standing opposition to the president from liberals favoring return to civilian rule but it was apparently sparked by the May 29 kidnaping of former President Pedro Eugenio Aramburu, an outspoken critic of the president, Ongania.

'RED BELT' VICTORY

Communists Win Control Of Wealthy Italy Region

ROME (UPI)—The largest Communist party in the West and its allies today won virtual control of three of Italy's 15 new regional governments in a "Red Belt" bestriding the wealthy center of the nation.

Elsewhere, the Christian Democrats and their partners in the national government coalition showed well enough to control the rest of the regions.

The Communists and their Proletarian Socialist allies captured Emilia-Romagna outright, winning 26 of the 50 seats in the regional council. They won big pluralities in Tuscany and Umbria where the Socialist party—although part of the national coalition—was expected to join them in regional coalitions.

The Communists and Christian Democrats both lost votes compared with the last national election in May, 1968.

The Christian Democrats got 37.9 per cent of the total vote compared with 38.8 per cent last time and the Communists 27.9 per cent compared with 28 per cent in 1968. The Proletarian Socialists slipped from 4.4 to 3.2 per cent, a loss of nearly 400,000 votes.

Of the 690 seats in regional councils, the Christian Democrats won 287 and the Communists 201.

The small but vocal neo-Fascist Italian Socialist Movement swelled its percentage of the vote from 4.3 in 1968 to 5.2. The conservative Republicans, in the national coalition, improved their percentage from 1.8 to 2.9.

Most of the vote-switching favored the Socialists. As a single party in 1968, they won 14.8 per cent of the vote. As a divided party they now have 17.4 per cent.

The Communists had been expected to consolidate control of the "Red Belt" that comprises one-sixth of Italy's land area and includes almost one-seventh of its population. The region includes some of Italy's main road and railroad hubs, big steel and petrochemical plants, rich farmland and some of Italy's finest vineyards.

U.S. Firm On Gunboat

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The United States and North Korea refused to back down today from their conflicting accounts of last Friday's gunboat encounter in the Yellow Sea.

U.S. Army Maj. Gen. James H. Skeldon repeated South Korea's claim that North Korean forces attacked a lightly armed South Korean vessel south of the demilitarized zone, towed it into North Korean waters, and is now "illegally detaining" it and its 20 crewmen.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Choon-sun insisted that the vessel was a heavily armed spy ship dispatched by the United States and that the North Koreans sank it north of the DMZ.

The exchange took place at the 302nd session of the Korean Armistice Commission, with Lee representing North Korea and Skeldon representing the U.N. Command.

"In the incident in question," Skeldon said, "your naval forces attacked and seized a Republic of Korea navy vessel which was engaged in peaceful pursuits . . ."

Peru Job To Finch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert H. Finch's first assignment as a White House counselor will be to run a $10-million program of special aid to earthquake-ravaged Peru.

An announcement Monday did not say if Finch will go to Peru, where the government estimates 50,000 persons died in the May 31 earthquake. Peace Corps Director Joseph Blatchford already is in Lima.

Finch who has served as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare for 17 months, will go to the White House staff when the Senate approves Elliot Richardson as his successor in the Cabinet post.

Compromise Nears

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate passed compromise legislation Monday authorizing up to $2.79 billion during the next three years for hospitals and health facilities. It would be the biggest such expenditure since adoption of the Hill-Burton Act 24 years ago.

The bill is a compromise between the $1 billion, three-year measure approved earlier by the House, and a $6.2 billion, five-year measure adopted previously by the Senate. The House must give final approval.

For the first time money would be spent for extended care facilities—nursing homes for those too ill to be discharged but not ill enough to require hospitalization.

Quake Hits Russia

MOSCOW (UPI) — An earthquake rocked the city of Przhalovsk, in the Soviet Republic of Kirghizia, Friday, the news agency Tass reported Monday. Twenty-thousand persons were homeless.

Tass said about 5,000 buildings were damaged in the city and neighboring communities.

The quake registered 8 on the Richter Scale, Tass said.

"Medical personnel was sent to the stricken areas and other necessary measures are being taken," Tass said. It gave no other details. The area is 1,500 miles southeast of Moscow.

Skyjacker Charged

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — Arthur G. Barkley, accused of trying to get a $100 million ransom for a hijacked TWA jetliner, faces the death penalty if convicted of one of the charges now lodged against him.

The Arizona truck driver was indicted Monday by a federal grand jury on charges ofaircraft piracy and interfering with a flight crew.

Mob Lynches Two

NEW DELHI (UPI) — A mob lynched a holy man and his two disciples Monday believing they had kidnaped a 12-year-old boy for use as a human sacrifice.

The newspaper The Statesman said Dhirananda Giri Goswamy of Nepal had just crossed the border near Siliguri in North Bengal state when his party was set upon by a mob armed with clubs and stones.

The child was unharmed but he told police who recovered the three mutilated bodies that he accompanied the Hindu monk at the request of his father in Nepal.

Still Hope For Pact

VIENNA (UPI) — The United States still hopes to reach a comprehensive agreement with the Soviet Union at the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) but may have to achieve it piece by piece, conference sources said today.

Negotiators for the two countries were meeting at 11 a.m. (6 a.m. EDT) in the Soviet Embassy for their 15th session.

The sources cautioned against reports that emphasize single areas of potential arms agreements, such as offensive missile launchers or antiballistic missile (ABM) defensive systems.

More Youths Arrested In Isla Vista

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—Heavily-armed law officers made continuous sweeps in dump trucks through the troubled student community next to the University of California Monday night, routing small bands of young persons with tear gas and mass arrests.

Strictly enforcing a dusk to dawn curfew after two successive nights of violence, more than 200 officers employing 10 dump trucks broke up small groups of rock-throwing protesters and arrested anyone on the streets.

73 MORE ARRESTED

A sheriff's spokesman said deputies arrested 73 persons, bringing the total for three nights of violence to 140.

Authorities abandoned their dump truck sweeps early today and said the area was quiet.

Five cars, described by deputies as junks, were set afire, small trash fires were reported and the hard-hit branch of the Bank of America sustained a barrage of rocks Monday evening.

There were no reports of injuries.

Deputies, Santa Barbara police and highway patrolmen, apparently fearing violence, moved into the area before the curfew went into effect and began to rout the groups after broadcasting warnings from a flying helicopter to clear the area.

Minor incidents occurred Thursday and Friday after a grand jury indicted 17 persons in connection with the burning of a Bank of America branch in February.

A FOCAL POINT

A temporary branch, next to the original one, has become the focal point of violent protests. That was where disorders erupted Saturday and Sunday nights.

Sunday night, about 800 young persons defied the curfew to march to the bank following a fair in a large vacant lot about seven blocks away. Youths using a large pipe as a battering ram smashed the plate glass front doors and a firebomb was ignited on the roof. The blaze caused only slight damage.

Monday night many residents of the Isla Vista area, most of them UC Santa Barbara students, jerred from apartment balconies as officers made their sweeps.

Ex-Peninsulan To Head Church

BOSTON (AP) — The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston has a new president—Clem W. Collins, a Denver native who served in the Navy during World War II and the Korean conflict.

Collins, now a resident of Boston, has been publishers' agent for the trustees under the will of Mary Baker Eddy, since 1963. Mrs. Eddy (1821-1910) was the founder of Christian Science.

Collins' election for a one-year term was announced Monday to some 10,000 Christian Scientists attending the denomination's annual meeting.

Collins became a member of the church in 1940 and entered full-time public practice of Christian Science in 1953. He resided in Los Altos, Calif., before coming to Boston seven years ago.

Auto Court Denied In Reversal Vote

A 60-unit auto court and five apartments in Tamalpis Valley, approved by a deputy zoning administrator, was reversed by a 4-1 vote of the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

The auto court application by Marie Bienhouse, at the corner of Shoreline Highway and Pinehill Road, was rejected on a motion by Margaret B. Azevedo and a second from John F. West. Jack G. Nixon and Eugene R. Trombley voted with them.

Lone dissenter was chairman Walter F. Freitas, who voted for the auto court without comment Hugh Dougherty had left for lunch by the time the morning item came to a vote at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Bienhouse, represented by planning consultant Norman T. Gilroy, originally asked for a 92-unit auto court on 52,000 square feet.

Deputy Zoning Administrator Ralph D. Cairns heard the arguments on May 18, and a week later announced that Gilroy had reduced the size of the property to about 45,000 square feet. On that reduced site, Cairns approved five apartments in the rear portion and 60 auto courts in the front portion. However, 25 kitchens were to be provided in the 60-unit auto court so that they could be converted to 25 apartments if the auto court proves financially unfeasible. The zoning administrator also approved a small coffee shop to be used by registered guests only.

Yesterday, about 35 residents of Tamalpais Valley, armed with protest petitions signed by 427 persons, opposed the auto court as unjustified invasion of commercial into a residential area.

A series of speakers, including Marshall Krause of 375 Tennessee Avenue and Edward Beattie of 410 Hilldale Avenue, charged that the auto court would create traffic congestion and a "Lombard Street" atmosphere.

A coffee shop for guests only could not be enforced and could be expanded to a commercial coffee shop for the public, said Krause.

Other speakers pointed out that this would be the only commercial enterprise on the north side of Shoreline Highway between Tamalpais Junction and Muir Woods.

Mrs. Azevedo moved for denial of the auto court on grounds that motel use is incompatible in a residential area and would create a precedent for commercial use.

"I think the applicant is trying to get something we'd regret later," said West. He said that five apartments plus 25 kitchens allowed in the auto court would in effect give the developer 30 apartments, plus 35 motel units.

The developer has the right to appeal to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Silver Hills Subdivision Wins Backing

A tentative map for Silver Hills subdivision south of Inverness, just outside the Point Reyes Seashore boundaries, won conditional approval by unanimous vote of the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

Jack Stockstill of Inverness plans 28 lots on 40 acres of land to the west of the intersection of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Bear Valley Road. The lots will range in size from a half-acre to two acres.

Among the conditions imposed are that water and sewer systems must meet all standards, utility lines will be underground, and a public pedestrian access to the Point Reyes National Seashore wuld be provided.

CHEESE FACTORY — Continued until June 22 an applicatioon for a free standing sign to advertise the Marin French Cheese Factory at 7500 Red Hill Road near the Sonoma County border. Since the proposed sign far exceeds the 75-square-foot maximum, commissioners asked that the sign area be cut down.

TOMALES FILL — Continued until July 27 a request by Sven B. Berg of El Cerrito for permission to keep an 80-foot long concrete wall he built about 35 feet into the bay just south of the Marshall Hotel.

GARAGE RESIDENT — Tabled the application of Rev. Robert Hayburn, who wanted to convert the upper story of his garage into a residence, at 27 Portola Avenue, Inverness Park. The side setback is only two feet, whereas 10 feet are required. Hayburn withdrew the application, saying he would reapply for a studio guest house instead.

Zucker Supported 2-to-1 By Department Planners

Professional planners of the Marin County Planning Department stand better than 2-to-1 in favor of retaining Paul C. Zucker as department head.

Eight professional planners signed a letter to be presented to the Marin County Board of Supervisors today, urging the retention of Zucker, who ran unsuccessfully against Supervisor Chairman John F. McInnis.

"His work has advanced orderly development of the county to meet the needs of its people and preserve its natural environment, and he is held in high professional and personal regard by the staff," said the letter.

"Although we recognize that there has been much conflict and controversy surrounding this entire issue, we urge that the board of supervisors retain Paul C. Zucker in his present position because of his demonstrated ability and his imaginative, forward-thinking leadership for Marin County.

It was signed by planners Raymond J. Ahearn, Jan E. Medbo, E. Ross Parkerson, W. Ray Smith, John C. Hau, Thomas E. Cordill and Marjorie Macris.

Those who did not sign were Ralph D. Cairns, Rowland Darnell, Ray Collins, and Walter S. Horchler.

Smith presented the letter to the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday. He explained three others were not asked to sign. H. Rune Carlson is away on vacation, and Werner Von Gundell and Albert Solnit, Zucker's top lieutenants, were not asked to sign because they are next in line for Zucker's job, said Smith.

Last Friday, County Administrator Alan Bruce recommended Zucker's dismissal, and the matter was to be considered ahis afternoon by the supervisors.

Zucker was given leave of absence from March 19 to today, when he announced his candidacy against McInnis.

Auto Court Denied In Reversal Vote

A 60-unit auto court and five apartments in Tamalpis Valley, approved by a deputy zoning administrator, was reversed by a 4-1 vote of the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

The auto court application by Marie Bienhouse, at the corner of Shoreline Highway and Pinehill Road, was rejected on a motion by Margaret B. Azevedo and a second from John F. West. Jack G. Nixon and Eugene R. Trombley voted with them.

Lone dissenter was chairman Walter F. Freitas, who voted for the auto court without comment Hugh Dougherty had left for lunch by the time the morning item came to a vote at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Bienhouse, represented by planning consultant Norman T. Gilroy, originally asked for a 92-unit auto court on 52,000 square feet.

Deputy Zoning Administrator Ralph D. Cairns heard the arguments on May 18, and a week later announced that Gilroy had reduced the size of the property to about 45,000 square feet. On that reduced site, Cairns approved five apartments in the rear portion and 60 auto courts in the front portion. However, 25 kitchens were to be provided in the 60-unit auto court so that they could be converted to 25 apartments if the auto court proves financially unfeasible. The zoning administrator also approved a small coffee shop to be used by registered guests only.

Yesterday, about 35 residents of Tamalpais Valley, armed with protest petitions signed by 427 persons, opposed the auto court as unjustified invasion of commercial into a residential area.

Mill Valley Trustees Rap War, Inflation

The Mill Valley School District board last night expressed concern over the expansion of the war in Southeast Asia and the effect it is having on educating children in the district.

Supt. James A. Collins said the trustees voted 4-0 to send a statement to President Richard M. Nixon pointing out that war-caused inflation is cutting into funds earmarked for the middle school. John G. Eliot Jr. was absent.

"The cost of education has risen because of inflation" the board's statement said. "The effec has been to reduce the size and quality of a school for which our community has waited for some time. In effect, our school children are subsidizing the war."

Trustees said they didn't claim to speak for the entire community on the issue. "We do not purport to represent the majority of voters or parents in the district," the statement said. "There has been no referendum and we make no assumptions as to how many constituents in our district will agree with us."

Nevertheless, Colliss said, trustees felt they had a right and an obligation to make a statement on the local effect of the war.

Mill Valley School District Board Also:

CAL-FONG — Adopted a statement tightening up conditions for granting an easement over school property to Cal-Fong Investment Co. for a road to serve a planned subdivision in Alto Bowl. SALARIES — Heard a report from Collins on progress in negotiating salaries with the Mill Valley Teachers Association. The board agreed to seek as a goal a 5.6 per cent cost-of-living wage increase for teachers.

tanks against entrenched guerrillas and that at least two of the armored vehicles had been hit by guerrilla fire. Other sources said all traffic in the Jordanian capital was brought to a complete standstill as the soldiers and guerrillas exchanged gunfire from rooftops.

The cultural attache of the French embassy, Yves Aubyn, was shot three times in the back today and his condition was reported serious.

Aubyn, 35, was shot by Jordanian Bedouin troops during the fighting with guerrillas, West German television reporter Heinz Medlitzky said.

Medlitzky said Aubyn was shot at a roadblock near the French embassy.

"I was approaching in the opposite direction when I saw a dead guerrilla. The Frenchman's car stopped and army troops opened fire.

"We shouted 'Civilians! Civilians!' But they just kept on firing."

Medlitzky, whose shirt was covered with the diplomat's blood, said he took Aubyn to the Italian hospital in Amman.

The U. S. embassy was guarded like an armed camp. Embassy officials said on the telephone no attempt has been made to approach the embassy.

Embassy spokesmen said First Secretary Morris Draper, 42, who was kidnaped and released by the PFLP Monday, "is back at work today."

Draper was kidnaped to enforce release of the jailed guerrillas, accordin to the PFLP announcement. He was later freed although their demands were not met. Guerrilla sources said 104 persons were killed or captured in Sunday's fighting.

Guerrilla spokesmen said at least nine commandos were killed or wounded during the initial exchanges of gunfire in widely separated sectors of the Jordanian capital. There was no immediate report of Jordanian army or civilian casualties.

A spokesman for the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) in Beirut, commenting on the reported cease-fire agreement, said: "This is nothing more than wishful thinking on the Jordanian government side. Fighting is still going on in all parts of Amman and guerrillas are under maximum alert."

The PLO radio in Cairo urged Jordanian troops not to shoot against Palestinians. "All our rifles should be aimed against the enemy (Israel), not against one another," the broadcast said. At the same time, it pledged the guerrillas would continue to fight against "imperialist conspiracies" and to deal with (Jordanian) hirelings" as they deal with Israelis.

Reports circulated that Maj. Gen. Sheriff Nasser Ben Jamil, uncle of King Hussein and commander-in-chief of Jordanian armed forces was shot and killed during the righting.

Innocent Plea To Marijuana

Penelope Ann Cash, 27, of Waldo Point, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Muncipal Court to charges of possessing marijuana and disturbing the peace stemming from a fuss in Sausalito May 16.

Mill Valley Trustees Rap War, Inflation

The Mill Valley School District board last night expressed concern over the expansion of the war in Southeast Asia and the effect it is having on educating children in the district.

Supt. James A. Collins said the trustees voted 4-0 to send a statement to President Richard M. Nixon pointing out that war-caused inflation is cutting into funds earmarked for the middle school. John G. Eliot Jr. was absent.

"The cost of education has risen because of inflation" the board's statement said. "The effec has been to reduce the size and quality of a school for which our community has waited for some time. In effect, our school children are subsidizing the war."

Trustees said they didn't claim to speak for the entire community on the issue. "We do not purport to represent the majority of voters or parents in the district," the statement said. "There has been no referendum and we make no assumptions as to how many constituents in our district will agree with us."

Nevertheless, Colliss said, trustees felt they had a right and an obligation to make a statement on the local effect of the war.

Mill Valley School District Board Also:

CAL-FONG — Adopted a statement tightening up conditions for granting an easement over school property to Cal-Fong Investment Co. for a road to serve a planned subdivision in Alto Bowl. SALARIES — Heard a report from Collins on progress in negotiating salaries with the Mill Valley Teachers Association. The board agreed to seek as a goal a 5.6 per cent cost-of-living wage increase for teachers.

ART REVIEW

Ancient Pottery Idea Has Followers Today

By MARY LOU STRIBLING

The art of Raku dates back many centuries to techniques used in the making of Japanese ceremonial tea bowls. It differs from conventional processes in that the pot is removed from the kiln while the glaze is still molten and is plunged into sawdust, straw, leaves, paper or other combustible substances, which ignite and consume the oxygen in the atmosphere around it. This phase, called "reduction," causes dramatic changes in the glaze and clay which can be observed by the potter while they are taking place. He also can manipulate them to some extent through timing and the introduction of additional elements.

But, according to Hal Riegger, a Mill Valley artist and author, there is a great deal more to Raku than the physical methods which produce it. As defined in his new book, "Raku, Art and Technique," published by Van Nostrand — Reinhold Co. the true appeal of this art form may arise from its philosophy and its special challenge: ". . . The opportunity to respond to the clay, the glaze, the fire, and the moment with imagination and art."

An exhibit of Riegger's work in Anima Mundi Gallery, Mill Valley, will be displayed through July 11. It is well suited to a small room for these are not objects to be viewed at great distances. They beg close observation and intimate appraisal, and invite the dimension of touch as well as sight.

Riegger has moved beyond the making of tea bowls to such things as sculptures, wall plaques, and "treasure" boxes. His work is characterized by rough textures and thick, crusty glazes which sometimes pick up an iridescent gleam. The clay is often sooty with the ancient quality of eroded artifacts, but its special crudity suggests an elusive sophistication arising from concept rather than surface treatment.

Certain themes and symbols recur consistently. Mask-like faces slashed into bowls and slabs are executed with the primitivist's economy of detail. Hand prints, finger prints, plant impressions, and marks of improvised tools contribute to an element of humanness which is usually carefully erased from sleeker forms of ceramics.

In his book Riegger states that Raku in no sense can be undertaken by following prescribed rules or a series of directions, but this does not imply that the technique is merely a kind of planned accident. He asserts that: ". . . The finest in Raku can only be achieved by the disciplined potter."

The craftsman in any creative field who best knows the rules can most successfully break them and perhaps the potter who fully understands the emotional need to deviate from an acceptable norm can most fully appreciate the outcome. In this regard Raku could be called a "potter's pot."

On the other hand, its increasing popularity among amateurs and collectors alike indicates that participation in the work itself is universally exciting, and while the results are unpredictable, they are pleasant to live with.

Marinwood Drops Plans For Creek Foot Bridge

The Marinwood Community Services District board last night deleted from its proposed fiscal 1970-71 budget a $3,000 item for construction of a foot bridge across Miller Creek at Miller Creek School.

The board scrapped the bridge according to secretary Genevieve T. Bolding, in favor of an additional tennis court and lights for two existing courts at a cost of $11,000.

Mrs. Bolding said the board agreed that the new court and lighting was of higher priority than the bridge which would only benefit those residents living on the "berry" streets off Lucas Valley Road.

The secretary added that the board had earlier considered funding bridge material in hopes that the Army Corps of Engineers would provide labor. The Army, however, has not indicated interest in the project, she said.

While none of the items in the proposed $207,785 budget has been approved, the board said last night it favored a new tennis court and lights because they would benefit the entire community, Mrs. Bolding reported.

This year's budget amounted to $173,460 with a tax rate of $1.23 per $100 assessed valuation. The proposed rate for next year is $1.35, according to the secretary.

The board took no other action last night, but set Monday at 8 p.m. for its next budget session.

Mrs. Bolding added that several regular agenda items also will be considered Monday to ease the load from the next regular meeting June 23.

$1,700 Earned From Auction For Peace Groups

An art auction at College of Marin Sunday earned $1,700 for peace groups, it was reported today.

Ann Jack, manager of the college art gallery, estimated that 95 per cent of more than 1,000 pieces of sculpture, pottery, painting and other donated work were sold at the silent auction.

The auction was a highlight of Sunday's campus open house, which also included films, tapes and discussions by college departments, a poetry reading, and a talk by a member of the Committee of Responsibility, a group providing medical care for war-injured Vietnamese children.

Part of the auction receipts will go to the Marin Peace Coalition and distribution of the remainder among peace groups is yet to be determined by the participating artists.

Fairfax Rejects Cable TV Firm's Proposals

The Fairfax City Council last night again tried to improve its cable television picture, and its pocketbook as well, but again put off renegotiating its cable franchise.

Clear View Cable Systems Inc. submitted three new proposals last night, but none was satisfactory to the council.

The company's representatives said they were not authorized to approve a proposal made by the council.

The major issues of how much Fairfax residents will pay the company and how much the company will pay the city got lost occasionally as the council tried to determine if Clear View really exists.

The city's franchise to Clear View was granted in 1964 and is indeterminate in duration. The franchise allows the company to offer three plans — the higher the connection charge, the lower the monthly rate — and gives the city 2 per cent of the company's Fairfax revenue.

Last month, the company proposed that the franchise be limited to 15 years, all connection charges be refunded, a basic $6 a month rate established, but no change in the 2 per cent to the city.

One of the three proposals presented by the company last night limited the contract to 20 years, set the rate at $6, but didn't change the 2 percent. Another put the contract to 25 years, a $6 rate, and raised the city's share to 5 per cent. The third set the contract for 15 years, a $5.50 rate, and the 2 per cent for the city.

Mayor Frank J. Egger said if the company would offer a $5 rate, with 5 per cent to the city, for 15 years, the council would accept it. But attorney Joseph Sheeks, representing the company, said he was not authorized to approve such a proposal.

City Administrator Frances Lestanguet said every other city in Marin has a $5 rate with the cities getting from 2 to 5 per cent. She asked the council to determine who is the owner of the franchise.

Sheeks said Clear View owned all its equipment and the franchise, but Columbia Broadcasting System had acquired the company's stock.

City Atty. Wallace Myers asked Sheeks why the letterhead of the company's financial statement which had been presented to the council read "Tele-Vue Inc., Clear View Cable Division."

Sheeks said CBS had acquired the stock of both.

Mrs. Lestanguet asked why the city's payment from the company last year came on a Tele-Vue check.

Leonard Bergseth, area manager for Tele-Vue and Clear View, replied that a central accounting department does bookkeeping for the two companies.

Indian Blackout Order Reported

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The order to cut off electricity to Indian-occupied Alcatraz Island came from the White House, the Coast Guard says.

Since occupying the former federal prison last Nov. 20 and claiming the land as their own, the Indians had relied on power from a cable to a lighthouse on the island. It was shut off May 28.

"The White House told us to deny electricity to the Indians," Capt. Charles Scharfenstein, local Coast Guard commandant, told newsmen Monday.

It was reported that the cutoff was a preliminary step toward getting the Indians off the island so that it could be made into a national park.

The Indians had a portable power generator working Monday night.

Bomb Of Matches Burns 2 Children

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two children were injured seriously Monday night when a homemade bomb they found in a trash bin exploded, police said.

Hospitalized with burns on their upper bodies and faces were David Larkin, 9, and his sister Margaret Pullen, 6.

Police said the children found the cylindrical object, believed to have been loaded with matchheads, in a debris box outside their apartment.

Officers said the explosive went off when one child lit it with a match while their mother was in the next room.

Limit Is Lifted On Recordings

Beginning today, Sausalito residents will be allowed to take out as many phonograph records as they like from the city library, the Sausalito Library board agreed last night, according to Dorothy M. Thomas, acting city librarian. In the past, individuals could only sign out three records at one time, she said.

The board also voted not to charge the regular 5-cent-a-day fee for records on Sundays and holidays.

Directors set Friday, June 19, as the date for interviews with 11 applicants for the post of city librarian. Applicants will be interviewed by an oral board set up by Acting City Mgr. H. Eric Borgwardt.

The new librarian will replace Kathleen Worsley, who held the job for one year, and resigned April 30 for personal reasons.

In addition, the board asked Mrs. Thomas to find out the cost of microfilming old copies of the Sausalito News, dating from 1885 to 1926. Copies of the now-defunct newspaper are kept in bound volumes in the library, according to Mrs. Thomas.

African Nations Heal Old Split

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP) — King Hassan II of Morocco and President Mokhatar Ould Daddah of Mauritania buried a nine-year-old enmity Monday with a treaty or friendship and pledged joint efforts to "liberate" Rio de Oro Spain's Sahara territory between them.

Moroccan sources said the two countries would collaborate with Algeria and other countries in exploiting the territory's huge phosphate resources after Spanish rule ends.

The United Nations has called for self determination of the territory's 30,000 nomadic inhabitantes and has rejected Spanish plans for limited independence in Rio de Oro. But the Spanish government shows no indication of bowing to the United Nations.

Lagunitas Tax Election Aids Budget

The Lagunitas School District Board — reprieved from budget cutbacks by a tax rate increase — last night discussed a $413,444 budget for the next school year.

Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff said the 90-cent per $100 assessed valuation tax increase approved by the voters adds about $54,000 to school funds if the full levy is used.

He said the board had previously discussed cuts of $47,000 from last year's budget of $384,730 in case the tax increase failed.

The new budget is scheduled for preliminary adoption at the next meeting, June 22 with publication in July and final adoption in August, according to McCunniff.

He said the board now will not havet o make suts such as eliminating the librarian, some classroom teachers, a guidance counselor, and participation in the Fairfax School District summer school program.

The board also discussed whether to retain a full-time teacher for the educationally handicapped even though state funds will only cover a part-time one, McCunniff said. No action was taken, he said.

The board also passed a resolution that the board may increase teacher salaries after July 1 if money is available, McCunniff said.

The operating tax rate limit was raised from $2.65 to $3.55 per $100 assessed valuation by the Lagunitas district voters June 2. McCunniff said the preliminary budget will require the full levy unless additional state funds become available.

The Lagunitas School District board also:

LEAVE — Granted a one-year leave of absence to Sarah Napier, a part-time counselor for the district. Her husband has been transferred to Seattle, Wash.

RESIGNATION — Took no action on a request from teacher David A. Coughlin to ignore his resignation. The board said it had already accepted the resignation, according to McCunniff.

DRUG ABUSE — Heard a report on the district's drug abuse program. McCunniff said a position statement will be presented to the board for approval June 22.

RECOGNITION — Passed a resolution praising retiring teacher Lydia Smith for 31 years of teaching — 14 in the Lagunitas district.

INSURANCE — Approved an agreement for a $25 athletic insurance policy with North American Life and Casualty Co. of San Francisco.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to the next regular meeting June 22.

Involvement Workshop Set

A youth involvement workshop for Bay Area youths between 14 and 17 will be held July 23 to 28 at the Valley of the Moon Campground in Sonoma County.

The free workshop, sponsored by the American Red Cross, will include discussion of the needs of youth and ways to resolve problems affecting young people.

Registration can be made by calling the Marin County chapter of the Red Cross.

Key To Door Stirs Ruckus Over Fairfax Youth Panel

A locked door and a request for a key raised the question last night as to whether the Fairfax Youth Commission is an official agency of the Fairfax City Council.

The question was raised when the youth commission chairman, Judi Cummings, asked the council for a key to the Fairfax Women's Club where the commission meets.

City Administrator Frances Lestanguet explained that it was city policy that a key be given only to adults.

Miss Cummings asked that an exception be made, since the young people were an official city commission — a point disputed by City Atty. Wallace Myers.

A lengthy discussion ensued, ending with two tie votes,nothing solved and the commission going home without a key, and its status ambiguous.

"You're different. You have complete control over funds and your officers," Myers told Miss Cummings.

Councilman Robert R. Souza moved that the city administrator prepare a report on the status of the commission, but Mayor Frank J. Egger said he thought the group was "a regular city commission."

"They are a private organization of young people in this city," Myers argued.

Councilman Lee Nelder said he considered the commission an "advisor group with no official status."

"They wrote themselves off," Myers continued. "They resisted the idea that the council have anything to do with their members."

At the request of the council, Mrs. Lestanguet read from the minutes of the council meeting at which the commission was approved and given "the power and duty to advise the Fairfax City Council on programs and methods of involving youths in the areas of planning, decision making and activities which concern the youth of this community."

With the minutes read, Myers said, "I think you have invited these people to advise you from time to time. But what difference does it make really?"

Egger said the park and recreation commission was advisory, But Myers argued that the council appoints its members.

Miss Cummings reminded the council that it had approved the way the youth commission was to be selected — election by the city's young people.

"The language is very permissive" Souza said and repeated his motion to have Mrs. Lestanguet prepare a status report.

Myers again asked "what's the difference" if the commission is official or not. They want to advise, they can, he said. "You've given them the power and duty to advise the council. Any citizen in Fairfax can do this," he said.

Councilman Francis J. O'Connell said he agreed with Myers but attempted to bring the discussion back to the question of the key.

Miss Cummings explained it was a matter of her neighbors getting tired of going down to the city offices to pick up the key, and she asked if one of the councilmen would agree to do it.

O'Connell moved a substitute for Souza's motion which proposed that the councilmen, on a rotating basis, attend the meetings of the youth commission and get the key for them.

Miss Cummings was delighted. "All I want is somebody besides my neighbors that I have to drag down here," she said.

But Souza wouldn't stand for it. He argued that O'Connell's substitute motion was out of order because it was not on the same subject as his.

"We should vote on mine first," he said.

The council did, and, with Councilman Cornelis Van Vliet absent, got nowhere. Souza and Neder voted for the status report. Egger and O'Connell voted against.

O'Connell again moved his proposal, and the vote was the same.

Orchestra Sets Concert Saturday

Span Crashes Hurt Four, None Serious

Two four-car accidents on the Golden Gate Bridge last night snarled traffic and injured four persons, none seriously, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said the first accident occurred at 7:07 p.m. when a southbound car driven by Anthony J. Melhuish, 34, of 380 Ebbtide Avenue, Apt. 7, Sausalito, skidded on wet pavement and crossed the center divider, striking a car driven by Margaret F. Williams, 50, of San Francisco.

The Williams car then struck one driven by James G. Bolen, 35, of 25 Alexander Avenue, Apt. 3, Sausalito, which was in turn hit in the rear by a car driven by Kenneth R. Byron, 38, of 15 La Cresta Drive, Petaluma, the patrol reported.

Melhuish was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts on the scalp, hands and forehead. Mrs. Williams was to see her own physician for unspecified minor injuries.

Eight minutes later, the patrol said, a car driven by June M. Durm, 50, of Daly City, struck a line of cars stopped on the northbound side of the bridge, damaging vehicles driven by Shelton Hunter, 35, of San Francisco; James E. Brewster, 44, of 205 Trinidad Drive, Tiburon, and Ellen W. Kohks, 32, of 69 Spruce Road, Fairfax.

Mrs. Durm and a passenger, Iris J. Bartlett, 34, of Daly City, were to see their own physicians for unspecified injuries.

Certain themes and symbols recur consistently. Mask-like faces slashed into bowls and slabs are executed with the primitivist's economy of detail. Hand prints, finger prints, plant impressions, and marks of improvised tools contribute to an element of humanness which is usually carefully erased from sleeker forms of ceramics.

In his book Riegger states that Raku in no sense can be undertaken by following prescribed rules or a series of directions, but this does not imply that the technique is merely a kind of planned accident. He asserts that: ". . . The finest in Raku can only be achieved by the disciplined potter."

The craftsman in any creative field who best knows the rules can most successfully break them and perhaps the potter who fully understands the emotional need to deviate from an acceptable norm can most fully appreciate the outcome. In this regard Raku could be called a "potter's pot."

On the other hand, its increasing popularity among amateurs and collectors alike indicates that participation in the work itself is universally exciting, and while the results are unpredictable, they are pleasant to live with.

Marinwood Drops Plans For Creek Foot Bridge

The Marinwood Community Services District board last night deleted from its proposed fiscal 1970-71 budget a $3,000 item for construction of a foot bridge across Miller Creek at Miller Creek School.

The board scrapped the bridge according to secretary Genevieve T. Bolding, in favor of an additional tennis court and lights for two existing courts at a cost of $11,000.

Mrs. Bolding said the board agreed that the new court and lighting was of higher priority than the bridge which would only benefit those residents living on the "berry" streets off Lucas Valley Road.

The secretary added that the board had earlier considered funding bridge material in hopes that the Army Corps of Engineers would provide labor. The Army, however, has not indicated interest in the project, she said.

While none of the items in the proposed $207,785 budget has been approved, the board said last night it favored a new tennis court and lights because they would benefit the entire community, Mrs. Bolding reported.

This year's budget amounted to $173,460 with a tax rate of $1,23 per $100 assessed valuation. The proposed rate for next year is $1.35, according to the secretary.

The board took no other action last night, but set Monday at 8 p.m. for its next budget session.

Mrs. Bolding added that several regular agenda items also will be considered Monday to ease the load from the next regular meeting June 23.

$1,700 Earned From Auction For Peace Groups

An art auction at College of Marin Sunday earned $1,700 for peace groups, it was reported today.

Ann Jack, manager of the college art gallery, estimated that 95 per cent of more than 1,000 pieces of sculpture, pottery, painting and other donated work were sold at the silent auction.

The auction was a highlight of Sunday's campus open house, which also included films, tapes and discussions by college departments, a poetry reading, and a talk by a member of the Committee of Responsibility, a group providing medical care for war-injured Vietnamese children.

Part of the auction receipts will go to the Marin Peace Coalition and distribution of the remainder among peace groups is yet to be determined by the participating artists.

Fairfax Rejects Cable TV Firm's Proposals

The Fairfax City Council last night again tried to improve its cable television picture, and its pocketbook as well, but again put off renegotiating its cable franchise.

Clear View Cable Systems Inc. submitted three new proposals last night, but none was satisfactory to the council.

The company's representatives said they were not authorized to approve a proposal made by the council.

The major issues of how much Fairfax residents will pay the company and how much the company will pay the city got lost occasionally as the council tried to determine if Clear View really exists.

The city's franchise to Clear View was granted in 1964 and is indeterminate in duration. The franchise allows the company to offer three plans — the higher the connection charge, the lower the monthly rate — and gives the city 2 per cent of the company's Fairfax revenue.

Last month, the company proposed that the franchise be limited to 15 years, all connection charges be refunded, a basic $6 a month rate established, but no change in the 2 per cent to the city.

One of the three proposals presented by the company last night limited the contract to 20 years, set the rate at $6, but didn't change the 2 percent. Another put the contract to 25 years, a $6 rate, and raised the city's share to 5 per cent. The third set the contract for 15 years, a $5.50 rate, and the 2 per cent for the city.

Mayor Frank J. Egger said if the company would offer a $5 rate, with 5 per cent to the city, for 15 years, the council would accept it. But attorney Joseph Sheeks, representing the company, said he was not authorized to approve such a proposal.

City Administrator Frances Lestanguet said every other city in Marin has a $5 rate with the cities getting from 2 to 5 per cent. She asked the council to determine who is the owner of the franchise.

Sheeks said Clear View owned all its equipment and the franchise, but Columbia Broadcasting System had acquired the company's stock.

City Atty. Wallace Myers asked Sheeks why the letterhead of the company's financial statement which had been presented to the council read "Tele-Vue Inc., Clear View Cable Division."

Sheeks said CBS had acquired the stock of both.

Mrs. Lestanguet asked why the city's payment from the company last year came on a Tele-Vue check.

Leonard Bergseth, area manager for Tele-Vue and Clear View, replied that a central accounting department does bookkeeping for the two companies.

The Fairfax City Council Also:

DESIGN REVIEW — Unanimously appointed Planning Commissioner Charles Eckles as the commission's representative on the city design review board, after rejecting the commission's nominee, Hugh O. Winn, when Councilman Francis J. O'Connell said an architect should be appointed. Eckels, a draftsman with a San Francisco architectural firm, succeeds Harold S. Lezzeni, who resigned from the planning commission.

BASEBALL — Tentatively agreed to join the city's youth commission in a Fourth of July softball game against the San Anselmo City Council and youth commission.

APPEAL — Put over until either its adjourned meeting June 22 or its next regular meeting July 13 consideration of an appeal by Councilman Robert R. Souza of a planning commission decision granting a conditional zoning permit for property on a private road.

GLASS — Introduced and scheduled a public hearing for June 22 on a new ordinance banning all glass containers from the Fairfax Park ballfield area.

BUSINESS TAX — Went on record in opposition to proposed state legislation which would prohibit cities from placing a business tax on contractors.

BRIDGE — Referred to the city administrator, planning commission and engineer, criticisms of repair work done by the city to the Meadow Way Bridge. The action followed a discussion of the construction and the aesthetics of the work.

MEETING — Adjourned to a special meeting June 22 in memory of Daniel M. Miller, former chairman of the planning commission, who died last week.

Indian Blackout Order Reported

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The order to cut off electricity to Indian-occupied Alcatraz Island came from the White House, the Coast Guard says.

Since occupying the former federal prison last Nov. 20 and claiming the land as their own, the Indians had relied on power from a cable to a lighthouse on the island. It was shut off May 28.

"The White House told us to deny electricity to the Indians," Capt. Charles Scharfenstein, local Coast Guard commandant, told newsmen Monday.

It was reported that the cutoff was a preliminary step toward getting the Indians off the island so that it could be made into a national park.

The Indians had a portable power generator working Monday night.

Bomb Of Matches Burns 2 Children

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two children were injured seriously Monday night when a homemade bomb they found in a trash bin exploded, police said.

Hospitalized with burns on their upper bodies and faces were David Larkin, 9, and his sister Margaret Pullen, 6.

Police said the children found the cylindrical object, believed to have been loaded with matchheads, in a debris box outside their apartment.

Officers said the explosive went off when one child lit it with a match while their mother was in the next room.

Limit Is Lifted On Recordings

Beginning today, Sausalito residents will be allowed to take out as many phonograph records as they like from the city library, the Sausalito Library board agreed last night, according to Dorothy M. Thomas, acting city librarian. In the past, individuals could only sign out three records at one time, she said.

The board also voted not to charge the regular 5-cent-a-day fee for records on Sundays and holidays.

Directors set Friday, June 19, as the date for interviews with 11 applicants for the post of city librarian. Applicants will be interviewed by an oral board set up by Acting City Mgr. H. Eric Borgwardt.

The new librarian will replace Kathleen Worsley, who held the job for one year, and resigned April 30 for personal reasons.

In addition, the board asked Mrs. Thomas to find out the cost of microfilming old copies of the Sausalito News, dating from 1885 to 1926. Copies of the now-defunct newspaper are kept in bound volumes in the library, according to Mrs. Thomas.

African Nations Heal Old Split

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP) — King Hassan II of Morocco and President Mokhatar Ould Daddah of Mauritania buried a nine-year-old enmity Monday with a treaty or friendship and pledged joint efforts to "liberate" Rio de Oro Spain's Sahara territory between them.

Moroccan sources said the two countries would collaborate with Algeria and other countries in exploiting the territory's huge phosphate resources after Spanish rule ends.

The United Nations has called for self determination of the territory's 30,000 nomadic inhabitantes and has rejected Spanish plans for limited independence in Rio de Oro. But the Spanish government shows no indication of bowing to the United Nations.

Lagunitas Tax Election Aids Budget

The Lagunitas School District Board — reprieved from budget cutbacks by a tax rate increase — last night discussed a $413,444 budget for the next school year.

Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff said the 90-cent per $100 assessed valuation tax increase approved by the voters adds about $54,000 to school funds if the full levy is used.

He said the board had previously discussed cuts of $47,000 from last year's budget of $384,730 in case the tax increase failed.

The new budget is scheduled for preliminary adoption at the next meeting, June 22 with publication in July and final adoption in August, according to McCunniff.

He said the board now will not havet o make suts such as eliminating the librarian, some classroom teachers, a guidance counselor, and participation in the Fairfax School District summer school program.

The board also discussed whether to retain a full-time teacher for the educationally handicapped even though state funds will only cover a part-time one, McCunniff said. No action was taken, he said.

The board also passed a resolution that the board may increase teacher salaries after July 1 if money is available, McCunniff said.

The operating tax rate limit was raised from $2.65 to $3.55 per $100 assessed valuation by the Lagunitas district voters June 2. McCunniff said the preliminary budget will require the full levy unless additional state funds become available.

The Lagunitas School District board also:

LEAVE — Granted a one-year leave of absence to Sarah Napier, a part-time counselor for the district. Her husband has been transferred to Seattle, Wash.

RESIGNATION — Took no action on a request from teacher David A. Coughlin to ignore his resignation. The board said it had already accepted the resignation, according to McCunniff.

DRUG ABUSE — Heard a report on the district's drug abuse program. McCunniff said a position statement will be presented to the board for approval June 22.

RECOGNITION — Passed a resolution praising retiring teacher Lydia Smith for 31 years of teaching — 14 in the Lagunitas district.

INSURANCE — Approved an agreement for a $25 athletic insurance policy with North American Life and Casualty Co. of San Francisco.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to the next regular meeting June 22.

Involvement Workshop Set

A youth involvement workshop for Bay Area youths between 14 and 17 will be held July 23 to 28 at the Valley of the Moon Campground in Sonoma County.

The free workshop, sponsored by the American Red Cross, will include discussion of the needs of youth and ways to resolve problems affecting young people.

Registration can be made by calling the Marin County chapter of the Red Cross.

Key To Door Stirs Ruckus Over Fairfax Youth Panel

A locked door and a request for a key raised the question last night as to whether the Fairfax Youth Commission is an official agency of the Fairfax City Council.

The question was raised when the youth commission chairman, Judi Cummings, asked the council for a key to the Fairfax Women's Club where the commission meets.

City Administrator Frances Lestanguet explained that it was city policy that a key be given only to adults.

Miss Cummings asked that an exception be made, since the young people were an official city commission — a point disputed by City Atty. Wallace Myers.

A lengthy discussion ensued, ending with two tie votes,nothing solved and the commission going home without a key, and its status ambiguous.

"You're different. You have complete control over funds and your officers," Myers told Miss Cummings.

Councilman Robert R. Souza moved that the city administrator prepare a report on the status of the commission, but Mayor Frank J. Egger said he thought the group was "a regular city commission."

"They are a private organization of young people in this city," Myers argued.

Councilman Lee Nelder said he considered the commission an "advisor group with no official status."

"They wrote themselves off," Myers continued. "They resisted the idea that the council have anything to do with their members."

At the request of the council, Mrs. Lestanguet read from the minutes of the council meeting at which the commission was approved and given "the power and duty to advise the Fairfax City Council on programs and methods of involving youths in the areas of planning, decision making and activities which concern the youth of this community."

With the minutes read, Myers said, "I think you have invited these people to advise you from time to time. But what difference does it make really?"

Egger said the park and recreation commission was advisory, But Myers argued that the council appoints its members.

Miss Cummings reminded the council that it had approved the way the youth commission was to be selected — election by the city's young people.

"The language is very permissive" Souza said and repeated his motion to have Mrs. Lestanguet prepare a status report.

Myers again asked "what's the difference" if the commission is official or not. They want to advise, they can, he said. "You've given them the power and duty to advise the council. Any citizen in Fairfax can do this," he said.

Councilman Francis J. O'Connell said he agreed with Myers but attempted to bring the discussion back to the question of the key.

Miss Cummings explained it was a matter of her neighbors getting tired of going down to the city offices to pick up the key, and she asked if one of the councilmen would agree to do it.

O'Connell moved a substitute for Souza's motion which proposed that the councilmen, on a rotating basis, attend the meetings of the youth commission and get the key for them.

Miss Cummings was delighted. "All I want is somebody besides my neighbors that I have to drag down here," she said.

But Souza wouldn't stand for it. He argued that O'Connell's substitute motion was out of order because it was not on the same subject as his.

"We should vote on mine first," he said.

The council did, and, with Councilman Cornelis Van Vliet absent, got nowhere. Souza and Neder voted for the status report. Egger and O'Connell voted against.

O'Connell again moved his proposal, and the vote was the same.

Orchestra Sets Concert Saturday

The College of Marin Community Orchestra will present its spring concert Saturday in the Fine Arts Theater at 8:30 p.m.

The major work will be the Concerto for Piano and Orchestra by Khatchaturian. Soloist will be Richard Secrist. The orchestra will also perform Coriolanus Overture by Beethoven and Symphony No. 103, known as the "Drum Roll Symphony" by Haydn.

Span Crashes Hurt Four, None Serious

Two four-car accidents on the Golden Gate Bridge last night snarled traffic and injured four persons, none seriously, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said the first accident occurred at 7:07 p.m. when a southbound car driven by Anthony J. Melhuish, 34, of 380 Ebbtide Avenue, Apt. 7, Sausalito, skidded on wet pavement and crossed the center divider, striking a car driven by Margaret F. Williams, 50, of San Francisco.

The Williams car then struck one driven by James G. Bolen, 35, of 25 Alexander Avenue, Apt. 3, Sausalito, which was in turn hit in the rear by a car driven by Kenneth R. Byron, 38, of 15 La Cresta Drive, Petaluma, the patrol reported.

Melhuish was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts on the scalp, hands and forehead. Mrs. Williams was to see her own physician for unspecified minor injuries.

Eight minutes later, the patrol said, a car driven by June M. Durm, 50, of Daly City, struck a line of cars stopped on the northbound side of the bridge, damaging vehicles driven by Shelton Hunter, 35, of San Francisco; James E. Brewster, 44, of 205 Trinidad Drive, Tiburon, and Ellen W. Kohks, 32, of 69 Spruce Road, Fairfax.

Mrs. Durm and a passenger, Iris J. Bartlett, 34, of Daly City, were to see their own physicians for unspecified injuries.

Deputies Ask Overtime For Resort Duty

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Sheriff's Department yesterday asked for overtime pay for extra deputies needed to quell disturbances in resort areas on the Russian River.

The board of supervisors noted that it had never denied requests for overtime pay after an emergency situation had occurred, but hesitated to give a blanket endorsement to overtime for deputies in the Guerneville substation.

HOLIDAY BUILDUP

Sgt. Winfield Thibodeau of the substation said that Memorial Day and other holiday weekends have attracted between 750,000 and 100,000 persons to the area and that his substation with three patrol cars and six men per shift could not handle all the calls.

Thibodeau said something must be done to step up enforcement on weekends to control the large number of young people congregating there from the Bay Area as well as motorcycle gangs that have begun regular weekend invasions.

The officer said that many persons from Marin and the Bay Area are afraid to use their summer homes and that some businesses are considering closing down for the Fourth of July weekend to avoid trouble.

Undersheriff Joseph Cozzolino said that off duty officers must be called in on weekends and that some incentive other than compensatory time off should be guaranteed before the men give up their weekends and holidays.

TROUBLE ANTICIPATED

Thibodeau said that trouble can be anticipated to some extent and that the situation should be kept under control before major riots occur.

The supervisors said they would study the request and await a report from the county administrator's office before making a decision.

According to the county salary ordinance, all overtime pay must be authorized in advance while time off for overtime need not.

County Administrator David L. Nichols said he was against giving the sheriff's department carte blanche in overtime pay and that the effect on other county employees also must be considered.

Some Reminders Of Last Week's Primary

Here and there in Marin and Southern Sonoma a few lonely reminders of the June 2 election still stand, but most candidates reported yesterday that their signs are all down — as far as they know.

Only Hubert O. Pessner, a loser in his race for the Republican nomination for state senator from the Fourth District, and Howard K. Morehouse, who lost in his bid for the Marin Municipal Court judgeship, said they knew of signs still standing.

Pessner said the only sign he had up — a mobile sign off Highway 101 in Corte Madera — is still there because a victorious candidate is negotiating to use it for the November elections.

Morehouse said a sign in Novato will come down tomorrow.

Otherwise candidates said all their signs are down, but admitted there may be a few strays still pushing candidates for the June 2 election.

Peter H. Behr has removed all his signs, according to his campaign headquarters. Behr bested Pessner and two others for the Republican nomination.

The other two, Raymond H. Shone and Donald Pinkerton, were unavailable for comment.

Fifth District candidates for the Marin County Board of Supervisors, J. Wayne Womack and Arnold Baptiste, reported that to their knowledge, all signs were removed the day after the election, but one of Baptiste's remained today on South Novato Boulevard near Diablo Avenue.

Paul C. Zucker, loser in the First District to John F. McInnis, said all his signs are down. McInnis could not be reached.

Six of the 12 candidates for Municipal Court judge — including Robert A. Smallman and Ernest C. Zunino, the two voted into a November runoff — said their signs are down.

A few political signs still litter Southern Sonoma with most belonging to candidates looking forward to the November race or those from out of the area whose local supporters have disappeared.

Supervisor candidates Philip L. Joerger and Richard R. Day, successful in last Tuesday's primary, have removed most of their large signs,but the smaller ones remain.

Signs for three candidates for state Board of Equalization from outside the area remain on the streets. They include Democratic candidate Harry F. Sublett and John C. Williamson and Republican John M. Mayfield Jr.

$190 Fine And Probation On Battery Charge

Kirby Lane Hadley, 29, of Mill Valley, has been placed on probation for one year and fined $190 by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court for a marijuana conviction.

Hadley had earlier pleaded guilty to a reduced misdemeanor count of possessing pot. He had first been charged with felony counts of growing and possessing it.

Police were called to the Hadley residence on Dec. 8 by a neighbor who said someone was trying to enter the house. When officers arrived, they found prymarks around the door and entered to search for a burglar.

Instead, they found marijuana, and Hadley and his wife were arrested when they arrived home a short time later. At the time of Hadley's plea of guilty, charges against his wife were dimsissed.

San Anselmo Eases Job, Cuts Salary

San Anselmo's parks and recreation director, Frank L. Quinn, will be relieved of his park maintenance duties and become city recreation director, the San Anselmo City Council ordered last night.

The change will take effect July 1 and Quinn's salary will drop to $850 a month from his present $1,100, reported Mayor James F. Reed.

Reed said the change came on Quinn's complaint that the dual job was too great a work load for one man to handle. The council met in closed session to discuss the complaint.

While no action was taken on the point last night, park maintenance probably will be transferred to the public works department, Reed said. He said the city probably will hire a park maintenance supervisor rather than a director of parks. The supervisor's position was budgeted last year but the city never hired anyone to fill it, Reed said.

School Task Forces Set Up In Kentfield

Two citizens' advisory task forces will spend the 1970-71 school year sturying differentiated staffing and the district's reporting system, the Kentfield School District board was told last night.

Claudette Josephson, chairman of the citizens' advisory council, said the two groups will report next year. The staffing study will start this summer and the study of reporting will start in September, reported Supt. Anthony G. Bacich.

The board also heard year-end reports from the four principals. Plans for next year, Bacich said, include possible expansion of electives and foreign language programs for seventh and eighth graders at Adaline E. Kent School, a cutback in non graded programs at Wolfe Grade School, and possible combining of classes at Adaline E. Kent because of enrollment drops.

The board set a special meeting to discuss teacher salaries at 8 p.m. Thursday in the library of Wolfe Grade School.

Kentfield School District Board Also:

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Robert McQuain, science teacher at Adaline E. Kent, and Helen Russell, a district secretary.

HIRING — Hired James King to replace McQuain at a salary of $8,255.

CLOSED MEETING — Reached no decision at a closed meeting to discuss hiring or firing of a certificated employee.

Parker Lee Will Lead Study Body

Parker Lee, student body vice president at San Rafael High School, has been elected student body president for the fall term. He defeated Greg Fink and Ranier Herptz.

According to student spokesman Kendrick Courter, Lee will choose a vice president, secretary and treasurer next fall.

Tom Eggleston was elected senior class president. He defeated Ray Griffen, John Grupe, Mike Patrick and Holly Vernon.

Ada Goldberg was elected junior class president defeating Gladys Mendelson, Kim Colombini, Pam Finn and Debbie Plotkin.

Elected sophomore president was George Plank. He defeated Dan Alderson, Robin Bacci and Craig Bacharach.

The new presidents will choose cabinet members next fall to serve with them, Miss Courter reported.

Elected junior varsity yell leaders were The Boys, including Terry Coleman, Diane Bessee, Karen Ragen, Meridith Mills, Paula Richards and Rochelle Rebsamen.

New varsity yell leaders are Blood, Sweat and Sheers, including Alison Sargent, Debbie Noble, Jack Paulsen, Kate Doherty, Gary Dahl and Peter Hoenig.

Newly elected song leaders include Gidget Gragg, Kathy McGrath, Beth Prescott, Donna Bortfeld, Debbie Dickson, Elena Bales and Nancy Thelen.

School policy prohibits making public the vote tally for fear of embarrassing the losing candidates, Miss Courter said.

125 Meet In Sausalito, Form Businessmen's Association

Robert D. Bauerle, co-owner of Brotman's Gift Shop, has been chosen president of the Sausalito Businessmen's Association, a new group formed "to protect the interests of the Sausalito business and residential communities."

Sally Stanford, owner of the Valhalla Inn, was elected vice president at last night's organizational meeting, attended by 125 Sausalito merchants.

Other officers are Anne Drever, of Telsec Business and Answering Service, secretary, and Harold Gutknecht, Swensen's Ice Cream, treasurer.

Named to the association's board of directors were Gutknecht, Thomas Burke of Ustec Inc.; Harold Hoobs, owner of the Sausalito Hotel; Frank Trojanowski, a Sausalito realtor, and William Wachter, owner of the Alta Mira Hotel.

Two directors are still to be named, according to Bauerle, who said Gordon C. Wright, a San Francisco attorney, will serve as the group's legal representative.

He said the association will include "an active city government committee (to be appointed) to meet with the Sausalito City Council to maintain a balance of cooperation and understanding between the council and the business community.

"We are not out to try to run the city council," said Bauerle, defeated in April in his try for a council seat. "We are only interested in receiving the recognition that is rightly ours, since we are responsible, directly or indirectly, for 60 per cent of all revenue that comes into the city.

The new president said the need for a strong businessmen's organization became apparent two weeks ago when the city-council banned parking in a two-block portion of downtown Bridgeway and set up sandbag barricades to enforce the ban.

"This council action has seriously hurt a great many downtown businesses," Bauerle said, "and it made us realize that the council probably does not really understand the problems of the business community."

He said the association will hold general meetings once a month on a date yet to be decided and directors will meet bimonthly.

"This is not a fly-by-night organization, built around any one issue," Bauerle said. "We are here to stay."

Balloon Gets Blame For Inmate Death

A San Quentin inmate who died Sunday apparently caused his own death by attempting to fish a small balloon filled with a suspected narcotic out of his chest.

Coroner's Investigator Keith Craig said today that Raymond S. Rivera, 33, of Santa Cruz, died from an abcess which formed on a puncture he caused by inserting a wire hook into his esophagus.

Craig said that an autopsy surgeon found a small balloon tied in a knot and containing a solid cake or purple material in the convict's chest area. Rivera had apparently punctured the balloon with the hook but had been unable to retrieve it.

The inmate, a convicted rapist, had been seen swallowing an object after he had a visitor on May 30. Craig said that the substance in the balloon will be analyzed but he theorized that it is either heroin or a barbiturate.

He did not know whether Rivera was trying to remove the substance so he could use it or because he was choking on it. The inmate was admitted to the prison hospital the day of the visit, with a wire protruding from his mouth.

Transit Panel Takes Look At Budget

Marin County Transit District directors today accepted a proposed operating budget of $196,338 for 1970-71 and set a public hearing on the budget for 8:30 a.m. July 14.

In addition to the operating budget, the district has $667,242 in reserve funds accumulated through the transit tax rate of 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

James Robertson, acting transit manager, reported the following breakdown of the proposed 1970-71 budget:

Amount set aside for payment to the Golden Gate Bridge District for intra-county transit benefits to be received when the bridge district starts a bus transit system between Marin and San Francisco — $123,$89.

Cost of phase two of the balanced transportation study — $46,000.

STAFF SERVICES

Payment for staff services provided by County Public Works Department (Robertson is borrowed from public works to serve as transit manager) — $11,860.

Secretary-stenographer — $8,213.

Other costs such as supplies, insurance, telephone, and office equipment maintenance — $7,076.

Transit directors also set a meeting with Marin Transit Systems for 8:30 a.m. July 7 to decide whether the present $4,000 per month subsidy should continue.

FEEDER SERVICE

Marin Transit Systems is providing feeder bus service to the Tiburon Ferry. Reginald Tolbert, a director of the private bus firm, asked for the meeting with the transit directors to consider raising the subsidy.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell reported that the bus firm is losing between $2,300 and $8,700 per month and now has $13,500 in unpaid bills. If the company is to survive, the subsidy will have to be raised, said Mitchell.

"We just cannot give money away just because someone needs it," replied John F. McInnis, chairman.

"They are providing service which we requested," countered Michael Wornum. "We have all this money in reserve and it worries me that we cannot use some of it."

"If we're going to spend money in Southern Marin, I'm going to have some money spent in my area," declared William A. Gnoss of Novato.

The directors agreed that detailed discussions should be held up until the joint meeting on July 7.

The transit district's $4,000 per month subsidy to the Marin City bus firm will expire on July 15.

Licenses Are Now In Computer

SACRAMENTO (CNS) Transfer of driver license information from file drawers to computer tape has been completed, six months ahead of schedule, the Department of Motor Vehicles has announced.

And any information in a driver's record will be available in less than a minute in most cities and county seats through the new California Law Enforcement Telecommunications System.

The information has always been available to law enforcement officers by mail or teletype after a file search, but the time involved often led to a driver being treated as a first offender when his record actually showed prior offenses.

"This is a good time to remind every California motorist that every time he has a traffic citation and is found guilty in court or forfeits bail, the fact is entered in his 'violation point count' record," Director Robert C. Cozens said. "Most violations count one point; major violations count two."

Three violations in a year, six in two years or eight in three flag a driver as negligent and he can expect a warning letter from DMV.

A driver's record also tells whether he has ignored a traffic citation by being a no show in court or has failed to pay a fine. In either case he won't get his license renewed until he has settled with the court.

Auto Accident Hurts Vallejo Woman, 45

Orne Gutter, 45, of Vallejo, was treated for a cut on her lower right leg at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital after being injured in a one car accident at 5:10 p.m. on Nave Drive north of the north gate at Hamilton.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Mary Lee Ervin, 41, of Vallejo, which skidded out of control on the wet pavement, according to police.

Suffers Concussion

Adrew M. Carson, 31, of 71 Park Road, Fairfax, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with a concussion and a cut left eyebrow suffered at 7:42 p.m. yesterday when her car hit a utility pole at San Anselmo Avenue and Center Boulevard, San Anselmo police reported.

Cliff Climb Mishap Hurts Marinite

A 53-year-old San Rafael man was treated at Marin General Hospital Friday following a cliff climbing accident in Tiburon.

Gilbert W. Morgan of 45 Harte Avenue received minor back and hip injuries after falling from a 30-foot embankment near 25 Harbor Oak Drive, the Tiburon Fire Department reported yesterday.

The highway patrol said Florence Dickey and her son Patrick, both of nearby Windsor, were thrown from the skidding car at the on-ramp to U.S. 101.

In another accident, an unidentified woman was burned to death in her car early today when it crashed into a tree in Sonoma.

The meeting of the Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission, scheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow, has been postponed until 8 p.m. June 17 because of a city council budget session tomorrow evening.

Sewer Move Agreed By Novato Board

The Novato Sanitary District board last night approved an agreement with the state Division of Highways in which the state will pay $111,000 on the relocation of sewer mains for the Highway 101 bypass, according to Engineer-Manager Charles A. Joseph.

This will be part of a major improvement project for the district as well as relocating the mains, Joseph said. The federal government is expected to pay $82,000 toward the $321,000 project with the local district paying the balance, Joseph said.

The Novato Sanitary District board also:

Juvenile Hall Escaper Nabbed

A 14-year-old San Rafael boy who escaped from Marin Juvenile Hall Saturday night hours after he had been returned there by authorities was back in the hall again today.

San Rafael juvenile officers returned Patrick Ghilotti to custody again this morning, but another youth, Richard Frydenlund, 16, who escaped with him, was still missing today.

Juvenile authorities said that the boys broke away from a counsellor Saturday night when they were hanging out wet mops. A third youth who tried to escape was caught by the counsellor before he could get over a fence.

Deputies Ask Overtime For Resort Duty

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Sheriff's Department yesterday asked for overtime pay for extra deputies needed to quell disturbances in resort areas on the Russian River.

The board of supervisors noted that it had never denied requests for overtime pay after an emergency situation had occurred, but hesitated to give a blanket endorsement to overtime for deputies in the Guerneville substation.

HOLIDAY BUILDUP

Sgt. Winfield Thibodeau of the substation said that Memorial Day and other holiday weekends have attracted between 750,000 and 100,000 persons to the area and that his substation with three patrol cars and six men per shift could not handle all the calls.

Thibodeau said something must be done to step up enforcement on weekends to control the large number of young people congregating there from the Bay Area as well as motorcycle gangs that have begun regular weekend invasions.

The officer said that many persons from Marin and the Bay Area are afraid to use their summer homes and that some businesses are considering closing down for the Fourth of July weekend to avoid trouble.

Undersheriff Joseph Cozzolino said that off duty officers must be called in on weekends and that some incentive other than compensatory time off should be guaranteed before the men give up their weekends and holidays.

TROUBLE ANTICIPATED

Thibodeau said that trouble can be anticipated to some extent and that the situation should be kept under control before major riots occur.

The supervisors said they would study the request and await a report from the county administrator's office before making a decision.

According to the county salary ordinance, all overtime pay must be authorized in advance while time off for overtime need not.

County Administrator David L. Nichols said he was against giving the sheriff's department carte blanche in overtime pay and that the effect on other county employees also must be considered.

Some Reminders Of Last Week's Primary

Here and there in Marin and Southern Sonoma a few lonely reminders of the June 2 election still stand, but most candidates reported yesterday that their signs are all down — as far as they know.

Only Hubert O. Pessner, a loser in his race for the Republican nomination for state senator from the Fourth District, and Howard K. Morehouse, who lost in his bid for the Marin Municipal Court judgeship, said they knew of signs still standing.

Pessner said the only sign he had up — a mobile sign off Highway 101 in Corte Madera — is still there because a victorious candidate is negotiating to use it for the November elections.

Morehouse said a sign in Novato will come down tomorrow.

Otherwise candidates said all their signs are down, but admitted there may be a few strays still pushing candidates for the June 2 election.

Peter H. Behr has removed all his signs, according to his campaign headquarters. Behr bested Pessner and two others for the Republican nomination.

The other two, Raymond H. Shone and Donald Pinkerton, were unavailable for comment.

Fifth District candidates for the Marin County Board of Supervisors, J. Wayne Womack and Arnold Baptiste, reported that to their knowledge, all signs were removed the day after the election, but one of Baptiste's remained today on South Novato Boulevard near Diablo Avenue.

Paul C. Zucker, loser in the First District to John F. McInnis, said all his signs are down. McInnis could not be reached.

Six of the 12 candidates for Municipal Court judge — including Robert A. Smallman and Ernest C. Zunino, the two voted into a November runoff — said their signs are down.

A few political signs still litter Southern Sonoma with most belonging to candidates looking forward to the November race or those from out of the area whose local supporters have disappeared.

Supervisor candidates Philip L. Joerger and Richard R. Day, successful in last Tuesday's primary, have removed most of their large signs,but the smaller ones remain.

Signs for three candidates for state Board of Equalization from outside the area remain on the streets. They include Democratic candidate Harry F. Sublett and John C. Williamson and Republican John M. Mayfield Jr.

Child Day Care Plans Given Nod

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved a child day care center for 1900 Novato Boulevard, according to Planning Director Brian W. Mattson.

Willard F. Petersen applied for the center to be called the Dolphin Club. It will be limited to 60 children.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

HOUSES — Approved plans for location of houses on 58 hillside lots in Bahia unit 1-B at the end of Bugeia Lane.

RECOMMENDATIONS — Recommended to the Marin County Planning Commission that it have 10,000 square-foot, half-acre and one-acre lots in the unincorporated areas outside the city and a density of 1.8 dwellings per acre in Bel Marin Keys Unit 3

APARTMENTS — Approved plans for a 96-unit apartment project using shingles on the second floor of two of the five buildings on Alameda del Prado south of the Ignacio Overpass for Irving Caster.

CONTINUED —Continued until 8 p.m. June 22, consideration of the San Marin East master plan for the area west of Highway 101 at San Marin Drive for Standard Growth Properties; the 92-unit Cow Barn apartments on South Novato Boulevard west of Highway 101 for Allan Steinau and plans for a Pizza Hut for the southeast corner of Machin and DeLong Avenues for Ben Ostlind.

$190 Fine And Probation On Battery Charge

Kirby Lane Hadley, 29, of Mill Valley, has been placed on probation for one year and fined $190 by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court for a marijuana conviction.

Hadley had earlier pleaded guilty to a reduced misdemeanor count of possessing pot. He had first been charged with felony counts of growing and possessing it.

Police were called to the Hadley residence on Dec. 8 by a neighbor who said someone was trying to enter the house. When officers arrived, they found prymarks around the door and entered to search for a burglar.

Instead, they found marijuana, and Hadley and his wife were arrested when they arrived home a short time later. At the time of Hadley's plea of guilty, charges against his wife were dimsissed.

San Anselmo Eases Job, Cuts Salary

San Anselmo's parks and recreation director, Frank L. Quinn, will be relieved of his park maintenance duties and become city recreation director, the San Anselmo City Council ordered last night.

The change will take effect July 1 and Quinn's salary will drop to $850 a month from his present $1,100, reported Mayor James F. Reed.

Reed said the change came on Quinn's complaint that the dual job was too great a work load for one man to handle. The council met in closed session to discuss the complaint.

While no action was taken on the point last night, park maintenance probably will be transferred to the public works department, Reed said. He said the city probably will hire a park maintenance supervisor rather than a director of parks. The supervisor's position was budgeted last year but the city never hired anyone to fill it, Reed said.

Teacher At Bolinas Is Rehired

Marsha Hensill, assistant seventh and eighth grade teacher at Bolinas School, was hired as a teacher for the 1970-71 school year last night by the Bolinas-Stinson School board, secretary Avis Pattison reported today.

Mrs. Hensill, who has been with the district six months, holds a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Oregon and has served with the Peace Corps in East Africa.

The Bolinas-Stinson School District board also:

NEW TRUSTEE — Seated Charles E. Hancock, Stinson Beach rancher, elected to the board June 2.

DIPLOMAS — Voted to have board chairman Edward Z. Lewis present diplomas at graduation ceremonies Tuesday.

READING TESTS — Heard a report from Marguerite Harris, district reading specialist on results of standard reading tests taken last month by 6, 7, and 8-year-old students in the district. Mrs. Harris said the youngsters averaged scores at grade level or above on the tests.

MEETING — Adjourned until today at 7 p.m. at Bolinas School to consider the district's budget and alternate plans for a one-campus school for next year.

School Task Forces Set Up In Kentfield

Two citizens' advisory task forces will spend the 1970-71 school year sturying differentiated staffing and the district's reporting system, the Kentfield School District board was told last night.

Claudette Josephson, chairman of the citizens' advisory council, said the two groups will report next year. The staffing study will start this summer and the study of reporting will start in September, reported Supt. Anthony G. Bacich.

The board also heard year-end reports from the four principals. Plans for next year, Bacich said, include possible expansion of electives and foreign language programs for seventh and eighth graders at Adaline E. Kent School, a cutback in non graded programs at Wolfe Grade School, and possible combining of classes at Adaline E. Kent because of enrollment drops.

The board set a special meeting to discuss teacher salaries at 3 p.m. Thursday in the library of Wolfe Grade School.

Kentfield School District Board Also:

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Robert McQuain, science teacher at Adaline E. Kent, and Helen Russell, a district secretary.

HIRING — Hired James King to replace McQuain at a salary of $8,255.

FAMILY LIFE — Heard a recommendation by the family life committee that parents view the television family life education series "Time of Your Life" on KQED in September, with the possibility that the series may be shown in classes next spring.

CLOSED MEETING — Reached no decision at a closed meeting to discuss hiring or firing of a certificated employee.

Hatch Cover Stolen

Vandals cut lines and stole a temporary hatch cover causing $50 damage to a boat owned by the Marin Sea Scouts sometime between 4:30 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. Sunday at a dock at the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael police reported today.

Morals Case Listed

A 12-year-old girl, en route to Lynwood School on Sunset Parkway, was the victim of indecent exposure about 8 a. m. yesterday, Novato police reported. A 19 to 20-year-old man exposed himself to her while driving an older model car, she told police.

Time In Jail For Burglary

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday placed a 20-year-old college student, who had admitted a Mill Valley burglary, on probation for two years and ordered him to spend 60 days in jail.

He also told Nicholas Komens of San Francisco to make restitution of approximately $2,000 for articles stolen from the residence on Jan. 30.

When Komens pleaded guilty in April to one burglary charge, two others were dismissed.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Big Money Shows Now Playing, And Admission Free

This is the time of year when the public should be attending in droves the meetings of all tax-levying bodies — to protect their pocketbooks.

They don't do it.

Not many are on hand as the county board of supervisors begins its attack on a $36 million budget, the county's biggest, which may call for a sharp increase in the tax rate.

Still fewer are in the audience as school boards tackle budgets increased over last year and calling for heavier tax bites wherever the districts have not already reached the maximum the voters will permit.

And practically nobody shows up for budget sessions of city councils and the boards of sanitary, water, community services and other special districts.

IT IS A FRUSTRATING experience to attend one of these budget sessions. Rarely are copies of the budget which is under study available for the public. And when they are, it is difficult to understand them.

Budget-makers become experts at concealing where the increases are by sleight-of-hand manipulation of the figures. For instance, this year the county administrator shows a sharp reduction in the budget for the county's central services operation, but it has not been reduced. He has simply transferred some of the items into the various departments' budgets.

School budgets are hardest of all to understand because they have to be drawn to meet the ridiculous, unrealistic requirements of a hodgepodge of statutes in the California Education Code. The result is that, even for an accountant, they just don't make sense.

NEVERTHELESS, there is some enlightenment to be gained by attending budget sessions. When the board takes half an hour discussing a $2,000 item, then airily approves a $200,000 item that may be no more important, a member of the audience is entitled to rise and cry, "What goes on here?" without having studied the fine print in the list of figures.

When school boards discuss making cuts will cause buildings to deteriorate, or prevent children from receiving adequate library service, the parent need not be an expert in either education or finance to know that he and his child are being jobbed. And he should say so.

THERE IS ANOTHER reason.

The special interest groups are always on hand for budget sessions. These are the people with an axe to grind, a hobby to promote. To them, their particular hobbies are all-important, whether they happen to be well baby clinics, outdoor education, or special beaches for nudists.

Because they are there, and vocal, their hobbies do not get cut. But something else in the budget which might be more important to many more people may be eliminated to save the bicycle trail or the special program to identify left-handed children with reading difficulties.

SO, IF YOU CARE how heavily and for what you'll be taxed next fall, now is the time to cancel the cocktail party or forego the favorite television show and put in appearance at City Hall, Civic Center, or wherever that budget meeting is held.

It'll pay you to do it. Literally.

Old Maxim Firmed: 'Ins' Tough to Beat

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The antiwar activists of the new politics are learning a maxim long accepted by practitioners of the old politics: It is easier to win by supporting incumbents than by trying to replace them.

Only four incumbents in Congress have been unseated so far this year in party primaries held in 18 states. The most conspicuous loser was the antiwar Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex.

The movement of U. S. troops into Cambodia prompted some of the antiwar youth groups to try lobbying and electioneering instead of demonstrating to change attitudes in Congress about the Vietnam war.

Pre-Cambodia organizations such as Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) and Referendum 70 were already trying to make their weight felt in selective primary contests. Where they and their new allies contributed to victories, they won more often by helping to renominate incumbents than by defeating them.

Although ADA is not a single-issue organization, it is giving priority to termination of the war in Vietnam. In Democratic senatorial primary contests so far, ADA endorsed the winners in Illinois, Montana and New Jersey and the losers in California, Pennsylvania, Texas and West Virginia.

In none of these states did the peace issue alone control the outcome.

Referendum 70 is recruiting volunteer campaign workers for "peace and new priorities" candidates who want them. Like ADA, the Referendum 70 Senate endorsements included Adlai E. Stevenson III, the Illinois Democratic winner, and Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N. J.

Also with ADA, Referendum 70's list included Rep. George E. Brown Jr., who lost the California Democratic Senate nomination to Rep. John V. Tunney, and Norval Reece, a losers in the Pennsylvania Democratic senatorial primary.

In congressional primary contests, the Referendum 70 list includes one Indiana incumbent and one challenger for a Republican seat in each of four states — California, Illinois, Pennsylvania and South Dakota. Its losers, all challenging incumbents, included two each in New Jersey and Oregon, and one in Kentucky.

When the new student movement was activated, attention swung first to New Jersey's 15th district. The Princeton-based Movement for a New Congress backed Lewis B. Kaden in the Democratic primary against Rep. Edward J. Patten, but Patten easily won renomination.

The Movement for a New Congress is supporting seven candidates in the New York City area in the June 23 primary. These include two incumbents and five challengers, one Republican and six Democrats.

Ronald V. Dellums, Berkeley, Calif., a Negro councilman, had student help in his June 2 Democratic primary victory over Rep. Jeffery Cohelan in California's seventh district. The winner said Cohelan waited too long to join foes of the war, but the ADA thought Cohelan had sound liberal credentials and stayed neutral.

One California Republican, Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., won renomination with the endorsement of the ADA and the Congressional Action Fund, a conglomerate of peace movement groups.

Idea For Ending World Conflicts

Today, while digging a ditch under the hot sun, I discovered what I think is a possible solution to the military problems we face in Indochina, Korea, West and East Europe and the Middle East.

Our problem began at the Yalta Conference when President Roosevelt initiated a foreign policy of division, allowing Mr. Stalin to dominate Eastern Europe. Since then we have let North Korea and China fall to the Communists, floundered in Vietnam, and recently extended our reach into Laos and Cambodia. Right now we are wondering if we should further involve ourselves in the Middle East crisis.

The crux of the problem is, that while we continue to exercise this division policy, we yet insist upon playing the role of world policeman. With one hand we wave the go-ahead signal to the Soviet Union and Communist China while at the same time raising the other to say stop . . .

I suggest that if the leaders of the United States, the Soviet Union and Communist China are truly sincere in their desire for peace, they work out a plan and put into reality a system of simultaneous withdrawal of all troops and weaponry from the above areas of conflict, and play solely the role of the observer, leaving these peoples to work out their own problems . . .

This is the idea, simultaneous withdrawal. It can be made a reality if the people of our country grasp it, favor it, and then apply pressure on our government . . .

Cambodia Editorial Draws Acclaim

I regret that your great editorial of May 7 (your letter to President Nixon) didn't come to my attention until today. Secretary Rogers, in testifying before a congressional committee on April 23, said exactly what I believe to be the case, when in asnwer to a question he said in substance, "Of course we are not going into Cambodia. That would undo everything we have been case, when in answer to a trying to accomplish."

De-escalation and negotiation was and is the only way in which we can hope to get out of Vietnam, and it is impossible for me to express the sickening feeling I had when I learned of Cambodia, and then of resumption of bombing of North Vietnam. The President must still believe in a "military victory," which has been proved impossible of achievement.

He and the vice president have divided the country as I have never seen it before, and almost totally alienated the young. By that total alienation he may have inadvertently given us cause for hope that the intolerable vandalism and violence on the campuses will be abated. All of us can help by publicly supporting the great moderates with words and money.

Congratulations again, and thank you for your editorial.

Poll Of Attorneys Held Injustice

Now the judge election is over, I can say it! Twelve well qualified candidates put their all into their campaigns and two came out the winners. The candidates that Mr. William G. Corrigan supported and touted did not win, place, or show. He did an injustice to all candidates by his personal poll, which intentionally and unjustifiably criticized many of the candidates. I wonder if Mr. Corrigan would withstand a poll?

Hairy And Dirty Pose Health Problem

The long-haired, shoeless, dirty hippies that have invaded our beautiful county are exercising all the rights that are offered in a democracy. I realize that they are people and have to live, eat, sleep and drink. But what bugs me is that they cannot stand the establishment and they still use our ice cream parlors, supermarkets, restaurants and other businesses.

The health department has a law in the books that does not permit dogs in a place where food is served or sold. I would rather see a dog in one of these places. Why is it the health department has been so lax in this very serious problem? The money hungry merchants haven't discouraged these parasites, either. The merchant has the right to refuse service to them, but does he have the guts to enforce his right? I don't think too many do, because everytime I go to a market, restaurant or ice cream parlor, I see at least 10 or 15 being served.

I think Monterey has a few men with strength and character. They are not paying unemployment benefits to the long haired, bearded, mother hubbard gals or micromini skirted.

I think it is high time that the silent majority start making a little noise — loud and clear.

Would Scuttle Burglary Roundup

For many weeks I have wodered what purpose is served by the list of reported residential burglaries published every Monday. In my opinion, this is strictly a matter between the individual(s) concerned and the law enforcement agency. Surely the person(s) who resort to this criminal act must find the information most helpful.

I, for one, think this Monday feature should be scuttled. Let's give more attention to the news and put less emphasis on the law breakers.

Effort To Unionize Grape Workers Disrupts, Gets Nowhere

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Some five years have elapsed since the United Farm Worker's Organizing Committee started its disruption of the California grape industry. And to date, the organization is no closer to organizing grape workers in the San Joaquin Valley than it was when it started.

Meanwhile, the futile attempts to organize have cost growers of table grapes untold thousands of dollars.

But even more important than the cost to the grapegrowers is the fact that consumers have been deprived in some instances of their right to purchase a product on the open market, because it is barred by threats and coercion.

IT WOULD SEEM there should be some kind of a statute of limitations on the efforts to organize grape workers.

The union activists, operating under the questionable leadership of Cesar Chavez, have had more than a fair opportunity to bring workers into an organized group, and have failed.

Further efforts would appear to border on a racket, designed to support Chavez and his cohorts from the pittance dues collected from workers who might still want to go along with the phantasy that they might obtain some benefits from the union.

THESE ARE a few of the reasons why two California assemblymen are pressing for a federal investigation by the Congress of an eastern supermarket chain's decision to bar California table grapes from its shelves until the dispute between the UFWOC and the grape growers is settled.

This could mean forever, as there are no signs of the dispute being settled. The signs are that the organizing committee is losing even the power it started with.

The assemblymen supporting the proposed congressional investigation are William M. Ketchum, R-Paso Robles, and Kent H. Stacey, R-Bakersfield, whose districts embrace quite an area of California catering to the production of table grapes.

They contend that the public deserves the right to make its own decision as to what it can buy in the market place, and that growers should have the right to market crops. And as well, the farm worker should have the right to decide whether he wishes to join a union.

Moscow, Cars In Future, Plans Subway Expansion

By DUSKO DODER

MOSCOW (UPI)—Mayor Vladimir Promyslov says his city will expand its subway network by 124 miles during this decade.

"Without subways we can't do anything," he said. "We figured that it takes now about one hour for an average city resident to get to work. This time will be cut in half by the time we complete our plan.

"I know this is going to be costly,...but it will pay off in the end."

PROMYSLOV MADE the remarks in a conversation with visiting American astronaut Neil A. Armstrong. During their 45 minute exchange, the mayor outlined city problems and dwelt at length on transportation improvements.

Promyslov said the city's transportation system—including buses, subway and street cars—carries about 14 million persons daily. Most passengers use the 82-mile subway network, while about 4.5 million travel on city buses each day.

"We are well aware that we live in the automation age," Promyslov said. "While you may think that street traffic is manageable, we have calculated that by 1975 we'll have here in the city about 1,000,000 passenger cars."

MOSCOW THUS FAR has escaped major traffic problems such as beset New York City, Los Angeles or London, simply because of the lack of private automobiles.

"We are eliminating the street car network in the downtown area but not in the suburbs at this point," he said. "But we have realized that we have to rely more on the subway. We figure that we will have to construct more than 200 kilometers (124 miles) of subway lines and we'll do it."

Promyslov said road construction in the city is perhaps cheap, but it moves along slower "because you have to wreck lots of homes." The problem will become more pressing when the Soviet automobile industry begins its increased car production in 1971-72.

THE MOSCOW subway, which was completed in 1935, is perhaps the most efficient in the world, though Promyslov indicated that the city has to foot high bills each year.

The subway is equipped with computers, which program the arrival and departure times, intervals between trains, length of station stops and speeds.

For five kopeks (about five cents) one can ride anywhere in the city. During peak hours, trains arrive at any station every two minutes.

Elected sophomore president was George Plank. He defeated Dan Alderson, Robin Bacci and Craig Bacharach.

The new presidents will choose cabinet members next fall to serve with them, Miss Courter reported.

Elected junior varsity yell leaders were The Boys, including Terry Coleman, Diane Bessee, Karen Ragen, Meridith Mills, Paula Richards and Rochelle Rebsamen.

New varsity yell leaders are Blood, Sweat and Sheers, including Alison Sargent, Debbie Noble, Jack Paulsen, Kate Doherty, Gary Dahl and Peter Hoenig.

Newly elected song leaders include Gidget Gragg, Kathy McGrath, Beth Prescott, Donna Bortfeld, Debbie Dickson, Elena Bales and Nancy Thelen.

School policy prohibits making public the vote tally for fear of embarrassing the losing candidates, Miss Courter said.

Licenses Are Now In Computer

SACRAMENTO (CNS) Transfer of driver license information from file drawers to computer tape has been completed, six months ahead of schedule, the Department of Motor Vehicles has announced.

And any information in a driver's record will be available in less than a minute in most cities and county seats through the new California Law Enforcement Telecommunications System.

The information has always been available to law enforcement officers by mail or teletype after a file search, but the time involved often led to a driver being treated as a first offender when his record actually showed prior offenses.

"This is a good time to remind every California motorist that every time he has a traffic citation and is found guilty in court or forfeits bail, the fact is entered in his 'violation point count' record," Director Robert C. Cozens said. "Most violations count one point; major violations count two."

Three violations in a year, six in two years or eight in three flag a driver as negligent and he can expect a warning letter from DMV.

A driver's record also tells whether he has ignored a traffic citation by being a no show in court or has failed to pay a fine. In either case he won't get his license renewed until he has settled with the court.

Auto Accident Hurts Vallejo Woman, 45

Orne Gutter, 45, of Vallejo, was treated for a cut on her lower right leg at Hamilton Air Force Base Hosiptal after being injured in a one car accident at 5:10 p.m. on Nave Drive north of the north gate at Hamilton.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Mary Lee Ervin, 41, of Vallejo, which skidded out of control on the wet pavement, according to police.

Cliff Climb Mishap Hurts Marinite

A 53-year-old San Rafael man was treated at Marin General Hospital Friday following a cliff climbing accident in Tiburon.

Gilbert W. Morgan of 45 Harte Avenue received minor back and hip injuries after falling from a 30-foot embankment near 25 Harbor Oak Drive, the Tiburon Fire Department reported yesterday.

125 Meet In Sausalito, Form Businessmen's Association

Robert D. Bauerle, co-owner of Brotman's Gift Shop, has been chosen president of the Sausalito Businessmen's Association, a new group formed "to protect the interests of the Sausalito business and residential communities."

Sally Stanford, owner of the Valhalla Inn, was elected vice president at last night's organizational meeting, attended by 125 Sausalito merchants.

Other officers are Anne Drever, of Telsec Business and Answering Service, secretary, and Harold Gutknecht, Swensen's Ice Cream, treasurer.

Named to the association's board of directors were Gutknecht, Thomas Burke of Ustec Inc.; Harold Hoobs, owner of the Sausalito Hotel; Frank Trojanowski, a Sausalito realtor, and William Wachter, owner of the Alta Mira Hotel.

Two directors are still to be named, according to Bauerle, who said Gordon C. Wright, a San Francisco attorney, will serve as the group's legal representative.

He said the association will include "an active city government committee (to be appointed) to meet with the Sausalito City Council to maintain a balance of cooperation and understanding between the council and the business community.

"We are not out to try to run the city council," said Bauerle, defeated in April in his try for a council seat. "We are only interested in receiving the recognition that is rightly ours, since we are responsible, directly or indirectly, for 60 per cent of all revenue that comes into the city.

The new president said the need for a strong businessmen's organization became apparent two weeks ago when the city-council banned parking in a two-block portion of downtown Bridgeway and set up sandbag barricades to enforce the ban.

"This council action has seriously hurt a great many downtown businesses," Bauerle said, "and it made us realize that the council probably does not really understand the problems of the business community."

He said the association will hold general meetings once a month on a date yet to be decided and directors will meet bimonthly.

"This is not a fly-by-night organization, built around any one issue," Bauerle said. "We are here to stay."

Transit Panel Takes Look At Budget

Marin County Transit District directors today accepted a proposed operating budget of $196,338 for 1970-71 and set a public hearing on the budget for 8:30 a.m. July 14.

In addition to the operating budget, the district has $667,242 in reserve funds accumulated through the transit tax rate of 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

James Robertson, acting transit manager, reported the following breakdown of the proposed 1970-71 budget:

Amount set aside for payment to the Golden Gate Bridge District for intra-county transit benefits to be received when the bridge district starts a bus transit system between Marin and San Francisco — $123,$89.

Cost of phase two of the balanced transportation study — $46,000.

STAFF SERVICES

Payment for staff services provided by County Public Works Department (Robertson is borrowed from public works to serve as transit manager) — $11,860.

Secretary-stenographer — $8,213.

Other costs such as supplies, insurance, telephone, and office equipment maintenance — $7,076.

Transit directors also set a meeting with Marin Transit Systems for 8:30 a.m. July 7 to decide whether the present $4,000 per month subsidy should continue.

FEEDER SERVICE

Marin Transit Systems is providing feeder bus service to the Tiburon Ferry. Reginald Tolbert, a director of the private bus firm, asked for the meeting with the transit directors to consider raising the subsidy.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell reported that the bus firm is losing between $2,300 and $8,700 per month and now has $13,500 in unpaid bills. If the company is to survive, the subsidy will have to be raised, said Mitchell.

"We just cannot give money away just because someone needs it," replied John F. McInnis, chairman.

"They are providing service which we requested," countered Michael Wornum. "We have all this money in reserve and it worries me that we cannot use some of it."

"If we're going to spend money in Southern Marin, I'm going to have some money spent in my area," declared William A. Gnoss of Novato.

The directors agreed that detailed discussions should be held up until the joint meeting on July 7.

The transit district's $4,000 per month subsidy to the Marin City bus firm will expire on July 15.

Suffers Concussion

Adrew M. Carson, 31, of 71 Park Road, Fairfax, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with a concussion and a cut left eyebrow suffered at 7:42 p.m. yesterday when her car hit a utility pole at San Anselmo Avenue and Center Boulevard, San Anselmo police reported.

Session Delayed

The meeting of the Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission, scheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow, has been postponed until 8 p.m. June 17 because of a city council budget session tomorrow evening.

2 Car Crashes Take 3 Lives

HEALDSBURG (AP) — A Sonoma County woman and her son were killed Monday night when the car she was driving turned over during a rain storm.

The highway patrol said Florence Dickey and her son Patrick, both of nearby Windsor, were thrown from the skidding car at the on-ramp to U.S. 101.

In another accident, an unidentified woman was burned to death in her car early today when it crashed into a tree in Sonoma.

Balloon Gets Blame For Inmate Death

A San Quentin inmate who died Sunday apparently caused his own death by attempting to fish a small balloon filled with a suspected narcotic out of his chest.

Coroner's Investigator Keith Craig said today that Raymond S. Rivera, 33, of Santa Cruz, died from an abcess which formed on a puncture he caused by inserting a wire hook into his esophagus.

Craig said that an autopsy surgeon found a small balloon tied in a knot and containing a solid cake or purple material in the convict's chest area. Rivera had apparently punctured the balloon with the hook but had been unable to retrieve it.

The inmate, a convicted rapist, had been seen swallowing an object after he had a visitor on May 30. Craig said that the substance in the balloon will be analyzed but he theorized that it is either heroin or a barbiturate.

He did not know whether Rivera was trying to remove the substance so he could use it or because he was choking on it. The inmate was admitted to the prison hospital the day of the visit, with a wire protruding from his mouth.

Sewer Move Agreed By Novato Board

The Novato Sanitary District board last night approved an agreement with the state Division of Highways in which the state will pay $111,600 on the relocation of sewer mains for the Highway 101 bypass, according to Engineer-Manager Charles A. Joseph.

This will be part of a major improvement project for the district as well as relocating the mains, Joseph said. The federal government is expected to pay $82,000 toward the $321,000 project with the local district paying the balance, Joseph said.

The Novato Sanitary District board also:

DEBRIS BOXES — Received notice from Grange Debris Box Service of San Rafael that it would not place its boxes in Novato any more in violation of the Novato Disposal Service Franchise.

BAHIA — Approved sewer plans for Bahia Unit 2 of 67 lots for Bahia Del Norte Inc.

EASEMENTS — Accepted sewer easements from the Meredith Wilson estate for a main off Lamont and Railroad Avenues and from Sono-Marin Builders for a main for Oaks Unit 1 subdivision.

'Beauty Or Else' Campaign Not Pleasing All Petalumans

Beautification has become big business in Petaluma and has touched nearly every resident.

The beautification committee headed by Agnes McGilvra of radio station KTOB has launched its new offensive against ugliness with such intensity that even the most cynical person has been surprised.

No doubt the evangelistic fervor of the campaign was sparked by the receipt of a beautification award last year from the National Paint-Up, Clean Up, Fix-Up Bureau. While Petaluma was one of hundreds of cities receiving the honor, it was enough to urge leaders to double their efforts this year to bring a really meaningful award.

WHILE NO ONE will dispute that beautification has great merit, some residents seem to be wondering about the extent of the operation.

Near billboard-sized signs shouting "beautify" in bold colors flocked with abstract flowers have srpung up around the city. Drawing a major complaint has been the placement of one of the signs in Mary Park.

The park, overlooking Petaluma Boulevard North at Washington Street, is already beautiful. The sign reminding citizens of the importance to beautify has only detracted from the park.

IS THIS the desired effect of the beautification campaign? If such signs must go up, couldn't they be placed in a drab location that could use some color instead of marring an already lovely spot?

The committee chose the spot because it is a high traffic area, but is it really putting across the right message?

Hundreds of surprised Petalumans received letters from Mayor Helen Putnam asking them to be block chairmen in the campaign. Most rejected the thought of policing their neighbors.

Handbills appeared at doors of homes across the city, reminding residents that lawns not only should be mowed, but must have trimmed edges to look neat. If the resident would rather spend his time at some activity other than trimming grass he's not doing his part, should feel guilty, is the definte implication.

THE SAME PRACTICE is being used to some extent in Rohnert Park. The building inspector last week issued letters to 70 residents listing items that need attention on their homes.

As soon as the letters were received, City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan was hearing from irate residents shouting: "What business is it of yours to tell me to paint my trim: I'll paint it when I'm good and ready and not before."

While Callinan dislikes taking the abuse, he reports most residents comply with the suggested improvements in short order, making it all worthwhile.

Perhaps the next step for government will be requiring paint jobs on aging cars or making housewives pay weekly visits to the hairdresser — all in the name of beautification.

Chinese Scholar Tells How To Solve All U.S. Woes

WASHINGTON — People who have been wondering why things have been unraveling so badly in Washington these days may be interested in the explanation of a distinguished Chinese scholar who visited the Capitol last week. Dr. Chun Ling is an expert in Feng Sui, otherwise known as the study of things in relation to where they are placed.

"Americans," Dr. Chun Ling said, "do not put much significance into what is in good harmony and bad harmony, but if buildings are not in harmony with each other it is impossible for people to be in harmony."

DR. CHUN LING said that the most striking example of this could be illustrated by the fact that the White House faces north and the Capitol of the nation faces east and both have their backs to the Washington Monument. When buildings face in different directions, they do not have common goals.

"The Supreme Court faces Lincoln and that is good, but Lincoln from his tomb must look at the back of the Senate and House of Representatives, and this is bad."

Dr. Chun Ling also said, "It is very sad the President's office is located in the west wing of the White House, because this puts him on the side of the Pentagon and away from Health, Education and Welfare."

THE FENG SUI expert said it is no accident that the Pentagon is as strong as it is in Washington. "The Pentagon is much larger than the Capitol and White House, and the two smaller buildings cannot control the bigger one. Not only that, but the Pentagon has too many faces and too many entrances directed in all directions. This multifaceted design has forced the Pentagon to get involved in every direction it faces."

Dr. Chun Ling pointed something out to me that I had never noticed before, which shows you how important the study of Feng Sui can be.

"The Pentagon is across the Potomac River and that is why the State Department, Capitol and even the White House have no control over it."

ONE OF THE most interesting things that Dr. Chun Ling said was that because the White House faces north it looks on Lafayette Park. In the center of Lafayette Park is the Jackson Memorial consisting of four giant antique guns. These guns have dominated every recent President's thinking. When the President is trying to think, it's inevitable that the guns in Lafayette Park can suggest military solutions to world problems. Dr. Chun Ling believes the guns should be removed at once and replaced with flowers.

When studying the science of Feng Sue, Dr. Chun Ling says that it is very important to know on what axis our nation's leaders sleep. If they don't sleep on the same geographic poles, they can disrupt the flow of the earth's magentism.

I HAD MY doubts about Dr. Chun Ling's last statement, and so I did some Feng Sui research on my own. It appeared there was a lot to what he said. For example I discovered that Sen. Fulbright sleeps south to north and Martha Mitchell sleeps west to east. This is why they have never been able to see eye to eye on anything.

Vice President Agnew, on the other hand sleeps south by southeast. Most Eastern Establishment newspapermen and commentators sleep north by northeast. This, and only this, is what is causing the disharmony between the Vice President and the press.

I tried to find out what direction President Nixon sleeps to make my study complete, but Ron Ziegler, his press secretary, told me emphatically "The President never sleeps."

Gun Shots End Cafe Argument

Shots were fired to climax an argument Saturday at 4:40 a.m. at Wristlers Cafe, 931 Petaluma Boulevard South, Petaluma police reported yesterday.

Harold C. Boyd, 33, of 232 Keller Street, told police a group of six men wearing levi jackets decorated with flags entered the restaurant to start a fight.

When Boyd told the men to leave, they did so, but he said the last man fired six shots into the restaurant from the door. Police said the bullets ricocheted around the restaurant, but didn't strike anyone.

Big Money Shows Now Playing, And Admission Free

This is the time of year when the public should be attending in droves the meetings of all tax-levying bodies — to protect their pocketbooks.

They don't do it.

Not many are on hand as the county board of supervisors begins its attack on a $36 million budget, the county's biggest, which may call for a sharp increase in the tax rate.

Still fewer are in the audience as school boards tackle budgets increased over last year and calling for heavier tax bites wherever the districts have not already reached the maximum the voters will permit.

And practically nobody shows up for budget sessions of city councils and the boards of sanitary, water, community services and other special districts.

IT IS A FRUSTRATING experience to attend one of these budget sessions. Rarely are copies of the budget which is under study available for the public. And when they are, it is difficult to understand them.

Budget-makers become experts at concealing where the increases are by sleight-of-hand manipulation of the figures. For instance, this year the county administrator shows a sharp reduction in the budget for the county's central services operation, but it has not been reduced. He has simply transferred some of the items into the various departments' budgets.

School budgets are hardest of all to understand because they have to be drawn to meet the ridiculous, unrealistic requirements of a hodgepodge of statutes in the California Education Code. The result is that, even for an accountant, they just don't make sense.

NEVERTHELESS, there is some enlightenment to be gained by attending budget sessions. When the board takes half an hour discussing a $2,000 item, then airily approves a $200,000 item that may be no more important, a member of the audience is entitled to rise and cry, "What goes on here?" without having studied the fine print in the list of figures.

When school boards discuss making cuts will cause buildings to deteriorate, or prevent children from receiving adequate library service, the parent need not be an expert in either education or finance to know that he and his child are being jobbed. And he should say so.

THERE IS ANOTHER reason.

The special interest groups are always on hand for budget sessions. These are the people with an axe to grind, a hobby to promote. To them, their particular hobbies are all-important, whether they happen to be well baby clinics, outdoor education, or special beaches for nudists.

Because they are there, and vocal, their hobbies do not get cut. But something else in the budget which might be more important to many more people may be eliminated to save the bicycle trail or the special program to identify left-handed children with reading difficulties.

SO, IF YOU CARE how heavily and for what you'll be taxed next fall, now is the time to cancel the cocktail party or forego the favorite television show and put in appearance at City Hall, Civic Center, or wherever that budget meeting is held.

It'll pay you to do it. Literally.

Effort To Unionize Grape Workers Disrupts, Gets Nowhere

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Some five years have elapsed since the United Farm Worker's Organizing Committee started its disruption of the California grape industry. And to date, the organization is no closer to organizing grape workers in the San Joaquin Valley than it was when it started.

Meanwhile, the futile attempts to organize have cost growers of table grapes untold thousands of dollars.

But even more important than the cost to the grapegrowers is the fact that consumers have been deprived in some instances of their right to purchase a product on the open market, because it is barred by threats and coercion.

IT WOULD SEEM there should be some kind of a statute of limitations on the efforts to organize grape workers.

The union activists, operating under the questionable leadership of Cesar Chavez, have had more than a fair opportunity to bring workers into an organized group, and have failed.

Further efforts would appear to border on a racket, designed to support Chavez and his cohorts from the pittance dues collected from workers who might still want to go along with the phantasy that they might obtain some benefits from the union.

THESE ARE a few of the reasons why two California assemblymen are pressing for a federal investigation by the Congress of an eastern supermarket chain's decision to bar California table grapes from its shelves until the dispute between the UFWOC and the grape growers is settled.

This could mean forever, as there are no signs of the dispute being settled. The signs are that the organizing committee is losing even the power it started with.

The assemblymen supporting the proposed congressional investigation are William M. Ketchum, R-Paso Robles, and Kent H. Stacey, R-Bakersfield, whose districts embrace quite an area of California catering to the production of table grapes.

They contend that the public deserves the right to make its own decision as to what it can buy in the market place, and that growers should have the right to market crops. And as well, the farm worker should have the right to decide whether he wishes to join a union.

Idea For Ending World Conflicts

Today, while digging a ditch under the hot sun, I discovered what I think is a possible solution to the military problems we face in Indochina, Korea, West and East Europe and the Middle East.

Our problem began at the Yalta Conference when President Roosevelt initiated a foreign policy of division, allowing Mr. Stalin to dominate Eastern Europe. Since then we have let North Korea and China fall to the Communists, floundered in Vietnam, and recently extended our reach into Laos and Cambodia. Right now we are wondering if we should further involve ourselves in the Middle East crisis.

The crux of the problem is, that while we continue to exercise this division policy, we yet insist upon playing the role of world policeman. With one hand we wave the go-ahead signal to the Soviet Union and Communist China while at the same time raising the other to say stop . . .

I suggest that if the leaders of the United States, the Soviet Union and Communist China are truly sincere in their desire for peace, they work out a plan and put into reality a system of simultaneous withdrawal of all troops and weaponry from the above areas of conflict, and play solely the role of the observer, leaving these peoples to work out their own problems . . .

This is the idea, simultaneous withdrawal. It can be made a reality if the people of our country grasp it, favor it, and then apply pressure on our government . . .

Cambodia Editorial Draws Acclaim

I regret that your great editorial of May 7 (your letter to President Nixon) didn't come to my attention until today. Secretary Rogers, in testifying before a congressional committee on April 23, said exactly what I believe to be the case, when in asnwer to a question he said in substance, "Of course we are not going into Cambodia. That would undo everything we have been case, when in answer to a trying to accomplish."

De-escalation and negotiation was and is the only way in which we can hope to get out of Vietnam, and it is impossible for me to express the sickening feeling I had when I learned of Cambodia, and then of resumption of bombing of North Vietnam. The President must still believe in a "military victory," which has been proved impossible of achievement.

He and the vice president have divided the country as I have never seen it before, and almost totally alienated the young. By that total alienation he may have inadvertently given us cause for hope that the intolerable vandalism and violence on the campuses will be abated. All of us can help by publicly supporting the great moderates with words and money.

Congratulations again, and thank you for your editorial.

Poll Of Attorneys Held Injustice

Now the judge election is over, I can say it! Twelve well qualified candidates put their all into their campaigns and two came out the winners. The candidates that Mr. William G. Corrigan supported and touted did not win, place, or show. He did an injustice to all candidates by his personal poll, which intentionally and unjustifiably criticized many of the candidates. I wonder if Mr. Corrigan would withstand a poll?

Hairy And Dirty Pose Health Problem

The long-haired, shoeless, dirty hippies that have invaded our beautiful county are exercising all the rights that are offered in a democracy. I realize that they are people and have to live, eat, sleep and drink. But what bugs me is that they cannot stand the establishment and they still use our ice cream parlors, supermarkets, restaurants and other businesses.

The health department has a law in the books that does not permit dogs in a place where food is served or sold. I would rather see a dog in one of these places. Why is it the health department has been so lax in this very serious problem? The money hungry merchants haven't discouraged these parasites, either. The merchant has the right to refuse service to them, but does he have the guts to enforce his right? I don't think too many do, because everytime I go to a market, restaurant or ice cream parlor, I see at least 10 or 15 being served.

I think Monterey has a few men with strength and character. They are not paying unemployment benefits to the long haired, bearded, mother hubbard gals or micromini skirted.

I think it is high time that the silent majority start making a little noise — loud and clear.

Would Scuttle Burglary Roundup

For many weeks I have wodered what purpose is served by the list of reported residential burglaries published every Monday. In my opinion, this is strictly a matter between the individual(s) concerned and the law enforcement agency. Surely the person(s) who resort to this criminal act must find the information most helpful.

I, for one, think this Monday feature should be scuttled. Let's give more attention to the news and put less emphasis on the law breakers.

Old Maxim Firmed: 'Ins' Tough to Beat

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The antiwar activists of the new politics are learning a maxim long accepted by practitioners of the old politics: It is easier to win by supporting incumbents than by trying to replace them.

Only four incumbents in Congress have been unseated so far this year in party primaries held in 18 states. The most conspicuous loser was the antiwar Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex.

The movement of U. S. troops into Cambodia prompted some of the antiwar youth groups to try lobbying and electioneering instead of demonstrating to change attitudes in Congress about the Vietnam war.

Pre-Cambodia organizations such as Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) and Referendum 70 were already trying to make their weight felt in selective primary contests. Where they and their new allies contributed to victories, they won more often by helping to renominate incumbents than by defeating them.

Although ADA is not a single-issue organization, it is giving priority to termination of the war in Vietnam. In Democratic senatorial primary contests so far, ADA endorsed the winners in Illinois, Montana and New Jersey and the losers in California, Pennsylvania, Texas and West Virginia.

In none of these states did the peace issue alone control the outcome.

Referendum 70 is recruiting volunteer campaign workers for "peace and new priorities" candidates who want them. Like ADA, the Referendum 70 Senate endorsements included Adlai E. Stevenson III, the Illinois Democratic winner, and Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N. J.

Also with ADA, Referendum 70's list included Rep. George E. Brown Jr., who lost the California Democratic Senate nomination to Rep. John V. Tunney, and Norval Reece, a losers in the Pennsylvania Democratic senatorial primary.

In congressional primary contests, the Referendum 70 list includes one Indiana incumbent and one challenger for a Republican seat in each of four states — California, Illinois, Pennsylvania and South Dakota. Its losers, all challenging incumbents, included two each in New Jersey and Oregon, and one in Kentucky.

When the new student movement was activated, attention swung first to New Jersey's 15th district. The Princeton-based Movement for a New Congress backed Lewis B. Kaden in the Democratic primary against Rep. Edward J. Patten, but Patten easily won renomination.

The Movement for a New Congress is supporting seven candidates in the New York City area in the June 23 primary. These include two incumbents and five challengers, one Republican and six Democrats.

Ronald V. Dellums, Berkeley, Calif., a Negro councilman, had student help in his June 2 Democratic primary victory over Rep. Jeffery Cohelan in California's seventh district. The winner said Cohelan waited too long to join foes of the war, but the ADA thought Cohelan had sound liberal credentials and stayed neutral.

One California Republican, Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., won renomination with the endorsement of the ADA and the Congressional Action Fund, a conglomerate of peace movement groups.

Moscow, Cars In Future, Plans Subway Expansion

By DUSKO DODER

MOSCOW (UPI)—Mayor Vladimir Promyslov says his city will expand its subway network by 124 miles during this decade.

"Without subways we can't do anything," he said. "We figured that it takes now about one hour for an average city resident to get to work. This time will be cut in half by the time we complete our plan.

"I know this is going to be costly,...but it will pay off in the end."

PROMYSLOV MADE the remarks in a conversation with visiting American astronaut Neil A. Armstrong. During their 45 minute exchange, the mayor outlined city problems and dwelt at length on transportation improvements.

Promyslov said the city's transportation system—including buses, subway and street cars—carries about 14 million persons daily. Most passengers use the 82-mile subway network, while about 4.5 million travel on city buses each day.

"We are well aware that we live in the automation age," Promyslov said. "While you may think that street traffic is manageable, we have calculated that by 1975 we'll have here in the city about 1,000,000 passenger cars."

MOSCOW THUS FAR has escaped major traffic problems such as beset New York City, Los Angeles or London, simply because of the lack of private automobiles.

"We are eliminating the street car network in the downtown area but not in the suburbs at this point," he said. "But we have realized that we have to rely more on the subway. We figure that we will have to construct more than 200 kilometers (124 miles) of subway lines and we'll do it."

Promyslov said road construction in the city is perhaps cheap, but it moves along slower "because you have to wreck lots of homes." The problem will become more pressing when the Soviet automobile industry begins its increased car production in 1971-72.

THE MOSCOW subway, which was completed in 1935, is perhaps the most efficient in the world, though Promyslov indicated that the city has to foot high bills each year.

The subway is equipped with computers, which program the arrival and departure times, intervals between trains, length of station stops and speeds.

For five kopeks (about five cents) one can ride anywhere in the city. During peak hours, trains arrive at any station every two minutes.

Foot Patrols For Police In Petaluma

A new program to get Petaluma policemen back to foot patrols on a part-time basis was presented last night to the Petaluma City Council.

Police Chief Larry D. Higgins, offering his program of service for 1970-71, said he planned to renew the beat patrolman concept with officers normally assigned to patrol cars switching to foot patrols for one hour per day.

He said officers on all shifts will take turns walking a beat to promote personal contacts with citizens and merchants and to make security surveys of commercial buildings.

POINTS TO TREND

Higgins said many police departments are returning to the beat patrolman concept, but said he could not recommend a full-time foot patrolman.

Councilman Philip L. Joerger lauded the plan as a means of instilling more respect for policemen in young people.

Higgins agreed the program should have that effect and said he also planned to start a "talk-along" program for officers to go to junior and senior high schools for one hour a week to meet youngsters and answer questions.

The chief said he planned to continue the "ride along" program allowing males over the age of 14 years to ride in patrol cars.

In programs set by the planning department, Director William C. McGivern said that some long-range projects could be handled faster by outsiders who will not fall into the time-consuming office routine.

TO USE CONSULTANTS

Likening it to the outside engineers often used by the public works department, McGivern said the planning commission will be recommending that some projects be handled by outside consultants.

In reviewing services offered by the library, Councilman David W. Brainerd suggested a study of the use of the photocopying machine by the public.

Librarian Alice M. Hanna said the machine has seen frequent use by the public at 10 cents per copy. Brainerd, who owns a photography store that performs the same service at a higher cost, said the service should not compete with his business or the others in the city.

Miss Hanna said she would offer cost figures for study during budget discussions.

NATO Nuclear Strategy Eyed

VENICE (AP) — The United States and the seven other members of the Nuclear Planning Group of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization today ended a secret two-day meeting on how to use tactical nuclear weapons if they are ever needed to halt a Soviet attack.

U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird met with the defense ministers of West Germany, Britain, Canada, Italy, Holland, Turkey and Norway. The purpose was to work on plans ensuring that nuclear weapons would be used only as a last resort to halt aggression, and then as sparingly as possible. The ministers also want to make sure that there is time for reflection on both sides before nuclear arms are used.

Saw A Need Of Police Gun Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of a House internal security subcommittee said today police should have fired on some participants in the Nov. 15 antiwar demonstrations in the nation's capital.

Rep. Edwin Edwards, D-La., the chairman, told a hearing on the demostration that he saw "several instances where gun fire was not only justified but required." His comment came as a film of the demonstration was shown to the subcommittee.

Edwards' comment drew a rejoinder from Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, who said that police during mass demonstrations should not be "judge, a jury, and executioner."

Gerald plans to attend Northeastern this fall, studying electrical engineering with the class of 1972 during the day, and pursuing a degree in engineering technology at night.

He doesn't spend all his time with the books, either. He plays a piano, guitar and the baritone horn and enjoys swimming and ice skating.

'Beauty Or Else' Campaign Not Pleasing All Petalumans

Beautification has become big business in Petaluma and has touched nearly every resident.

The beautification committee headed by Agnes McGilvra of radio station KTOB has launched its new offensive against ugliness with such intensity that even the most cynical person has been surprised.

No doubt the evangelistic fervor of the campaign was sparked by the receipt of a beautification award last year from the National Paint-Up, Clean Up, Fix-Up Bureau. While Petaluma was one of hundreds of cities receiving the honor, it was enough to urge leaders to double their efforts this year to bring a really meaningful award.

WHILE NO ONE will dispute that beautification has great merit, some residents seem to be wondering about the extent of the operation.

Near billboard-sized signs shouting "beautify" in bold colors flocked with abstract flowers have srpung up around the city. Drawing a major complaint has been the placement of one of the signs in Mary Park.

The park, overlooking Petaluma Boulevard North at Washington Street, is already beautiful. The sign reminding citizens of the importance to beautify has only detracted from the park.

IS THIS the desired effect of the beautification campaign? If such signs must go up, couldn't they be placed in a drab location that could use some color instead of marring an already lovely spot?

The committee chose the spot because it is a high traffic area, but is it really putting across the right message?

Hundreds of surprised Petalumans received letters from Mayor Helen Putnam asking them to be block chairmen in the campaign. Most rejected the thought of policing their neighbors.

Handbills appeared at doors of homes across the city, reminding residents that lawns not only should be mowed, but must have trimmed edges to look neat. If the resident would rather spend his time at some activity other than trimming grass he's not doing his part, should feel guilty, is the definte implication.

THE SAME PRACTICE is being used to some extent in Rohnert Park. The building inspector last week issued letters to 70 residents listing items that need attention on their homes.

As soon as the letters were received, City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan was hearing from irate residents shouting: "What business is it of yours to tell me to paint my trim: I'll paint it when I'm good and ready and not before."

While Callinan dislikes taking the abuse, he reports most residents comply with the suggested improvements in short order, making it all worthwhile.

Perhaps the next step for government will be requiring paint jobs on aging cars or making housewives pay weekly visits to the hairdresser — all in the name of beautification.

Chinese Scholar Tells How To Solve All U.S. Woes

WASHINGTON — People who have been wondering why things have been unraveling so badly in Washington these days may be interested in the explanation of a distinguished Chinese scholar who visited the Capitol last week. Dr. Chun Ling is an expert in Feng Sui, otherwise known as the study of things in relation to where they are placed.

"Americans," Dr. Chun Ling said, "do not put much significance into what is in good harmony and bad harmony, but if buildings are not in harmony with each other it is impossible for people to be in harmony."

DR. CHUN LING said that the most striking example of this could be illustrated by the fact that the White House faces north and the Capitol of the nation faces east and both have their backs to the Washington Monument. When buildings face in different directions, they do not have common goals.

"The Supreme Court faces Lincoln and that is good, but Lincoln from his tomb must look at the back of the Senate and House of Representatives, and this is bad."

Dr. Chun Ling also said, "It is very sad the President's office is located in the west wing of the White House, because this puts him on the side of the Pentagon and away from Health, Education and Welfare."

THE FENG SUI expert said it is no accident that the Pentagon is as strong as it is in Washington. "The Pentagon is much larger than the Capitol and White House, and the two smaller buildings cannot control the bigger one. Not only that, but the Pentagon has too many faces and too many entrances directed in all directions. This multifaceted design has forced the Pentagon to get involved in every direction it faces."

Dr. Chun Ling pointed something out to me that I had never noticed before, which shows you how important the study of Feng Sui can be.

"The Pentagon is across the Potomac River and that is why the State Department, Capitol and even the White House have no control over it."

ONE OF THE most interesting things that Dr. Chun Ling said was that because the White House faces north it looks on Lafayette Park. In the center of Lafayette Park is the Jackson Memorial consisting of four giant antique guns. These guns have dominated every recent President's thinking. When the President is trying to think, it's inevitable that the guns in Lafayette Park can suggest military solutions to world problems. Dr. Chun Ling believes the guns should be removed at once and replaced with flowers.

When studying the science of Feng Sue, Dr. Chun Ling says that it is very important to know on what axis our nation's leaders sleep. If they don't sleep on the same geographic poles, they can disrupt the flow of the earth's magentism.

I HAD MY doubts about Dr. Chun Ling's last statement, and so I did some Feng Sui research on my own. It appeared there was a lot to what he said. For example I discovered that Sen. Fulbright sleeps south to north and Martha Mitchell sleeps west to east. This is why they have never been able to see eye to eye on anything.

Vice President Agnew, on the other hand sleeps south by southeast. Most Eastern Establishment newspapermen and commentators sleep north by northeast. This, and only this, is what is causing the disharmony between the Vice President and the press.

I tried to find out what direction President Nixon sleeps to make my study complete, but Ron Ziegler, his press secretary, told me emphatically "The President never sleeps."

Gun Shots End Cafe Argument

Shots were fired to climax an argument Saturday at 4:40 a.m. at Wristlers Cafe, 931 Petaluma Boulevard South, Petaluma police reported yesterday.

Harold C. Boyd, 33, of 232 Keller Street, told police a group of six men wearing levi jackets decorated with flags entered the restaurant to start a fight.

When Boyd told the men to leave, they did so, but he said the last man fired six shots into the restaurant from the door. Police said the bullets ricocheted around the restaurant, but didn't strike anyone.

MAYOR'S WIFE

Enjoys Son And Her Day Off

By PAT BALMES

"I never had more fun in my life!" said Ellen Rice, wearing an apron and serving coffee in the family room so she could keep an eye on 18-month old Jamie. Mrs. Denis Rice is the wife of Tiburon's new mayor and her happiness comes from the care of her little son.

"I think saying Jamie is adopted," says the young mother, "might encourage some woman, who might otherwise abort, to know that her baby can be placed in a good home."

Ellen disagrees with the Women's Liberation Movement which, she says, "gives the impression that there is something wrong with staying home, putting plants in the ground, keeping house and raising children."

FORMERLY A first grade teacher and later an airline stewardess, Ellen came to San Francisco from Appleton, Wisc., in 1959. That summer she toured Europe with a friend and decided that upon her return to San Francisco she "wanted to pick up a talent I thought I'd buried — singing; although I did sing to the children when I taught first grade." When she returned, Ellen auditioned for the Opera Ring, a theater-in-the-round which presented musical comedies. To her surprise, she was given one of the leading roles; Meg in "Brigadoon."

When Ellen married the San Francisco attorney in 1962, they rented a house in Tiburon. Three years later, they bought their 17-year-old hilltop house. Painting the exterior yellow and carpeting in the same cheery hue, they sacrificed a bedroom to elongate the living room-dining room area the length of the back of the house. This allows an expansive view of the bay.

"And I became a lady of leisure," Ellen laughs. "Before Jamie came I belonged to the community!"

She volunteered regularly as a Confraternity of Christian Doctrine teacher at St. Hilar-

Club.

y's Church, where she and Denis are parishioners; Marin Convalescent and Rehabilitation Hospital in Tiburon, Marin General Hospital as a volunteer, Cedar Development School for the mentally retarded and Manzanita Day Care in Marin City.

"I LIKED being a Pink Lady most. I guess it was the stewardess in me, liking to wait on people. I didn't realize how awful it is to have to stay in the hospital!"

Ellen closes her eyes and grins with pleasure when asked what she now enjoys most. "My day off!" she laughs. "When you are always in a state of controlling yourself, as in taking care of children, you have to have some time off." Once a week Ellen takes a stack of newspapers and treats herself to breakfast at a restaurant.

"I have bacon and eggs and just sit there a long time and read the papers. Then I go to the library and do my shopping. I like to go into a store and know the clerk. I like it here because people are so friendly."

ELLEN SAYS, "I was a nut on tennis, but I had surgery on my arm and can't play now." She enjoys playing the guitar and entertaining her friends at parties. The Rices berth their boat at Corinthian Yacht Club. Denis swims three times a week at the Tiburon Peninsula

Denis and Ellen enjoy sketching and painting on their vacations. When they traveled to Mexico, their sketching of children in the square attracted people.

"We wanted to keep our sketches, but we duplicated them when we got home and sent the copies to the villagers." Ellen joined Denis in skin diving with tanks off the coast of Cozumel.

Another trip they enjoyed was a tour of Italy and Spain with the American Bar Association.

The Rices like making motion pictures of their trips and now they have a star for their home movies, Jamie.

MRS. DENIS Rice and her son, Jamie, enjoy the view from their hil-top home. The wife of Tiburon's new mayor delights in singing in musical comedies, playing the guitar for friends, sailing and sketching, painting and making movies on the couple's vacations. The former teacher and stewardess occupied her time with volunteer work until the arrival of Jamie. Now her pleasure is motherhood.

UNABLE TO resist the eye of the camera, San Francisco sculptor Beniamino Bufano peeks over the top of one of his works, while Mrs. John Kornfeld of Mill Valley presents his book to the acting director of the Pushkin Museum in Moscow. The controversial sculptor and Mrs. Kornfeld were part of a group of 14 persons who have just returned from a month's tour of Europe, where they met many artists and visited places famed in the world of cultural arts.

Marinites Meet The Artists

Meeting artists and visiting places famed in the world of cultural arts were the highlights for a group of Marin people who have returned from a month's tour of Europe conducted by Mr. and Mrs. John Kornfeld of Mill Valley.

Included in the group of 14 — all concerned with the arts in some way — were the James Staplers of Ross, her brother, David Hall, and Christopher Hansen, both of Belvedere.

Also in the group was San Francisco's controversial sculptor Beniamino Bufano.

Anita Kornfeld reported some of their most interesting experiences on the tour that started in Amsterdam and continued to Moscow, Leningrad, Paris and England.

"In Moscow," she says, "we were thrilled to meet Plisetskaya, the top ballerina in the world today, after her performance with the Bolshoi Ballet in 'The Humpbacked Horse,' and also Shedrin, the composer. The meeting was handled with so much secrecy that it was like a cloak and dagger episode.

"At the art museums we visited, such as the Pushkin Museum in Moscow, Benny — that's Bufano — presented portfolios of his etchings.

"Everywhere we went in Russia we were surprised to be approached by black marketeers trying to get us to sell American dollars at the rate of three for one. Once in Moscow when three young men approached us, Benny — all five feet of him — was so furious he grabbed the leader and shook him.

"One of the young men yelled at us to our amazement, 'you're a bunch of dumb businessmen. You're as bad as the dirty Communists!'

"Another interesting experience in Moscow was having dinner with Michele Markoff, a Redwood High School graduate who has been studying Russian there for seven months. She will be coming home to Mill Valley soon and will have some interesting things to report."

In Leningrad, Mrs. Kornfeld says, their most memorable experience was visiting the fabulous Hermitage Museum — "Undoubtedly the largest collection of art in the world," she says. "We saw 250 of the 1500 rooms.

"Another high point of our tour was being received by the head of the Leningrad Conservatory of Music — the largest in Russia — where we heard an amazingly good student orchestra rehearsal and opera production.

"Because of the situation in this country we were most envious of the plethora of gorgeous concert halls in Russia."

In Paris high points for the tour party were meeting five of the leading composers in France and being received backstage after a performance of "Falstaff" at the Paris Opera.

In England the group hosted a big cocktail party and dinner in London at which 15 of the guests were members of the D'Oyly Carte Gilbert and Sullivan Company.

Somewhat spooky, Mrs. Kornfeld says, after seeing a performance of "Richard II" at the Royal Shakespeare Theater in Stratford-on-Avon, was a night spent in the old castle there.

London was the final place the tour party visited before returning home.

Mother Of Teens Checks Out California's Generation Gap

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Housewife and mother of three teenagers Jackie Briskin wanted to find out if today's generation gap really is so different, from that she knew as a girl growing up in California.

So she threw herself into researching the subject and the whole youth scene in general—4,000 hours worth, she estimates—visiting juvenile hall, talking with social workers and narcotics agents, surfing, visiting hippie communes and Planned Parenthood office, auditing a film class at UCLA and passing herself off as a graduate student at Berkeley, reading the newspapers and magazines that chronicled the 60s.

"Mostly I rapped and eavesdropped, shamelessly," she recalls.

THE RESULTS, her first book, called "The California Generation," and a new way of thinking.

"I do things now just for fun — not for what other people think," she says. "I know I'm more independent—I'll be darned if I'll let other people push me into a fashion I don't like.

"And I think I'm more optimistic now about the future even though I sometimes wake up in the morning and say 'what future?'"

The generation gap?

"I think it is more a difference in values. I call it 'value valley.' Most of our teenagers just plain have different goals and values than we had. That's disturbing to parents—in a way it repudiates them."

YOUNG PERSONS today are "far more honest, open, looking for change than we were," says the youthful looking Mrs. Briskin.

"And I think they're tired of the mechanized urban scene where everything is pressed out of the same mold. That's why they dress differently. They want us to know they are different."

The real gap, she says, is more than war or racism or materialism. "I think it's change itself. That's hard for older people to accept and scary to think about. I'm not sure myself that all change is for the good, even though I recognize change is constant.

"I FIND it harder to communicate with my own friends now, because some of them don't even know things have changed."

Mrs. Briskin says some of her worst moments have come when she has met the parents of the young people she spoke with and realized that "they aren't talking to their kids at all."

But her criticism of the older generation is tempered with this thought: "When you really talk with these kids, you know we didn't do too bad a job of being parents.

"They're infomed and they're aware. And once one becomes aware, one is forced to do something. We've taught them basic values along with some superficial ones."

Foot Patrols For Police In Petaluma

A new program to get Petaluma policemen back to foot patrols on a part-time basis was presented last night to the Petaluma City Council.

Police Chief Larry D. Higgins, offering his program of service for 1970-71, said he planned to renew the beat patrolman concept with officers normally assigned to patrol cars switching to foot patrols for one hour per day.

He said officers on all shifts will take turns walking a beat to promote personal contacts with citizens and merchants and to make security surveys of commercial buildings.

POINTS TO TREND

Higgins said many police departments are returning to the beat patrolman concept, but said he could not recommend a full-time foot patrolman.

Councilman Philip L. Joerger lauded the plan as a means of instilling more respect for policemen in young people.

Higgins agreed the program should have that effect and said he also planned to start a "talk-along" program for officers to go to junior and senior high schools for one hour a week to meet youngsters and answer questions.

The chief said he planned to continue the "ride along" program allowing males over the age of 14 years to ride in patrol cars.

In programs set by the planning department, Director William C. McGivern said that some long-range projects could be handled faster by outsiders who will not fall into the time-consuming office routine.

TO USE CONSULTANTS

Likening it to the outside engineers often used by the public works department, McGivern said the planning commission will be recommending that some projects be handled by outside consultants.

In reviewing services offered by the library, Councilman David W. Brainerd suggested a study of the use of the photocopying machine by the public.

Librarian Alice M. Hanna said the machine has seen frequent use by the public at 10 cents per copy. Brainerd, who owns a photography store that performs the same service at a higher cost, said the service should not compete with his business or the others in the city.

Miss Hanna said she would offer cost figures for study during budget discussions.

Genius, 14, Is Called 'Normal'

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — "Except for his extraordinary gifts in science, chemisty and philosophy," Roger Antione says of his son Gerald, "he's perfectly normal."

Gerald has finished four years of high school work in one year, picked up 52 college credits at the same time and graduated with his class Monday night at Newton High School. He's 14.

His father is a mathematics professor at Northeastern University.

Gerald plans to attend Northeastern this fall, studying electrical engineering with the class of 1972 during the day, and pursuing a degree in engineering technology at night.

He doesn't spend all his time with the books, either. He plays a piano, guitar and the baritone horn and enjoys swimming and ice skating.

Senator Nejedly Marriage Splits

MARTINEZ (UPI) — The wife of State Sen. John A. Nejedly, a Republican from Walnut Creek, has filed for dissolution of their marriage.

The senator's wife, the former Pamela Maloy of Berkeley, asked for an equitable division of community property in papers filed Monday in Contra Costa County Superior Court.

Nejedly, 55, and his wife, 33, have been married for eight years. They separated last Jan. 3. They have three children ranging in age from 4 to 7.

NATO Nuclear Strategy Eyed

VENICE (AP) — The United States and the seven other members of the Nuclear Planning Group of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization today ended a secret two-day meeting on how to use tactical nuclear weapons if they are ever needed to halt a Soviet attack.

U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird met with the defense ministers of West Germany, Britain, Canada, Italy, Holland, Turkey and Norway. The purpose was to work on plans ensuring that nuclear weapons would be used only as a last resort to halt aggression, and then as sparingly as possible. The ministers also want to make sure that there is time for reflection on both sides before nuclear arms are used.

Auto Recovered

A 1968 Cadillac stolen March 22 from Bianco Cadillac of Corte Madera was recovered at 2 a.m. today by San Francisco police, Corte Madera police reported.

Saw A Need Of Police Gun Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of a House internal security subcommittee said today police should have fired on some participants in the Nov. 15 antiwar demonstrations in the nation's capital.

Rep. Edwin Edwards, D-La., the chairman, told a hearing on the demostration that he saw "several instances where gun fire was not only justified but required." His comment came as a film of the demonstration was shown to the subcommittee.

Edwards' comment drew a rejoinder from Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, who said that police during mass demonstrations should not be "judge, a jury, and executioner."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

She Better Start Learning That Give-Aways Are Valued Little

DEAR HELEN:

I am 19 and work in an office with three salesmen. One is 27, very good looking and single. Though I heard he had a steady girl, I fell for him.

After about six months, when he didn't ask me out, I finally asked him for a date. He took me for a ride, tried to "park" but I acted very ladylike.

When he didn't ask me again, I finally invited him to my apartment for dinner. And this time things were different.

But his girl friend found out, he confessed and apologized to her, and I lost again. I gave him a Christmas gift and he didn't even send me a card. But later I asked him to take me to a movie, and he did, ending up again at my apartment.

This time his girl friend wrote me a nasty letter, telling me to stop throwing myself at her man. I guess he's afraid of her because he won't accept my invitations now.

Do you think she has a right to manage his life, being that she isn't married to him? If he didn't want me, why did he take me out when I suggested it? — MAD

DEAR MAD:

Because a man often takes what is thrown at her, whether he really wants her or not. You'd better start learning, dear, that give-aways are seldom valued. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Parents wonder why their children confide in friends before bringing their problems to their mother or father. It's because friends don't lecture or make judgments. They don't always answer, "It's not proper," or "Don't be foolish."

I asked my mother how I could get this boy I liked to notice me, and she answered, "You're too young to date anyway." I'm 15 and, besides, I wasn't thinking about a date — just learning how to talk to boys.

Once I read a book about a girl who had the kind of mother more mothers should be. When this girl asked her how to deal with a boy friend who wanted too much, the mother gave her two answers: One as a mother, one as a friend. They both came out the same, but the girl didn't think she was being bossed by a shocked and scared Mama.

Is seems like too many parents think they have to play the role of Mr. and Mrs. Know-it-all when they could get much farther with their kids by using some humanness.

I wonder how they'd like a boss at work who treated them the way they treat their children?

I don't want a pal for a parent, but I sure would love to have a wise, listening-type friend. — DAUGHTER

DEAR PARENTS:

Read and heed.

Don't ever forget that friendship is the leavener to love. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

This is an answer to "Over-Punished Sue" who wanted a whipping because it was faster (and just as effective) as being grounded for two months.

When I do something wrong, my parents give me a long talk, which hits harder than a licking. But what is even worse is knowing that I've let them down, and therefore hurt them.

Hurting my folks is the worst punishment I could get.

It seems like spanking and real rigid restrictions are just getting even. That long talk is all I need to set me straight. — DONNA

MAYOR'S WIFE

Enjoys Son And Her Day Off

By PAT BALMES

"I never had more fun in my life!" said Ellen Rice, wearing an apron and serving coffee in the family room so she could keep an eye on 18-month old Jamie. Mrs. Denis Rice is the wife of Tiburon's new mayor and her happiness comes from the care of her little son.

"I think saying Jamie is adopted," says the young mother, "might encourage some woman, who might otherwise abort, to know that her baby can be placed in a good home."

Ellen disagrees with the Women's Liberation Movement which, she says, "gives the impression that there is something wrong with staying home, putting plants in the ground, keeping house and raising children."

FORMERLY A first grade teacher and later an airline stewardess, Ellen came to San Francisco from Appleton, Wisc., in 1959. That summer she toured Europe with a friend and decided that upon her return to San Francisco she "wanted to pick up a talent I thought I'd buried — singing; although I did sing to the children when I taught first grade." When she returned, Ellen auditioned for the Opera Ring, a theater-in-the-round which presented musical comedies. To her surprise, she was given one of the leading roles; Meg in "Brigadoon."

When Ellen married the San Francisco attorney in 1962, they rented a house in Tiburon. Three years later, they bought their 17-year-old hilltop house. Painting the exterior yellow and carpeting in the same cheery hue, they sacrificed a bedroom to elongate the living room-dining room area the length of the back of the house. This allows an expansive view of the bay.

"And I became a lady of leisure," Ellen laughs. "Before Jamie came I belonged to the community!"

She volunteered regularly as a Confraternity of Christian Doctrine teacher at St. Hilar- Club.

y's Church, where she and Denis are parishioners; Marin Convalescent and Rehabilitation Hospital in Tiburon, Marin General Hospital as a volunteer, Cedar Development School for the mentally retarded and Manzanita Day Care in Marin City.

"I LIKED being a Pink Lady most. I guess it was the stewardess in me, liking to wait on people. I didn't realize how awful it is to have to stay in the hospital!"

Ellen closes her eyes and grins with pleasure when asked what she now enjoys most. "My day off!" she laughs. "When you are always in a state of controlling yourself, as in taking care of children, you have to have some time off." Once a week Ellen takes a stack of newspapers and treats herself to breakfast at a restaurant.

"I have bacon and eggs and just sit there a long time and read the papers. Then I go to the library and do my shopping. I like to go into a store and know the clerk. I like it here because people are so friendly."

ELLEN SAYS, "I was a nut on tennis, but I had surgery on my arm and can't play now." She enjoys playing the guitar and entertaining her friends at parties. The Rices berth their boat at Corinthian Yacht Club. Denis swims three times a week at the Tiburon Peninsula

Denis and Ellen enjoy sketching and painting on their vacations. When they traveled to Mexico, their sketching of children in the square attracted people.

"We wanted to keep our sketches, but we duplicated them when we got home and sent the copies to the villagers." Ellen joined Denis in skin diving with tanks off the coast of Cozumel.

Another trip they enjoyed was a tour of Italy and Spain with the American Bar Association.

The Rices like making motion pictures of their trips and now they have a star for their home movies, Jamie.

MRS. DENIS Rice and her son, Jamie, enjoy the view from their hil-top home. The wife of Tiburon's new mayor delights in singing in musical comedies, playing the guitar for friends, sailing and sketching, painting and making movies on the couple's vacations. The former teacher and stewardess occupied her time with volunteer work until the arrival of Jamie. Now her pleasure is motherhood.

UNABLE TO resist the eye of the camera, San Francisco sculptor Beniamino Bufano peeks over the top of one of his works, while Mrs. John Kornfeld of Mill Valley presents his book to the acting director of the Pushkin Museum in Moscow. The controversial sculptor and Mrs. Kornfeld were part of a group of 14 persons who have just returned from a month's tour of Europe, where they met many artists and visited places famed in the world of cultural arts.

Marinites Meet The Artists

Meeting artists and visiting places famed in the world of cultural arts were the highlights for a group of Marin people who have returned from a month's tour of Europe conducted by Mr. and Mrs. John Kornfeld of Mill Valley.

Included in the group of 14 — all concerned with the arts in some way — were the James Staplers of Ross, her brother, David Hall, and Christopher Hansen, both of Belvedere.

Also in the group was San Francisco's controversial sculptor Beniamino Bufano.

Anita Kornfeld reported some of their most interesting experiences on the tour that started in Amsterdam and continued to Moscow, Leningrad, Paris and England.

"In Moscow," she says, "we were thrilled to meet Plisetskaya, the top ballerina in the world today, after her performance with the Bolshoi Ballet in 'The Humpbacked Horse,' and also Shedrin, the composer. The meeting was handled with so much secrecy that it was like a cloak and dagger episode.

"At the art museums we visited, such as the Pushkin Museum in Moscow, Benny — that's Bufano — presented portfolios of his etchings.

"Everywhere we went in Russia we were surprised to be approached by black marketeers trying to get us to sell American dollars at the rate of three for one. Once in Moscow when three young men approached us, Benny — all five feet of him — was so furious he grabbed the leader and shook him.

"One of the young men yelled at us to our amazement, 'you're a bunch of dumb businessmen. You're as bad as the dirty Communists!'

"Another interesting experience in Moscow was having dinner with Michele Markoff, a Redwood High School graduate who has been studying Russian there for seven months. She will be coming home to Mill Valley soon and will have some interesting things to report."

In Leningrad, Mrs. Kornfeld says, their most memorable experience was visiting the fabulous Hermitage Museum — "Undoubtedly the largest collection of art in the world," she says. "We saw 250 of the 1500 rooms.

"Another high point of our tour was being received by the head of the Leningrad Conservatory of Music — the largest in Russia — where we heard an amazingly good student orchestra rehearsal and opera production.

"Because of the situation in this country we were most envious of the plethora of gorgeous concert halls in Russia."

In Paris high points for the tour party were meeting five of the leading composers in France and being received backstage after a performance of "Falstaff" at the Paris Opera.

In England the group hosted a big cocktail party and dinner in London at which 15 of the guests were members of the D'Oyly Carte Gilbert and Sullivan Company.

Somewhat spooky, Mrs. Kornfeld says, after seeing a performance of "Richard II" at the Royal Shakespeare Theater in Stratford-on-Avon, was a night spent in the old castle there.

London was the final place the tour party visited before returning home.

Mother Of Teens Checks Out California's Generation Gap

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Housewife and mother of three teenagers Jackie Briskin wanted to find out if today's generation gap really is so different, from that she knew as a girl growing up in California.

So she threw herself into researching the subject and the whole youth scene in general—4,000 hours worth, she estimates—visiting juvenile hall, talking with social workers and narcotics agents, surfing, visiting hippie communes and Planned Parenthood office, auditing a film class at UCLA and passing herself off as a graduate student at Berkeley, reading the newspapers and magazines that chronicled the 60s.

"Mostly I rapped and eavesdropped, shamelessly," she recalls.

THE RESULTS, her first book, called "The California Generation," and a new way of thinking.

"I do things now just for fun — not for what other people think," she says. "I know I'm more independent—I'll be darned if I'll let other people push me into a fashion I don't like.

"And I think I'm more optimistic now about the future even though I sometimes wake up in the morning and say 'what future?'"

The generation gap?

"I think it is more a difference in values. I call it 'value valley.' Most of our teenagers just plain have different goals and values than we had. That's disturbing to parents—in a way it repudiates them."

YOUNG PERSONS today are "far more honest, open, looking for change than we were," says the youthful looking Mrs. Briskin.

"And I think they're tired of the mechanized urban scene where everything is pressed out of the same mold. That's why they dress differently. They want us to know they are different."

The real gap, she says, is more than war or racism or materialism. "I think it's change itself. That's hard for older people to accept and scary to think about. I'm not sure myself that all change is for the good, even though I recognize change is constant.

"I FIND it harder to communicate with my own friends now, because some of them don't even know things have changed."

Mrs. Briskin says some of her worst moments have come when she has met the parents of the young people she spoke with and realized that "they aren't talking to their kids at all."

But her criticism of the older generation is tempered with this thought: "When you really talk with these kids, you know we didn't do too bad a job of being parents.

"They're infomed and they're aware. And once one becomes aware, one is forced to do something. We've taught them basic values along with some superficial ones."

Corte Maderan Leads Presidents' Assembly

The Presidents' Assembly of Marin, present and past presidents of Federated Women's Club in Marin County, is being led by Mrs. H. James Thompson of Corte Madera, president of the Corte Madera Women's Improvement Club.

Members select recipients of scholarships. Funds for the scholarships are raised by the women's clubs, and the assembly will have three luncheons with silent auctions to add to the scholarship fund.

MRS. H. JAMES THOMPSON

Olive Thompson is also a member of the American Association of University Women and the Independent Order of Foresters.

Born in Adin, she was graduated from the University of California and studied for a teaching credential at San Jose State College and Dominican College. She has lived in Marin for 30 years.

Mr. Thompson is a sales executive for Western Contract Furniture. The couple have two grown children, Mrs. Greely Steven Curtis III of Philadelphia and Peter J. Thompson of Mill Valley.

The new president enjoys assisting in youth activities, traveling and playing bridge.

Other officers of the assembly are Mmes. Francis C. Allen, vice president; Conrad T. Kett, parliamentarian; Donald A. Eaton treasurer; Albert E. Heston, secretary; Lewis E. Deu Pree, auditor; Leiton J. Elder, scholarship chairman; Emmet L. Rixford, scholarship committee; Carlotta Thomas, hospitality; H. S. Wilson, publicity; S. C. Stapp, hostess; and Paul A. Hammer, decorations.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

She Better Start Learning That Give-Aways Are Valued Little

DEAR HELEN:

I am 19 and work in an office with three salesmen. One is 27, very good looking and single. Though I heard he had a steady girl, I fell for him.

After about six months, when he didn't ask me out, I finally asked him for a date. He took me for a ride, tried to "park" but I acted very ladylike.

When he didn't ask me again, I finally invited him to my apartment for dinner. And this time things were different.

But his girl friend found out, he confessed and apologized to her, and I lost again. I gave him a Christmas gift and he didn't even send me a card. But later I asked him to take me to a movie, and he did, ending up again at my apartment.

This time his girl friend wrote me a nasty letter, telling me to stop throwing myself at her man. I guess he's afraid of her because he won't accept my invitations now.

Do you think she has a right to manage his life, being that she isn't married to him? If he didn't want me, why did he take me out when I suggested it? — MAD.

DEAR MAD:

Because a man often takes what is thrown at her, whether he really wants her or not. You'd better start learning, dear, that give-aways are seldom valued. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Parents wonder why their children confide in friends before bringing their problems to their mother or father. It's because friends don't lecture or make judgments. They don't always answer, "It's not proper," or "Don't be foolish."

I asked my mother how I could get this boy I liked to notice me, and she answered, "You're too young to date anyway." I'm 15 and, besides, I wasn't thinking about a date — just learning how to talk to boys.

Once I read a book about a girl who had the kind of mother more mothers should be. When this girl asked her how to deal with a boy friend who wanted too much, the mother gave her two answers: One as a mother, one as a friend. They both came out the same, but the girl didn't think she was being bossed by a shocked and scared Mama.

Is seems like too many parents think they have to play the role of Mr. and Mrs. Know-it-all when they could get much farther with their kids by using some humanness.

I wonder how they'd like a boss at work who treated them the way they treat their children?

I don't want a pal for a parent, but I sure would love to have a wise, listening-type friend. — DAUGHTER

DEAR PARENTS:

Read and heed.

Don't ever forget that friendship is the leavener to love. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

This is an answer to "Over-Punished Sue" who wanted a whipping because it was faster (and just as effective) as being grounded for two months.

When I do something wrong, my parents give me a long talk, which hits harder than a licking. But what is even worse is knowing that I've let them down, and therefore hurt them.

Hurting my folks is the worst punishment I could get.

It seems like spanking and real rigid restrictions are just getting even. That long talk is all I need to set me straight. — DONNA

San Rafael Slices Rec Budget

San Rafael City Council last night sliced $22,276 for school recreation programs from its proposed 1970-71 budget because San Rafael City Schools has withdrawn support.

During a special budget session, the council also directed that the proposed recreation budget be revised so self-sustaining programs are calculated separately.

Councilmen told Andrew J. Snyder Jr., parks and recreation director, the city's contribution would be $100,000, up $10,000 from the current budget.

PROGRAM FEES

Expenditures beyond that would have to be financed through program fees, they said.

Councilmen were disgruntled because the San Rafael Board of Education has cut off its annual allocation to the recreation program, which would have been $25,000 in fiscal 1970-71.

The council agreed it wouldn't raise the city's tax rate to make up for the lack of school funds for the after-school and summer programs at the city schools.

The program was started at the request of the city schools "and now they want us to pay for it," said Mayor C. Paul Bettini.

"OTHER PURPOSES"

Snyder criticized the schools as spending $30,000 from community services override tax revenue for noontime supervision at schools while rejecting $25,000 going to kids.

Mayor Bettini said: "They know that tax is intended for recreation, but they use it for other purposes."

(The total community services override tax rate in each district is 5 cents, but in the past revenue from nine-tenths of a cent in the high school district and 1.2 cents in the elementary districtwas allocated to city recreation.)

NOT OUTSIDE CITY

Councilmen agreed no funds should be spent outside the city.

Elementary and high school district boundaries extend beyond city limits and past programs have been conducted outside the city, but within the districts.

When the session started the council had at hand a proposed recreation budget of $162,276, up $12,276 from this year,and they cut it to $140,000 because school funds weren't forthcoming.

Snyder, who requested a budget of $190,202, conceded that figure appeared high, but said it contained programs that would bring in some revenue.

City Mgr. James H. McCown estimated that revenue from self-sustaining programs would be about $40,000.

Councilmen postponed approval of the proposed recreation budget until it was reworked with the school funds out and the self-sustaining programs in a separate category.

Bettini said the recreation department could operate programs beyond the $100,000 that would be paid for by revenue.

Councilmen agreed the summer day camp program estimated to cost $3,000 should be continued, but the proposed $2,000 contribution to the San Rafael Swim Club be eliminated because the club is merging with the Marin Swim Club.

With the city's $560,000 bond proposal for a community recreation center defeated at the polls last Tuesday, Councilman Fred E. Jensen suggested efforts be renewed to have the American Legion construct a building at city-owned property at Fourth and Union streets.

The community recreation center is now temporarily housed at the old Marin County courthouse annex, and Snyder said a search is under way for another site.

Councilmen approved a $188,726 library budget, up $26,276 from this year, which included $7,000 for the second phase of a survey of needs and $10,000 for carpeting, but asked for a check on the $2,938 allocated for book rentals.

The proposed parks budget of $143,187 was approved and $1,845 added for new garbage cans for a total of $145,032, up $15,129 from this year, with provision for ten summer youth workers.

Councilmen also approved the planning department budget, $86,929, down $3,714 from this year, with provision for an intern to help during the 1971 summer.

The council budget postponed reviewing the proposed police and fire budgets until another special budget session, time and place to be set at regular meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at City Hall.

Innocent Plea To Burglary Charge

Mark Adam Laufer, 19, of Santa Venetia, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of burglarizing Foster's Freeze in San Rafael on May 29. A jury trial was set for the week of Aug. 24.

Laufer and a 16-year-old juvenile hall escapee were arrested after police found them in the shop which had been broken into. Officers said a third youth escaped.

Pleads Innocent To Theft Of Car

Leroy Everett Southard, 21, of no known address, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to charges of car theft and concealing stolen property. A jury trial was set for the week of June 29.

Southard was arrested May 20 by the California Highway Patrol when he was seen driving the wrong way on a one-way street near San Rafael.

The Strange Hunt For Elusive 'Quark'

NEW YORK (AP) — "Quark" hunters at the Argonne National Laboratory are scrutinizng lunar rocks brought back by the Apollo astronauts. "Quarks" are hypothetical atomic particles that have electrical charges a fraction of the charge of an electron. They have never been found. Theorizing that "quarks" could have been formed on earth by cosmic rays, but might have been removed by erosion, the scientists speculate that they may find them in material from the moon.

Miskimen Planning Announcement Soon

San Rafael City Councilman John A. Miskimen, who verbally resigned May 4 effective June 1, attended the council's budget session last night, but had no comment on future intentions.

Since Miskimen didn't submit a written resignation, fellow councilmen have urged him to reconsider and complete his term which ends April, 1971.

Miskimen, who has missed several council sessions while out of town on business trips, said he would make a statement at the council's next regular session at 8 p.m. next Monday (June 15) at City Hall.

Designers' Showcase To Open Saturday For Two Weeks Run

"Marin Designers' Showcase," a San Rafael house decorated by 11 Marin interior decorators, will be open on tour beginning Saturday. The Showcase will be open through June 28 at 1420 Grand Avenue in San Rafael as the first fund-raising benefit for the Volunteer Bureau of Marin.

Tour hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, and on Fridays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. The former one room cottage owned by Allen Oddie of San Rafael has been remodeled into an 11 room contemporary home with an Hawaiian theme. Tour tickets will be available at the door and special group rates may be arranged through the Volunteer Bureau.

During the two weeks several special events have been scheduled. June 17 the Mannequin League members will do informal modeling of hostess fashions from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. and again on June 26 they will model from 7 to 8 p.m. On June 19 at noon a salad demonstation will be given by R. M. Childs of the North Bay Food and Wine Society. Musical entertainment is also being arranged.

Mrs. Robert Lawson of Greenbrae is chairman, assisted by Mmes. Richard M. D. Childs of San Anselmo, William J. Morris of Kentfield, John Busterud of San Rafael, Harvey N. "ALOHALAND" will be the theme of the annual Family Service League cocktail party for the members, their husbands and guests. Tapacloth and tropical flowers will decorate the home of Mrs. Maidie Kane in Kentfield on Saturday for the party from 7 to 9 p.m.

Mmes. Stanley Kowleski and William Robbins, league members from San Rafael, will chairman the event. Serving assistance will be provided by Lynne and Karen Anderson of Terra Linda.

The party culminates a year of community service through the Family Service Agency, a counseling service for Marin families with marital and domestic problems.

MARY TUROFF, graduating senior at Novato High School, is the 1970 winner of the Marin Alumnae Chapter of Delta Delta Delta scholarship.

Each year the Marin chapter of the sorority offers a scholarship to the outstanding graduating senior of a Marin County high school. Mrs. Floyd White of Novato, scholarship chairman, said that the award is to be used by the girl to further her education at the college of her choice.

Mary, the daughter of Mrs. Arline Turoff, intends to enroll at the University of San Francisco as a pre-medical student. She is a member of the California Scholarship Federation. Novato Council Due Budget Tonight

A $2,072,635 budget for fiscal 1970-71 will be presented to the Novato City Council at 8 p.m. today by City Manager Charles A. Brown.

The proposed budget is $165,905 more than this year's $1,906,730.

The budget calls for an increase in the tax rate from 81 cents to $1.05 per $100 assessed valuation.

Brown's request keeps the general fund operation tax at 48 cents; increases the street construction tax from 6 to 30 cents; the parks and recreation tax increased 1 cent from 25 to 26 cents and decreases the bond redemption tax from 2 cents to 1 cent per $100 assessed valuation.

Income will be derived $941;500 from property, sales and cigarette taxes and franchises; $96,400 from licenses and permits; $31,500 from fines; $47,500 from interest; $494,820 from alcoholic beverage tax, motor vehicles, trailer coaches and gasoline taxes; $61,925 from special police services, building plan checking and recreation programs; $850 from miscallaneous income and $338,140 from reserve funds.

Comparison of this year's figures in parentheses, with Brown's requests by departments for next year are: city council ($10,700), $10,700; manager-clerk ($40,900), $40,955; finance-treasurer ($40,380), $39,160; attorney ($8550), $12,550; planning ($68,470), $90,195; non-departmental ($149,075), $154,530; community promotion ($14,680), $13,980; municipal elections ($2,500), $25; police ($410,240), $462,105; public works engineering ($128,395), $131,125; public works maintenance ($107,160), $120,135; public works traffic safety ($31,045), $33,885; street tree and parkway maintenance ($16,565), $28,060; street lighting ($68,290), $69,915; building regulation ($34,385), $38,265; park maintenance, ($31,145), $46,695; recreation ($108,775), $127,355; swim pool ($12,540), $13,430; community house ($9425), $10,635; unallocated reserve ($11,000), $15,000; bond interest and redemption ($7,520), $7,400; and capital improvement ($594,990), $606,535.

Warrant Is Issued

A bench warrant with bail set at $2,500 was issued yesterday in Marin Superior Court for former Sausalito resident Greg Landers, when he failed to appear for a trial on a marijuana charge. Landers, who was arrested Sept. 30 in Sausalito, was reported to be in Madrid, Spain.

Kentucky Blue Laws Still Alive

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's boldest attempt yet to repeal the old Sunday closing law has been repealed by Gov. Louie B. Nunn, who says it would create too much litigation.

For the first time, both legislative chambers passed a measure to change the blue law so that local option would be allowed.

Nunn's veto message added that the Legislature "should not try to repeal one of the Ten Commandments."

Angela Davis Case Remains Undecided

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — University of California regents apparently failed during a secret session Monday to decide how to go about firing an admitted Communist Party member from the UCLA faculty.

Because of court rulings that Communist Party membership alone is not sufficient grounds for dismissal, the regents were forced to find other reasons to carry out their avowed intent to fire Angela Davis.

They have been trying to fire the 26-year-old philosophy instructor since last fall when she admitted her party membership.

"Undoubtedly we'll be holding subsequent meetings," said Regent William French Smith, who chaired the special closed door meeting at the UC Extension.

Smith refused to answer when newsmen asked if that meant no final decision had been reached on the matter.

However, Regent Frederick Dutton of Sausalito, one of the board's liberal minority, told newsmen the effort to fire the black philosophy instructor "is on the tracks and it's going — and as surely as the sun will rise over the state tomorrow Miss Davis will be fired."

The board voted last fall to fire Miss Davis, but a Los Angeles Superior Court Judge ruled that the action was unconstitutional because membership in a political party is protected by the 14th Amendment.

The ruling was overturned by an appellate court on technical grounds and the entire matter is now before the State Supreme Court.

"We're under court order not to discuss the communism issue, so they're trumping up other charges," said Dutton. "It's a lawless proceeding by lawless men who mostly pretend to be in favor of law and order."

Gov. Ronald Reagan, ex-officio member of the board, has called for Miss Davis' dismissal, contending that her party membership makes her unqualified to teach because she must follow party dogma.

Miss Davis, a native of Alabama who graduated with honors from Brandeis University and later studied in Germany, France and at UC San Diego, was hired on a two-year contract for $9,684 annually before her Communist Party membership was known.

She is working on her doctorate under Herbert Marcuse, the Marxist philosopher at UC San Diego.

The regents voted 15 to 6 last month to take jurisdiction over the rehiring of Miss Davis, which had been recommended by UCLA faculty committees and Chancellor Charles Young.

The faculty at the Los Angeles campus has voted to guarantee Miss Davis' full salary next year, and threatened to seek censure of the school by the American Association of University Professors.

Two pickets carrying signs reading "Berkeley teachers demanding due process for Angela Davis" marched outside the UC Extension during the two-hour meeting.

A petition accusing the regents of suspending the powers of administrative officers has been signed by about half the UCLA faculty. It will be presented at next Monday's meeting of the statewide Academic Assembly in San Francisco.

San Rafael Slices Rec Budget

San Rafael City Council last night sliced $22,276 for school recreation programs from its proposed 1970-71 budget because San Rafael City Schools has withdrawn support.

During a special budget session, the council also directed that the proposed recreation budget be revised so self-sustaining programs are calculated separately.

Councilmen told Andrew J. Snyder Jr., parks and recreation director, the city's contribution would be $100,000, up $10,000 from the current budget.

PROGRAM FEES

Expenditures beyond that would have to be financed through program fees, they said.

Councilmen were disgruntled because the San Rafael Board of Education has cut off its annual allocation to the recreation program, which would have been $25,000 in fiscal 1970-71.

The council agreed it wouldn't raise the city's tax rate to make up for the lack of school funds for the after-school and summer programs at the city schools.

The program was started at the request of the city schools "and now they want us to pay for it," said Mayor C. Paul Bettini.

"OTHER PURPOSES"

Snyder criticized the schools as spending $30,000 from community services override tax revenue for noontime supervision at schools while rejecting $25,000 going to kids.

Mayor Bettini said: "They know that tax is intended for recreation, but they use it for other purposes."

(The total community services override tax rate in each district is 5 cents, but in the past revenue from nine-tenths of a cent in the high school district and 1.2 cents in the elementary districtwas allocated to city recreation.)

NOT OUTSIDE CITY

Councilmen agreed no funds should be spent outside the city.

Elementary and high school district boundaries extend beyond city limits and past programs have been conducted outside the city, but within the districts.

When the session started the council had at hand a proposed recreation budget of $162,276, up $12,276 from this year,and they cut it to $140,000 because school funds weren't forthcoming.

Snyder, who requested a budget of $190,202, conceded that figure appeared high, but said it contained programs that would bring in some revenue.

City Mgr. James H. McCown estimated that revenue from self-sustaining programs would be about $40,000.

Councilmen postponed approval of the proposed recreation budget until it was reworked with the school funds out and the self-sustaining programs in a separate category.

Bettini said the recreation department could operate programs beyond the $100,000 that would be paid for by revenue.

Councilmen agreed the summer day camp program estimated to cost $3,000 should be continued, but the proposed $2,000 contribution to the San Rafael Swim Club be eliminated because the club is merging with the Marin Swim Club.

With the city's $560,000 bond proposal for a community recreation center defeated at the polls last Tuesday, Councilman Fred E. Jensen suggested efforts be renewed to have the American Legion construct a building at city-owned property at Fourth and Union streets.

The community recreation center is now temporarily housed at the old Marin County courthouse annex, and Snyder said a search is under way for another site.

Councilmen approved a $188,726 library budget, up $26,276 from this year, which included $7,000 for the second phase of a survey of needs and $10,000 for carpeting, but asked for a check on the $2,938 allocated for book rentals.

The proposed parks budget of $143,187 was approved and $1,845 added for new garbage cans for a total of $145,032, up $15,129 from this year, with provision for ten summer youth workers.

Councilmen also approved the planning department budget, $86,929, down $3,714 from this year, with provision for an intern to help during the 1971 summer.

The council budget postponed reviewing the proposed police and fire budgets until another special budget session, time and place to be set at regular meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at City Hall.

The Strange Hunt For Elusive 'Quark'

NEW YORK (AP) — "Quark" hunters at the Argonne National Laboratory are scrutiniznng lunar rocks brought back by the Apollo astronauts. "Quarks" are hypothetical atomic particles that have electrical charges a fraction of the charge of an electron. They have never been found. Theorizing that "quarks" could have been formed on earth by cosmic rays, but might have been removed by erosion, the scientists speculate that they may find them in material from the moon.

Miskimen Planning Announcement Soon

San Rafael City Councilman John A. Miskimen, who verbally resigned May 4 effective June 1, attended the council's budget session last night, but had no comment on future intentions.

Since Miskimen didn't submit a written resignation, fellow councilmen have urged him to reconsider and complete his term which ends April, 1971.

Miskimen, who has missed several council sessions while out of town on business trips, said he would make a statement at the council's next regular session at 8 p.m. next Monday (June 15) at City Hall.

Today is Tuesday, June 9th, 160th day of 1970 with 205 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1899 James J. Jeffries won the heavyweight boxing crown by knocking out Bob Fitzsimmons in New York City.

In 1943 Congress passed an act providing for "pas-as-you-go" income tax deductions, authorizing employers to withhold payments from salary checks.

In 1959 the first ballistic missile submarine, the nuclear-powered George Washington, was launched at Groton, Conn.

In 1969 the U.S. Senate confirmed the nomination of Warren E. Burger as chief justice.

A thought for the day: Norwegian poet Henrik Ibsen said, "A community is like a ship; everyone ought to be prepared to take the helm."

New Grievances Will Be Raised

I-J Special Report

RICHMOND — Residents living close to oil and chemical plants in this Contra Costa County city are expected to raise new grievances with the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District board at its meeting here tomorrow.

The residents claim little action has been taken by air pollution officials since a crackdown was urged in February.

The board also is to receive the district's preliminary budget for fiscal 1971.

The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. in city hall, Civic Center and MacDonald avenues.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

This Hand Shows A Bath Coup In Somewhat Different Position

If you're a reformed whist player you probably think of the Bath Coup as a refusal to win an opponent's lead of the king when you have A-J-x. In modern bridge we're not quite so fussy. Today's hand shows a Bath Coup in a somewhat different position.

Opening lead — ♠ K

REFUSES TRICK

West opened the king of spades, and declarer very properly refused to take the trick. This amounted to a Bath Coup because West couldn't afford to continue the suit. If West led another spade (whether high or low), South would win a trick with his own jack as well as with dummy's ace. West shifted to a trump, won by dummy's seven. Declarer then led a club to the king, hoping that East had the ace. If South could get two club tricks he could discard a low spade from dummy.

As it happened, West won with the ace of clubs and led another trump. Declarer won in dummy, led a diamond to the queen and returned a diamond, playing low from dummy since East obviously had the ace.

RETURNS SPADE

East took the jack of diamonds and promptly returned a spade. Since the ace of spades was still in dummy, declarer could win the trick and lead the last low diamond from dummy. East had to play the ace, and South ruffed, setting up dummy's king.

The long search for a tenth trick had ended successfully. South led a trump to dummy and cashed the king of diamonds to discard a spade. The rest was easy.

COULD DEFEAT

If declarer had taken the first trick with the ace of spades, the defenders would have taken two spade tricks when East was eventually able to lead a spade. Two spades and two aces would defeat the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ — A 5 3

◇ — K 6 5 3
♣ — 7 - 3.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You need about another queen for a sensible opening bid. You have only 11 points in high cards and one point for the doubleton. Only the exceptional 12-point hand is worth an opening bid.

Novato Council Due Budget Tonight

A $2,072,635 budget for fiscal 1970-71 will be presented to the Novato City Council at 8 p.m. today by City Manager Charles A. Brown.

The proposed budget is $165,905 more than this year's $1,906,730.

The budget calls for an increase in the tax rate from 81 cents to $1.05 per $100 assessed valuation.

Brown's request keeps the general fund operation tax at 48 cents; increases the street construction tax from 6 to 30 cents; the parks and recreation tax increased 1 cent from 25 to 26 cents and decreases the bond redemption tax from 2 cents to 1 cent per $100 assessed valuation.

Income will be derived $941,500 from property, sales and cigarette taxes and franchises; $96,400 from licenses and permits; $31,500 from fines; $47,500 from interest; $494,820 from alcoholic beverage tax, motor vehicles, trailer coaches and gasoline taxes; $61,925 from special police services, building plan checking and recreation programs; $850 from miscallaneous income and $338,140 from reserve funds.

Comparison of this year's figures in parentheses, with Brown's requests by departments for next year are: city council ($10,700), $10,700; manager-clerk ($40,900), $40,955; finance-treasurer ($40,380), $39,160; attorney ($8550), $12,550; planning ($68,470), $90,195; non-departmental ($149,075), $154,530; community promotion ($14,680), $13,980; municipal elections ($2,500), $25; police ($410,240), $462,105; public works engineering ($128,395), $131,125; public works maintenance ($107,160), $120,135; public works traffic safety ($31,045), $33,885; street tree and parkway maintenance ($16,565), $28,060; street lighting ($68,290), $69,915; building regulation ($34,385), $38,265; park maintenance, ($31,145), $46,695; recreation ($108,775), $127,355; swim pool ($12,540), $13,430; community house ($9425), $10,635; unallocated reserve ($11,000), $15,000; bond interest and redemption ($7,520), $7,400; and capital improvement ($594,990), $606,535.

Warrant Is Issued

A bench warrant with bail set at $2,500 was issued yesterday in Marin Superior Court for former Sausalito resident Greg Landers, when he failed to appear for a trial on a marijuana charge. Landers, who was arrested Sept. 30 in Sausalito, was reported to be in Madrid, Spain.

Kentucky Blue Laws Still Alive

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's boldest attempt yet to repeal the old Sunday closing law has been repealed by Gov. Louie B. Nunn, who says it would create too much litigation.

For the first time, both legislative chambers passed a measure to change the blue law so that local option would be allowed.

Nunn's veto message added that the Legislature "should not try to repeal one of the Ten Commandments."

Angela Davis Case Remains Undecided

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — University of California regents apparently failed during a secret session Monday to decide how to go about firing an admitted Communist Party member from the UCLA faculty.

Because of court rulings that Communist Party membership alone is not sufficient grounds for dismissal, the regents were forced to find other reasons to carry out their avowed intent to fire Angela Davis.

They have been trying to fire the 26-year-old philosophy instructor since last fall when she admitted her party membership.

"Undoubtedly we'll be holding subsequent meetings," said Regent William French Smith, who chaired the special closed door meeting at the UC Extension.

Smith refused to answer when newsmen asked if that meant no final decision had been reached on the matter.

However, Regent Frederick Dutton of Sausalito, one of the board's liberal minority, told newsmen the effort to fire the black philosophy instructor "is on the tracks and it's going — and as surely as the sun will rise over the state tomorrow Miss Davis will be fired."

The board voted last fall to fire Miss Davis, but a Los Angeles Superior Court Judge ruled that the action was unconstitutional because membership in a political party is protected by the 14th Amendment.

The ruling was overturned by an appellate court on technical grounds and the entire matter is now before the State Supreme Court.

"We're under court order not to discuss the communism issue, so they're trumping up other charges," said Dutton. "It's a lawless proceeding by lawless men who mostly pretend to be in favor of law and order."

Gov. Ronald Reagan, ex-officio member of the board, has called for Miss Davis' dismissal, contending that her party membership makes her unqualified to teach because she must follow party dogma.

Miss Davis, a native of Alabama who graduated with honors from Brandeis University and later studied in Germany, France and at UC San Diego, was hired on a two-year contract for $9,684 annually before her Communist Party membership was known.

She is working on her doctorate under Herbert Marcuse, the Marxist philosopher at UC San Diego.

The regents voted 15 to 6 last month to take jurisdiction over the rehiring of Miss Davis, which had been recommended by UCLA faculty committees and Chancellor Charles Young.

The faculty at the Los Angeles campus has voted to guarantee Miss Davis' full salary next year, and threatened to seek censure of the school by the American Association of University Professors.

Two pickets carrying signs reading "Berkeley teachers demanding due process for Angela Davis" marched outside the UC Extension during the two-hour meeting.

A petition accusing the regents of suspending the powers of administrative officers has been signed by about half the UCLA faculty. It will be presented at next Monday's meeting of the statewide Academic Assembly in San Francisco.

Explosion Kills Seven; Training Off

FORT BRAGG, N. C. (UPI) —All demolition training for Green Berets has been stopped until the Army can make a "complete check" of procedures involved in an explosion that killed seven soldiers and injured five others.

Gen. E. M. Flanagan Jr., commander of the John F. Kennedy center for military assistance, ordered the halt Monday following the premature explosion of 20 pounds of TNT on a demolition training range.

Flanagan called the blast, which occurred during an exercise involving 10 trainees and two instructors, a "regrettable tragedy."

The squad was learning the kinds and uses of explosives late Monday morning on a range in a remote section of this Army training center in southeastern North Carolina. The 10 trainees, part of about 121 Green Berets completing their final week of training, were in a circle with two pounds of TNT in front of each man. The men were to attach negative and positive wires to each explosive and then retire to a nearby bleachers to watch the detonation.

But one wire apparently was "hot" and triggered the TNT prematurely, blasting the boots and clothing off the men and gouging a hole three and one-half feet by one and one-half feet in the ground.

Seven soldiers were killed by concussion and debris and the other five were injured, two seriously. One of the injured lost a leg and the other a foot.

Tiburon Signs Contract For Waste Pickup

The Tiburon City Council last night agreed to embark on an experimental rubbish collection program for residents affected by the backyard burning ban. (Another Tiburon Council story, page 1)

The council agreed to enter a six-month contract with Mill Valley Refuse Service to collect rubbish, mostly garden clippings and other nongarbage waste, from the Little Reed Heights-Hacienda area.

If the experiment proves successful, the council will extend the service to the entire city. Cost to each homeowner would be about $3 a year.

The experimental program will cost the city a total of $860 — $700 for the collection, and $160 for a debris box to be placed on Mar West for the use of residents living outside the experiment's boundaries.

The Tiburon City Council also:

Referred to its lands and development committee plans for a 27-unit housing development on Mount Tiburon to study questions on density, roads and circulation, and approved unanimously a master plan for a 10,000-square-foot office building adjacent to City Hall at 88 Main Street.

The council adjourned to Monday at 8 p.m. at city hall to finish items on last night's agenda.

Transit Strike In Second Week

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A transit strike affecting 200,000 passengers entered its second week today with no agreement reported.

The 1,432 bus drivers, clerks and mechanics in the Amalgamated Transit Union walked out early June 1 in a dispute over wages and fringe benefits.

Representatives of the union and the pubicly owned AC Transit System met for the fourth day Sunday with state conciliator Thomas Nicolopulos and a fact-finding committee.

Traffic has been jammed daily on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, where buses have been replaced during the walkout by the commuters' cars.

Today is Tuesday, June 9th, 160th day of 1970 with 205 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1899 James J. Jeffries won the heavyweight boxing crown by knocking out Bob Fitzsimmons in New York City.

In 1943 Congress passed an act providing for "pas-as-you-go" income tax deductions, authorizing employers to withhold payments from salary checks.

In 1959 the first ballistic missile submarine, the nuclear-powered George Washington, was launched at Groton, Conn.

In 1969 the U.S. Senate confirmed the nomination of Warren E. Burger as chief justice.

A thought for the day: Norwegian poet Henrik Ibsen said, "A community is like a ship; everyone ought to be prepared to take the helm."

New Grievances Will Be Raised

I-J Special Report

RICHMOND — Residents living close to oil and chemical plants in this Contra Costa County city are expected to raise new grievances with the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District board at its meeting here tomorrow.

The residents claim little action has been taken by air pollution officials since a crackdown was urged in February.

The board also is to receive the district's preliminary budget for fiscal 1971.

The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. in city hall, Civic Center and MacDonald avenues.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

This Hand Shows A Bath Coup In Somewhat Different Position

If you're a reformed whist player you probably think of the Bath Coup as a refusal to win an opponent's lead of the king when you have A-J-x. In modern bridge we're not quite so fussy. Today's hand shows a Bath Coup in a somewhat different position.

Opening lead — ♠ K

REFUSES TRICK

West opened the king of spades, and declarer very properly refused to take the trick. This amounted to a Bath Coup because West couldn't afford to continue the suit. If West led another spade (whether high or low), South would win a trick with his own jack as well as with dummy's ace. West shifted to a trump, won by dummy's seven. Declarer then led a club to the king, hoping that East had the ace. If South could get two club tricks he could discard a low spade from dummy.

As it happened, West won with the ace of clubs and led another trump. Declarer won in dummy, led a diamond to the queen and returned a diamond, playing low from dummy since East obviously had the ace.

RETURNS SPADE

East took the jack of diamonds and promptly returned a spade. Since the ace of spades was still in dummy, declarer could win the trick and lead the last low diamond from dummy. East had to play the ace, and South ruffed, setting up dummy's king.

The long search for a tenth trick had ended successfully. South led a trump to dummy and cashed the king of diamonds to discard a spade. The rest was easy.

COULD DEFEAT

If declarer had taken the first trick with the ace of spades, the defenders would have taken two spade tricks when East was eventually able to lead a spade. Two spades and two aces would defeat the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ — A 5 3
♥ — K J 8 7
♦ — K 6 5 3
♣ — 7 - 3.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You need about another queen for a sensible opening bid. You have only 11 points in high cards and one point for the doubleton. Only the exceptional 12-point hand is worth an opening bid.

Explosion Kills Seven; Training Off

FORT BRAGG, N. C. (UPI) —All demolition training for Green Berets has been stopped until the Army can make a "complete check" of procedures involved in an explosion that killed seven soldiers and injured five others.

Gen. E. M. Flanagan Jr., commander of the John F. Kennedy center for military assistance, ordered the halt Monday following the premature explosion of 20 pounds of TNT on a demolition training range.

Flanagan called the blast, which occurred during an exercise involving 10 trainees and two instructors, a "regrettable tragedy."

The squad was learning the kinds and uses of explosives late Monday morning on a range in a remote section of this Army training center in southeastern North Carolina. The 10 trainees, part of about 121 Green Berets completing their final week of training, were in a circle with two pounds of TNT in front of each man. The men were to attach negative and positive wires to each explosive and then retire to a nearby bleachers to watch the detonation.

But one wire apparently was "hot" and triggered the TNT prematurely, blasting the boots and clothing off the men and gouging a hole three and one-half feet by one and one-half feet in the ground.

Seven soldiers were killed by concussion and debris and the other five were injured, two seriously. One of the injured lost a leg and the other a foot.

Tiburon Signs Contract For Waste Pickup

The Tiburon City Council last night agreed to embark on an experimental rubbish collection program for residents affected by the backyard burning ban. (Another Tiburon Council story, page 1)

The council agreed to enter a six-month contract with Mill Valley Refuse Service to collect rubbish, mostly garden clippings and other nongarbage waste, from the Little Reed Heights-Hacienda area.

If the experiment proves successful, the council will extend the service to the entire city. Cost to each homeowner would be about $3 a year.

The experimental program will cost the city a total of $860 — $700 for the collection, and $160 for a debris box to be placed on Mar West for the use of residents living outside the experiment's boundaries.

The Tiburon City Council also:

Referred to its lands and development committee plans for a 27-unit housing development on Mount Tiburon to study questions on density, roads and circulation, and approved unanimously a master plan for a 10,000-square-foot office building adjacent to City Hall at 88 Main Street.

The council adjourned to Monday at 8 p.m. at city hall to finish items on last night's agenda.

Transit Strike In Second Week

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A transit strike affecting 200,000 passengers entered its second week today with no agreement reported.

The 1,432 bus drivers, clerks and mechanics in the Amalgamated Transit Union walked out early June 1 in a dispute over wages and fringe benefits.

Representatives of the union and the pubicly owned AC Transit System met for the fourth day Sunday with state conciliator Thomas Nicolopulos and a fact-finding committee.

Traffic has been jammed daily on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, where buses have been replaced during the walkout by the commuters' cars.

Eminent Spokesmen For High School Class Of '70

DAN JORDAN
Scholars first . . .

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Dan Jordan and Lowell Widmer have been close friends since the sixth grade. At San Rafael High School, where they are graduating seniors, their careers have closely paralleled one another.

Jordan, who stands 5 feet, 9 inches and weighs 165 pounds, was an all-Marin County Athletic League guard in football last season. This was not unexpected, following his selection in 1966 to the Pop Warner All-American Team of Little Scholars.

Widmer, at 5-7" and 140, was an all-MCAL safety in both his junior and senior years, and led the Bulldogs at quarterback.

Jordan maintained a 3.9 grade point average for all four years, achieving lifetime membership in the California Scholarship Federation.

Widmer, who was vice president of the student body last semester, had an overall average of better than 3.2.

Last February the two were named Marin County's 1969 National Football Foundation Scholar-Athletics.

Next fall Jrdan will enroll at Harvard, Widmer at Colby in Maine. Both consider themselves students first and athletes second, and their new schools will give them a chance to prove it. Neigher expects to compete in athletics, except on the intramural level.

With their extraordinary records, both in the classroom and on the field, Dan Jordan and Lowell Widmer qualify eminently as spokesmen for their generation.

Here are some of their thoughts:

On San Rafael High School — Both feel that San Rafael has a lot to offer and that the atmosphere is conducive to involvement.

"The lines of communication between students and faculty are wide open," Jordan said.

Widmer added, "The faculty is concerned to go to the trouble of letting students express themselves."

On the students' view of athletics—They acknowledgedd that a trend has developed during the last few years toward more individual expression within the school, and that this has influenced the approach to sports.

"Students are becoming aware that things like lettermen jackets are not all there is to the high school experience," said Widmer.

Jordan agreed, saying that kids just like to be more individual these days. "They are turning away from the exclusive 'clique' type clubs," he said.

Both also agreed, however, that there has been no shift away from team sports, such as baseball and football, toward the individual sports like track and swimming.

Regarding athletics in general, Jardan said, "Athletics are receiving less emphasis now; people's attention is being drawn in other directions."

He noted that personal rewards to be derived from sports do not depend on the attention given them. And the most long-lasting and worthwhile rewards, he said, are personal ones.

Widmer added that many small colleges recognize this de-emphasis, and have turned more to intramural sports.

On the length of an athlete's hair — Both thought that length should not be a factor, except in team sports, where each member of the team has a responsibility to every other member.

Widmer stated that there was little friction at San Rafael this year, largely because the coaches left the players responsible for their own appearance.

"The coaches never gave us orders to get a hair cut," Jordan said. "Each individual took on that responsibility himself."

Widmer expressed the belief that individual discipline consisted of some self-sacrifices for the good of the team.

On team sports vs. individual sports, Widmer said, "I'd rather play a team sport. If you win a game in a team sport, the sense of achievement will be greater if you know each individual felt the responsibility to the others in doing his own part."

Said Jordan, "I enjoy being a member of a team. There are so many benefits — a feeling of mutual self-sacrifice, a feeling of everybody working toward a common goal. It really creates bonds between players.

"That's one of the big things in life," he said. "Feeling this strong friendship with others."

A Red Letter Day For Mr. Landauer

Thursday will be a red letter day in the life of San Rafael barkeep Henry Landauer.

No, he will not on that day concoct a pousse cafe' blindfolded with one hand tied behind his back. Nor will he mix the world's driest martini.

You see, besides being co-owner and chief mixologist at the San Rafael giggle juice dispensary called Pier 15, Mr. Landauer is one of the world's most proficient soccer officials.

And it will be in that capacity that he will realize his longtime ambition the day after tomorrow.

A note from Henry reads: "Hello from the World Cup in Mexico to you and all my friends in San Rafael. On June 11 I am the referee of the game Italy-Israel. This is the very first time in World Cup history that a U.S. referee will handle a match. I also have been appointed in two other games as a linesman. The game I handle will be played in Toluca at 10,000 feet altitude."

Greatest Honor Possible

For a soccer ref to handle a World Cup game is an even greater honor than, say, an ump working a World Series, a head linesman selected for the Super Bowl or a fight ref handling a world heavyweight championship bout.

The World Cup is truly the world's greatest sports competition and to officiate at a game is. . . well, Henry Landauer's cup runneth over as the first U.S. official so honored. He is one of only 30 referees selected from a list of 1,050 nominated by the 150 participating countries that make up Federation International Football Association.

A native of Germany who came to America in 1947, Landauer became a soccer official in 1957 after several years as a player. He has officiated in many big events, but never in the big cup.

And, in a sport where emotions run extremely high (riots, murders, rampages, etc.) Landauer has had only one close call with violence when an irate fan chased him around a field with clenched fist. The gendarmes averted violence.

Why, it's almost as risky as running a bar.

A Good Week For Dolinsek

JUST A WEEK ago I noted that Novatan John Dolinsek slumped from .320 to .285 for the Columbus, Ga. Astros in the Southern Association. But, like a volatile issue on the stock market, Dolinsek rallied in his next 21 at bats by slapping out 11 hits and hiking his average back to .316. That .524 weeklong spree also gave him 50 hits for the season and 6 triples, both Southern Association pace-setters. The first sacker also has 4 doubles, 2 homers and 20 runs batted in.

Next Batter: S. I. Hayakawa

THURSDAY'S ANNUAL Police Athletic League softball game at the Cow Palace will feature a number of Marin personalities in action, including S.I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley, Carter B. Smith of Tiburon, Jack Carney of Ross, Peter Scott, Terry McGovern and Gene Nelson of Sausalito and Jeff Skov of San Anselmo.

Oh yes, and comedian Pat Paulsen can be called a home town boy for he attended Tam High several years ago.

SHARON WALSH, the 18-year-old San Rafael miss whose high school graduation present is a tennis trip to England to compete in various tournaments including the Wimbledon, has one trophy to her credit after winning the junior girls' title at Surrey Grass Courts Championships a couple of weekends ago. Sharon writes to her mom and dad that she's taking in all the sights of merry olde England.

Gordon Young demonstartes the correct way to row a canoe.
(Independent-Journal photos by Bob Hax)

Light enough for one man to carry.

THE SPORTING GENTRY

Skillful Marin Canoeist

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Gordon Young isn't an Indian but he can sure manipulate a canoe as well as any of those Indians we read about in our early American history books.

Young, 51, of Terra Linda, is treasurer and one of the instructors of the Marin Canoe Club, an outdoor-loving group of about 125 hardy souls which has grown from the handful which started the organization five years ago.

A district sales manager for a pharmaceutical company, Young has been a member of the canoe club since 1968, although he has been interested in canoing since a youngster paddling at Lake Washington in Seattle. He has been living in Marin County for the past 15 years.

Besides getting together for canoe trips twice a month, the club offers canoe lessons to interested persons, whether members or not, sometimes as many as 100 during a summer, mostly at the Civic Center Lagoon.

An affiliate of the Marin Canoe Club is the Quentin Canoers, for high school and college students, numbering about 25 members.

There are about 12 canoe club members, including Young, who are Red Cross certified instructors. A short time with him and you find that there is more to canoing than just getting in a boat and paddling away.

In one of the manuals he handed me were instructions about everything imaginable about canoing, from getting in, getting out, paddling strokes, going sideways, overcoming wind problems.

"It takes a lot of skill to maneuver a canoe properly," said Young. After thumbing through one of the manuals, I'll take his word for it.

Canoes range in size from 15 to 17 feet long, and the club has five of its own for giving lessons. Young has his own, a 17-footer, and has another on order. A canoe will run about $250 to $300 said Young.

"They weigh about 75 pounds," he said, "and that is the advantage of them. I can handle a canoe by myself. Most boats, like cartop boats, require two men to handle them."

Among trips planned by the club are down the Sacramento and Russian rivers, Lake Pillsbury, Richardson Bay, China Camp area of San Pablo Bay. In addition to the actual canoing, there's fishing and camping during the weekend trips.

"A lot of the members are quite active in conservation groups, such as Sierra Club," said Young. "We just like the outdoors."

President of the club is Erik Tryde of San Rafael, and Mavis Marney is secretary. Mrs. Ann Dwyer is chief instructor.

Young and his wife, Gladys, have two sons, Bob, 21, Tom, 17, and a daughter, Sally, 19. Young, one of the original members of the board of directors on the Terra Linda Parks and Recreation District, served in that capacity for four years. He is also one of the founding directors and commissioner of the Terra Linda junior baseball program and a coach for 10 years.

A former Cub Scout master, he is now a merit badge counselor for the Boy Scout.

Soccer Argument Leads To Death

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Police reported Monday the first known slaying caused by an argument about a game in the ninth World Cup soccer championship.

Police accused Epigmenio Sanchez Luna of Mexico City of shooting a neighbor when Herminio Gonzalez cracked, "Mexico didn't accomplish anything by beating El Salvador because the Central American team is a lemon".

Gonzalez was shot in the heart.

Mexico won 4-0 Sunday over El Salvador.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Charlie Metro was fired today as manager of the Kansas City Royals and pitching coach Bob Lemon, former Cleveland Indians star hurler, was named as his successor.

Angry Clay Says He's Firing His Attorney

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Cassius Clay says he isn't interested in an 18-hour pass from the U.S. Supreme Court that would allow him to go to Canada to fight Joe Frazier for the heavyweight title.

"I don't want to fight under forced conditions," Clay said Monday after he learned his attorney had appealed to the Supreme Court to allow the deposed champion to go to Canada to meet Frazier, his successor to the championship.

Clay's attorney, Chauncey Eskridge of Chicago, said in an appeal filed Monday with Justice Hugo L. Black that Clay's resources are depleted, and noted that the former champion would be out of the country only 18 hours for the fight in Canada.

Eskridge said he made the application to the Supreme Court because he had an offer for a fight in Canada. "I have permission from Canadian authorities," the attorney said.

"They will sanction the fight. If the application is granted that is the time he (Clay) will have a chance to say whether he will fight."

"I don't know anything about it," said Clay from his $90,000 home in Philadelphia.

"That's my lawyer talking and he is going to be fired for doing these things. I'm not interested in fighting until my case is settled. I'm not even thinking of fighting."

Eskridge, speaking by telephone from Chicago, said he had not talked with Clay before filing the appeal. "When a lawyer files an application in this court he doesn't always talk to his client. I did it on my own."

Eskridge agreed, however, that if Clay formerly disavows the application for freedom to travel the issue will be dead legally.

In the appeal, Eskridge offered to allow U.S. marshals to accompany Clay to Canada, and to place in escrow in the United States 70 per cent of revenues he estimated would amount to more than a million dollars.

"I don't beg for nothing," stormed Clay. "I'm not forcing or breaking down any doors to get back in the ring. Boxing didn't make me. I made boxing."

Clay, who was stripped of his title after he was convicted for refusing induction in the Army, said last week he isn't worried about money. "I'm making more money now than I would if I was fighting every Friday," he said.

The undefeated champion, who insists he is retired and that Frazier is the champion, said all he wants from the Supreme Court is a decision on his appeal from the draft evasion conviction.

He claims to be a Black Muslim minister and is appealing on religious grounds. He adopted the name Muhammad Ali and has been lecturing in various sections of the country.

Clay said his attorney had no right to file the appeal. "It makes me look bad," the fighter said. "I'm not using him (Eskridge) anymore. He's finishing up a few things and then he's fired."

FISH AND GAME

How New Deer Tag Law Will Change Some Lives

By AL GIDDINGS

The deer tag law just passed by the Fish and Game Commission has some far reaching effects. The new law requires that both tags be used on one buck in the "one deer districts." A hunter hunting in Marin who kills one deer will have to stay in Marin or in one of the other "two deer" districts for his second buck.

Possibly, you, like the four hunters in our family, have a real problem. Always in the past, we all took our one deer in Marin County using our "A" tag, then we went to the Sierra where we usually took our second buck.

Vacation time was always taken in the fall in the Sierra, chasing bucks, then fishing for trout about every third day for a rest, then opening the duck season at Honey Lake or Tule; and always trying new places. It was a great way to keep in shape! Having to have two tags to hunt in the Sierras will change our lives.

A FEW evenings ago, I questioned the family as to this year's plans. Both the kids feel that they will try to take their bucks here; Mary and I feel we will head up to the Sierra as usual. The kids feel that we can work the brush for them down here.

Bob Horton, another of our group, wants to go to the Sierra.

Paul Honatius, the old timer from Mill Valley, figures to get his bucks here, but might go north as camp cook, do some fishing, or maybe try for a bear.

As you can see, our group is in a dilemma. And suppose I saw a big buck out on the ranch and couldn't shoot because using a tag would ruin both Mary's and my Sierra trip. Anyone want to buy a ranch? I guess we will work it out, but all of you who have in the past hunted Marin and then saved your "B" tag for up north had better think things over carefully before getting your deer here.

Lots of people believe the non-hunting wives and kids will buy tags this year so dad can save his tags for up north.

OTHERS FEEL that many will buy two sets of tags; taking the calculated risk of not getting caught.

Others feel that the bear and mountain lion tags will be in great demand for the hunters who get early season bucks, but who still want to go north for a week or so. The bear tag sales last year were approximately 32,000. About 800 bears were taken which averages out to 40 hunters for each bear. Amazing! The after season statistics on deer tag sales, duplicate tags, bear and lion tags, etc. will be very interesting this year! The bear tag sales might reach 60,000!

FOR YOU abaloners, I attended the last meeting of the Marin Skindiver's Club. The 35 or 40 members seem to have something going in their sport all the time. The largest abalone taken by the club last year was 10⅛ inches. The biggest ling cod taken free driving was a 20 pounder, and a 9½ pound cabezon was the number one for size.

Renee Ross, one of the gal divers, recently won the women's meet with an 8⅜ inch abalone, winning a new surf mat for her efforts.

DON JOSLIN (ol' shark meat) says there's lots of room in the ocean for more members. Don is also a certified skin diving instructor who is presently teaching a new class of 38 students. If you are interested, contact Don at Point Reyes Station, or call Carl Koehler, the club president, at 100 Whittier Avenue, San Rafael.

Incidentally, Joslin told the group about his friend Walter Kantala of Inverness who last week caught a six foot long, seven gill shark near the mouth of Tomales. I suggested the club go up and watch the shark derby put on by the Petaluma Sportsmen at Marshall on the 13th and 14th of June, but psychologically, most of the members felt it was not their bag. Oh well, to each his own!

I received a note from Robin Barnett of Woodacre who says she wants a live baby octopus and that she will come running anytime, anyday, and to any location for the beast. She's a teacher at San Anselmo; it's for the class.

MOLLY AND JOE Mello have tried the mouth of Tomales a couple of times taking one eight pound salmon about six miles out and one 30 pound halibut at the bar. The seas have been rough - be careful - and most days have been windy.

Rich Borba and friends have tried for salmon, skiff fishing off Point Reyes. It's rough there too! Rich says they did catch some rockfish but no salmon seem to be in close.

I FORGOT to mention that "Ove" Hansen and his wife, of Novato, while fishing Webber Lake last week, forgot to watch the current at the mouth of the lake. Before they knew what was happening they were out of the lake and in the rapids of the Little Truckee River! The boat turned over, but no one was hurt. Just chilly!

I ALSO should mention that the old pro at Webber, Bob Wise, has been fishing Lake Tahoe again. He had two Makinaws and one kokanee for Mary and me to bring home with our four trout last week. The rainbow fishing is supposed to explode around June 15. He says the "macks" are a cinch once you learn how! Sounds good!

Giants Vs. Bucs Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Juan Marichal, who gave the San Francisco Giants 21 victories last season, tries for his third this year tonight against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Pitching has been much of the problem for the Giants, who are only 1½ games out of the National League's Western Division cellar as they open an eight-game home stand against Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Chicago. Steve Blass, 2-8, goes for the Bucs.

San Francisco hurlers have completed only 15 of 55 games. Gaylord Perry, 8-6, has accounted for six of the full-route performances. And the staff's earned-run average is a shade under six a game.

Some help for the pitching staff is likely to come from Phoenix, the Giants' farm club in the Pacific Coast League, or be sought in trade before next Monday midnight's dealing deadline.

This was predicted Monday after the club's brass met for nearly four hours at Candlestick Park while the players took the day off.

With eight infielders and six outfielders on the current roster, there is talk the Giants could let one of each go to make room for two more pitchers.

Flood Case To Wind Up Tomorrow

NEW YORK (AP) — Curt Flood's $3.1 million antitrust suit against baseball is expected to end Wednesday after rebuttal testimony by the executive director and counsel of the players' association and Bill Veeck, former big league club owner.

The defense finished its case Monday with a complete day of testimony by Dr. John Clark, an economist from the Arthur Little firm of Cambridge, Mass., who did an involved analysis of certain aspects of baseball.

After Jay Topkis, one of Flood's lawyers, finishes cross examination of Dr. Clark Tuesday, both Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, and Dick Moss, counsel for the group, were due to take the stand.

Veeck is expected to be the final witness Wednesday morning as both sides have told Judge Irving Ben Cooper the Federal Court case will be completed Wednesday.

Both sides will file written summations with the judge and it may be some time before a verdict is announced. No matter what the outcome, it is expected the case will be appealed to a higher court by the loser.

Dr. Clark said player salaries had increased from $19,500 in 1965 to $24,957 in 1969 and $28,088 in 1970 which actually became $28,376 with the addition of newly-won minimum salary increases.

Speaking of the pension fund by which a five-year player gets $300 a month at the age of 50 or $772.50 at 65 and a 20-year-player gets $800 at 50 and $1,945.11 at 65, Dr. Clark said Flood's current status as a 12-year-man would give him a monthly pension of $1,625.11 at the age of 65.

Michigan State's 1970 football team faces rugged assignments the first three Saturdays in October. The Spartans play Notre Dame, Ohio State and Michigan in succession.

QUALIFYING CONTINUES TODAY

Venturi Misses U.S. Open Bid

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Qualifying was set to continue at seven sites today for the U.S. Open Golf Tournament—with more surprises in store and disappointment lurking for other big-name players.

A surprise Monday came at Dallas where Tom Kite Jr., a University of Texas sophomore, outshot the pros and won the first of six qualifying berths. Kite was medalist with a five-under-par 70-69—139.

Disappointment came to Ken Venturi, the 1964 Open champion, at Charlotte, N.C. Non-exempt for the first time since he won, Venturi failed to qualify by shooting eight over par 75-75—150.

A total of 39 qualified at six sites Monday and 77 more were to qualify today. These 116 will join 34 exempt players for the Open at Chaska, Minn., June 18-21.

The major qualifying site today was Chicago where 139 golfers tried for 35 spots. The players included former Open champions Tommy Bolt, Jack Fleck and former Masters winners Gary Brewer and Bob Goalby and Dave Stockton, Jim Colbert, Larry Hinson, Marty Fleckman and Doug Sanders.

Tom Nierporte, Paul Harney, Grier Jones and Bill Farrell were among 107 trying for 13 spots at New York.

Pros beaten by Kite, but qualifying, at Dallas Monday were Bob Dickson, 139, and Rives McBee, 142. Terry Dill was first alternate at 144, and John Schlee failed to qualify with 148.

Among the 16 qualifying at Charlotte were pros Lou Graham, 135; Kel Nagle, 136; Bert Greene, 137, Bobby Mitchell, 139 and Bob Lunn, 139. Charlie Sifford shot a 145 and was one of four alternates.

Tour veteran Dow Finsterwald was one of three to qualify at Denver. He shot a one-over-par 145.

Amateur David Graham's two-under-par 140 was the medal score of five qualifers at Cincinnati, including Sam Snead and his nephew, Jess, each with a 142.

Amateur Vic Loustalot of Sacramento shot a two-over-par 144 at Hesperia, Calif., to be the best of seven qualifers. One of the others was pro Jerry Barber, with 148.

Seals' Issue Gets Back To Courtroom

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The question of who will wind up as owner of the Oakland Seals National Hockey League club went back into court Tuesday, with indications the franchise's worth will be aired.

Superior Court Judge Robert H. Schancke ruled one week ago that Trans-National Communications, Inc., of New York and the Knox brothers of Buffalo, N.Y. lost the team by defaulting on several loans assumed when they bought the team a year ago.

But they challenged the $4.1 million offer of Charles O. Finley to buy the franchise, saying it was improperly negotiated and was commercially unreasonable.

By that, they said they mean the franchise is worth $6 million.

Judge Schancke gave the Seals owner, Barry Van Gerbig's Seals Ltd., a week for accepting other offers.

Seal president William N Creasy Jr. has said there are others interested in buying the franchise, but he would not name them. The only name mentioned previously was Jerry Seltzer of Oakland, Roller Der by promoter.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

The bowler in today's illustration is not likely to achieve much pin-fall. Her left (sliding) foot has reached the foul line, but her right hand has not yet delivered the ball to that point. The left foot and ball should be moving in unison at release. This bowler has probably speeded up her footwork. Don't hurry. You want to reach the foul line "all together."

Mike Garrett Announces He'll Turn To Baseball

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Garrett, at the height of his career as a star running back for the Kansas City Chiefs, formally announced his retirement from pro football Monday because "I just want to try something else" — baseball.

The 26-year-old member of the Super Bowl champion Chiefs confirmed that he would play out the final year of his reported $450,000, five-year contract with Kansas City next season, and then turn to baseball.

Garrett, 5-foot-9, 200 pounds, had talked about quitting for some time when his present pact ran out, and he let it be known last Friday after Baseball's Los Angeles Dodgers picked him in the free agent draft that the time had come. The formal announcement came at a press conference Monday.

Mets Blank Astros

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

All good things must come to an end and so must all bad ones. A good thing ended for Houston's Jack Billingham Monday night and it helped a bad one end for the New York Mets.

Billingham was duelling Jim McAndrew in a scoreless match through five innings and had extended his personal shutout streak to a healthy 25 innings. Then Art Shamsky did a very unhealthy thing to the streak, cracking a two-run homer that carried the Mets to a 2-0 victory over the Astros.

FOURTH STRAIGHT

Shamsky's shot not only ended Billingham's good thing but also halted New York's bad one —a five-game losing streak.

It was New York's fourth straight victory over the Astros —two more than the Mets managed against Houston all of last year. And it came in the Astrodome where the Mets were 0-6 en route to their World Championship in 1969.

McAndrew allowed just five singles and had his only trouble spot in the seventh inning when the Astros bunched three of their hits. But a double play pitch to Jimmy Wynn pulled him out of the jam.

The victory moved McAndrew's record to 2-4. Billingham is 3-1.

BREWERS WIN

In the only other game scheduled Monday, Milwaukee trimmed the Chicago White Sox 5-2 with Tommy Harper's first-pitch homer setting the pace.

Lew Krausse scattered six hits to pick up his fourth victory with the Brewers making it easy by bunching four hits for four runs in the third inning.

Ed Herrmann homered for the White Sox.

Teammate Cleared In Hockey Death

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — New York Rangers' right wing Ron Stewart has been cleared of any responsibility in the death of his teammate, goalie Terry Sawchuk, a National Hockey League veteran.

A Nassau County grand jury heard nine witnesses Monday, then ruled that Sawchuk's death May 31 was accidental.

Sawchuk, 40, was hospitalized April 29, following a scuffle with Stewart. The two shared a house in East Atlantic Beach, N.Y.

Nassau County Dist. Atty. William Cahn said all the witnesses had testified that no punches had been thrown between the two players, who reportedly had been arguing over housecleaning.

The witnesses said Sawchuk and Stewart, 37, began quarreling in a local bar and later continued their shoving and pushing match on the lawn of their home, where Sawchuk was injured.

The record-setting goalie died of a blood clot in New York Hospital following several operations.

Cahn termed the death "tragic, senseless, bizarre."

No Television For 49ers In Oakland

Very few fans of the San Francisco 49ers will be able to see their big National Football League game against cross-bay rival Oakland Raiders at the Oakland Coliseum next Dec. 20.

Already assured of being a sellout, with the great majority of tickets reserved for Raider fans, a proposal to locally televise the game has been turned down by Raider managing general partner Al Davis.

"The decision not to televise home games was made years ago," said Davis.

A disappointed 49er president Lou Spadia, who strongly urged the telecast, said: "Forty-Niner fans have always seen all 49er regular league road games on television. This not only deprives them of that privilege but will also prevent many Oakland Riader fans from seeing the game."

The usual home area blackout has been lifted in at least two other areas for the new pro football alignment.

The New York Jets and Giants and the Los Angeles Rams and San Diego Chargers will televise their home league games next fall, it was announced yesterday.

Said Jets President Philip H. Iselin: "We agreed to relax the blackout rule for this game since it did deprive Giant ticket-holders of seeing their team in action in a road game. If the situation had been reversed, we certainly would have asked the Giants to do the same thing."

The 49ers and Raiders do not meet in another league game until 1974. Then it will be the 49ers' chance to call the shots on local TV.

Rudi Takes Over Jackson's Spot

CLEVELAND (AP) — Reggie Jackson, Oakland's star 1969 home run hitter, probably won't be in the lineup when the A's open a road trip against the Cleveland Indians here tonight.

His repdacement, Joe Rudi, is a new Oakland batting luminary and Manager Joe McNamara indicated Monday he will keep him at the plate.

Rudi had been on Marine Corps reserve duty Sunday and arrived at the Oakland Coliseum—just in time to hit a three-run, ninth-inning homer as the A's beat Detroit 5-2.

McNamara has been keeping Jackson out of the lineup against left-handed pitchers most of the season. Jackson has been in a slump since the start of the campaign.

McNamara has named John "Blue Moon" Odom, 4-4, who has been having shoulder difficulties, to pitch the opener of the three-game series against Cleveland. Bob Moore, 3-4, is scheduled to start for the Indians.

The manager also said he has decided to keep Dick Green in the lineup, for the time being at least.

Green hit .275 and was the American League's top fielding second baseman in 1969, but he is stroking only .185 this year.

"We know he is a better ballplayer than that," McNamara said.

Intrepid Off To Fast Start In The Trials

NEW PORT, R.I. (AP) — It just wasn't in the wind for the Valiant at the opening of the preliminary trials for defense candidates for the America's Cup.

Interpid, the remodeled 1967 Cup defender, beat Valiant, a brand new yacht, Monday in two races on Long Island Sound.

Valiant had problems with her sails at critical times after leading in both races.

Intrepid is skippered by Bill Flicker of Newport Beach, Calif., and Valiant is skippered by Bob McCullough of Riverside, Conn.

Baseball

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox moved to bolster their bullpen Monday by purchasing veteran reliever Cal Koonce from the New York Mets.

A right-hander, Koonce broke into the major leagues with the Chicago Cubs in 1962 and was acquired by the Mets in 1967. He has a 44-44 lifetime record.

The acquisition of the 29-year-old Koonce brings the Red Sox to the 25-player limit. A spot on the roster was opened last week when southpaw Bill Lee went into the Army for six months.

BOSTON — Two New England baseball players were signed by the Oakland Athletics Monday for assignment to the Coos-Bay team in North Bend, Ore., June 20.

Outfielder Steve Tomasetti, a 17-year-old North Quincy High star, and 20-year-old Mike Pstragowski of Manchester, N.H., were signed by Jack Vallely, eastern states scouting supervisor for the Oakland club.

DETROIT — The Detroit Tigers sent relief pitcher Norm McRae to Toledo and recalled reliever Tom Timmerman from their International League farm club.

KANSAS CITY — The Pittsburgh Pirates obtained Orlando Pena from the Kansas City Royals with whom he had been a batting practice pitcher.

Hockey

BALTIMORE— The Baltimore Clippers of the American Hockey League sold center Rod Zaine to the Pittsburgh Penguins of the National Hockey League.

Basketball

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Don DeJardin, quit as general manager of the ABA's Carolina Cougars because of a dispute over his desire to acquire part ownership of the team.

Tennis

BECKENHAM, England — Clark Graebner of New York and his wife, Carole, advanced with opening-round singles victories in the Kent Tennis Championships.

Eminent Spokesmen For High School Class Of '70

DAN JORDAN
Scholars first . . .

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Dan Jordan and Lowell Widmer have been close friends since the sixth grade. At San Rafael High School, where they are graduating seniors, their careers have closely paralleled one another.

Jordan, who stands 5 feet, 9 inches and weighs 165 pounds, was an all-Marin County Athletic League guard in football last season. This was not unexpected, following his selection in 1966 to the Pop Warner All-American Team of Little Scholars.

Widmer, at 5-7" and 140, was an all-MCAL safety in both his junior and senior years, and led the Bulldogs at quarterback.

Jordan maintained a 3.9 grade point average for all four years, achieving lifetime membership in the California Scholarship Federation.

Widmer, who was vice president of the student body last semester, had an overall average of better than 3.2.

Last February the two were named Marin County's 1969 National Football Foundation Scholar-Athletics.

Next fall Jrdan will enroll at Harvard, Widmer at Colby in Maine. Both consider themselves students first and athletes second, and their new schools will give them a chance to prove it. Neigher expects to compete in athletics, except on the intramural level.

With their extraordinary records, both in the classroom and on the field, Dan Jordan and Lowell Widmer qualify eminently as spokesmen for their generation.

Here are some of their thoughts:

On San Rafael High School — Both feel that San Rafael has a lot to offer and that the atmosphere is conducive to involvement.

"The lines of communication between students and faculty are wide open," Jordan said.

Widmer added, "The faculty is concerned to go to the trouble of letting students express themselves."

On the students' view of athletics—They acknowledgedd that a trend has developed during the last few years toward more individual expression within the school, and that this has influenced the approach to sports.

"Students are becoming aware that things like lettermen jackets are not all there is to the high school experience," said Widmer.

Jordan agreed, saying that kids just like to be more individual these days. "They are turning away from the exclusive 'clique' type clubs," he said.

Both also agreed, however, that there has been no shift away from team sports, such as baseball and football, toward the individual sports like track and swimming.

Regarding athletics in general, Jardan said, "Athletics are receiving less emphasis now; people's attention is being drawn in other directions."

He noted that personal rewards to be derived from sports do not depend on the attention given them. And the most long-lasting and worthwhile rewards, he said, are personal ones.

Widmer added that many small colleges recognize this de-emphasis, and have turned more to intramural sports.

On the length of an athlete's hair — Both thought that length should not be a factor, except in team sports, where each member of the team has a responsibility to every other member.

Widmer stated that there was little friction at San Rafael this year, largely because the coaches left the players responsible for their own appearance.

"The coaches never gave us orders to get a hair cut," Jordan said. "Each individual took on that responsibility himself."

Widmer expressed the belief that individual discipline consisted of some self-sacrifices for the good of the team.

On team sports vs. individual sports, Widmer said, "I'd rather play a team sport. If you win a game in a team sport, the sense of achievement will be greater if you know each individual felt the responsibility to the others in doing his own part."

Said Jordan, "I enjoy being a member of a team. There are so many benefits — a feeling of mutual self-sacrifice, a feeling of everybody working toward a common goal. It really creates bonds between players.

"That's one of the big things in life," he said. "Feeling this strong friendship with others."

A Red Letter Day For Mr. Landauer

Thursday will be a red letter day in the life of San Rafael barkeep Henry Landauer.

No, he will not on that day concoct a pousse cafe' blindfolded with one hand tied behind his back. Nor will he mix the world's driest martini.

You see, besides being co-owner and chief mixologist at the San Rafael giggle juice dispensary called Pier 15, Mr. Landauer is one of the world's most proficient soccer officials.

And it will be in that capacity that he will realize his longtime ambition the day after tomorrow.

A note from Henry reads: "Hello from the World Cup in Mexico to you and all my friends in San Rafael. On June 11 I am the referee of the game Italy-Israel. This is the very first time in World Cup history that a U.S. referee will handle a match. I also have been appointed in two other games as a linesman. The game I handle will be played in Toluca at 10,000 feet altitude."

Greatest Honor Possible

For a soccer ref to handle a World Cup game is an even greater honor than, say, an ump working a World Series, a head linesman selected for the Super Bowl or a fight ref handling a world heavyweight championship bout.

The World Cup is truly the world's greatest sports competition and to officiate at a game is. . . well, Henry Landauer's cup runneth over as the first U.S. official so honored. He is one of only 30 referees selected from a list of 1,050 nominated by the 150 participating countries that make up Federation International Football Association.

A native of Germany who came to America in 1947, Landauer became a soccer official in 1957 after several years as a player. He has officiated in many big events, but never in the big cup.

And, in a sport where emotions run extremely high (riots, murders, rampages, etc.) Landauer has had only one close call with violence when an irate fan chased him around a field with clenched fist. The gendarmes averted violence.

Why, it's almost as risky as running a bar.

A Good Week For Dolinsek

JUST A WEEK ago I noted that Novatan John Dolinsek slumped from .320 to .285 for the Columbus, Ga. Astros in the Southern Association. But, like a volatile issue on the stock market, Dolinsek rallied in his next 21 at bats by slapping out 11 hits and hiking his average back to .316. That .524 weeklong spree also gave him 50 hits for the season and 6 triples, both Southern Association pace-setters. The first sacker also has 4 doubles, 2 homers and 20 runs batted in.

Next Batter: S. I. Hayakawa

THURSDAY'S ANNUAL Police Athletic League softball game at the Cow Palace will feature a number of Marin personalities in action, including S.I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley, Carter B. Smith of Tiburon, Jack Carney of Ross, Peter Scott, Terry McGovern and Gene Nelson of Sausalito and Jeff Skov of San Anselmo.

Oh yes, and comedian Pat Paulsen can be called a home town boy for he attended Tam High several years ago.

SHARON WALSH, the 18-year-old San Rafael miss whose high school graduation present is a tennis trip to England to compete in various tournaments including the Wimbledon, has one trophy to her credit after winning the junior girls' title at Surrey Grass Courts Championships a couple of weekends ago. Sharon writes to her mom and dad that she's taking in all the sights of merry olde England.

THE SPORTING GENTRY

Skillful Marin Canoeist

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Gordon Young isn't an Indian but he can sure manipulate a canoe as well as any of those Indians we read about in our early American history books.

Young, 51, of Terra Linda, is treasurer and one of the instructors of the Marin Canoe Club, an outdoor-loving group of about 125 hardy souls which has grown from the handful which started the organization five years ago.

A district sales manager for a pharmaceutical company, Young has been a member of the canoe club since 1968, although he has been interested in canoing since a youngster paddling at Lake Washington in Seattle. He has been living in Marin County for the past 15 years.

Besides getting together for canoe trips twice a month, the club offers canoe lessons to interested persons, whether members or not, sometimes as many as 100 during a summer, mostly at the Civic Center Lagoon.

An affiliate of the Marin Canoe Club is the Quentin Canoers, for high school and college students, numbering about 25 members.

There are about 12 canoe club members, including Young, who are Red Cross certified instructors. A short time with him and you find that there is more to canoing than just getting in a boat and paddling away.

In one of the manuals he handed me were instructions about everything imaginable about canoing, from getting in, getting out, paddling strokes, going sideways, overcoming wind problems.

"It takes a lot of skill to maneuver a canoe properly," said Young. After thumbing through one of the manuals, I'll take his word for it.

Canoes range in size from 15 to 17 feet long, and the club has five of its own for giving lessons. Young has his own, a 17-footer, and has another on order. A canoe will run about $250 to $300 said Young.

"They weigh about 75 pounds," he said, "and that is the advantage of them. I can handle a canoe by myself. Most boats, like cartop boats, require two men to handle them."

Among trips planned by the club are down the Sacramento and Russian rivers, Lake Pillsbury, Richardson Bay, China Camp area of San Pablo Bay. In addition to the actual canoing, there's fishing and camping during the weekend trips.

"A lot of the members are quite active in conservation groups, such as Sierra Club," said Young. "We just like the outdoors."

President of the club is Erik Tryde of San Rafael, and Mavis Marney is secretary. Mrs. Ann Dwyer is chief instructor.

Young and his wife, Gladys, have two sons, Bob, 21, Tom, 17, and a daughter, Sally, 19. Young, one of the original members of the board of directors on the Terra Linda Parks and Recreation District, served in that capacity for four years. He is also one of the founding directors and commissioner of the Terra Linda junior baseball program and a coach for 10 years.

A former Cub Scout master, he is now a merit badge counselor for the Boy Scout.

Soccer Argument Leads To Death

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Police reported Monday the first known slaying caused by an argument about a game in the ninth World Cup soccer championship.

Police accused Epigmenio Sanchez Luna of Mexico City of shooting a neighbor when Herminio Gonzalez cracked, "Mexico didn't accomplish anything by beating El Salvador because the Central American team is a lemon".

Gonzalez was shot in the heart.

Mexico won 4-0 Sunday over El Salvador.

Royals Fire Manager

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Charlie Metro was fired today as manager of the Kansas City Royals and pitching coach Bob Lemon, former Cleveland Indians star hurler, was named as his successor.

Angry Clay Says He's Firing His Attorney

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Cassius Clay says he isn't interested in an 18-hour pass from the U.S. Supreme Court that would allow him to go to Canada to fight Joe Frazier for the heavyweight title.

"I don't want to fight under forced conditions," Clay said Monday after he learned his attorney had appealed to the Supreme Court to allow the deposed champion to go to Canada to meet Frazier, his successor to the championship.

Clay's attorney, Chauncey Eskridge of Chicago, said in an appeal filed Monday with Justice Hugo L. Black that Clay's resources are depleted, and noted that the former champion would be out of the country only 18 hours for the fight in Canada.

Eskridge said he made the application to the Supreme Court because he had an offer for a fight in Canada. "I have permission from Canadian authorities," the attorney said.

"They will sanction the fight. If the application is granted that is the time he (Clay) will have a chance to say whether he will fight."

"I don't know anything about it," said Clay from his $90,000 home in Philadelphia.

"That's my lawyer talking and he is going to be fired for doing these things. I'm not interested in fighting until my case is settled. I'm not even thinking of fighting."

Eskridge, speaking by telephone from Chicago, said he had not talked with Clay before filing the appeal. "When a lawyer files an application in this court he doesn't always talk to his client. I did it on my own."

Eskridge agreed, however, that if Clay formerly disavows the application for freedom to travel the issue will be dead legally.

In the appeal, Eskridge offered to allow U.S. marshals to accompany Clay to Canada, and to place in escrow in the United States 70 per cent of revenues he estimated would amount to more than a million dollars.

"I don't beg for nothing," stormed Clay. "I'm not forcing or breaking down any doors to get back in the ring. Boxing didn't make me. I made boxing."

Clay, who was stripped of his title after he was convicted for refusing induction in the Army, said last week he isn't worried about money. "I'm making more money now than I would if I was fighting every Friday," he said.

The undefeated champion, who insists he is retired and that Frazier is the champion, said all he wants from the Supreme Court is a decision on his appeal from the draft evasion conviction.

He claims to be a Black Muslim minister and is appealing on religious grounds. He adopted the name Muhammad Ali and has been lecturing in various sections of the country.

Clay said his attorney had no right to file the appeal. "It makes me look bad," the fighter said. "I'm not using him (Eskridge) anymore. He's finishing up a few things and then he's fired."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTMENT

Libya Looms Large In Firm's Future

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I now have 50 shares of Occidental Petroleum bought at 25. Should I buy more at present prices or could you suggest something better? — J.M.

A. A sliding market and investor fears, generated by Occidental's extensive Libyan holdings, have beaten OXY shares down to levels not seen since 1967. The company's oil and gas sales account for approximately 60 per cent of total revenues, a major portion of which is derived from Libyan oil. Thus if the Libyan government should decide to nationalize oil fields, Occidental would be hard hit.

Earnings growth was again curtailed in the initial 1970 quarter. Net income slipped to $42.4 million from $43 million in 1969; per share profits remained at 62 cents year-to-year. Company chairman predicts a 10 per cent increase in full-year earnings which falls well below previous estimates. Moreover, the gain is based on the assumption that a mutually acceptable increase in the posted prices of Libyan oil will be reached. Unless you are willing to gamble, a switch to Phillips Petroleum is suggested.

Q. Just what does a 2-for-1 split mean! Melville Shoe recently sent me, for the second time, additional shares. The first time I received $1 in extra dividend payment. — C. H.

A. The purpose of a stock split is to reduce the share trading price to a level that is considered more marketable. A stock selling at over $50 is apt to have a narrower appeal for potential buyers than one selling at below that level. To you as a stockholder, there is no loss or gain; you now hold two shares worth $25 each rather than one worth $50. A split is often accompanied by a small dividend increase.

Melville has increased its payments annually since 1964, providing long-term holders with a modest but well-covered dividend. Projected earnings improvement again this year could conceivably result in further liberalizing of the dividend later this year.

New Site Bought For Trailer Plant

RIVERSIDE (BW) — Fleetwood Enterprises Inc., a leading national manufacturer of mobile homes, travel trailers and motor homes has announced the purchase of a new plant site in Lawrence, Kan.

According to Dale T. Skinner, president, the site consists of approximately 10 acres. The construction of a plant to produce the company's Fleetwood line of mobile homes will commence shortly.

New Chairman Is Announced For PayLess

OAKLAND (BW) — William L. Gherra, 57, has been elected chairman of the board of Skaggs PayLess Drug Stores, Oakland-based retail chain.

Gherra has been president and chief executive officer of the firm since 1964 and will continue in that capacity.

Roy Martin Jr., currently general manager-store operations, was elected vice president-store operations.

July 1 is the effective date for both new offices, it was announced at the board of directors meeting June 4.

L. J. Skaggs, 72, who steps down as chairman of the board on July 1, is the founder of Skaggs PayLess, opening one of the West's first self-service drug stores in Tacoma, Wash., in 1932.

Stock Dividend Is Announced

LOS ANGELES (BW) — A stock dividend of 5 per cent payable Aug. 15 to stockholders of record June 29 has been declared by the board of directors of the Flying Tiger Line Inc.

This stock dividend would increase the number of outstanding shares from 4,550,638 to 4,778,170.

The air cargo carrier paid a cash dividend of 10 cents per share in 1969.

Robert W. Prescott, president, and Wayne Hoffman, chairman, said the board felt that the stock dividend more appropriately reflects the growth of the company than a nominal cash dividend.

To Buy Shares

NEW YORK (UPI) — Home Insurance Co. will purchase 275,520 shares representing minority interests in the company. City Investing Co. owns about 97 per cent of the outstanding shares of home.

Penn Central Highlights Dull Trading

NEW YORK (UPI)—Penn Central chugged along a firmer path on the New York Stock Exchange today in a session otherwise notable only for its unusually light turnover and narrow price swings.

The railroad issue, which headed the Big Board's most active list, traded more than 225,000 shares and gained 3-4 to 14 following a major shakeup at its top executive level.

Turnover of around 7 million shares compared with 8,040,000 shares Monday.

Chemicals and oils moved in both directions. Steels and motors generally moved in fractions.

DuPont closed up 1 3-8 at 116 3-8 and Jersey Standard gained 1-8, closing at 54 1-2. Bethlehem Steel closed at 23 7-8, up 3-8, and U.S. Steel gained 1-2 to 33 1-8.

Parke, Davis was an active stock as a result of a big block transaction. An early block of 118,200 shares at 16 1-2, off 5-8, was handled by Salomon Brothers & Hutzler for institutions on both sides of the market.

Certain-Teed Products Corp., the Big Board's most active stock Monday, was off 1 1-2 near the close.

Prices were mixed in light turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

Three New Firms Locate In Building On Tiburon Street

Three more new firms have moved into 50 Tiburon Street, San Rafael, where contractor Johnny Ribeiro has been constructing a new building owned by B-J Land Co.

Eva Housewares has taken 1,140 square feet. This is a wholesale firm handling the Danish housewares of exporter Erik Mangor. Peter Buemann is the principal. He and his wife, originally from Copenhagen, have been in Marin only a short time, having come here from Canada.

Television Electronics is a new service center for Fred Cedos, who has been operating Ordos TV Co. in Kentfield, and Orrin Moon, who has been operating Approved TV Electronics in the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael. They have joined forces and will continue these locations together. Eventually it is planned that all three places will be phased into the Television Electronics name.

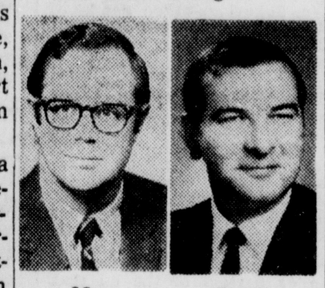
Still another 1,140 square feet has been taken by Perfection Marine, a new boat sales, marine engine repair and auto repair business of Steven Hulbert of San Rafael. He was formerly with SK Marine which recently closed at Northgate Industrial Park.

These three firms join United Mills which moved in here about a month ago. All leases were handled by William W. Hoey and Co. Still unleased in this first phase of the building, according to Hoey, is one remaining 1,140 square foot area. Second construction phase of an additional 22,000 square feet should be completed soon.

SAN RAFAEL CIVIL ENGINEER Ray W. Foreaker Jr. has joined the civil engineering and land surveying firm of Philip B. Lygren — Site Engineering, Inc. At the request of Mrs. Lygren, her late husband's name has been dropped and the company will be known as Foreaker and Berini — Site Engineering, Inc.

Robert S. Berini is president, Foreaker is vice president and Paul A. Tanner is secretary-treasurer.

RICHARD K. MOSS of Fairfax has been promoted to assistant vice president in the national division at Bank of America's San Francisco headquarters. He joined the bank last summer after four years with the First National Bank of Chicago.



Moss Smart

NEW INSTALLMENT LOAN OFFICER at Crocker-Citizens National Bank's San Rafael main office is Herbert Terrence Smart, who has been assistant manager of auto finance at the Walnut Creek office. He joined the bank at Vallejo in 1963 and has also served in Fresno, Visalia and Hayward.

PATRICK C. HEARD of Corte Madera has been elected vice president for the western division of Combined Insurance Co. of America. Previously western divisional sales manager, he has been with the company 10 years. He joined Combined Insurance in his home state of New Mexico and served in Chicago and Seattle before coming to the San Francisco office last January.

REAL ESTATE: James Picchi of Novato has been selected by the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers to teach a three-day course on real estate investment and taxation in New York City this month . . . Paul W. Petersen of San Rafael has been named senior sales consultant by Coldwell, Banker and Co. He has been with the company five years and is a member of the San Francisco office staff.

STANLEY N. GOLDSTEIN of Fairfax has been accepted for membership in the Northern California Pharmaceutical Association.

FIVE EMPLOYEES of the Marin Agency of Snelling and Snelling in San Rafael have qualified for Professional Employment Counselor diplomas from Snelling and Snelling international headquarters for completing six months of study in employment techniques. Presentations will be made at a meeting to be held this month.

"And during our next fiscal year, we may see the establishment of other new records."

FISH AND GAME

How New Deer Tag Law Will Change Some Lives

By AL GIDDINGS

The deer tag law just passed by the Fish and Game Commission has some far reaching effects. The new law requires that both tags be used on one buck in the "one deer districts." A hunter hunting in Marin who kills one deer will have to stay in Marin or in one of the other "two deer" districts for his second buck.

Possibly, you, like the four hunters in our family, have a real problem. Always in the past, we all took our one deer in Marin County using our "A" tag, then we went to the Sierra where we usually took our second buck.

Vacation time was always taken in the fall in the Sierra, chasing bucks, then fishing for trout about every third day for a rest, then opening the duck season at Honey Lake or Tule; and always trying new places. It was a great way to keep in shape! Having to have two tags to hunt in the Sierras will change our lives.

A FEW evenings ago, I questioned the family as to this year's plans. Both the kids feel that they will try to take their bucks here; Mary and I feel we will head up to the Sierra as usual. The kids feel that we can work the brush for them down here.

Bob Horton, another of our group, wants to go to the Sierra.

Paul Honatius, the old timer from Mill Valley, figures to get his bucks here, but might go north as camp cook, do some fishing, or maybe try for a bear.

As you can see, our group is in a dilemma. And suppose I saw a big buck out on the ranch and couldn't shoot because using a tag would ruin both Mary's and my Sierra trip. Anyone want to buy a ranch? I guess we will work it out, but all of you who have in the past hunted Marin and then saved your "B" tag for up north had better think things over carefully before getting your deer here.

Lots of people believe the non-hunting wives and kids will buy tags this year so dad can save his tags for up north.

OTHERS FEEL that many will buy two sets of tags; taking the calculated risk of not getting caught.

Others feel that the bear and mountain lion tags will be in great demand for the hunters who get early season bucks, but who still want to go north for a week or so. The bear tag sales last year were approximately 32,000. About 800 bears were taken which averages out to 40 hunters for each bear. Amazing! The after season statistics on deer tag sales, duplicate tags, bear and lion tags, etc. will be very interesting this year! The bear tag sales might reach 60,000!

FOR YOU abaloners, I attended the last meeting of the Marin Skindiver's Club. The 35 or 40 members seem to have something going in their sport all the time. The largest abalone taken by the club last year was 10⅛ inches. The biggest ling cod taken free driving was a 20 pounder, and a 9½ pound cabezon was the number one for size.

Renee Ross, one of the gal divers, recently won the women's meet with an 8⅜ inch abalone, winning a new surf mat for her efforts.

DON JOSLIN (ol' shark meat) says there's lots of room in the ocean for more members. Don is also a certified skin diving instructor who is presently teaching a new class of 38 students. If you are interested, contact Don at Point Reyes Station, or call Carl Koehler, the club president, at 100 Whittier Avenue, San Rafael.

Incidentally, Joslin told the group about his friend Walter Kantala of Inverness who last week caught a six foot long, seven gill shark near the mouth of Tomales. I suggested the club go up and watch the shark derby put on by the Petaluma Sportsmen at Marshall on the 13th and 14th of June, but psychologically, most of the members felt it was not their bag. Oh well, to each his own!

I received a note from Robin Barnett of Woodacre who says she wants a live baby octopus and that she will come running anytime, anyday, and to any location for the beast. She's a teacher at San Anselmo; it's for the class.

MOLLY AND JOE Mello have tried the mouth of Tomales a couple of times taking one eight pound salmon about six miles out and one 30 pound halibut at the bar. The seas have been rough - be careful - and most days have been windy.

Rich Borba and friends have tried for salmon, skiff fishing off Point Reyes. It's rough there too! Rich says they did catch some rockfish but no salmon seem to be in close.

I FORGOT to mention that "Ove" Hansen and his wife, of Novato, while fishing Webber Lake last week, forgot to watch the current at the mouth of the lake. Before they knew what was happening they were out of the lake and in the rapids of the Little Truckee River! The boat turned over, but no one was hurt. Just chilly!

I ALSO should mention that the old pro at Webber, Bob Wise, has been fishing Lake Tahoe again. He had two Makinaws and one kokanee for Mary and me to bring home with our four trout last week. The rainbow fishing is supposed to explode around June 15. He says the "macks" are a cinch once you learn how! Sounds good!

Giants Vs. Bucs Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Juan Marichal, who gave the San Francisco Giants 21 victories last season, tries for his third this year tonight against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Pitching has been much of the problem for the Giants, who are only 1½ games out of the National League's Western Division cellar as they open an eight-game home stand against Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Chicago. Steve Blass, 2-8, goes for the Bucs.

San Francisco hurlers have completed only 15 of 55 games. Gaylord Perry, 8-6, has accounted for six of the full-route performances. And the staff's earned-run average is a shade under six a game.

Some help for the pitching staff is likely to come from Phoenix, the Giants' farm club in the Pacific Coast League, or be sought in trade before next Monday midnight's dealing deadline.

This was predicted Monday after the club's brass met for nearly four hours at Candlestick Park while the players took the day off.

With eight infielders and six outfielders on the current roster, there is talk the Giants could let one of each go to make room for two more pitchers.

Flood Case To Wind Up Tomorrow

NEW YORK (AP) — Curt Flood's $3.1 million antitrust suit against baseball is expected to end Wednesday after rebuttal testimony by the executive director and counsel of the players' association and Bill Veeck, former big league club owner.

The defense finished its case Monday with a complete day of testimony by Dr. John Clark, an economist from the Arthur Little firm of Cambridge, Mass., who did an involved analysis of certain aspects of baseball.

After Jay Topkis, one of Flood's lawyers, finishes cross examination of Dr. Clark Tuesday, both Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, and Dick Moss, counsel for the group, were due to take the stand.

Veeck is expected to be the final witness Wednesday morning as both sides have told Judge Irving Ben Cooper the Federal Court case will be completed Wednesday.

Both sides will file written summations with the judge and it may be some time before a verdict is announced. No matter what the outcome, it is expected the case will be appealed to a higher court by the loser.

Dr. Clark said player salaries had increased from $19,500 in 1965 to $24,957 in 1969 and $28,083 in 1970 which actually became $28,376 with the addition of newly-won minimum salary increases.

Speaking of the pension fund by which a five-year player gets $300 a month at the age of 50 or $772.50 at 65 and a 20-year-player gets $800 at 50 and $1,945.11 at 65, Dr. Clark said Flood's current status as a 12-year-man would give him a monthly pension of $1,625.11 at the age of 65.

Michigan State's 1970 football team faces rugged assignments the first three Saturdays in October. The Spartans play Notre Dame, Ohio State and Michigan in succession.

QUALIFYING CONTINUES TODAY

Venturi Misses U.S. Open Bid

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Qualifying was set to continue at seven sites today for the U.S. Open Golf Tournament—with more surprises in store and disappointment lurking for other big-name players.

A surprise Monday came at Dallas where Tom Kite Jr., a University of Texas sophomore, outshot the pros and won the first of six qualifying berths. Kite was medalist with a five-under-par 70-69—139.

Disappointment came to Ken Venturi, the 1964 Open champion, at Charlotte, N.C. Non-exempt for the first time since he won, Venturi failed to qualify by shooting eight over par 75-75—150.

A total of 39 qualified at six sites Monday and 77 more were to qualify today. These 116 will join 34 exempt players for the Open at Chaska, Minn., June 18-21.

The major qualifying site today was Chicago where 139 golfers tried for 35 spots. The players included former Open champions Tommy Bolt, Jack Fleck and former Masters winners Gary Brewer and Bob Goalby and Dave Stockton, Jim Colbert, Larry Hinson, Marty Fleckman and Doug Sanders.

Tom Nierporte, Paul Harney, Grier Jones and Bill Farrell were among 107 trying for 13 spots at New York.

Pros beaten by Kite, but qualifying, at Dallas Monday were Bob Dickson, 139, and Rives McBee, 142. Terry Dill was first alternate at 144, and John Schlee failed to qualify with 148.

Among the 16 qualifying at Charlotte were pros Lou Graham, 135; Kel Nagle, 136; Bert Greene, 137, Bobby Mitchell, 139 and Bob Lunn, 139. Charlie Sifford shot a 145 and was one of four alternates.

Tour veteran Dow Finsterwald was one of three to qualify at Denver. He shot a one-over-par 145.

Amateur David Graham's two-under-par 140 was the medal score of five qualifers at Cincinnati, including Sam Snead and his nephew, Jess, each with a 142.

Amateur Vic Loustalot of Sacramento shot a two-over-par 144 at Hesperia, Calif., to be the best of seven qualifers. One of the others was pro Jerry Barber, with 148.

Seals' Issue Gets Back To Courtroom

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The question of who will wind up as owner of the Oakland Seals National Hockey League club went back into court Tuesday, with indications the franchise's worth will be aired.

Superior Court Judge Robert H. Schancke ruled one week ago that Trans-National Communications, Inc., of New York and the Knox brothers of Buffalo, N.Y. lost the team by defaulting on several loans assumed when they bought the team a year ago.

But they challenged the $4.1 million offer of Charles O. Finley to buy the franchise, saying it was improperly negotiated and was commercially unreasonable.

By that, they said they mean the franchise is worth $6 million.

Judge Schancke gave the Seals owner, Barry Van Gerbig's Seals Ltd., a week for accepting other offers.

Seal president William N Creasy Jr. has said there are others interested in buying the franchise, but he would not name them. The only name mentioned previously was Jerry Seltzer of Oakland, Roller Der by promoter.

Mets Blank Astros

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

All good things must come to an end and so must all bad ones. A good thing ended for Houston's Jack Billingham Monday night and it helped a bad one end for the New York Mets.

Billingham was duelling Jim McAndrew in a scoreless match through five innings and had extended his personal shutout streak to a healthy 25 innings. Then Art Shamsky did a very unhealthy thing to the streak, cracking a two-run homer that carried the Mets to a 2-0 victory over the Astros.

FOURTH STRAIGHT

Shamsky's shot not only ended Billingham's good thing but also halted New York's bad one —a five-game losing streak.

It was New York's fourth straight victory over the Astros —two more than the Mets managed against Houston all of last year. And it came in the Astrodome where the Mets were 0-6 en route to their World Championship in 1969.

McAndrew allowed just five singles and had his only trouble spot in the seventh inning when the Astros bunched three of their hits. But a double play pitch to Jimmy Wynn pulled him out of the jam.

The victory moved McAndrew's record to 2-4. Billingham is 3-1.

BREWERS WIN

In the only other game scheduled Monday, Milwaukee trimmed the Chicago White Sox 5-2 with Tommy Harper's first-pitch homer setting the pace.

Lew Krausse scattered six hits to pick up his fourth victory with the Brewers making it easy by bunching four hits for four runs in the third inning.

Ed Herrmann homered for the White Sox.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

The bowler in today's illustration is not likely to achieve much pin-fall. Her left (sliding) foot has reached the foul line, but her right hand has not yet delivered the ball to that point. The left foot and ball should be moving in unison at release. This bowler has probably speeded up her footwork. Don't hurry. You want to reach the foul line "all together."

Mike Garrett Announces He'll Turn To Baseball

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Garrett, at the height of his career as a star running back for the Kansas City Chiefs, formally announced his retirement from pro football Monday because "I just want to try something else" — baseball.

The 26-year-old member of the Super Bowl champion Chiefs confirmed that he would play out the final year of his reported $450,000, five-year contract with Kansas City next season, and then turn to baseball.

Garrett, 5-foot-9, 200 pounds, had talked about quitting for some time when his present pact ran out, and he let it be known last Friday after Baseball's Los Angeles Dodgers picked him in the free agent draft that the time had come. The formal announcement came at a press conference Monday.

Teammate Cleared In Hockey Death

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — New York Rangers' right wing Ron Stewart has been cleared of any responsibility in the death of his teammate, goalie Terry Sawchuk, a National Hockey League veteran.

A Nassau County grand jury heard nine witnesses Monday, then ruled that Sawchuk's death May 31 was accidental.

Sawchuk, 40, was hospitalized April 29, following a scuffle with Stewart. The two shared a house in East Atlantic Beach, N.Y.

Nassau County Dist. Atty. William Cahn said all the witnesses had testified that no punches had been thrown between the two players, who reportedly had been arguing over housecleaning.

The witnesses said Sawchuk and Stewart, 37, began quarreling in a local bar and later continued their shoving and pushing match on the lawn of their home, where Sawchuk was injured.

The record-setting goalie died of a blood clot in New York Hospital following several operations.

Cahn termed the death "tragic, senseless, bizarre."

No Television For 49ers In Oakland

Very few fans of the San Francisco 49ers will be able to see their big National Football League game against cross-bay rival Oakland Raiders at the Oakland Coliseum next Dec. 20.

Already assured of being a sellout, with the great majority of tickets reserved for Raider fans, a proposal to locally televise the game has been turned down by Raider managing general partner Al Davis.

"The decision not to televise home games was made years ago," said Davis.

A disappointed 49er president Lou Spadia, who strongly urged the telecast, said: "Forty-Niner fans have always seen all 49er regular league road games on television. This not only deprives them of that privilege but will also prevent many Oakland Riader fans from seeing the game."

The usual home area blackout has been lifted in at least two other areas for the new pro football alignment.

The New York Jets and Giants and the Los Angeles Rams and San Diego Chargers will televise their home league games next fall, it was announced yesterday.

Said Jets President Philip H. Iselin: "We agreed to relax the blackout rule for this game since it did deprive Giant ticket-holders of seeing their team in action in a road game. If the situation had been reversed, we certainly would have asked the Giants to do the same thing."

The 49ers and Raiders do not meet in another league game until 1974. Then it will be the 49ers' chance to call the shots on local TV.

Rudi Takes Over Jackson's Spot

CLEVELAND (AP) — Reggie Jackson, Oakland's star 1939 home run hitter, probably won't be in the lineup when the A's open a road trip against the Cleveland Indians here tonight.

His repdacement, Joe Rudi, is a new Oakland batting luminary and Manager Joe McNamara indicated Monday he will keep him at the plate.

Rudi had been on Marine Corps reserve duty Sunday and arrived at the Oakland Coliseum—just in time to hit a three-run, ninth-inning homer as the A's beat Detroit 5-2.

McNamara has been keeping Jackson out of the lineup against left-handed pitchers most of the season. Jackson has been in a slump since the start of the campaign.

McNamara has named John "Blue Moon" Odom, 4-4, who has been having shoulder difficulties, to pitch the opener of the three-game series against Cleveland. Bob Moore, 3-4, is scheduled to start for the Indians.

The manager also said he has decided to keep Dick Green in the lineup, for the time being at least.

Green hit .275 and was the American League's top fielding second baseman in 1969, but he is stroking only .185 this year.

"We know he is a better ballplayer than that," McNamara said.

Intrepid Off To Fast Start In The Trials

NEW PORT, R.I. (AP) — It just wasn't in the wind for the Valiant at the opening of the preliminary trials for defense candidates for the America's Cup.

Interpid, the remodeled 1967 Cup defender, beat Valiant, a brand new yacht, Monday in two races on Long Island Sound.

Valiant had problems with her sails at critical times after leading in both races.

Intrepid is skippered by Bill Flicker of Newport Beach, Calif., and Valiant is skippered by Bob McCullough of Riverside, Conn.

Baseball

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox moved to bolster their bullpen Monday by purchasing veteran reliever Cal Koonce from the New York Mets.

A right-hander, Koonce broke into the major leagues with the Chicago Cubs in 1962 and was acquired by the Mets in 1967. He has a 44-44 lifetime record.

The acquisition of the 29-year-old Koonce brings the Red Sox to the 25-player limit. A spot on the roster was opened last week when southpaw Bill Lee went into the Army for six months.

BOSTON — Two New England baseball players were signed by the Oakland Athletics Monday for assignment to the Coos-Bay team in North Bend, Ore., June 20.

Outfielder Steve Tomasetti, a 17-year-old North Quincy High star, and 20-year-old Mike Pstragowski of Manchester, N.H., were signed by Jack Vallely, eastern states scouting supervisor for the Oakland club.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTMENT

Libya Looms Large In Firm's Future

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I now have 50 shares of Occidental Petroleum bought at 25. Should I buy more at present prices or could you suggest something better? — J.M.

A. A sliding market and investor fears, generated by Occidental's extensive Libyan holdings, have beaten OXY shares down to levels not seen since 1967. The company's oil and gas sales account for approximately 60 per cent of total revenues, a major portion of which is derived from Libyan oil. Thus if the Libyan government should decide to nationalize oil fields, Occidental would be hard hit.

Earnings growth was again curtailed in the initial 1970 quarter. Net income slipped to $42.4 million from $43 million in 1969; per share profits remained at 62 cents year-to-year. Company chairman predicts a 10 per cent increase in full-year earnings which falls well below previous estimates. Moreover, the gain is based on the assumption that a mutually acceptable increase in the posted prices of Libyan oil will be reached. Unless you are willing to gamble, a switch to Phillips Petroleum is suggested.

Q. Just what does a 2-for-1 split mean! Melville Shoe recently sent me, for the second time, additional shares. The first time I received $1 in extra dividend payment. — C. H.

A. The purpose of a stock split is to reduce the share trading price to a level that is considered more marketable. A stock selling at over $50 is apt to have a narrower appeal for potential buyers than one selling at below that level. To you as a stockholder, there is no loss or gain; you now hold two shares worth $25 each rather than one worth $50. A split is often accompanied by a small dividend increase.

Melville has increased its payments annually since 1964, providing long-term holders with a modest but well-covered dividend. Projected earnings improvement again this year could conceivably result in further liberalizing of the dividend later this year.

New Site Bought For Trailer Plant

RIVERSIDE (BW) — Fleetwood Enterprises Inc., a leading national manufacturer of mobile homes, travel trailers and motor homes has announced the purchase of a new plant site in Lawrence, Kan.

According to Dale T. Skinner, president, the site consists of approximately 10 acres. The construction of a plant to produce the company's Fleetwood line of mobile homes will commence shortly.

New Chairman Is Announced For PayLess

OAKLAND (BW) — William L. Gherra, 57, has been elected chairman of the board of Skaggs PayLess Drug Stores, Oakland-based retail chain.

Gherra has been president and chief executive officer of the firm since 1964 and will continue in that capacity.

Roy Martin Jr., currently general manager-store operations, was elected vice president-store operations.

July 1 is the effective date for both new offices, it was announced at the board of directors meeting June 4.

L. J. Skaggs, 72, who steps down as chairman of the board on July 1, is the founder of Skaggs PayLess, opening one of the West's first self-service drug stores in Tacoma, Wash., in 1932.

Stock Dividend Is Announced

LOS ANGELES (BW) — A stock dividend of 5 per cent payable Aug. 15 to stockholders of record June 29 has been declared by the board of directors of the Flying Tiger Line Inc.

This stock dividend would increase the number of outstanding shares from 4,550,638 to 4,778,170.

The air cargo carrier paid a cash dividend of 10 cents per share in 1969.

Robert W. Prescott, president, and Wayne Hoffman, chairman, said the board felt that the stock dividend more appropriately reflects the growth of the company than a nominal cash dividend.

To Buy Shares

NEW YORK (UPI) — Home Insurance Co. will purchase 275,520 shares representing minority interests in the company. City Investing Co. owns about 97 per cent of the outstanding shares of home.

Penn Central Highlights Dull Trading

NEW YORK (UPI)—Penn Central chugged along a firmer path on the New York Stock Exchange today in a session otherwise notable only for its unusually light turnover and narrow price swings.

The railroad issue, which headed the Big Board's most active list, traded more than 225,000 shares and gained 3-4 to 14 following a major shakeup at its top executive level.

Turnover of around 7 million shares compared with 8,040,000 shares Monday.

Chemicals and oils moved in both directions. Steels and motors generally moved in fractions.

DuPont closed up 1 3-8 at 116 3-8 and Jersey Standard gained 1-8, closing at 54 1-2. Bethlehem Steel closed at 23 7-8, up 3-8, and U.S. Steel gained 1-2 to 33 1-8.

Parke, Davis was an active stock as a result of a big block transaction. An early block of 118,200 shares at 16 1-2, off 5-8, was handled by Salomon Brothers & Hutzler for institutions on both sides of the market.

Certain-Teed Products Corp., the Big Board's most active stock Monday, was off 1 1-2 near the close.

Prices were mixed in light turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Three New Firms Locate In Building On Tiburon Street

Three more new firms have moved into 50 Tiburon Street, San Rafael, where contractor Johnny Ribeiro has been constructing a new building owned by B-J Land Co.

Eva Housewares has taken 1,140 square feet. This is a wholesale firm handling the Danish housewares of exporter Erik Mangor. Peter Buemann is the principal. He and his wife, originally from Copenhagen, have been in Marin only a short time, having come here from Canada.

Television Electronics is a new service center for Fred Cedos, who has been operating Ordos TV Co. in Kentfield, and Orrin Moon, who has been operating Approved TV Electronics in the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael. They have joined forces and will continue these locations together. Eventually it is planned that all three places will be phased into the Television Electronics name.

Still another 1,140 square feet has been taken by Perfection Marine, a new boat sales, marine engine repair and auto repair business of Steven Hulbert of San Rafael. He was formerly with SK Marine which recently closed at Northgate Industrial Park.

These three firms join United Mills which moved in here about a month ago. All leases were handled by William W. Hoey and Co. Still unleased in this first phase of the building, according to Hoey, is one remaining 1,140 square foot area. Second construction phase of an additional 22,000 square feet should be completed soon.

SAN RAFAEL CIVIL ENGINEER Ray W. Foreaker Jr. has joined the civil engineering and land surveying firm of Philip B. Lygren — Site Engineering, Inc. At the request of Mrs. Lygren, her late husband's name has been dropped and the company will be known as Foreaker and Berini — Site Engineering, Inc.

Robert S. Berini is president, Foreaker is vice president and Paul A. Tanner is secretary-treasurer.

RICHARD K. MOSS of Fairfax has been promoted to assistant vice president in the national division at Bank of America's San Francisco headquarters. He joined the bank last summer after four years with the First National Bank of Chicago.

Moss Smart

NEW INSTALLMENT LOAN OFFICER at Crocker-Citizens National Bank's San Rafael main office is Herbert Terrence Smart, who has been assistant manager of auto finance at the Walnut Creek office. He joined the bank at Vallejo in 1963 and has also served in Fresno, Visalia and Hayward.

PATRICK C. HEARD of Corte Madera has been elected vice president for the western division of Combined Insurance Co. of America. Previously western divisional sales manager, he has been with the company 10 years. He joined Combined Insurance in his home state of New Mexico and served in Chicago and Seattle before coming to the San Francisco office last January.

REAL ESTATE: James Picchi of Novato has been selected by the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers to teach a three-day course on real estate investment and taxation in New York City this month . . . Paul W. Petersen of San Rafael has been named senior sales consultant by Coldwell, Banker and Co. He has been with the company five years and is a member of the San Francisco office staff.

STANLEY N. GOLDSTEIN of Fairfax has been accepted for membership in the Northern California Pharmaceutical Association.

FIVE EMPLOYEES of the Marin Agency of Snelling and Snelling in San Rafael have qualified for Professional Employment Counselor diplomas from Snelling and Snelling international headquarters for completing six months of study in employment techniques. Presentations will be made at a meeting to be held this month.

"And during our next fiscal year, we may see the establishment of other new records."

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS

This choice location, on Terrace Ave., offers the rare opportunity of owning a 4-bdrm., 2-bath home with lovely grounds and mature trees plus a gigantic outdoor deck and a patio, all designed to blend in with the beautiful natural resawn cedar exterior. The kitchen is all electric and features custom cabinet work. All windows and patio doors are aluminum and recently installed. The large master bdrm. features beam ceiling and a dressing room with patio doors opening out to the large outdoor deck. You will wonder why the ridiculously low price. The reason is that the remodeled kitchen, 1 bath and some of the trim and painting is not completed. However we have an estimate for completion or do it yourself. You cannot lose either way. Owner moving to east coast and must sell immediately. Don't miss this rare opportunity. Only $33,950.

This choice location, on Terrace Ave., offers the rare opportunity of owning a 4-bdrm., 2-bath home with lovely grounds and mature trees plus a gigantic outdoor deck and a patio, all designed to blend in with the beautiful natural resawn cedar exterior. The kitchen is all electric and features custom cabinet work. All windows and patio doors are aluminum and recently installed. The large master bdrm. features beam ceiling and a dressing room with patio doors opening out to the large outdoor deck. You will wonder why the ridiculously low price. The reason is that the remodeled kitchen, 1 bath and some of the trim and painting is not completed. However we have an estimate for completion or do it yourself. You cannot lose either way. Owner moving to east coast and must sell immediately. Don't miss this rare opportunity. Only $33,950.

Exercises Slated At Hamilton Base

There will be increased air activity at Hamilton Air Force Base through Friday as the 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron takes part in aerospace defense command exercise, base officials have announced.

There will not be any supersonic flights over land and the air crews have been briefed to observe noise abatement procedures, officials said. Flying will be during the evening and early morning hours.

In addition to the F-106 Delta Darts of the 84th Squadron, there will be units of the Air National Guard and other aerospace defense command units in the 26th North American Air Defense Command region.

The baby, born last Friday at the Bethesda Naval Medical Center, will probably be called "Cathy," of "Katie," Robb said. The middle name of Lewis is an old family name on his side, he added.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Computers Finding Increasing Beneficial Use In Medicine

Computers are used in many medical centers and hospitals, but as yet, none has been programmed to replace the physician. These ingenious machines have no bedside manner, or personality. Nor can they express an emotion.

Nevertheless, these labor-saving devices will make the learning of medicine easier, more extensive, and interesting. Screening programs for the evaluation of community mental health already utilize these machines.

PRESENTLY, THE equipment is used most extensively in medical libraries and hospitals.

When I was on the board of regents of the National Medical Library of Medicine, we used giant computers (Medlars) for cataloging, storing, and retrieving scientific data. An astronomical amount of material can be stored in these machines, and it is surprising how quickly needed information can be retrieved.

HOSPITALS ALSO use computers in dietetics, purchasing, inventory, bookkeeping, and billing.

The card begins at the admission desk and it is constantly altered as it passes through the hands of physicians, interns, nurses, and lab technicians. In other words, computers integrate all medical, statistical, and financial data of the hospitalized individual.

Computers also are geared for specific information. When a certain poison is ingested, the physician calls a poison control center for information on severity, treatment, and prognosis. If the data is not available locally, a call is placed to the National Clearing House for Poison Control where all pertinent information is stored. A similar setup is used to match donor and recipient for kidney transplantation.

CONSIDERABLE RESEARCH is being done on computer interpretation of electrocardiograms. Abnormalities are recorded and analyzed, and the computer prints out possible diagnoses.

Various methods also are being investigated on the best way to obtain a medical history. This is difficult because the computer has no way of analyzing the importance of each symptom. It can, however, suggest a possible diagnosis.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

EXTRACTING TEETH

Mrs. R. T. writes: Would it be safe for a woman in the fourth month of pregnancy to have the upper teeth pulled?

REPLY

Yes, if removal is absolutely necessary. Most surgical procedures can be carried out during pregnancy but surgeons play safe by doing only those that are essential. Extractions, for example, will not affect the pregnancy per se but the procedure may interfere with eating. This in turn would alter the nutritional status of mother and child.

TWO PERIODS A MONTH

A reader writes: What would cause a woman to have a period twice a month? Is there any danger in the future?

REPLY

This lady needs a gynecological examination. Periods that occur every 10 days ought to be investigated. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on menstrual irregularities.

OIL FOR BABY

A reader writes: I just had a new baby and would like to know if I should put oil on his skin each time he gets a bath? P.S. I bathe him twice a day.

REPLY

No, excessive oiling is not recommended because the oil may produce skin eruptions. Why are you bathing the little fellow twice a day?

Today's Health Hint—Skin diving is not for novices, it requires special training.

House Will Send Team To Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring it needs a new look at Indochina, the House has decided to send its own task force to Vietnam to review the progress of the war.

After three hours of wrangling and four roll calls, the House Monday approved 223 to 101 a resolution creating a special 12-member committee to investigate all aspects of U.S. military involvement in Southeast Asia within 45 days.

The resolution was sponsored by Rep. G. V. "Sonny" Montgomery, D-Miss., who is expected to lead the committee. He said it would provide the House with information independent of that gathered by presidential commissions or other study groups.

It is planned for the House committee to leave after a special group of senators, representatives and other governmental leaders returns from a Vietnam trip requested by President Nixon.

Monday night a farmer, a housewife, a minister and a retired professor left at Nixon's instigation as part of an eight-member delegation going to Vietnam for a repeat of a trip they made more than two years ago.

The House debate Monday split along hawk-dove lines, with antiwar members contending the committee would be "carrier pigeons" of the military view of the war.

"We need this committee just like we need extra holes in the head," Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo., remarked.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, suggested all 430 House members be armed with rifles and go to Southeast Asia to relieve two Army battalions.

The committee will be composed of six members of each party.

On a separate roll call the House voted against a preamble Montgomery originally had written into his resolution.

The preamble was eliminated by an amendment in the House Rules Committee. It stated the use of U.S. troops in Cambodia had "added a new dimension to the war in Southeast Asia."

While Americans may be smoking less, the rest of the world seems to be puffing more, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture in reporting a record 153 billion packs of cigarettes were consumed in 1969.

Mace Bearer Asserts His Authority

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — A 77-year-old professor of Romance languages has asserted the authority of Cornell University by swinging its symbol--a mace--on a young demonstrator.

Morris Bishop, Alpha Kappa professor emeritus, carried the university mace in Monday's commencement exercises here and used it to beat back a youth trying to wrest the microphones from university officials.

"The mace," Bishop related, "was originally a weapon of offense in the Middle Ages. Richard the Lionhearted used to carry one at his side all the time.

"So I saw no reason why I shouldn't use it for the same purpose. I poked him and pushed him back."

Witnesses said Bishop, a stocky man, took the 14-pound silver and gold instrument from his right shoulder and delivered a blow at the young man's side.

"He stumbled back a few feet," Bishop said, "then a couple of the strong-arm boys (campus police) took him away."

Police arrested three of the demonstrators. Two, a student and a former student identified by university officials as an activist leader during his days on campus, were charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

The third man, who police said was not associated with the university, was charged with third degree assault.

The 4-foot mace is a tapered silver shaft with a gold terrestrial globe at the top. The globe is surrounded by silver ribs and a 1½-inch image of a bear holding an oar sits on top.

It was designed by Sir Eric Clements of the Goldsmith's Guild of London.

Bishop is no stranger to campus disorders, though his research in the subject has centered mainly on the 19th Century variety.

In a recent talk before the Board of Trustees of the Cornell University Council, Bishop termed current campus demonstrations tame compared to those of the early 1800s.

Speaking on the "lower depths of higher education," he detailed pitched battles with faculty members, horsewhipping and cannon bombardments. On occasion, he said, the faculty fought back.

Innocent Plea To Charge Of Hit-Run Driving

Gerald Thomas Fisher, 42, of Woodacre, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of hit-and-run driving stemming from an accident in North Marin December 18.

Two additional hit-run charges were dismissed, and Fisher was told to appear in superior court Thursday for setting of a sentencing date.

Fisher was charged with causing three accidents, one in Bel Marin Keys where he sideswiped a car; one on Highway 37 where he allegedly went the wrong way on an on-ramp, causing a car to overturn, and a final one on Highway 101, where he again reportedly drove on the wrong side of the highway striking a car and causing it to hit another one head-on. Three persons were injured in the accidents.

Fisher apparently fled on foot after the last accident, hitchhiked home and was taken to Marin General Hospital by his wife. Hospital authorities called police after treating him for a cut.

TV REVIEW

Critics Cast Votes For Honors

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The children's series "Sesame Street," Anne Bancroft's special and the drama "My Sweet Charlie" have been named the best television programs of the past year in the fifth annual Critics' Consensus Poll.

Participants in the balloting were 15 daily television columnists including this writer from New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago, Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, Boston, Houston, Detroit, Miami, St. Louis, San Diego, Newark and Memphis. The period covered was from mid-May to mid-May.

"Sesame Street," an offering of National Educational Television; "My Sweet Charlie," an original two-hour movie on NBC-TV, and Miss Bancroft's CBS comedy-and-music special, "Annie, the Women in the Life of a Man," were the only shows to get the required two-thirds vote.

IN CONTRAST

In contrast to the Emmy awards, the critics' consensus has no categories. Programs, people and organizations are nominated by poll patricipants strictly on the basis of merit rather than merely to fill out a voting form. There were 36 nominees this year.

No nominee ever has received the unanimous vote of the critics, but "Sesame Street" came closest, getting 14 of the 15 possible ballots. Miss Bancroft's special and "My Sweet Charlie," which concerned the friendship of a poor southern white girl (Patty Duke) and a young black lawyer from the north (Al Freeman Jr.) each got 10 votes.

Receiving eight votes were ABC-TV's "Room 222," a comedy-drama series about an integrated big city high school; and "Hospital," Frederick Wiseman's NET documentary.

MOON LANDING

There were seven votes each for all the networks' coverage of the first manned moon landing; the syndicated David Frost show; the "CBS Children's Hour" drama, "J.T.," about a Harlem boy; and NET's "The Forsythe Saga" and "Trial—The City of Denver vs. Lauren B. Watson."

Six votes went to Miss Duke's performance in "My Sweet Charlie" and an equal number of columnists cited the late Dean Gysel of the Chicago Daily News for "excellence in TV criticism."

Four ballots apiece were recorded for the anti-smoking commercials of the American Cancer Society and the American Heart Association; NBC-TV's Documentary "Arthur Rubinstein;" CBS-TV's "Health in America, Part One;" the "CBS Playhouse" comedy-drama "Sadbird," about a young man torn between the hippie and business worlds; and Al Freemans' performance in "My Sweet Charlie."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Computers Finding Increasing Beneficial Use In Medicine

Computers are used in many medical centers and hospitals, but as yet, none has been programmed to replace the physician. These ingenious machines have no bedside manner, or personality. Nor can they express an emotion.

Nevertheless, these labor-saving devices will make the learning of medicine easier, more extensive, and interesting. Screening programs for the evaluation of community mental health already utilize these machines.

PRESENTLY, THE equipment is used most extensively in medical libraries and hospitals.

When I was on the board of regents of the National Medical Library of Medicine, we used giant computers (Medlars) for cataloging, storing, and retrieving scientific data. An astronomical amount of material can be stored in these machines, and it is surprising how quickly needed information can be retrieved.

HOSPITALS ALSO use computers in dietetics, purchasing, inventory, bookkeeping, and billing.

The card begins at the admission desk and it is constantly altered as it passes through the hands of physicians, interns, nurses, and lab technicians. In other words, computers integrate all medical, statistical, and financial data of the hospitalized individual.

Computers also are geared for specific information. When a certain poison is ingested, the physician calls a poison control center for information on severity, treatment, and prognosis. If the data is not available locally, a call is placed to the National Clearing House for Poison Control where all pertinent information is stored. A similar setup is used to match donor and recipient for kidney transplantation.

CONSIDERABLE RESEARCH is being done on computer interpretation of electrocardiograms. Abnormalities are recorded and analyzed, and the computer prints out possible diagnoses.

Various methods also are being investigated on the best way to obtain a medical history. This is difficult because the computer has no way of analyzing the importance of each symptom. It can, however, suggest a possible diagnosis.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

EXTRACTING TEETH

Mrs. R. T. writes: Would it be safe for a woman in the fourth month of pregnancy to have the upper teeth pulled?

REPLY

Yes, if removal is absolutely necessary. Most surgical procedures can be carried out during pregnancy but surgeons play safe by doing only those that are essential. Extractions, for example, will not affect the pregnancy per se but the procedure may interfere with eating. This in turn would alter the nutritional status of mother and child.

TWO PERIODS A MONTH

A reader writes: What would cause a woman to have a period twice a month? Is there any danger in the future?

REPLY

This lady needs a gynecological examination. Periods that occur every 10 days ought to be investigated. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on menstrual irregularities.

OIL FOR BABY

A reader writes: I just had a new baby and would like to know if I should put oil on his skin each time he gets a bath? P.S. I bathe him twice a day.

REPLY

No, excessive oiling is not recommended because the oil may produce skin eruptions. Why are you bathing the little fellow twice a day?

Today's Health Hint—Skin diving is not for novices, it requires special training.

San Franciscan's Auto Is Stolen

House Will Send Team To Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring it needs a new look at Indochina, the House has decided to send its own task force to Vietnam to review the progress of the war.

After three hours of wrangling and four roll calls, the House Monday approved 223 to 101 a resolution creating a special 12-member committee to investigate all aspects of U.S. military involvement in Southeast Asia within 45 days.

The resolution was sponsored by Rep. G. V. "Sonny" Montgomery, D-Miss., who is expected to lead the committee. He said it would provide the House with information independent of that gathered by presidential commissions or other study groups.

It is planned for the House committee to leave after a special group of senators, representatives and other governmental leaders returns from a Vietnam trip requested by President Nixon.

Monday night a farmer, a housewife, a minister and a retired professor left at Nixon's instigation as part of an eight-member delegation going to Vietnam for a repeat of a trip they made more than two years ago.

The House debate Monday split along hawk-dove lines, with antiwar members contending the committee would be "carrier pigeons" of the military view of the war.

"We need this committee just like we need extra holes in the head," Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo., remarked.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, suggested all 430 House members be armed with rifles and go to Southeast Asia to relieve two Army battalions.

The committee will be composed of six members of each party.

On a separate roll call the House voted against a preamble Montgomery originally had written into his resolution.

The preamble was eliminated by an amendment in the House Rules Committee. It stated the use of U.S. troops in Cambodia had "added a new dimension to the war in Southeast Asia."

While Americans may be smoking less, the rest of the world seems to be puffing more, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture in reporting a record 153 billion packs of cigarettes were consumed in 1969.

Mace Bearer Asserts His Authority

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — A 77-year-old professor of Romance languages has asserted the authority of Cornell University by swinging its symbol--a mace--on a young demonstrator.

Morris Bishop, Alpha Kappa professor emeritus, carried the university mace in Monday's commencement exercises here and used it to beat back a youth trying to wrest the microphones from university officials.

"The mace," Bishop related, "was originally a weapon of offense in the Middle Ages. Richard the Lionhearted used to carry one at his side all the time.

"So I saw no reason why I shouldn't use it for the same purpose. I poked him and pushed him back."

Witnesses said Bishop, a stocky man, took the 14-pound silver and gold instrument from his right shoulder and delivered a blow at the young man's side.

"He stumbled back a few feet," Bishop said, "then a couple of the strong-arm boys (campus police) took him away."

Police arrested three of the demonstrators. Two, a student and a former student identified by university officials as an activist leader during his days on campus, were charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

The third man, who police said was not associated with the university, was charged with third degree assault.

The 4-foot mace is a tapered silver shaft with a gold terrestrial globe at the top. The globe is surrounded by silver ribs and a 1½-inch image of a bear holding an oar sits on top.

It was designed by Sir Eric Clements of the Goldsmith's Guild of London.

Bishop is no stranger to campus disorders, though his research in the subject has centered mainly on the 19th Century variety.

In a recent talk before the Board of Trustees of the Cornell University Council, Bishop termed current campus demonstrations tame compared to those of the early 1800s.

Speaking on the "lower depths of higher education," he detailed pitched battles with faculty members, horsewhipping and cannon bombardments. On occasion, he said, the faculty fought back.

Innocent Plea To Charge Of Hit-Run Driving

Gerald Thomas Fisher, 42, of Woodacre, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of hit-and-run driving stemming from an accident in North Marin December 18.

Two additional hit-run charges were dismissed, and Fisher was told to appear in superior court Thursday for setting of a sentencing date.

Fisher was charged with causing three accidents, one in Bel Marin Keys where he sideswiped a car; one on Highway 37 where he allegedly went the wrong way on an on-ramp, causing a car to overturn, and a final one on Highway 101, where he again reportedly drove on the wrong side of the highway striking a car and causing it to hit another one head-on. Three persons were injured in the accidents.

Fisher apparently fled on foot after the last accident, hitchhiked home and was taken to Marin General Hospital by his wife. Hospital authorities called police after treating him for a cut.

TV REVIEW

Critics Cast Votes For Honors

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The children's series "Sesame Street," Anne Bancroft's special and the drama "My Sweet Charlie" have been named the best television programs of the past year in the fifth annual Critics' Consensus Poll.

Participants in the balloting were 15 daily television columnists including this writer from New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago, Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, Boston, Houston, Detroit, Miami, St. Louis, San Diego, Newark and Memphis. The period covered was from mid-May to mid-May.

"Sesame Street," an offering of National Educational Television; "My Sweet Charlie," an original two-hour movie on NBC-TV, and Miss Bancroft's CBS comedy-and-music special, "Annie, the Women in the Life of a Man," were the only shows to get the required two-thirds vote.

IN CONTRAST

In contrast to the Emmy awards, the critics' consensus has no categories. Programs, people and organizations are nominated by poll patricipants strictly on the basis of merit rather than merely to fill out a voting form. There were 36 nominees this year.

No nominee ever has received the unanimous vote of the critics, but "Sesame Street" came closest, getting 14 of the 15 possible ballots. Miss Bancroft's special and "My Sweet Charlie," which concerned the friendship of a poor southern white girl (Patty Duke) and a young black lawyer from the north (Al Freeman Jr.) each got 10 votes.

Receiving eight votes were ABC-TV's "Room 222," a comedy-drama series about an integrated big city high school; and "Hospital," Frederick Wiseman's NET documentary.

MOON LANDING

There were seven votes each for all the networks' coverage of the first manned moon landing; the syndicated David Frost show; the "CBS Children's Hour" drama, "J.T.," about a Harlem boy; and NET's "The Forsythe Saga" and "Trial—The City of Denver vs. Lauren B. Watson."

Six votes went to Miss Duke's performance in "My Sweet Charlie" and an equal number of columnists cited the late Dean Gysel of the Chicago Daily News for "excellence in TV criticism."

Four ballots apiece were recorded for the anti-smoking commercials of the American Cancer Society and the American Heart Association; NBC-TV's Documentary "Arthur Rubinstein;" CBS-TV's "Health in America, Part One;" the "CBS Playhouse" comedy-drama "Sadbird," about a young man torn between the hippie and business worlds; and Al Freemans' performance in "My Sweet Charlie."

RAINS BRING OUT FLOWER'S FOE

Snails making their slow, slow way along a gladiola and a fence post are a reward for the photographer but a pain to the gardener. This artistic scene was captured early today, after last night's rains brought out from crevices and underground countless snails throughout Marin.

REDS CARRY OUT CAMBODIAN RAIDS

Resort City Of Siem Reap Is Again Hit; School Also Damaged In Shelling

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops carried out harassment raids across Cambodia Monday night, including attacks near the resort city of Siem Reap, military spokesmen said today. American forces battled Communist units in the Cambodian Fish Hook region.

A Cambodian military spokesman said Communist troops also attacked around Kompong Thom, 80 miles north of Phnom Peh and opened fire on a school south of the capital. Damage and casualties in all cases were light.

RETAKES AIRPORT

Cambodian forces retook the airport of Siem Reap, near the ancient ruins of Angkor Wat, and Kompong Thom Sunday.

Cambodian troops fanned out from Siem Reap today and reported no apparent damage to Angkor Wat in the fighting.

In Saigon, U. S. and South Vietnamese spokesmen said the campaign in Cambodia had killed 11,512 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops. They said 19,156 individual weapons and 2,534 crew-served weapons had been captured along with 7,016 tons of rice.

U. S. casualties in the six and a half weeks of the Cambodian operation were placed at 263 men killed and 1,098 wounded. Government losses were reported as 686 dead and 3,120 wounded.

HIGHLY PLACED SOURCE

Highly placed Allied military sources said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong had launched the third "high point" of a summer offensive last week but they could not sustain the drive.

The heaviest reported fighting in the Fish Hook region of Cambodia flared early today 86 miles north-northwest of Saigon. Three Americans were killed and 15 wounded in fighting eight miles north-northeast of Mimot. The battle involved a unit of the U. S. 25th Infantry Division.

One American was killed and six wounded Monday afternoon 108 miles north-northwest of Saigon when a 1st Air Cavalry Division patrol fought a small band of Communist troops.

A delayed report from Saigon said a Marine Corps F4 Phantom jet was shot down Sunday 15 miles northwest of An Hoa and 28 miles southwest of Da Nang. One of the two crewmen was missing.

Cambodian military spokesmen in Phnom Penh predicted the Communist setbacks at Kompong Thom and Siem Reap would prompt the guerrillas to make further attempts to seize smaller towns in the area.

The closest action to Phnom Penh was at Kompong Speu school, 26 miles southwest of the capital on the American-built Freedom Highway linking Phnom Penh with Kompong Som, known under the regime of Prince Norodom Sihanouk as Sihanoukville.

FIRES ON STUDENTS

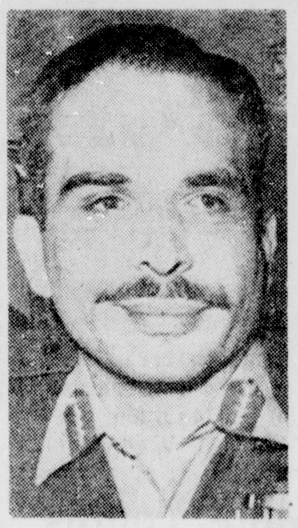
Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops opened fire with rifle and automatic weapons on students who live in the school. The attackers later withdrew, taking with them several wounded, the spokesman said. One student was wounded.

Viet Cong forces also harassed Prey Veng City, the scene of heavy fighting 10 days ago. They withdrew after a short battle at the provincial capital, 27 miles east of Phnom Penh.

An official communique said at least one battalion of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops was wiped out in the fighting at Kompong Thom and "heavy losses" were inflicted on the Communists at Sien Reap with great amounts of munitions, materiel and medical supplies captured.

The communique said Cambodian patrol boats on the Mekong River battled Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops near Prep Chik, 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh. Two boats were damaged and two sailors wounded.

Hussein Motorcade Hit Outside Amman



KING HUSSEIN
Escapes assassination

King Escapes Unhurt; Street Fighting Rages

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — King Hussein came under fire today when his royal motorcade was attacked on the outskirts of Amman while Arab guerrillas fought Jordanian troops in the streets of the capital city of Jordan. Amman Radio said the king escaped unhurt.

Heavy fighting broke out between the guerrillas and Jordanian soldiers early in the day and continued through the afternoon despite reports that a cease-fire had been arranged. The guerrillas said the troops were using tanks and artillery.

The Jordanian Interior Ministry said "large numbers" of persons had been killed or wounded in the fighting. It gave no specific figures.

A member of the French Embassy staff, however, was shot three times and seriously wounded at an army roadblock in the capital during the clashes.

Amman Radio, in announcing the attack on Hussein, said his motorcade came under heavy fire from armed men—presumably guerrillas — about eight miles from Amman. It did not make clear whether the attack was deliberate or accidental.

FORCED TO RETURN

Guerrilla sources said only that the king's motorcade was "forced to return to Amman" but made no mention of any shooting.

Amman Radio repeatedly broadcast reports that a cease-fire had been worked out between Jordanian officials and the leaders of the Palestine Arab guerrilla organizations. But reports from guerrilla sources in Cairo and Beirut said fighting was still going on hours after the reported agreement had been reached.

The official Jordanian radio interrupted its programs at 3:15 p.m. to report that King Hussein's motorcade came under attack, presumably by Palestinian guerrillas, near Suweihih, about eight miles northwest of Amman, this morning. Hussein was not hurt, the broadcast said.

TEXT OF MESSAGE

The radio broadcast the text of a message for Jordanian Premier Bahjat Talhouni congratulating Hussein on his escape "during a criminal attack" on the royal motorcade.

"I am aware of the profound sorrow of his majesty caused by today's regrettable incidents but I have faith Jordan will pass through this ordeal under the king's wise leadership," Talhouni said.

Officials in Cairo said Yassir Arafat, leader of the Al Fatah guerrilla organization, who had been in Cairo for Palestine National Council meetings, rushed back to Amman Monday for talks with Jordanian officials to end the crisis. These Cairo sources said the fighting was "reminiscent" of the major clashes between guerrillas and Jordanian troops in November, 1968, when hundreds were killed or wounded.

Al Fatah sources said, the Jordanian army was using

Tiburon Approves 112-Home Project

By GEORGE NEVIN

The Tiburon City Council held a final public hearing last night and then approved a master plan for development of the Hilarita site. (Another Tiburon City Council story, page 19).

By a 5-1 vote, with Councilman Branwell D. Fanning dissenting, the council approved on first reading plans for 112 units of moderate income housing on an eight-acre site.

E. Morton Sshaffran, housing consultant for the Marin County Ecumenical Association for Housing, the project's sponsor, listened while the council granted the association the 112 units he consistently had maintained were necessary to make the project economically feasible.

Afflicted with a sore throat, Schaffran, leader of the pro-Hilarita forces at the two previous public hearings, did not speak.

A standing-room only audience crowded the city council chambers but followed Schaffran's lead and participated little in the discussion.

Councilmen did most of the talking, spending about half the three-hour public hearing deciding what it wanted built on an adjacent 4.8-acre parcel.

The owner of the land, the Marin County Housing Authority, has proposed to sell this parcel to a private developer for market value housing in order to recoup part of the loss incurred in selling at less than market value the eight acres to the ecumenical association.

On a motion by Fanning, which Mayor Denis T. Rice seconded, the council specified that six single-family residences be built on the lower two acres of the 4.8-acre site to serve as a buffer zone between Hilarita and surrounding homes.

For a time discussion centered around retaining the 4.8 acres in open space. Since the housing authority said it needs only $36,000 from the sale of the parcel, Littman suggested that either the city or Rolling Hills homeowners buy the parcel and leave it undeveloped.

But Philip S. Erlich Jr., chairman of the housing authority, told the council that his agency is "in desperate financial straits. We want to get all we can from the sale of this land. We mentioned the $36,000 figure only to show the lowest we can afford to go."

Erlich said he didn't know if six single-family homes on the parcel will be acceptable to the authority. '/We'll have to get our real estate experts on this. I'm not prepared to say yes or no on six units right now," he said.

Herbert E. Wenig, owner of adjacent property and a critic of the project, said of the 4.8-acre parcel: "I think the area should be kept in conformity with the surrounding lots. If we can't have a park there, then let's keep it at its present zoning single family residential)."

But Rice assured him that the council approval of the project does not preclude a later stipulation that the 4.8 acres be preserved for a park.

As discussion continued, it became clear that Fanning was the only councilman who still had serious questions about Hilarita Anne L. Ellinwood, Albert H. Sennett and Carlisle Becker had little to say.

"I'm still worried about the overall density," Fanning said. "Part of my concern is not just the number of units but the number of people."

He estimated that about 358 persons would live in the new project. "There isn't sufficient weight in the direction of one-bedroom units," he said, "and too much weight in the direction of three-bedroom units. The project would be much more feasible if the housing authority didn't try to extract so much money from it."

He suggested the city stipulate fewer three-bedroom units, but Planning Director Wayne E. Moody said that the time to do that is when the ecumenical association applies for approval of a precise plan, and not in the master planning stage.

Rice then called the question, and Fanning was the only councilman not in favor of the development.

Fanning explained his vote: "I don't want to see Tiburon acquire a ghetto that we'll have to live with for a long time. It's not a ghetto now, and I don't want to see it become one."

Stacking Charged In Mental Chief Search

The screening committee to pick a new director of the Marin Mental Health Center is stacked against incumbent Donald P. Wilson, two supervisors declared today at the Civic Center.

Supervisors Louis H. Baar and William A. Gnoss called for either a change in the screening committee or for the supervisors and Marin General Hospital directors to screen the 18 applicants. Among the applicants is Dr. Wilson, who wants to stay on as director.

Baar and Gnoss were outvoted by chairman John F. McInnis, Michael Wornum, and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., who decided that the screening committee should complete its job of selecting the top three, with the final appointment to be made by supervisors and hospital directors.

The matter came up with a statement from Marlene Allen of Mill Valley, a volunteer at the health center, who declared that the nine-member screening committee has been criticized in the press as prejudiced.

Baar said he read editorials in the Independent-Journal and the Pacific Sun that pointed out the committee is stacked against Dr. Wilson.

Arrigoni acknowledged that the committee includes Dr. Seymour Boorstein, whose wife was a supporter of Dr. Clyde G. Miller. A feud between Miller and Wilson led to a shakeup last year.

McInnis, Wornum and Arrigoni declared that it would be impossible to get a completely unbiased screening committee anyway, and abolishing the present committee would accomplish nothing.

"It startles me that this wasn't a stacked group until Dr. Wilson entered the picture," said McInnis. "I think we're on the path of idiocy. I think we all need psychiatric help."

Blackmun Is Sworn In As Ninth Judge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Judge Harry A. Blackmun took the oath of office from his boyhood friend, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, today to become the ninth justice of the Supreme Court.

The brief, formal ceremony for the 61-year-old Minnesotan filled a vacancy that had existed on the high court since the resignation of Abe Fortas 55 weeks ago.

The new justice — the 98th to serve on the court in its history — was accompanied to the swearing in by Attorney General John N. Mitchell.

In a combined judicial-constitutional oath, Blackmun swore to do equal right to the poor and to the rich and to uphold the U. S. Constitution.

The dignified ceremony, in a packed courtroom, lasted only seven minutes.

Mitchell presented Blackmun's commission, which was read aloud — with the audience standing — by the court clerk, John F. Davis.

The commission said Nixon has "trust and confidence" in the wisdom and learning of Blackmun.

Blackmun then stepped to the center of the bench and repeated the oath after Burger, a fellow Minnesotan with whom he grew up.

A federal appeals court judge from Rochester, Minn., Blackmun was Nixon's third choice for the seat vacated by Fortas. Two southern judges — Clement F. Haynsworth and G. Harrold Carswell — were rejected by the Senate.

FCC Ends Cable TV Freeze For Novato

By THERON A. NEWELL

A two-year freeze on cable television in Novato has ended with the Federal Communications Commission granting Western Caifornia Telephone Co. and G'tec Cable TV to go ahead with new hookups and new construction, Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District announced today.

This ends the frustration of approximately 2,700 families which have 30 miles of cable in front of them and could not hook onto it for the past two years.

It will also allow new construction to go ahead in areas of the city in which there is no television cable.

Frank Palik, chief of Domestic Services and Facilities Division of the FCC, wrote Clausen that the FCC would permit hookups to existing facilities and the construction of new facilities.

"Thank heavens, I'm glad this matter is settled," Clausen, in his office in Washington, told the Independent-Journal by phone today.

"I am pleased that it was settled in favor of the companies so that Novato could have better television reception," said Clausen.

The Novato City Council originally issued the franchise for cable television to Western California Telephone Co., a subsidiary of General Telephone Co.

That company had until July 1, 1968 to complete the facilities. In the meantime, the council at Western California's request, transferred the franchise to G'tec, another subsidiary of General Telephone Co. G'tec leased the facilities from Western California which constructed them.

On June 26, 1968, the FCC issued a cease and desist order on connections by telephone companies keeping the Novato residents served by Western California Telephone Co. from hooking onto the cable.

Merle L. Sebald, manager of G'tec cable TV and Gordon L. Lee, manager of Western California Telephone Co. in Novato, said that they had not received official notice of the FCC ruling but when they did would give the schedule for hookups to the cable and for new construction.

My Lai Charges Vs. One Dropped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army today dismissed all charges against one of the officers accused in connection with the alleged My Lai massacre, the Pentagon announced.

The Army said that "based upon available evidence, no further action should be taken in the prosecution of those charges," against Capt. Thomas K. Willingham, 25, of Allenhurst, N.J.

Cambodian Raiding Gets Nod, Ky Reports

SAIGON (AP) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said tonight Cambodian leaders have agreed to "let us launch military operations along the border as well as anywhere necessary for our security."

His report, which apparently opens the door to South Vietnamese military forays against Communist command forces deep inside Cambodia, came in a televised broadcast to the Vietnamese people.

Generals Win Resignation Of Argentina's President

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—A triumvirate of military commanders who ousted President Juan Carlos Ongania promised today to return Argentina to "an authentic democracy." They said they would name a new president within 10 days.

Three separate black limousines brought the commanders, Army Lt. Gen. Alejandro Lanusse, Navy Adm. Pedro Gnavi and Air Force Brig. Gen. Carlos Rey to the Pink House presidential palace early today.

Ongania's forced resignation near midnight Monday ended a 12-hour test of wills between him and the troika of officers. Ongania, 56, was deposed 20 days short of the fourth anniversary of the June 28, 1966, military coup that brought him to power and ousted Arturo U. Illia, the nation's last elected president.

Ongania drove off early this morning to the suburban Olivos presidential residence to meet his wife Maria Emilia. A guard at the official residence said Ongana and his wife were expected to leave today and move back into their personal luxury apartment in the city's Belgrano residential district.

"The circumstances facing the country in these final hours oblige me under pressure of arms to resign the post of president of the republic," Ongania said.

JUAN CARLOS ONGANIA

The commanders had challenged Ongania Monday morning by demanding a direct hand in running the country Ongania refused and fired Lanusse as army chief.

Ongania and the three commanders had spent Monday afternoon separately tallying which troops would support each if there was a showdown. Ongania called his personal Grenadiers Regiment to his side and vowed to fight for his job. But it was apparent by late Monday night most of the military backed the commanders.

Sources close to the commanders said it was the Rev. Mariano Castex, Ongania's spiritual adviser, who finally talked him into resigning.

After signing the resignation, Ongana urged that "no one will ever use the events of this sad night to divide Argentines. I pray to God that the irrevocable steps taken will be for the good of the republic."

The armed forces chiefs said Ongania was ousted for supporting "ideas foreign to our traditional way of life." It was an apparent reference to "Participacionismo" — a word coined by the Ongania regime. It referred to a proposed system of government with special interest groups such as labor, industry and agriculture forming committees to advise the president. Ongania's detractors said it was an Argentine version of the corporative state in Italy under the late dictator Benito Mussolini.

The coup reflected long-standing opposition to the president from liberals favoring return to civilian rule but it was apparently sparked by the May 29 kidnaping of former President Pedro Eugenio Aramburu, an outspoken critic of the president, Ongania.

Spare Tires Stolen

Three spare tires were stolen Saturday night from camper trucks at Western Mortos, 1221 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma police reported yesterday. The tires were valued at $250.

'RED BELT' VICTORY

Communists Win Control Of Wealthy Italy Region

ROME (UPI)—The largest Communist party in the West and its allies today won virtual control of three of Italy's 15 new regional governments in a "Red Belt" bestriding the wealthy center of the nation.

Elsewhere, the Christian Democrats and their partners in the national government coalition showed well enough to control the rest of the regions.

The Communists and their Proletarian Socialist allies captured Emilia-Romagna outright, winning 26 of the 50 seats in the regional council. They won big pluralities in Tuscany and Umbria where the Socialist party—although part of the national coalition—was expected to join them in regional coalitions.

The Communists and Christian Democrats both lost votes compared with the last national election in May, 1968.

The Christian Democrats got 37.9 per cent of the total vote compared with 38.8 per cent last time and the Communists 27.9 per cent compared with 28 per cent in 1968. The Proletarian Socialists slipped from 4.4 to 3.2 per cent, a loss of nearly 400,000 votes.

Of the 690 seats in regional councils, the Christian Democrats won 287 and the Communists 201.

The small but vocal neo-Fascist Italian Socialist Movement swelled its percentage of the vote from 4.3 in 1968 to 5.2. The conservative Republicans, in the national coalition, improved their percentage from 1.8 to 2.9.

Most of the vote-switching favored the Socialists. As a single party in 1968, they won 14.8 per cent of the vote. As a divided party they now have 17.4 per cent.

The Communists had been expected to consolidate control of the "Red Belt" that comprises one-sixth of Italy's land area and includes almost one-seventh of its population. The region includes some of Italy's main road and railroad hubs, big steel and petrochemical plants, rich farmland and some of Italy's finest vineyards.

U.S. Firm On Gunboat

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The United States and North Korea refused to back down today from their conflicting accounts of last Friday's gunboat encounter in the Yellow Sea.

U.S. Army Maj. Gen. James H. Skeldon repeated South Korea's claim that North Korean forces attacked a lightly armed South Korean vessel south of the demilitarized zone, towed it into North Korean waters, and is now "illegally detaining" it and its 20 crewmen.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Choon-sun insisted that the vessel was a heavily armed spy ship dispatched by the United States and that the North Koreans sank it north of the DMZ.

The exchange took place at the 302nd session of the Korean Armistice Commission, with Lee representing North Korea and Skeldon representing the U.N. Command.

"In the incident in question," Skeldon said, "your naval forces attacked and seized a Republic of Korea navy vessel which was engaged in peaceful pursuits . . ."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Peru Job To Finch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert H. Finch's first assignment as a White House counselor will be to run a $10-million program of special aid to earthquake-ravaged Peru.

An announcement Monday did not say if Finch will go to Peru, where the government estimates 50,000 persons died in the May 31 earthquake. Peace Corps Director Joseph Blatchford already is in Lima.

Finch who has served as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare for 17 months, will go to the White House staff when the Senate approves Elliot Richardson as his successor in the Cabinet post.

Compromise Nears

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate passed compromise legislation Monday authorizing up to $2.79 billion during the next three years for hospitals and health facilities. It would be the biggest such expenditure since adoption of the Hill-Burton Act 24 years ago.

The bill is a compromise between the $1 billion, three-year measure approved earlier by the House, and a $6.2 billion, five-year measure adopted previously by the Senate. The House must give final approval.

For the first time money would be spent for extended care facilities—nursing homes for those too ill to be discharged but not ill enough to require hospitalization.

Quake Hits Russia

MOSCOW (UPI) — An earthquake rocked the city of Przhalovsk, in the Soviet Republic of Kirghizia, Friday, the news agency Tass reported Monday. Twenty-thousand persons were homeless.

Tass said about 5,000 buildings were damaged in the city and neighboring communities.

The quake registered 8 on the Richter Scale, Tass said.

"Medical personnel was sent to the stricken areas and other necessary measures are being taken," Tass said. It gave no other details. The area is 1,500 miles southeast of Moscow.

Skyjacker Charged

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — Arthur G. Barkley, accused of trying to get a $100 million ransom for a hijacked TWA jetliner, faces the death penalty if convicted of one of the charges now lodged against him.

The Arizona truck driver was indicted Monday by a federal grand jury on charges ofaircraft piracy and interfering with a flight crew.

Mob Lynches Two

NEW DELHI (UPI) — A mob lynched a holy man and his two disciples Monday believing they had kidnaped a 12-year-old boy for use as a human sacrifice.

The newspaper The Statesman said Dhirananda Giri Goswamy of Nepal had just crossed the border near Siliguri in North Bengal state when his party was set upon by a mob armed with clubs and stones.

The child was unharmed but he told police who recovered the three mutilated bodies that he accompanied the Hindu monk at the request of his father in Nepal.

Still Hope For Pact

VIENNA (UPI) — The United States still hopes to reach a comprehensive agreement with the Soviet Union at the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) but may have to achieve it piece by piece, conference sources said today.

Negotiators for the two countries were meeting at 11 a.m. (6 a.m. EDT) in the Soviet Embassy for their 15th session.

The sources cautioned against reports that emphasize single areas of potential arms agreements, such as offensive missile launchers or antiballistic missile (ABM) defensive systems.

More Youths Arrested In Isla Vista

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—Heavily-armed law officers made continuous sweeps in dump trucks through the troubled student community next to the University of California Monday night, routing small bands of young persons with tear gas and mass arrests.

Strictly enforcing a dusk to dawn curfew after two successive nights of violence, more than 200 officers employing 10 dump trucks broke up small groups of rock-throwing protesters and arrested anyone on the streets.

73 MORE ARRESTED

A sheriff's spokesman said deputies arrested 73 persons, bringing the total for three nights of violence to 140.

Authorities abandoned their dump truck sweeps early today and said the area was quiet.

Five cars, described by deputies as junks, were set afire, small trash fires were reported and the hard-hit branch of the Bank of America sustained a barrage of rocks Monday evening.

There were no reports of injuries.

Deputies, Santa Barbara police and highway patrolmen, apparently fearing violence, moved into the area before the curfew went into effect and began to rout the groups after broadcasting warnings from a flying helicopter to clear the area.

Minor incidents occurred Thursday and Friday after a grand jury indicted 17 persons in connection with the burning of a Bank of America branch in February.

A FOCAL POINT

A temporary branch, next to the original one, has become the focal point of violent protests. That was where disorders erupted Saturday and Sunday nights.

Sunday night, about 800 young persons defied the curfew to march to the bank following a fair in a large vacant lot about seven blocks away. Youths using a large pipe as a battering ram smashed the plate glass front doors and a firebomb was ignited on the roof. The blaze caused only slight damage.

Monday night many residents of the Isla Vista area, most of them UC Santa Barbara students, jerred from apartment balconies as officers made their sweeps.

Ex-Peninsulan To Head Church

BOSTON (AP) — The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston has a new president—Clem W. Collins, a Denver native who served in the Navy during World War II and the Korean conflict.

Collins, now a resident of Boston, has been publishers' agent for the trustees under the will of Mary Baker Eddy, since 1963. Mrs. Eddy (1821-1910) was the founder of Christian Science.

Collins' election for a one-year term was announced Monday to some 10,000 Christian Scientists attending the denomination's annual meeting.

Collins became a member of the church in 1940 and entered full-time public practice of Christian Science in 1953. He resided in Los Altos, Calif., before coming to Boston seven years ago.

Auto Court Denied In Reversal Vote

A 60-unit auto court and five apartments in Tamalpis Valley, approved by a deputy zoning administrator, was reversed by a 4-1 vote of the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

The auto court application by Marie Bienhouse, at the corner of Shoreline Highway and Pinehill Road, was rejected on a motion by Margaret B. Azevedo and a second from John F. West. Jack G. Nixon and Eugene R. Trombley voted with them.

Lone dissenter was chairman Walter F. Freitas, who voted for the auto court without comment Hugh Dougherty had left for lunch by the time the morning item came to a vote at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Bienhouse, represented by planning consultant Norman T. Gilroy, originally asked for a 92-unit auto court on 52,000 square feet.

Deputy Zoning Administrator Ralph D. Cairns heard the arguments on May 18, and a week later announced that Gilroy had reduced the size of the property to about 45,000 square feet. On that reduced site, Cairns approved five apartments in the rear portion and 60 auto courts in the front portion. However, 25 kitchens were to be provided in the 60-unit auto court so that they could be converted to 25 apartments if the auto court proves financially unfeasible. The zoning administrator also approved a small coffee shop to be used by registered guests only.

Yesterday, about 35 residents of Tamalpais Valley, armed with protest petitions signed by 427 persons, opposed the auto court as unjustified invasion of commercial into a residential area.

A series of speakers, including Marshall Krause of 375 Tennessee Avenue and Edward Beattie of 410 Hilldale Avenue, charged that the auto court would create traffic congestion and a "Lombard Street" atmosphere.

A coffee shop for guests only could not be enforced and could be expanded to a commercial coffee shop for the public, said Krause.

Other speakers pointed out that this would be the only commercial enterprise on the north side of Shoreline Highway between Tamalpais Junction and Muir Woods.

Mrs. Azevedo moved for denial of the auto court on grounds that motel use is incompatible in a residential area and would create a precedent for commercial use.

"I think the applicant is trying to get something we'd regret later," said West. He said that five apartments plus 25 kitchens allowed in the auto court would in effect give the developer 30 apartments, plus 35 motel units.

The developer has the right to appeal to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Silver Hills Subdivision Wins Backing

A tentative map for Silver Hills subdivision south of Inverness, just outside the Point Reyes Seashore boundaries, won conditional approval by unanimous vote of the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

Jack Stockstill of Inverness plans 28 lots on 40 acres of land to the west of the intersection of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Bear Valley Road. The lots will range in size from a half-acre to two acres.

Among the conditions imposed are that water and sewer systems must meet all standards, utility lines will be underground, and a public pedestrian access to the Point Reyes National Seashore wuld be provided.

Marin County Planning Commission also:

CHEESE FACTORY — Continued until June 22 an applicatioon for a free standing sign to advertise the Marin French Cheese Factory at 7500 Red Hill Road near the Sonoma County border. Since the proposed sign far exceeds the 75-square-foot maximum, commissioners asked that the sign area be cut down.

TOMALES FILL — Continued until July 27 a request by Sven B. Berg of El Cerrito for permission to keep an 80-foot long concrete wall he built about 35 feet into the bay just south of the Marshall Hotel.

Berg's attorney, Bryan R. McCarthy, said his client built the wall to halt erosion of Shoreline Highway, not realizing that a permit was seded.

GARAGE RESIDENT — Tabled the application of Rev. Robert Hayburn, who wanted to convert the upper story of his garage into a residence, at 27 Portola Avenue, Inverness Park. The side setback is only two feet, whereas 10 feet are required. Hayburn withdrew the application, saying he would reapply for a studio guest house instead.

45 Boxes Of Peru Quake Items Ready

Forty-five boxes of clothing, food and soap have been contributed to Peruvian earthquake victims by Marinites and more donations continue to arrive at a Corte Madera collection point.

Most of the clothing donated has been new articles, said Jo Toso, who has been receiving the donations at her residence at 26 Sonora Way. The 45 boxes collected between Thursday night and yesterday were delivered to Peruvian authorities in the Bay Area yesterday, and further contributions will be delivered when a truckload has been gathered, she said.

Mrs. Toso called the Marin response "a beautiful experience," and said many residents of the neighborhood are helping to pick up, sort and pack the gifts.

Mrs. Jean Wellinger of 36 Sonora Way, president of the Granada School Parent-Teacher Club, is handling telephone inquiries about the collections.

Mrs. Toso said that in order to coordinate efforts she would like to learn of any other Marin groups collecting for Peruvian victims.

Youths Booked In Ransacking Case

Two Petaluma teen-agers have been arrested on suspicion of burgling and ransacking the Little League pavilion at Lucchesi Park, Petaluma.

Sgt. Dennis DeWitt yesterday arrested Ronald Andrews, 16, of 1294 Ramona Lane, and Jose Arteaga, 16, of 231 Wilson Street, for burglary and malicious mischief.

Police accused them of breaking into the pavillion Saturday night and stealing $333 in food and candy stored there by the American Little League of Petaluma. He said that all but $10 worth of food had been recovered.

The boys were cited to appear before juvenile authorities June 18.

Panama Wants Escapers' Return

PANAMA (AP) — The Panamanian government is asking the United States to return three colonels who engineered the one-day coup last December against Brig. Gen. Omar Torrijos. The trio escaped Monday and fled to the U.S.-administered Canal Zone.

Foreign Minister Juan Antonio Tack said he sent a telegram demanding the prisoners' return and would follow it with a written request.

A Canal Zone spokesman said the former National Guard colonels — Ramiro Silvera, Amado Sanjur and Luis Nenzen Franco —were being held as "political refugees," along with a sergeant who helped them escape. A fourth colonel charged in the coup, Juan D. Bernal, remains in jail in Panama.

Police Fracas Plea Set For Tomorrow

Raymond D. Miner, 19, of Santa Rosa, was arraigned yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court for assault on a police officer.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon set bail at $1,250 and scheduled Miner to enter a plea tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. Miner is accused of attempting to strike Petaluma Sgt. Jimmy J. Matthews Saturday during a disturbance on West Street.

Zucker Supported 2-to-1 By Department Planners

Professional planners of the Marin County Planning Department stand better than 2-to-1 in favor of retaining Paul C. Zucker as department head.

Eight professional planners signed a letter to be presented to the Marin County Board of Supervisors today, urging the retention of Zucker, who ran unsuccessfully against Supervisor Chairman John F. McInnis.

"His work has advanced orderly development of the county to meet the needs of its people and preserve its natural environment, and he is held in high professional and personal regard by the staff," said the letter.

"Although we recognize that there has been much conflict and controversy surrounding this entire issue, we urge that the board of supervisors retain Paul C. Zucker in his present position because of his demonstrated ability and his imaginative, forward-thinking leadership for Marin County.

It was signed by planners Raymond J. Ahearn, Jan E. Medbo, E. Ross Parkerson, W. Ray Smith, John C. Hau, Thomas E. Cordill and Marjorie Macris.

Those who did not sign were Ralph D. Cairns, Rowland Darnell, Ray Collins, and Walter S. Horchler.

Smith presented the letter to the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday. He explained three others were not asked to sign. H. Rune Carlson is away on vacation, and Werner Von Gundell and Albert Solnit, Zucker's top lieutenants, were not asked to sign because they are next in line for Zucker's job, said Smith.

Last Friday, County Administrator Alan Bruce recommended Zucker's dismissal, and the matter was to be considered ahis afternoon by the supervisors.

Zucker was given leave of absence from March 19 to today, when he announced his candidacy against McInnis.

Air Base Tests Re-Entry Vehicle

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — An experimental re-entry vehicle was test-launched down the Western Test Range over the Pacific Ocean this morning from the Space and Missile Test Center here, the Air Force announced.

The re-entry vehicle hurled aloft by an Atlas F booster at 5:23 a.m. was being tested as part of the Advanced Ballistic Reentry System program, the Air Force said.

The launching was directed by the 6595th Aerospace Test Wing, a spokesman said.

Jet Passenger Faces Gun Count

ROME (UPI)—Police today arrested an Italo-American veteran of the Vietnam war following a shooting incident aboard a Pan American jet flight from New York to Rome.

Police charged Aldo Caputo, 21, of San Pietro in Guarano, Italy, and Willoughby, Ohio, with possession of weapons and ammunition. They said they found a pistol and an automatic rifle in his possession.

Authorities said Pan Am Flight 110 was over the eastern Atlantic at 5 a.m. when a shot was heard in a lavatory in the center of the plane. When a steward checked, Caputo told him a cigarette lighter had exploded.

Another passenger then told the steward he had seen Caputo leave the compartment carrying a pistol. The captain questioned Caputo and found a .38 caliber revolver in his possession.

Mill Valley Trustees Rap War, Inflation

The Mill Valley School District board last night expressed concern over the expansion of the war in Southeast Asia and the effect it is having on educating children in the district.

Supt. James A. Collins said the trustees voted 4-0 to send a statement to President Richard M. Nixon pointing out that war-caused inflation is cutting into funds earmarked for the middle school. John G. Eliot Jr. was absent.

"The cost of education has risen because of inflation" the board's statement said. "The effec has been to reduce the size and quality of a school for which our community has waited for some time. In effect, our school children are subsidizing the war."

Trustees said they didn't claim to speak for the entire community on the issue. "We do not purport to represent the majority of voters or parents in the district," the statement said. "There has been no referendum and we make no assumptions as to how many constituents in our district will agree with us."

Nevertheless, Colliss said, trustees felt they had a right and an obligation to make a statement on the local effect of the war.

Mill Valley School District Board Also:

CAL-FONG — Adopted a statement tightening up conditions for granting an easement over school property to Cal-Fong Investment Co. for a road to serve a planned subdivision in Alto Bowl. Conditions include a no-right-turn provision from the new access road to Lomita Drive, that the road not be used as a point of entry for other subdivisions, and that the district may revoke the easement if the second condition is not met.

BUDGET — Heard a report from Carroll D. Killingsworth, director of business services, that the county schools office has told the district that its preliminary budget is too optimistic about expected income.

BOND ELECTION — Heard a report that the June 2 election to raise the allowable interest rate on $260,000 in bonds can pass. Trustees set another election for Sept. 15 to raise the interest rate on $760,000 in previously authorized bonds from 5 to 7 per cent.

SALARIES — Heard a report from Collins on progress in negotiating salaries with the Mill Valley Teachers Association. The board agreed to seek as a goal a 5.6 per cent cost-of-living wage increase for teachers.

LEAVE — Granted a one-year leave to Lyda Stokes, teacher at Edna Maguire School, for personal reasons.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations from Stacia Horn, Edna Maguire teacher, who is leaving to marry, and Calvin Nicholson, custodian at Edna Maguire, for personal reasons.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired teachers Patricia Pigman, Park School, $7,836 a year; Gretchen Bixby, Edna Maguire, $7,836; Thompson Walker, Edna Maguire, $11,445; and Barbara Stevenson, Edna Maguire, $9,522.

tanks against entrenched guerrillas and that at least two of the armored vehicles had been hit by guerrilla fire. Other sources said all traffic in the Jordanian capital was brought to a complete standstill as the soldiers and guerrillas exchanged gunfire from rooftops.

The cultural attache of the French embassy, Yves Aubyn, was shot three times in the back today and his condition was reported serious.

Aubyn, 35, was shot by Jordanian Bedouin troops during the fighting with guerrillas, West German television reporter Heinz Medlitzky said.

Medlitzky said Aubyn was shot at a roadblock near the French embassy.

"I was approaching in the opposite direction when I saw a dead guerrilla. The Frenchman's car stopped and army troops opened fire.

"We shouted 'Civilians! Civilians!' But they just kept on firing."

Medlitzky, whose shirt was covered with the diplomat's blood, said he took Aubyn to the Italian hospital in Amman.

The U. S. embassy was guarded like an armed camp. Embassy officials said on the telephone no attempt has been made to approach the embassy.

Embassy spokesmen said First Secretary Morris Draper, 42, who was kidnaped and released by the PFLP Monday, "is back at work today."

Draper was kidnaped to enforce release of the jailed guerrillas, accordin to the PFLP announcement. He was later freed although their demands were not met. Guerrilla sources said 104 persons were killed or captured in Sunday's fighting.

Guerrilla spokesmen said at least nine commandos were killed or wounded during the initial exchanges of gunfire in widely separated sectors of the Jordanian capital. There was no immediate report of Jordanian army or civilian casualties.

A spokesman for the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) in Beirut, commenting on the reported cease-fire agreement, said: "This is nothing more than wishful thinking on the Jordanian government side. Fighting is still going on in all parts of Amman and guerrillas are under maximum alert."

The PLO radio in Cairo urged Jordanian troops not to shoot against Palestinians. "All our rifles should be aimed against the enemy (Israel), not against one another," the broadcast said. At the same time, it pledged the guerrillas would continue to fight against "imperialist conspiracies" and to deal with (Jordanian) hirelings" as they deal with Israelis.

PRIMITIVE SIMPLICITY — Rough, blackened clay and direct simplicity of design are characteristic of Hal Hiegger's Raku ceramics. "Wall Face," is included in an exhibit of his work at Anima Mundi Gallery, Mill Valley.

ART REVIEW

Ancient Pottery Idea Has Followers Today

By MARY LOU STRIBLING

The art of Raku dates back many centuries to techniques used in the making of Japanese ceremonial tea bowls. It differs from conventional processes in that the pot is removed from the kiln while the glaze is still molten and is plunged into sawdust, straw, leaves, paper or other combustible substances, which ignite and consume the oxygen in the atmosphere around it. This phase, called "reduction," causes dramatic changes in the glaze and clay which can be observed by the potter while they are taking place. He also can manipulate them to some extent through timing and the introduction of additional elements.

But, according to Hal Riegger, a Mill Valley artist and author, there is a great deal more to Raku than the physical methods which produce it. As defined in his new book, "Raku, Art and Technique," published by Van Nostrand — Reinhold Co. the true appeal of this art form may arise from its philosophy and its special challenge: ". . . The opportunity to respond to the clay, the glaze, the fire, and the moment with imagination and art."

An exhibit of Riegger's work in Anima Mundi Gallery, Mill Valley, will be displayed through July 11. It is well suited to a small room for these are not objects to be viewed at great distances. They beg close observation and intimate appraisal, and invite the dimension of touch as well as sight.

Riegger has moved beyond the making of tea bowls to such things as sculptures, wall plaques, and "treasure" boxes. His work is characterized by rough textures and thick, crusty glazes which sometimes pick up an iridescent gleam. The clay is often sooty with the ancient quality of eroded artifacts, but its special crudity suggests an elusive sophistication arising from concept rather than surface treatment.

Certain themes and symbols recur consistently. Mask-like faces slashed into bowls and slabs are executed with the primitivist's economy of detail. Hand prints, finger prints, plant impressions, and marks of improvised tools contribute to an element of humanness which is usually carefully erased from sleeker forms of ceramics.

In his book Riegger states that Raku in no sense can be undertaken by following prescribed rules or a series of directions, but this does not imply that the technique is merely a kind of planned accident. He asserts that: ". . . The finest in Raku can only be achieved by the disciplined potter."

The craftsman in any creative field who best knows the rules can most successfully break them and perhaps the potter who fully understands the emotional need to deviate from an acceptable norm can most fully appreciate the outcome. In this regard Raku could be called a "potter's pot."

On the other hand, its increasing popularity among amateurs and collectors alike indicates that participation in the work itself is universally exciting, and while the results are unpredictable, they are pleasant to live with.

Marinwood Drops Plans For Creek Foot Bridge

The Marinwood Community Services District board last night deleted from its proposed fiscal 1970-71 budget a $3,000 item for construction of a foot bridge across Miller Creek at Miller Creek School.

The board scrapped the bridge according to secretary Genevieve T. Bolding, in favor of an additional tennis court and lights for two existing courts at a cost of $11,000.

Mrs. Bolding said the board agreed that the new court and lighting was of higher priority than the bridge which would only benefit those residents living on the "berry" streets off Lucas Valley Road.

The secretary added that the board had earlier considered funding bridge material in hopes that the Army Corps of Engineers would provide labor. The Army, however, has not indicated interest in the project, she said.

While none of the items in the proposed $207,785 budget has been approved, the board said last night it favored a new tennis court and lights because they would benefit the entire community, Mrs. Bolding reported.

This year's budget amounted to $173,460 with a tax rate of $1,23 per $100 assessed valuation. The proposed rate for next year is $1.35, according to the secretary.

The board took no other action last night, but set Monday at 8 p.m. for its next budget session.

Mrs. Bolding added that several regular agenda items also will be considered Monday to ease the load from the next regular meeting June 23.

$1,700 Earned From Auction For Peace Groups

An art auction at College of Marin Sunday earned $1,700 for peace groups, it was reported today.

Ann Jack, manager of the college art gallery, estimated that 95 per cent of more than 1,000 pieces of sculpture, pottery, painting and other donated work were sold at the silent auction.

The auction was a highlight of Sunday's campus open house, which also included films, tapes and discussions by college departments, a poetry reading, and a talk by a member of the Committee of Responsibility, a group providing medical care for war-injured Vietnamese children.

Part of the auction receipts will go to the Marin Peace Coalition and distribution of the remainder among peace groups is yet to be determined by the participating artists.

Fairfax Rejects Cable TV Firm's Proposals

The Fairfax City Council last night again tried to improve its cable television picture, and its pocketbook as well, but again put off renegotiating its cable franchise.

Clear View Cable Systems Inc. submitted three new proposals last night, but none was satisfactory to the council.

The company's representatives said they were not authorized to approve a proposal made by the council.

The major issues of how much Fairfax residents will pay the company and how much the company will pay the city got lost occasionally as the council tried to determine if Clear View really exists.

The city's franchise to Clear View was granted in 1964 and is indeterminate in duration. The franchise allows the company to offer three plans — the higher the connection charge, the lower the monthly rate — and gives the city 2 per cent of the company's Fairfax revenue.

Last month, the company proposed that the franchise be limited to 15 years, all connection charges be refunded, a basic $6 a month rate established, but no change in the 2 per cent to the city.

One of the three proposals presented by the company last night limited the contract to 20 years, set the rate at $6, but didn't change the 2 percent. Another put the contract to 25 years, a $6 rate, and raised the city's share to 5 per cent. The third set the contract for 15 years, a $5.50 rate, and the 2 per cent for the city.

Mayor Frank J. Egger said if the company would offer a $5 rate, with 5 per cent to the city, for 15 years, the council would accept it. But attorney Joseph Sheeks, representing the company, said he was not authorized to approve such a proposal.

City Administrator Frances Lestanguet said every other city in Marin has a $5 rate with the cities getting from 2 to 5 per cent. She asked the council to determine who is the owner of the franchise.

Sheeks said Clear View owned all its equipment and the franchise, but Columbia Broadcasting System had acquired the company's stock.

City Atty. Wallace Myers asked Sheeks why the letterhead of the company's financial statement which had been presented to the council read "Tele-Vue Inc., Clear View Cable Division."

Sheeks said CBS had acquired the stock of both.

Mrs. Lestanguet asked why the city's payment from the company last year came on a Tele-Vue check.

Leonard Bergseth, area manager for Tele-Vue and Clear View, replied that a central accounting department does bookkeeping for the two companies.

Indian Blackout Order Reported

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The order to cut off electricity to Indian-occupied Alcatraz Island came from the White House, the Coast Guard says.

Since occupying the former federal prison last Nov. 20 and claiming the land as their own, the Indians had relied on power from a cable to a lighthouse on the island. It was shut off May 28.

"The White House told us to deny electricity to the Indians," Capt. Charles Scharfenstein, local Coast Guard commandant, told newsmen Monday.

It was reported that the cutoff was a preliminary step toward getting the Indians off the island so that it could be made into a national park.

The Indians had a portable power generator working Monday night.

Bomb Of Matches Burns 2 Children

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two children were injured seriously Monday night when a homemade bomb they found in a trash bin exploded, police said.

Hospitalized with burns on their upper bodies and faces were David Larkin, 9, and his sister Margaret Pullen, 6.

Police said the children found the cylindrical object, believed to have been loaded with matchheads, in a debris box outside their apartment.

Officers said the explosive went off when one child lit it with a match while their mother was in the next room.

Lagunitas Tax Election Aids Budget

The Lagunitas School District Board — reprieved from budget cutbacks by a tax rate increase — last night discussed a $413,444 budget for the next school year.

Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff said the 90-cent per $100 assessed valuation tax increase approved by the voters adds about $54,000 to school funds if the full levy is used.

He said the board had previously discussed cuts of $47,000 from last year's budget of $384,730 in case the tax increase failed.

The new budget is scheduled for preliminary adoption at the next meeting, June 22 with publication in July and final adoption in August, according to McCunniff.

He said the board now will not have to make cuts such as eliminating the librarian, some classroom teachers, a guidance counselor, and participation in the Fairfax School District summer school program.

The board also discussed whether to retain a full-time teacher for the educationally handicapped even though state funds will only cover a part-time one, McCunniff said. No action was taken, he said.

The board also passed a resolution that the board may increase teacher salaries after July 1 if money is available, McCunniff said.

The operating tax rate limit was raised from $2.65 to $3.55 per $100 assessed valuation by the Lagunitas district voters June 2. McCunniff said the preliminary budget will require the full levy unless additional state funds become available.

The Lagunitas School District board also:

LEAVE — Granted a one-year leave of absence to Sarah Napier, a part-time counselor for the district. Her husband has been transferred to Seattle, Wash.

RESIGNATION — Took no action on a request from teacher David A. Coughlin to ignore his resignation. The board said it had already accepted the resignation, according to McCunniff.

DRUG ABUSE — Heard a report on the district's drug abuse program. McCunniff said a position statement will be presented to the board for approval June 22.

RECOGNITION — Passed a resolution praising retiring teacher Lydia Smith for 31 years of teaching — 14 in the Lagunitas district.

INSURANCE — Approved an agreement for a $25 athletic insurance policy with North American Life and Casualty Co. of San Francisco.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to the next regular meeting June 22.

Limit Is Lifted On Recordings

Beginning today, Sausalito residents will be allowed to take out as many phonograph records as they like from the city library, the Sausalito Library board agreed last night, according to Dorothy M. Thomas, acting city librarian. In the past, individuals could only sign out three records at one time, she said.

The board also voted not to charge the regular 5-cent-a-day fee for records on Sundays and holidays.

Directors set Friday, June 19, as the date for interviews with 11 applicants for the post of city librarian. Applicants will be interviewed by an oral board set up by Acting City Mgr. H. Eric Borgwardt.

The new librarian will replace Kathleen Worsley, who held the job for one year, and resigned April 30 for personal reasons.

In addition, the board asked Mrs. Thomas to find out the cost of microfilming old copies of the Sausalito News, dating from 1885 to 1926. Copies of the now-defunct newspaper are kept in bound volumes in the library, according to Mrs. Thomas.

African Nations Heal Old Split

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP) — King Hassan II of Morocco and President Mokhatar Ould Daddah of Mauritania buried a nine-year-old enmity Monday with a treaty or friendship and pledged joint efforts to "liberate" Rio de Oro Spain's Sahara territory between them.

Moroccan sources said the two countries would collaborate with Algeria and other countries in exploiting the territory's huge phosphate resources after Spanish rule ends.

The United Nations has called for self determination of the territory's 30,000 nomadic inhabitantes and has rejected Spanish plans for limited independence in Rio de Oro. But the Spanish government shows no indication of bowing to the United Nations.

Key To Door Stirs Ruckus Over Fairfax Youth Panel

A locked door and a request for a key raised the question last night as to whether the Fairfax Youth Commission is an official agency of the Fairfax City Council.

The question was raised when the youth commission chairman, Judi Cummings, asked the council for a key to the Fairfax Women's Club where the commission meets.

City Administrator Frances Lestanguet explained that it was city policy that a key be given only to adults.

Miss Cummings asked that an exception be made, since the young people were an official city commission — a point disputed by City Atty. Wallace Myers.

A lengthy discussion ensued, ending with two tie votes, nothing solved and the commission going home without a key, and its status ambiguous.

"You're different. You have complete control over funds and your officers," Myers told Miss Cummings.

Councilman Robert R. Souza moved that the city administrator prepare a report on the status of the commission, but Mayor Frank J. Egger said he thought the group was "a regular city commission."

"They are a private organization of young people in this city," Myers argued.

Councilman Lee Nelder said he considered the commission an "advisor group with no official status."

"They wrote themselves off," Myers continued. "They resisted the idea that the council have anything to do with their members."

At the request of the council, Mrs. Lestanguet read from the minutes of the council meeting at which the commission was approved and given "the power and duty to advise the Fairfax City Council on programs and methods of involving youths in the areas of planning, decision making and activities which concern the youth of this community."

With the minutes read, Myers said, "I think you have invited these people to advise you from time to time. But what difference does it make really?"

Egger said the park and recreation commission was advisory, But Myers argued that the council appoints its members.

Miss Cummings reminded the council that it had approved the way the youth commission was to be selected — election by the city's young people.

"The language is very permissive" Souza said and repeated his motion to have Mrs. Lestanguet prepare a status report.

Myers again asked "what's the difference" if the commission is official or not. They want to advise, they can, he said. "You've given them the power and duty to advise the council. Any citizen in Fairfax can do this," he said.

Councilman Francis J. O'Connell said he agreed with Myers but attempted to bring the discussion back to the question of the key.

Miss Cummings explained it was a matter of her neighbors getting tired of going down to the city offices to pick up the key, and she asked if one of the councilmen would agree to do it.

O'Connell moved a substitute for Souza's motion which proposed that the councilmen, on a rotating basis, attend the meetings of the youth commission and get the key for them.

Miss Cummings was delighted. "All I want is somebody besides my neighbors that I have to drag down here," she said.

But Souza wouldn't stand for it. He argued that O'Connell's substitute motion was out of order because it was not on the same subject as his.

"We should vote on mine first," he said.

The council did, and, with Councilman Cornelis Van Vliet absent, got nowhere. Souza and Neder voted for the status report. Egger and O'Connell voted against.

O'Connell again moved his proposal, and the vote was the same.

Span Crashes Hurt Four, None Serious

Two four-car accidents on the Golden Gate Bridge last night snarled traffic and injured four persons, none seriously, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said the first accident occurred at 7:07 p.m. when a southbound car driven by Anthony J. Melhuish, 34, of 380 Ebbtide Avenue, Apt. 7, Sausalito, skidded on wet pavement and crossed the center divider, striking a car driven by Margaret F. Williams, 50, of San Francisco.

The Williams car then struck one driven by James G. Bolen, 35, of 25 Alexander Avenue, Apt. 3, Sausalito, which was in turn hit in the rear by a car driven by Kenneth R. Byron, 38, of 15 La Cresta Drive, Petaluma, the patrol reported.

Melhuish was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts on the scalp, hands and forehead. Mrs. Williams was to see her own physician for unspecified minor injuries.

Eight minutes later, the patrol said, a car driven by June M. Durm, 50, of Daly City, struck a line of cars stopped on the northbound side of the bridge, damaging vehicles driven by Shelton Hunter, 35, of San Francisco; James E. Brewster, 44, of 205 Trinidad Drive, Tiburon, and Ellen W. Kohks, 32, of 69 Spruce Road, Fairfax.

Mrs. Durm and a passenger, Iris J. Bartlett, 34, of Daly City, were to see their own physicians for unspecified injuries.

Deputies Ask Overtime For Resort Duty

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Sheriff's Department yesterday asked for overtime pay for extra deputies needed to quell disturbances in resort areas on the Russian River.

The board of supervisors noted that it had never denied requests for overtime pay after an emergency situation had occurred, but hesitated to give a blanket endorsement to overtime for deputies in the Guerneville substation.

HOLIDAY BUILDUP

Sgt. Winfield Thibodeau of the substation said that Memorial Day and other holiday weekends have attracted between 750,000 and 100,000 persons to the area and that his substation with three patrol cars and six men per shift could not handle all the calls.

Thibodeau said something must be done to step up enforcement on weekends to control the large number of young people congregating there from the Bay Area as well as motorcycle gangs that have begun regular weekend invasions.

The officer said that many persons from Marin and the Bay Area are afraid to use their summer homes and that some businesses are considering closing down for the Fourth of July weekend to avoid trouble.

Undersheriff Joseph Cozzolino said that off duty officers must be called in on weekends and that some incentive other than compensatory time off should be guaranteed before the men give up their weekends and holidays.

TROUBLE ANTICIPATED

Thibodeau said that trouble can be anticipated to some extent and that the situation should be kept under control before major riots occur.

The supervisors said they would study the request and await a report from the county administrator's office before making a decision.

According to the county salary ordinance, all overtime pay must be authorized in advance while time off for overtime need not.

County Administrator David L. Nichols said he was against giving the sheriff's department carte blanche in overtime pay and that the effect on other county employees also must be considered.

Some Reminders Of Last Week's Primary

Here and there in Marin and Southern Sonoma a few lonely reminders of the June 2 election still stand, but most candidates reported yesterday that their signs are all down — as far as they know.

Only Hubert O. Pessner, a loser in his race for the Republican nomination for state senator from the Fourth District, and Howard K. Morehouse, who lost in his bid for the Marin Municipal Court judgeship, said they knew of signs still standing.

Pessner said the only sign he had up — a mobile sign off Highway 101 in Corte Madera — is still there because a victorious candidate is negotiating to use it for the November elections.

Morehouse said a sign in Novato will come down tomorrow.

Otherwise candidates said all their signs are down, but admitted there may be a few strays still pushing candidates for the June 2 election.

Peter H. Behr has removed all his signs, according to his campaign headquarters. Behr bested Pessner and two others for the Republican nomination.

The other two, Raymond H. Shone and Donald Pinkerton, were unavailable for comment.

Fifth District candidates for the Marin County Board of Supervisors, J. Wayne Womack and Arnold Baptiste, reported that to their knowledge, all signs were removed the day after the election, but one of Baptiste's remained today on South Novato Boulevard near Diablo Avenue.

Paul C. Zucker, loser in the First District to John F. McInnis, said all his signs are down. McInnis could not be reached.

Six of the 12 candidates for Municipal Court judge — including Robert A. Smallman and Ernest C. Zunino, the two voted into a November runoff — said their signs are down.

A few political signs still litter Southern Sonoma with most belonging to candidates looking forward to the November race or those from out of the area whose local supporters have disappeared.

Supervisor candidates Philip L. Joerger and Richard R. Day, successful in last Tuesday's primary, have removed most of their large signs,but the smaller ones remain.

Signs for three candidates for state Board of Equalization from outside the area remain on the streets. They include Democratic candidate Harry F. Sublett and John C. Williamson and Republican John M. Mayfield Jr.

Child Day Care Plans Given Nod

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved a child day care center for 1900 Novato Boulevard, according to Planning Director Brian W. Mattson.

Willard F. Petersen applied for the center to be called the Dolphin Club. It will be limited to 60 children.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

HOUSES — Approved plans for location of houses on 58 hillside lots in Bahia unit 1-B at the end of Bugeia Lane.

RECOMMENDATIONS — Recommended to the Marin County Planning Commission that it have 10,000 square-foot, half-acre and one-acre lots in the unincorporated areas outside the city and a density of 1.8 dwellings per acre in Bel Marin Keys Unit 3

APARTMENTS — Approved plans for a 96-unit apartment project using shingles on the second floor of two of the five buildings on Alameda del Prado south of the Ignacio Overpass for Irving Caster.

CONTINUED —Continued until 8 p.m. June 22, consideration of the San Marin East master plan for the area west of Highway 101 at San Marin Drive for Standard Growth Properties; the 92-unit Cow Barn apartments on South Novato Boulevard west of Highway 101 for Allan Steinau and plans for a Pizza Hut for the southeast corner of Machin and DeLong Avenues for Ben Ostlind.

$190 Fine And Probation On Battery Charge

Kirby Lane Hadley, 29, of Mill Valley, has been placed on probation for one year and fined $190 by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court for a marijuana conviction.

Hadley had earlier pleaded guilty to a reduced misdemeanor count of possessing pot. He had first been charged with felony counts of growing and possessing it.

Police were called to the Hadley residence on Dec. 8 by a neighbor who said someone was trying to enter the house. When officers arrived, they found prymarks around the door and entered to search for a burglar.

Instead, they found marijuana, and Hadley and his wife were arrested when they arrived home a short time later. At the time of Hadley's plea of guilty, charges against his wife were dimsissed.

San Anselmo Eases Job, Cuts Salary

San Anselmo's parks and recreation director, Frank L. Quinn, will be relieved of his park maintenance duties and become city recreation director, the San Anselmo City Council ordered last night.

The change will take effect July 1 and Quinn's salary will drop to $850 a month from his present $1,100, reported Mayor James F. Reed.

Reed said the change came on Quinn's complaint that the dual job was too great a work load for one man to handle. The council met in closed session to discuss the complaint.

While no action was taken on the point last night, park maintenance probably will be transferred to the public works department, Reed said. He said the city probably will hire a park maintenance supervisor rather than a director of parks. The supervisor's position was budgeted last year but the city never hired anyone to fill it, Reed said.

Two citizens' advisory task forces will spend the 1970-71 school year sturying differentiated staffing and the district's reporting system, the Kentfield School District board was told last night.

Claudette Josephson, chairman of the citizens' advisory council, said the two groups will report next year. The staffing study will start this summer and the study of reporting will start in September, reported Supt. Anthony G. Bacich.

The board also heard year-end reports from the four principals. Plans for next year, Bacich said, include possible expansion of electives and foreign language programs for seventh and eighth graders at Adaline E. Kent School, a cutback in non graded programs at Wolfe Grade School, and possible combining of classes at Adaline E. Kent because of enrollment drops.

The board set a special meeting to discuss teacher salaries at 3 p.m. Thursday in the library of Wolfe Grade School.

Parker Lee Will Lead Study Body

Parker Lee, student body vice president at San Rafael High School, has been elected student body president for the fall term. He defeated Greg Fink and Ranier Herptz.

According to student spokesman Kendrick Courter, Lee will choose a vice president, secretary and treasurer next fall.

Tom Eggleston was elected senior class president. He defeated Ray Griffen, John Grupe, Mike Patrick and Holly Vernon.

Ada Goldberg was elected junior class president defeating Gladys Mendelson, Kim Colombini, Pam Finn and Debbie Plotkin.

Elected sophomore president was George Plank. He defeated Dan Alderson, Robin Bacci and Craig Bacharach.

The new presidents will choose cabinet members next fall to serve with them, Miss Courter reported.

Elected junior varsity yell leaders were The Boys, including Terry Coleman, Diane Bessee, Karen Ragen, Meridith Mills, Paula Richards and Rochelle Rebsamen.

New varsity yell leaders are Blood, Sweat and Sheers, including Alison Sargent, Debbie Noble, Jack Paulsen, Kate Doherty, Gary Dahl and Peter Hoenig.

Newly elected song leaders include Gidget Gragg, Kathy McGrath, Beth Prescott, Donna Bortfeld, Debbie Dickson, Elena Bales and Nancy Thelen.

School policy prohibits making public the vote tally for fear of embarrassing the losing candidates, Miss Courter said.

Licenses Are Now In Computer

SACRAMENTO (CNS) Transfer of driver license information from file drawers to computer tape has been completed, six months ahead of schedule, the Department of Motor Vehicles has announced.

And any information in a driver's record will be available in less than a minute in most cities and county seats through the new California Law Enforcement Telecommunications System.

The information has always been available to law enforcement officers by mail or teletype after a file search, but the time involved often led to a driver being treated as a first offender when his record actually showed prior offenses.

"This is a good time to remind every California motorist that every time he has a traffic citation and is found guilty in court or forfeits bail, the fact is entered in his 'violation point count' record," Director Robert C. Cozens said. "Most violations count one point; major violations count two."

Three violations in a year, six in two years or eight in three flag a driver as negligent and he can expect a warning letter from DMV.

A driver's record also tells whether he has ignored a traffic citation by being a no show in court or has failed to pay a fine. In either case he won't get his license renewed until he has settled with the court.

Auto Accident Hurts Vallejo Woman, 45

Orne Gutter, 45, of Vallejo, was treated for a cut on her lower right leg at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital after being injured in a one car accident at 5:10 p.m. on Nave Drive north of the north gate at Hamilton.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Mary Lee Ervin, 41, of Vallejo, which skidded out of control on the wet pavement, according to police.

Suffers Concussion

Adrew M. Carson, 31, of 71 Park Road, Fairfax, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with a concussion and a cut left eyebrow suffered at 7:42 p.m. yesterday when her car hit a utility pole at San Anselmo Avenue and Center Boulevard, San Anselmo police reported.

Cliff Climb Mishap Hurts Marinite

A 53-year-old San Rafael man was treated at Marin General Hospital Friday following a cliff climbing accident in Tiburon.

Gilbert W. Morgan of 45 Harte Avenue received minor back and hip injuries after falling from a 30-foot embankment near 25 Harbor Oak Drive, the Tiburon Fire Department reported yesterday.

125 Meet In Sausalito, Form Businessmen's Association

Robert D. Bauerle, co-owner of Brotman's Gift Shop, has been chosen president of the Sausalito Businessmen's Association, a new group formed "to protect the interests of the Sausalito business and residential communities."

Sally Stanford, owner of the Valhalla Inn, was elected vice president at last night's organizational meeting, attended by 125 Sausalito merchants.

Other officers are Anne Drever, of Telsec Business and Answering Service, secretary, and Harold Gutknecht, Swensen's Ice Cream, treasurer.

Named to the association's board of directors were Gutknecht, Thomas Burke of Ustec Inc.; Harold Hoobs, owner of the Sausalito Hotel; Frank Trojanowski, a Sausalito realtor, and William Wachter, owner of the Alta Mira Hotel.

Two directors are still to be named, according to Bauerle, who said Gordon C. Wright, a San Francisco attorney, will serve as the group's legal representative.

He said the association will include "an active city government committee (to be appointed) to meet with the Sausalito City Council to maintain a balance of cooperation and understanding between the council and the business community.

"We are not out to try to run the city council," said Bauerle, defeated in April in his try for a council seat. "We are only interested in receiving the recognition that is rightly ours, since we are responsible, directly or indirectly, for 60 per cent of all revenue that comes into the city.

The new president said the need for a strong businessmen's organization became apparent two weeks ago when the city-council banned parking in a two-block portion of downtown Bridgeway and set up sandbag barricades to enforce the ban.

"This council action has seriously hurt a great many downtown businesses," Bauerle said, "and it made us realize that the council probably does not really understand the problems of the business community."

He said the association will hold general meetings once a month on a date yet to be decided and directors will meet bimonthly.

"This is not a fly-by-night organization, built around any one issue," Bauerle said. "We are here to stay."

Transit Panel Takes Look At Budget

Marin County Transit District directors today accepted a proposed operating budget of $196,338 for 1970-71 and set a public hearing on the budget for 8:30 a.m. July 14.

In addition to the operating budget, the district has $667,242 in reserve funds accumulated through the transit tax rate of 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

James Robertson, acting transit manager, reported the following breakdown of the proposed 1970-71 budget:

Amount set aside for payment to the Golden Gate Bridge District for intra-county transit benefits to be received when the bridge district starts a bus transit system between Marin and San Francisco — $123,$89.

Cost of phase two of the balanced transportation study — $46,000.

STAFF SERVICES

Payment for staff services provided by County Public Works Department (Robertson is borrowed from public works to serve as transit manager) — $11,860.

Secretary-stenographer — $8,213.

Other costs such as supplies, insurance, telephone, and office equipment maintenance — $7,076.

Transit directors also set a meeting with Marin Transit Systems for 8:30 a.m. July 7 to decide whether the present $4,000 per month subsidy should continue.

FEEDER SERVICE

Marin Transit Systems is providing feeder bus service to the Tiburon Ferry. Reginald Tolbert, a director of the private bus firm, asked for the meeting with the transit directors to consider raising the subsidy.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell reported that the bus firm is losing between $2,300 and $8,700 per month and now has $13,500 in unpaid bills. If the company is to survive, the subsidy will have to be raised, said Mitchell.

"We just cannot give money away just because someone needs it," replied John F. McInnis, chairman.

"They are providing service which we requested," countered Michael Wornum. "We have all this money in reserve and it worries me that we cannot use some of it."

"If we're going to spend money in Southern Marin, I'm going to have some money spent in my area," declared William A. Gnoss of Novato.

The directors agreed that detailed discussions should be held up until the joint meeting on July 7.

The transit district's $4,000 per month subsidy to the Marin City bus firm will expire on July 15.

Session Delayed

The meeting of the Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission, scheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow, has been postponed until 8 p.m. June 17 because of a city council budget session tomorrow evening.

Reagan Appoints Upton To Board

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Dr. William F. Upton, former member of the Marin County Planning Commission, has been appointed by Gov. Ronald Reagan to the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board.

Upton, a dentist, lives in San Rafael.

Also named to the board was Barbara B. Eastman of Los Altos Hills, San Mateo County. Reagan made two appointments to each of the state's regional water boards to meet membership increases called for in legislation passed last year.

2 Car Crashes Take 3 Lives

HEALDSBURG (AP) — A Sonoma County woman and her son were killed Monday night when the car she was driving turned over during a rain storm.

The highway patrol said Florence Dickey and her son Patrick, both of nearby Windsor, were thrown from the skidding car at the on-ramp to U.S. 101.

In another accident, an unidentified woman was burned to death in her car early today when it crashed into a tree in Sonoma.

Balloon Gets Blame For Inmate Death

A San Quentin inmate who died Sunday apparently caused his own death by attempting to fish a small balloon filled with a suspected narcotic out of his chest.

Coroner's Investigator Keith Craig said today that Raymond S. Rivera, 33, of Santa Cruz, died from an abcess which formed on a puncture he caused by inserting a wire hook into his esophagus.

Craig said that an autopsy surgeon found a small balloon tied in a knot and containing a solid cake or purple material in the convict's chest area. Rivera had apparently punctured the balloon with the hook but had been unable to retrieve it.

The inmate, a convicted rapist, had been seen swallowing an object after he had a visitor on May 30. Craig said that the substance in the balloon will be analyzed but he theorized that it is either heroin or a barbiturate.

He did not know whether Rivera was trying to remove the substance so he could use it or because he was choking on it. The inmate was admitted to the prison hospital the day of the visit, with a wire protruding from his mouth.

Sewer Move Agreed By Novato Board

The Novato Sanitary District board last night approved an agreement with the state Division of Highways in which the state will pay $111,000 on the relocation of sewer mains for the Highway 101 bypass, according to Engineer-Manager Charles A. Joseph.

This will be part of a major improvement project for the district as well as relocating the mains, Joseph said. The federal government is expected to pay $82,000 toward the $321,000 project with the local district paying the balance, Joseph said.

The Novato Sanitary District board also:

DEBRIS BOXES — Received notice from Grange Debris Box Service of San Rafael that it would not place its boxes in Novato any more in violation of the Novato Disposal Service Franchise.

BAHIA — Approved sewer plans for Bahia Unit 2 of 67 lots for Bahia Del Norte Inc.

PUMPS — Authorized modification of pumps at the Novato treatment plant to cost $3,000.

EASEMENTS — Accepted sewer easements from the Meredith Wilson estate for a main off Lamont and Railroad Avenues and from Sono-Marin Builders for a main for Oaks Unit 1 subdivision.

HEARING — Set a public hearing on the master plan for 8 p.m. June 22 at the office of the North Marin County Water District.

Juvenile Hall Escaper Nabbed

A 14-year-old San Rafael boy who escaped from Marin Juvenile Hall Saturday night hours after he had been returned there by authorities was back in the hall again today.

San Rafael juvenile officers returned Patrick Ghilotti to custody again this morning, but another youth, Richard Frydenlund, 16, who escaped with him, was still missing today.

Juvenile authorities said that the boys broke away from a counsellor Saturday night when they were hanging out wet mops. A third youth who tried to escape was caught by the counsellor before he could get over a fence.

Big Money Shows Now Playing, And Admission Free

This is the time of year when the public should be attending in droves the meetings of all tax-levying bodies — to protect their pocketbooks.

They don't do it.

Not many are on hand as the county board of supervisors begins its attack on a $36 million budget, the county's biggest, which may call for a sharp increase in the tax rate.

Still fewer are in the audience as school boards tackle budgets increased over last year and calling for heavier tax bites wherever the districts have not already reached the maximum the voters will permit.

And practically nobody shows up for budget sessions of city councils and the boards of sanitary, water, community services and other special districts.

IT IS A FRUSTRATING experience to attend one of these budget sessions. Rarely are copies of the budget which is under study available for the public. And when they are, it is difficult to understand them.

Budget-makers become experts at concealing where the increases are by sleight-of-hand manipulation of the figures. For instance, this year the county administrator shows a sharp reduction in the budget for the county's central services operation, but it has not been reduced. He has simply transferred some of the items into the various departments' budgets.

School budgets are hardest of all to understand because they have to be drawn to meet the ridiculous, unrealistic requirements of a hodgepodge of statutes in the California Education Code. The result is that, even for an accountant, they just don't make sense.

NEVERTHELESS, there is some enlightenment to be gained by attending budget sessions. When the board takes half an hour discussing a $2,000 item, then airily approves a $200,000 item that may be no more important, a member of the audience is entitled to rise and cry, "What goes on here?" without having studied the fine print in the list of figures.

When school boards discuss making cuts will cause buildings to deteriorate, or prevent children from receiving adequate library service, the parent need not be an expert in either education or finance to know that he and his child are being jobbed. And he should say so.

THERE IS ANOTHER reason.

The special interest groups are always on hand for budget sessions. These are the people with an axe to grind, a hobby to promote. To them, their particular hobbies are all-important, whether they happen to be well baby clinics, outdoor education, or special beaches for nudists.

Because they are there, and vocal, their hobbies do not get cut. But something else in the budget which might be more important to many more people may be eliminated to save the bicycle trail or the special program to identify left-handed children with reading difficulties.

SO, IF YOU CARE how heavily and for what you'll be taxed next fall, now is the time to cancel the cocktail party or forego the favorite television show and put in appearance at City Hall, Civic Center, or wherever that budget meeting is held.

It'll pay you to do it. Literally.

Old Maxim Firmed: 'Ins' Tough to Beat

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The antiwar activists of the new politics are learning a maxim long accepted by practitioners of the old politics: It is easier to win by supporting incumbents than by trying to replace them.

Only four incumbents in Congress have been unseated so far this year in party primaries held in 18 states. The most conspicuous loser was the antiwar Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex.

The movement of U. S. troops into Cambodia prompted some of the antiwar youth groups to try lobbying and electioneering instead of demonstrating to change attitudes in Congress about the Vietnam war.

Pre-Cambodia organizations such as Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) and Referendum 70 were already trying to make their weight felt in selective primary contests. Where they and their new allies contributed to victories, they won more often by helping to renominate incumbents than by defeating them.

Although ADA is not a single-issue organization, it is giving priority to termination of the war in Vietnam. In Democratic senatorial primary contests so far, ADA endorsed the winners in Illinois, Montana and New Jersey and the losers in California, Pennsylvania, Texas and West Virginia.

In none of these states did the peace issue alone control the outcome.

Referendum 70 is recruiting volunteer campaign workers for "peace and new priorities" candidates who want them. Like ADA, the Referendum 70 Senate endorsements included Adlai E. Stevenson III, the Illinois Democratic winner, and Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N. J.

Also with ADA, Referendum 70's list included Rep. George E. Brown Jr., who lost the California Democratic Senate nomination to Rep. John V. Tunney, and Norval Reece, a losers in the Pennsylvania Democratic senatorial primary.

In congressional primary contests, the Referendum 70 list includes one Indiana incumbent and one challenger for a Republican seat in each of four states — California, Illinois, Pennsylvania and South Dakota. Its losers, all challenging incumbents, included two each in New Jersey and Oregon, and one in Kentucky.

When the new student movement was activated, attention swung first to New Jersey's 15th district. The Princeton-based Movement for a New Congress backed Lewis B. Kaden in the Democratic primary against Rep. Edward J. Patten, but Patten easily won renomination.

The Movement for a New Congress is supporting seven candidates in the New York City area in the June 23 primary. These include two incumbents and five challengers, one Republican and six Democrats.

Ronald V. Dellums, Berkeley, Calif., a Negro councilman, had student help in his June 2 Democratic primary victory over Rep. Jeffery Cohelan in California's seventh district. The winner said Cohelan waited too long to join foes of the war, but the ADA thought Cohelan had sound liberal credentials and stayed neutral.

One California Republican, Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., won renomination with the endorsement of the ADA and the Congressional Action Fund, a conglomerate of peace movement groups.

Idea For Ending World Conflicts

Today, while digging a ditch under the hot sun, I discovered what I think is a possible solution to the military problems we face in Indochina, Korea, West and East Europe and the Middle East.

Our problem began at the Yalta Conference when President Roosevelt initiated a foreign policy of division, allowing Mr. Stalin to dominate Eastern Europe. Since then we have let North Korea and China fall to the Communists, floundered in Vietnam, and recently extended our reach into Laos and Cambodia. Right now we are wondering if we should further involve ourselves in the Middle East crisis.

The crux of the problem is, that while we continue to exercise this division policy, we yet insist upon playing the role of world policeman. With one hand we wave the go-ahead signal to the Soviet Union and Communist China while at the same time raising the other to say stop . . .

I suggest that if the leaders of the United States, the Soviet Union and Communist China are truly sincere in their desire for peace, they work out a plan and put into reality a system of simultaneous withdrawal of all troops and weaponry from the above areas of conflict, and play solely the role of the observer, leaving these peoples to work out their own problems . . .

This is the idea, simultaneous withdrawal. It can be made a reality if the people of our country grasp it, favor it, and then apply pressure on our government . . .

Cambodia Editorial Draws Acclaim

I regret that your great editorial of May 7 (your letter to President Nixon) didn't come to my attention until today. Secretary Rogers, in testifying before a congressional committee on April 23, said exactly what I believe to be the case, when in asnwer to a question he said in substance, "Of course we are not going into Cambodia. That would undo everything we have been case, when in answer to a trying to accomplish."

De-escalation and negotiation was and is the only way in which we can hope to get out of Vietnam, and it is impossible for me to express the sickening feeling I had when I learned of Cambodia, and then of resumption of bombing of North Vietnam. The President must still believe in a "military victory," which has been proved impossible of achievement.

He and the vice president have divided the country as I have never seen it before, and almost totally alienated the young. By that total alienation he may have inadvertently given us cause for hope that the intolerable vandalism and violence on the campuses will be abated. All of us can help by publicly supporting the great moderates with words and money.

Congratulations again, and thank you for your editorial.

Poll Of Attorneys Held Injustice

Now the judge election is over, I can say it! Twelve well qualified candidates put their all into their campaigns and two came out the winners. The candidates that Mr. William G. Corrigan supported and touted did not win, place, or show. He did an injustice to all candidates by his personal poll, which intentionally and unjustifiably criticized many of the candidates. I wonder if Mr. Corrigan would withstand a poll?

Hairy And Dirty Pose Health Problem

The long-haired, shoeless, dirty hippies that have invaded our beautiful county are exercising all the rights that are offered in a democracy. I realize that they are people and have to live, eat, sleep and drink. But what bugs me is that they cannot stand the establishment and they still use our ice cream parlors, supermarkets, restaurants and other businesses.

The health department has a law in the books that does not permit dogs in a place where food is served or sold. I would rather see a dog in one of these places. Why is it the health department has been so lax in this very serious problem? The money hungry merchants haven't discouraged these parasites, either. The merchant has the right to refuse service to them, but does he have the guts to enforce his right? I don't think too many do, because everytime I go to a market, restaurant or ice cream parlor, I see at least 10 or 15 being served.

I think Monterey has a few men with strength and character. They are not paying unemployment benefits to the long haired, bearded, mother hubbard gals or micromini skirted.

I think it is high time that the silent majority start making a little noise — loud and clear.

Would Scuttle Burglary Roundup

For many weeks I have wodered what purpose is served by the list of reported residential burglaries published every Monday. In my opinion, this is strictly a matter between the individual(s) concerned and the law enforcement agency. Surely the person(s) who resort to this criminal act must find the information most helpful.

I, for one, think this Monday feature should be scuttled. Let's give more attention to the news and put less emphasis on the law breakers.

Effort To Unionize Grape Workers Disrupts, Gets Nowhere

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Some five years have elapsed since the United Farm Worker's Organizing Committee started its disruption of the California grape industry. And to date, the organization is no closer to organizing grape workers in the San Joaquin Valley than it was when it started.

Meanwhile, the futile attempts to organize have cost growers of table grapes untold thousands of dollars.

But even more important than the cost to the grape-growers is the fact that consumers have been deprived in some instances of their right to purchase a product on the open market, because it is barred by threats and coercion.

IT WOULD SEEM there should be some kind of a statute of limitations on the efforts to organize grape workers.

The union activists, operating under the questionable leadership of Cesar Chavez, have had more than a fair opportunity to bring workers into an organized group, and have failed.

Further efforts would appear to border on a racket, designed to support Chavez and his cohorts from the pittance dues collected from workers who might still want to go along with the phantasy that they might obtain some benefits from the union.

THESE ARE a few of the reasons why two California assemblymen are pressing for a federal investigation by the Congress of an eastern supermarket chain's decision to bar California table grapes from its shelves until the dispute between the UFWOC and the grape growers is settled.

This could mean forever, as there are no signs of the dispute being settled. The signs are that the organizing committee is losing even the power it started with.

The assemblymen supporting the proposed congressional investigation are William M. Ketchum, R-Paso Robles, and Kent H. Stacey, R-Bakersfield, whose districts embrace quite an area of California catering to the production of table grapes.

They contend that the public deserves the right to make its own decision as to what it can buy in the market place, and that growers should have the right to market crops. And as well, the farm worker should have the right to decide whether he wishes to join a union.

Moscow, Cars In Future, Plans Subway Expansion

By DUSKO DODER

MOSCOW (UPI)—Mayor Vladimir Promyslov says his city will expand its subway network by 124 miles during this decade.

"Without subways we can't do anything," he said. "We figured that it takes now about one hour for an average city resident to get to work. This time will be cut in half by the time we complete our plan.

"I know this is going to be costly,...but it will pay off in the end."

PROMYSLOV MADE the remarks in a conversation with visiting American astronaut Neil A. Armstrong. During their 45 minute exchange, the mayor outlined city problems and dwelt at length on transportation improvements.

Promyslov said the city's transportation system—including buses, subway and street cars—carries about 14 million persons daily. Most passengers use the 82-mile subway network, while about 4.5 million travel on city buses each day.

"We are well aware that we live in the automation age," Promyslov said. "While you may think that street traffic is manageable, we have calculated that by 1975 we'll have here in the city about 1,000,000 passenger cars."

MOSCOW THUS FAR has escaped major traffic problems such as beset New York City, Los Angeles or London, simply because of the lack of private automobiles.

"We are eliminating the street car network in the downtown area but not in the suburbs at this point," he said. "But we have realized that we have to rely more on the subway. We figure that we will have to construct more than 200 kilometers (124 miles) of subway lines and we'll do it."

Promyslov said road construction in the city is perhaps cheap, but it moves along slower "because you have to wreck lots of homes." The problem will become more pressing when the Soviet automobile industry begins its increased car production in 1971-72.

THE MOSCOW subway, which was completed in 1935, is perhaps the most efficient in the world, though Promyslov indicated that the city has to foot high bills each year.

The subway is equipped with computers, which program the arrival and departure times, intervals between trains, length of station stops and speeds.

For five kopeks (about five cents) one can ride anywhere in the city. During peak hours, trains arrive at any station every two minutes.

'Beauty Or Else' Campaign Not Pleasing All Petalumans

Beautification has become big business in Petaluma and has touched nearly every resident.

The beautification committee headed by Agnes McGilvra of radio station KTOB has launched its new offensive against ugliness with such intensity that even the most cynical person has been surprised.

No doubt the evangelistic fervor of the campaign was sparked by the receipt of a beautification award last year from the National Paint-Up, Clean Up, Fix-Up Bureau. While Petaluma was one of hundreds of cities receiving the honor, it was enough to urge leaders to double their efforts this year to bring a really meaningful award.

WHILE NO ONE will dispute that beautification has great merit, some residents seem to be wondering about the extent of the operation.

Near billboard-sized signs shouting "beautify" in bold colors flocked with abstract flowers have srpung up around the city. Drawing a major complaint has been the placement of one of the signs in Mary Park.

The park, overlooking Petaluma Boulevard North at Washington Street, is already beautiful. The sign reminding citizens of the importance to beautify has only detracted from the park.

IS THIS the desired effect of the beautification campaign? If such signs must go up, couldn't they be placed in a drab location that could use some color instead of marring an already lovely spot?

The committee chose the spot because it is a high traffic area, but is it really putting across the right message?

Hundreds of surprised Petalumans received letters from Mayor Helen Putnam asking them to be block chairmen in the campaign. Most rejected the thought of policing their neighbors.

Handbills appeared at doors of homes across the city, reminding residents that lawns not only should be mowed, but must have trimmed edges to look neat. If the resident would rather spend his time at some activity other than trimming grass he's not doing his part, should feel guilty, is the definte implication.

THE SAME PRACTICE is being used to some extent in Rohnert Park. The building inspector last week issued letters to 70 residents listing items that need attention on their homes.

As soon as the letters were received, City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan was hearing from irate residents shouting: "What business is it of yours to tell me to paint my trim: I'll paint it when I'm good and ready and not before."

While Callinan dislikes taking the abuse, he reports most residents comply with the suggested improvements in short order, making it all worthwhile.

Perhaps the next step for government will be requiring paint jobs on aging cars or making housewives pay weekly visits to the hairdresser — all in the name of beautification.

Chinese Scholar Tells How To Solve All U.S. Woes

WASHINGTON — People who have been wondering why things have been unraveling so badly in Washington these days may be interested in the explanation of a distinguished Chinese scholar who visited the Capitol last week. Dr. Chun Ling is an expert in Feng Sui, otherwise known as the study of things in relation to where they are placed.

"Americans," Dr. Chun Ling said, "do not put much significance into what is in good harmony and bad harmony, but if buildings are not in harmony with each other it is impossible for people to be in harmony."

DR. CHUN LING said that the most striking example of this could be illustrated by the fact that the White House faces north and the Capitol of the nation faces east and both have their backs to the Washington Monument. When buildings face in different directions, they do not have common goals.

"The Supreme Court faces Lincoln and that is good, but Lincoln from his tomb must look at the back of the Senate and House of Representatives, and this is bad."

Dr. Chun Ling also said, "It is very sad the President's office is located in the west wing of the White House, because this puts him on the side of the Pentagon and away from Health, Education and Welfare."

THE FENG SUI expert said it is no accident that the Pentagon is as strong as it is in Washington. "The Pentagon is much larger than the Capitol and White House, and the two smaller buildings cannot control the bigger one. Not only that, but the Pentagon has too many faces and too many entrances directed in all directions. This multifaceted design has forced the Pentagon to get involved in every direction it faces."

Dr. Chun Ling pointed something out to me that I had never noticed before, which shows you how important the study of Feng Sui can be.

"The Pentagon is across the Potomac River and that is why the State Department, Capitol and even the White House have no control over it."

ONE OF THE most interesting things that Dr. Chun Ling said was that because the White House faces north it looks on Lafayette Park. In the center of Lafayette Park is the Jackson Memorial consisting of four giant antique guns. These guns have dominated every recent President's thinking. When the President is trying to think, it's inevitable that the guns in Lafayette Park can suggest military solutions to world problems. Dr. Chun Ling believes the guns should be removed at once and replaced with flowers.

When studying the science of Feng Sue, Dr. Chun Ling says that it is very important to know on what axis our nation's leaders sleep. If they don't sleep on the same geographic poles, they can disrupt the flow of the earth's magentism.

I HAD MY doubts about Dr. Chun Ling's last statement, and so I did some Feng Sui research on my own. It appeared there was a lot to what he said. For example I discovered that Sen. Fulbright sleeps south to north and Martha Mitchell sleeps west to east. This is why they have never been able to see eye to eye on anything.

Vice President Agnew, on the other hand sleeps south by southeast. Most Eastern Establishment newspapermen and commentators sleep north by northeast. This, and only this, is what is causing the disharmony between the Vice President and the press.

I tried to find out what direction President Nixon sleeps to make my study complete, but Ron Ziegler, his press secretary, told me emphatically "The President never sleeps."

Ross Hospital Gets New Administrator

Charles E Womer, 33, of Mill Valley, has been hired as administrator of Ross General Hospital to succeed Dr. John C. Siemens, who has been promoted to full-time president of the Ross Medical Corp.

A native of San Jose, he received a degree in public health and medical administration at the University of California. He is unmarried and resides at 48 Coronet Avenue.

Siemens, hospital administrator since 1955, has taken over full-time duties as president of the Ross Medical Corp., a holding company formed last year. The corporation owns Ross General Hospital; the Ukiah General Hospial in Ukiah, the Palm Drive Hospital, Sebastopol; the Broadway Hospital, Vallejo; Co Lease Inc. in San Francisco and the Hospital Linen Supply Co. and Norcal Laboratories both in the Northgate Industrial Park.

Siemens has been president and chief executive officer of the corporation on a part-time basis since last August.

The 51-year-old Ross Hospital was privately owned until 1955 when it was purchased by a group of physicians and incorporated.

Siemens was formerly chairman of the Ross Valley Clinic and president of the Tamalpais High School District board. He resides at 10 Turnagin Road, Kentfield.

Gun Shots End Cafe Argument

Shots were fired to climax an argument Saturday at 4:40 a.m. at Wristlers Cafe, 931 Petaluma Boulevard South, Petaluma police reported yesterday.

Harold C. Boyd, 33, of 232 Keller Street, told police a group of six men wearing levi jackets decorated with flags entered the restaurant to start a fight.

When Boyd told the men to leave, they did so, but he said the last man fired six shots into the restaurant from the door. Police said the bullets ricocheted around the restaurant, but didn't strike anyone.

PRESENTED AS A PUBLIC SERVICE by the INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL

Foot Patrols For Police In Petaluma

A new program to get Petaluma policemen back to foot patrols on a part-time basis was presented last night to the Petaluma City Council.

Police Chief Larry D. Higgins, offering his program of service for 1970-71, said he planned to renew the beat patrolman concept with officers normally assigned to patrol cars switching to foot patrols for one hour per day.

He said officers on all shifts will take turns walking a beat to promote personal contacts with citizens and merchants and to make security surveys of commercial buildings.

POINTS TO TREND

Higgins said many police departments are returning to the beat patrolman concept, but said he could not recommend a full-time foot patrolman.

Councilman Philip L. Joerger lauded the plan as a means of instilling more respect for policemen in young people.

Higgins agreed the program should have that effect and said he also planned to start a "talk-along" program for officers to go to junior and senior high schools for one hour a week to meet youngsters and answer questions.

The chief said he planned to continue the "ride along" program allowing males over the age of 14 years to ride in patrol cars.

In programs set by the planning department, Director William C. McGivern said that some long-range projects could be handled faster by outsiders who will not fall into the time-consuming office routine.

TO USE CONSULTANTS

Likening it to the outside engineers often used by the public works department, McGivern said the planning commission will be recommending that some projects be handled by outside consultants.

In reviewing services offered by the library, Councilman David W. Brainerd suggested a study of the use of the photocopying machine by the public.

Librarian Alice M. Hanna said the machine has seen frequent use by the public at 10 cents per copy. Brainerd, who owns a photography store that performs the same service at a higher cost, said the service should not compete with his business or the others in the city.

Miss Hanna said she would offer cost figures for study during budget discussions.

Genius, 14, Is Called 'Normal'

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — "Except for his extraordinary gifts in science, chemisty and philosophy," Roger Antione says of his son Gerald, "he's perfectly normal."

Gerald has finished four years of high school work in one year, picked up 52 college credits at the same time and graduated with his class Monday night at Newton High School. He's 14.

His father is a mathematics professor at Northeastern University.

Gerald plans to attend Northeastern this fall, studying electrical engineering with the class of 1972 during the day, and pursuing a degree in engineering technology at night.

He doesn't spend all his time with the books, either. He plays a piano, guitar and the baritone horn and enjoys swimming and ice skating.

NATO Nuclear Strategy Eyed

VENICE (AP) — The United States and the seven other members of the Nuclear Planning Group of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization today ended a secret two-day meeting on how to use tactical nuclear weapons if they are ever needed to halt a Soviet attack.

U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird met with the defense ministers of West Germany, Britain, Canada, Italy, Holland, Turkey and Norway. The purpose was to work on plans ensuring that nuclear weapons would be used only as a last resort to halt aggression, and then as sparingly as possible. The ministers also want to make sure that there is time for reflection on both sides before nuclear arms are used.

Auto Recovered

A 1968 Cadillac stolen March 22 from Bianco Cadillac of Corte Madera was recovered at 2 a.m. today by San Francisco police, Corte Madera police reported.

Saw A Need Of Police Gun Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of a House internal security subcommittee said today police should have fired on some participants in the Nov. 15 antiwar demonstrations in the nation's capital.

Rep. Edwin Edwards, D-La., the chairman, told a hearing on the demostration that he saw "several instances where gun fire was not only justified but required." His comment came as a film of the demonstration was shown to the subcommittee.

Edwards' comment drew a rejoinder from Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, who said that police during mass demonstrations should not be "judge, a jury, and executioner."

MAYOR'S WIFE

Enjoys Son And Her Day Off

By PAT BALMES

"I never had more fun in my life!" said Ellen Rice, wearing an apron and serving coffee in the family room so she could keep an eye on 18-month old Jamie. Mrs. Denis Rice is the wife of Tiburon's new mayor and her happiness comes from the care of her little son.

"I think saying Jamie is adopted," says the young mother, "might encourage some woman, who might otherwise abort, to know that her baby can be placed in a good home."

Ellen disagrees with the Women's Liberation Movement which, she says, "gives the impression that there is something wrong with staying home, putting plants in the ground, keeping house and raising children."

FORMERLY A first grade teacher and later an airline stewardess, Ellen came to San Francisco from Appleton, Wisc., in 1959. That summer she toured Europe with a friend and decided that upon her return to San Francisco she "wanted to pick up a talent I thought I'd buried — singing; although I did sing to the children when I taught first grade." When she returned, Ellen auditioned for the Opera Ring, a theater-in-the-round which presented musical comedies. To her surprise, she was given one of the leading roles; Meg in "Brigadoon."

When Ellen married the San Francisco attorney in 1962, they rented a house in Tiburon. Three years later, they bought their 17-year-old hilltop house. Painting the exterior yellow and carpeting in the same cheery hue, they sacrificed a bedroom to elongate the living room-dining room area the length of the back of the house. This allows an expansive view of the bay.

"And I became a lady of leisure," Ellen laughs. "Before Jamie came I belonged to the community!"

She volunteered regularly as a Confraternity of Christian Doctrine teacher at St. Hilary's Church, where she and Denis are parishioners; Marin Convalescent and Rehabilitation Hospital in Tiburon, Marin General Hospital as a volunteer, Cedar Development School for the mentally retarded and Manzanita Day Care in Marin City.

MRS. DENIS Rice and her son, Jamie, enjoy the view from their hil-top home. The wife of Tiburon's new mayor delights in singing in musical comedies, playing the guitar for friends, sailing and sketching, painting and making movies on the couple's vacations. The former teacher and stewardess occupied her time with volunteer work until the arrival of Jamie. Now her pleasure is motherhood.

"I LIKED being a Pink Lady most. I guess it was the stewardess in me, liking to wait on people. I didn't realize how awful it is to have to stay in the hospital!"

Ellen closes her eyes and grins with pleasure when asked what she now enjoys most. "My day off!" she laughs. "When you are always in a state of controlling yourself, as in taking care of children, you have to have some time off." Once a week Ellen takes a stack of newspapers and treats herself to breakfast at a restaurant.

"I have bacon and eggs and just sit there a long time and read the papers. Then I go to the library and do my shopping. I like to go into a store and know the clerk. I like it here because people are so friendly."

ELLEN SAYS, "I was a nut on tennis, but I had surgery on my arm and can't play now." She enjoys playing the guitar and entertaining her friends at parties. The Rices berth their boat at Corinthian Yacht Club. Denis swims three times a week at the Tiburon Peninsula Club.

Denis and Ellen enjoy sketching and painting on their vacations. When they traveled to Mexico, their sketching of children in the square attracted people.

"We wanted to keep our sketches, but we duplicated them when we got home and sent the copies to the villagers." Ellen joined Denis in skin diving with tanks off the coast of Cozumel.

Another trip they enjoyed was a tour of Italy and Spain with the American Bar Association.

The Rices like making motion pictures of their trips and now they have a star for their home movies, Jamie.

UNABLE TO resist the eye of the camera, San Francisco sculptor Beniamino Bufano peeks over the top of one of his works, while Mrs. John Kornfeld of Mill Valley presents his book to the acting director of the Pushkin Museum in Moscow. The controversial sculptor and Mrs. Kornfeld were part of a group of 14 persons who have just returned from a month's tour of Europe, where they met many artists and visited places famed in the world of cultural arts.

Marinites Meet The Artists

Meeting artists and visiting places famed in the world of cultural arts were the highlights for a group of Marin people who have returned from a month's tour of Europe conducted by Mr. and Mrs. John Kornfeld of Mill Valley.

Included in the group of 14 — all concerned with the arts in some way — were the James Staplers of Ross, her brother, David Hall, and Christopher Hansen, both of Belvedere.

Also in the group was San Francisco's controversial sculptor Beniamino Bufano.

Anita Kornfeld reported some of their most interesting experiences on the tour that started in Amsterdam and continued to Moscow, Leningrad, Paris and England.

"In Moscow," she says, "we were thrilled to meet Plisetskaya, the top ballerina in the world today, after her performance with the Bolshoi Ballet in 'The Humpbacked Horse,' and also Shedrin, the composer. The meeting was handled with so much secrecy that it was like a cloak and dagger episode.

"At the art museums we visited, such as the Pushkin Museum in Moscow, Benny — that's Bufano — presented portfolios of his etchings.

"Everywhere we went in Russia we were surprised to be approached by black marketeers trying to get us to sell American dollars at the rate of three for one. Once in Moscow when three young men approached us, Benny — all five feet of him — was so furious he grabbed the leader and shook him.

"One of the young men yelled at us to our amazement, 'you're a bunch of dumb businessmen. You're as bad as the dirty Communists!'

"Another interesting experience in Moscow was having dinner with Michele Markoff, a Redwood High School graduate who has been studying Russian there for seven months. She will be coming home to Mill Valley soon and will have some interesting things to report."

In Leningrad, Mrs. Kornfeld says, their most memorable experience was visiting the fabulous Hermitage Museum — "Undoubtedly the largest collection of art in the world," she says. "We saw 250 of the 1500 rooms.

"Another high point of our tour was being received by the head of the Leningrad Conservatory of Music — the largest in Russia — where we heard an amazingly good student orchestra rehearsal and opera production.

"Because of the situation in this country we were most envious of the plethora of gorgeous concert halls in Russia."

In Paris high points for the tour party were meeting five of the leading composers in France and being received backstage after a performance of "Falstaff" at the Paris Opera.

In England the group hosted a big cocktail party and dinner in London at which 15 of the guests were members of the D'Oyly Carte Gilbert and Sullivan Company.

Somewhat spooky, Mrs. Kornfeld says, after seeing a performance of "Richard II" at the Royal Shakespeare Theater in Stratford-on-Avon, was a night spent in the old castle there.

London was the final place the tour party visited before returning home.

Mother Of Teens Checks Out California's Generation Gap

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Housewife and mother of three teenagers Jackie Briskin wanted to find out if today's generation gap really is so different, from that she knew as a girl growing up in California.

So she threw herself into researching the subject and the whole youth scene in general—4,000 hours worth, she estimates—visiting juvenile hall, talking with social workers and narcotics agents, surfing, visiting hippie communes and Planned Parenthood office, auditing a film class at UCLA and passing herself off as a graduate student at Berkeley, reading the newspapers and magazines that chronicled the 60s.

"Mostly I rapped and eavesdropped, shamelessly," she recalls.

THE RESULTS, her first book, called "The California Generation," and a new way of thinking.

"I do things now just for fun — not for what other people think," she says. "I know I'm more independent—I'll be darned if I'll let other people push me into a fashion I don't like.

"And I think I'm more optimistic now about the future even though I sometimes wake up in the morning and say 'what future?'"

The generation gap?

"I think it is more a difference in values. I call it 'value valley.' Most of our teenagers just plain have different goals and values than we had. That's disturbing to parents—in a way it repudiates them."

YOUNG PERSONS today are "far more honest, open, looking for change than we were," says the youthful looking Mrs. Briskin.

"And I think they're tired of the mechanized urban scene where everything is pressed out of the same mold. That's why they dress differently. They want us to know they are different."

The real gap, she says, is more than war or racism or materialism. "I think it's change itself. That's hard for older people to accept and scary to think about. I'm not sure myself that all change is for the good, even though I recognize change is constant.

"I FIND it harder to communicate with my own friends now, because some of them don't even know things have changed."

Mrs. Briskin says some of her worst moments have come when she has met the parents of the young people she spoke with and realized that "they aren't talking to their kids at all."

But her criticism of the older generation is tempered with this thought: "When you really talk with these kids, you know we didn't do too bad a job of being parents.

"They're infomed and they're aware. And once one becomes aware, one is forced to do something. We've taught them basic values along with some superficial ones."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

She Better Start Learning That Give-Aways Are Valued Little

DEAR HELEN:

I am 19 and work in an office with three salesmen. One is 27, very good looking and single. Though I heard he had a steady girl, I fell for him.

After about six months, when he didn't ask me out, I finally asked him for a date. He took me for a ride, tried to "park" but I acted very ladylike.

When he didn't ask me again, I finally invited him to my apartment for dinner. And this time things were different.

But his girl friend found out, he confessed and apologized to her; and I lost again. I gave him a Christmas gift and he didn't even send me a card. But later I asked him to take me to a movie, and he did, ending up again at my apartment.

This time his girl friend wrote me a nasty letter, telling me to stop throwing myself at her man. I guess he's afraid of her because he won't accept my invitations now.

Do you think she has a right to manage his life, being that she isn't married to him? If he didn't want me, why did he take me out when I suggested it? — MAD.

DEAR MAD:

Because a man often takes what is thrown at her, whether he really wants her or not. You'd better start learning, dear, that give-aways are seldom valued. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Parents wonder why their children confide in friends before bringing their problems to their mother or father. It's because friends don't lecture or make judgments. They don't always answer, "It's not proper," or "Don't be foolish."

I asked my mother how I could get this boy I liked to notice me, and she answered, "You're too young to date anyway." I'm 15 and, besides, I wasn't thinking about a date — just learning how to talk to boys.

Once I read a book about a girl who had the kind of mother more mothers should be. When this girl asked her how to deal with a boy friend who wanted too much, the mother gave her two answers: One as a mother, one as a friend. They both came out the same, but the girl didn't think she was being bossed by a shocked and scared Mama.

Is seems like too many parents think they have to play the role of Mr. and Mrs. Know-it-all when they could get much farther with their kids by using some humanness.

I wonder how they'd like a boss at work who treated them the way they treat their children?

I don't want a pal for a parent, but I sure would love to have a wise, listening-type friend.

— DAUGHTER

DEAR PARENTS:

Read and heed.

Don't ever forget that friendship is the leavener to love. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

This is an answer to "Over-Punished Sue" who wanted a whipping because it was faster (and just as effective) as being grounded for two months.

When I do something wrong, my parents give me a long talk, which hits harder than a licking. But what is even worse is knowing that I've let them down, and therefore hurt them.

Hurting my folks is the worst punishment I could get.

It seems like spanking and real rigid restrictions are just getting even. That long talk is all I need to set me straight. — DONNA

San Rafael Slices Rec Budget

San Rafael City Council last night sliced $22,276 for school recreation programs from its proposed 1970-71 budget because San Rafael City Schools has withdrawn support.

During a special budget session, the council also directed that the proposed recreation budget be revised so self-sustaining programs are calculated separately.

Councilmen told Andrew J. Snyder Jr., parks and recreation director, the city's contribution would be $160,000, up $16,000 from the current budget.

PROGRAM FEES

Expenditures beyond that would have to be financed through program fees, they said.

Councilmen were disgruntled because the San Rafael Board of Education has cut off its annual allocation to the recreation program, which would have been $25,000 in fiscal 1970-71.

The council agreed it wouldn't raise the city's tax rate to make up for the lack of school funds for the after-school and summer programs at the city schools.

The program was started at the request of the city schools "and now they want us to pay for it," said Mayor C. Paul Bettini.

"OTHER PURPOSES"

Snyder criticized the schools as spending $30,000 from community services override tax revenue for noontime supervision at schools while rejecting $25,000 going to kids.

Mayor Bettini said: "They know that tax is intended for recreation, but they use it for other purposes."

The total community services override tax rate in each district is 5 cents, but in the past revenue from nine-tenths of a cent in the high school district and 1.2 cents in the elementary districtwas allocated to city recreation.)

NOT OUTSIDE CITY

Councilmen agreed no funds should be spent outside the city.

Elementary and high school district boundaries extend beyond city limits and past programs have been conducted outside the city, but within the districts.

When the session started the council had at hand a proposed recreation budget of $162,276, up $12,276 from this year,and they cut it to $140,000 because school funds weren't forthcoming.

Snyder, who requested a budget of $190,202, conceded that figure appeared high, but said it contained programs that would bring in some revenue.

City Mgr. James H. McCown estimated that revenue from self-sustaining programs would be about $40,000.

Councilmen postponed approval of the proposed recreation budget until it was reworked with the school funds out and the self-sustaining programs in a separate category.

Bettini said the recreation department could operate programs beyond the $100,000 that would be paid for by revenue.

Councilmen agreed the summer day camp program estimated to cost $3,000 should be continued, but the proposed $2,000 contribution to the San Rafael Swim Club be eliminated because the club is merging with the Marin Swim Club

With the city's $560,000 bond proposal for a community recreation center defeated at the polls last Tuesday, Councilman Fred E. Jensen suggested efforts be renewed to have the American Legion construct a building at city-owned property at Fourth and Union streets.

The community recreation center is now temporarily housed at the old Marin County courthouse annex, and Snyder said a search is under way for another site.

Councilmen approved a $188,736 library budget, up $26,276 from this year, which included $7,000 for the second phase of a survey of needs and $10,000 for carpeting, but asked for a check on the $2,938 allocated for book rentals.

The proposed parks budget of $143,187 was approved and $1,845 added for new garbage cans for a total of $145,032, up $15,129 from this year, with provision for ten summer youth workers.

Councilmen also approved the planning department budget, $86,929, down $3,714 from this year, with provision for an intern to help during the 1971 summer.

The council budget postponed reviewing the proposed police and fire budgets until another special budget session, time and place to be set at regular meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at City Hall.

Innocent Plea To Burglary Charge

Mark Adam Laufer, 19, of Santa Venetia, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of burglarizing Foster's Freeze in San Rafael on May 29. A jury trial was set for the week of Aug. 24.

Laufer and a 16-year-old juvenile hall escapee were arrested after police found them in the shop which had been broken into. Officers said a third youth escaped.

Pleads Innocent To Theft Of Car

Leroy Everett Southard, 21, of no known address, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to charges of car theft and concealing stolen property. A jury trial was set for the week of June 29.

Southard was arrested May 20 by the California Highway Patrol when he was seen driving the wrong way on a one-way street near San Rafael.

The Strange Hunt For Elusive 'Quark'

NEW YORK (AP) — "Quark" hunters at the Argonne National Laboratory are scrutinizing lunar rocks brought back by the Apollo astronauts. "Quarks" are hypothetical atomic particles that have electrical charges a fraction of the charge of an electron. They have never been found. Theorizing that "quarks" could have been formed on earth by cosmic rays, but might have been removed by erosion, the scientists speculate that they may find them in material from the moon.

Miskimen Planning Announcement Soon

San Rafael City Councilman John A. Miskimen, who verbally resigned May 4 effective June 1, attended the council's budget session last night, but had no comment on future intentions.

Since Miskimen didn't submit a written resignation, fellow councilmen have urged him to reconsider and complete his term which ends April, 1971.

Miskimen, who has missed several council sessions while out of town on business trips, said he would make a statement at the council's next regular session at 8 p.m. next Monday (June 15) at City Hall.

Novato Council Due Budget Tonight

A $2,072,635 budget for fiscal 1970-71 will be presented to the Novato City Council at 8 p.m. today by City Manager Charles A. Brown.

The proposed budget is $165,905 more than this year's $1,906,730.

The budget calls for an increase in the tax rate from 81 cents to $1.05 per $100 assessed valuation.

Brown's request keeps the general fund operation tax at 48 cents; increases the street construction tax from 6 to 30 cents; the parks and recreation tax increased 1 cent from 25 to 26 cents and decreases the bond redemption tax from 2 cents to 1 cent per $100 assessed valuation.

Income will be derived $941,500 from property, sales and cigarette taxes and franchises; $96,400 from licenses and permits; $31,500 from fines; $47,500 from interest; $494,820 from alcoholic beverage tax, motor vehicles, trailer coaches and gasoline taxes; $61,925 from special police services, building plan checking and recreation programs; $850 from miscallaneous income and $338,140 from reserve funds.

Warrant Is Issued

A bench warrant with bail set at $2,500 was issued yesterday in Marin Superior Court for former Sausalito resident Greg Landers, when he failed to appear for a trial on a marijuana charge. Landers, who was arrested Sept. 30 in Sausalito, was reported to be in Madrid, Spain.

Kentucky Blue Laws Still Alive

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's boldest attempt yet to repeal the old Sunday closing law has been repealed by Gov. Louie B. Nunn, who says it would create too much litigation.

For the first time, both legislative chambers passed a measure to change the blue law so that local option would be allowed.

Nunn's veto message added that the Legislature "should not try to repeal one of the Ten Commandments."

Angela Davis Case Remains Undecided

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — University of California regents apparently failed during a secret session Monday to decide how to go about firing an admitted Communist Party member from the UCLA faculty.

Because of court rulings that Communist Party membership alone is not sufficient grounds for dismissal, the regents were forced to find other reasons to carry out their avowed intent to fire Angela Davis.

They have been trying to fire the 26-year-old philosophy instructor since last fall when she admitted her party membership.

"Undoubtedly we'll be holding subsequent meetings," said Regent William French Smith, who chaired the special closed door meeting at the UC Extension.

Smith refused to answer when newsmen asked if that meant no final decision had been reached on the matter.

However, Regent Frederick Dutton of Sausalito, one of the board's liberal minority, told newsmen the effort to fire the black philosophy instructor "is on the tracks and it's going — and as surely as the sun will rise over the state tomorrow Miss Davis will be fired."

The board voted last fall to fire Miss Davis, but a Los Angeles Superior Court Judge ruled that the action was unconstitutional because membership in a political party is protected by the 14th Amendment.

The ruling was overturned by an appellate court on technical grounds and the entire matter is now before the State Supreme Court.

"We're under court order not to discuss the communism issue, so they're trumping up other charges," said Dutton. "It's a lawless proceeding by lawless men who mostly pretend to be in favor of law and order."

Gov. Ronald Reagan, ex-officio member of the board, has called for Miss Davis' dismissal, contending that her party membership makes her unqualified to teach because she must follow party dogma.

Miss Davis, a native of Alabama who graduated with honors from Brandeis University and later studied in Germany, France and at UC San Diego, was hired on a two-year contract for $9,684 annually before her Communist Party membership was known.

She is working on her doctorate under Herbert Marcuse, the Marxist philosopher at UC San Diego.

The regents voted 15 to 6 last month to take jurisdiction over the rehiring of Miss Davis, which had been recommended by UCLA faculty committees and Chancellor Charles Young.

The faculty at the Los Angeles campus has voted to guarantee Miss Davis' full salary next year, and threatened to seek censure of the school by the American Association of University Professors.

Two pickets carrying signs reading "Berkeley teachers demanding due process for Angela Davis" marched outside the UC Extension during the two-hour meeting.

A petition accusing the regents of suspending the powers of administrative officers has been signed by about half the UCLA faculty. It will be presented at next Monday's meeting of the statewide Academic Assembly in San Francisco.

Today is Tuesday, June 9th, 160th day of 1970 with 205 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1899 James J. Jeffries won the heavyweight boxing crown by knocking out Bob Fitzsimmons in New York City.

In 1943 Congress passed an act providing for "pas-as-you-go" income tax deductions, authorizing employers to withhold payments from salary checks.

In 1959 the first ballistic missile submarine, the nuclear-powered George Washington, was launched at Groton, Conn.

In 1969 the U.S. Senate confirmed the nomination of Warren E. Burger as chief justice.

A thought for the day: Norwegian poet Henrik Ibsen said, "A community is like a ship; everyone ought to be prepared to take the helm."

New Grievances Will Be Raised

I-J Special Report

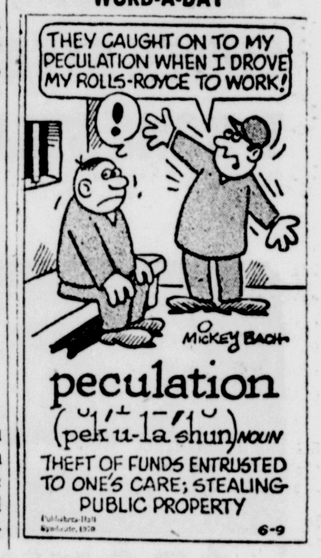
RICHMOND — Residents living close to oil and chemical plants in this Contra Costa County city are expected to raise new grievances with the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District board at its meeting here tomorrow.

The residents claim little action has been taken by air pollution officials since a crackdown was urged in February.

The board also is to receive the district's preliminary budget for fiscal 1971.

The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. in city hall, Civic Center and MacDonald avenues.

WORD-A-DAY



HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

This Hand Shows A Bath Coup In Somewhat Different Position

If you're a reformed whist player you probably think of the Bath Coup as a refusal to win an opponent's lead of the king when you have A-J-x. In modern bridge we're not quite so fussy. Today's hand shows a Bath Coup in a somewhat different position.

Opening lead — ♠ K

REFUSES TRICK

West opened the king of spades, and declarer very properly refused to take the trick. This amounted to a Bath Coup because West couldn't afford to continue the suit. If West led another spade (whether high or low), South would win a trick with his own jack as well as with dummy's ace. West shifted to a trump, won by dummy's seven. Declarer then led a club to the king, hoping that East had the ace. If South could get two club tricks he could discard a low spade from dummy.

As it happened, West won with the ace of clubs and led another trump. Declarer won in dummy, led a diamond to the queen and returned a diamond, playing low from dummy since East obviously had the ace.

RETURNS SPADE

East took the jack of diamonds and promptly returned a spade. Since the ace of spades was still in dummy, declarer could win the trick and lead the last low diamond from dummy. East had to play the ace, and South ruffed, setting up dummy's king.

The long search for a tenth trick had ended successfully. South led a trump to dummy and cashed the king of diamonds to discard a spade. The rest was easy.

COULD DEFEAT

If declarer had taken the first trick with the ace of spades, the defenders would have taken two spade tricks when East was eventually able to lead a spade. Two spades and two aces would defeat the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ — A 5 3
♡ — K J 8 7
♦ — K 6 5 3
♣ — 7 - 3.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You need about another queen for a sensible opening bid. You have only 11 points in high cards and one point for the doubleton. Only the exceptional 12-point hand is worth an opening bid.

Explosion Kills Seven; Training Off

FORT BRAGG, N. C. (UPI) —All demolition training for Green Berets has been stopped until the Army can make a "complete check" of procedures involved in an explosion that killed seven soldiers and injured five others.

Gen. E. M. Flanagan Jr., commander of the John F. Kennedy center for military assistance, ordered the halt Monday following the premature explosion of 20 pounds of TNT on a demolition training range.

Flanagan called the blast, which occurred during an exercise involving 10 trainees and two instructors, a "regrettable tragedy."

The squad was learning the kinds and uses of explosives late Monday morning on a range in a remote section of this Army training center in southeastern North Carolina. The 10 trainees, part of about 121 Green Berets completing their final week of training, were in a circle with two pounds of TNT in front of each man. The men were to attach negative and positive wires to each explosive and then retire to a nearby bleachers to watch the detonation.

But one wire apparently was "hot" and triggered the TNT prematurely, blasting the boots and clothing off the men and gouging a hole three and one-half feet by one and one-half feet in the ground.

Seven soldiers were killed by concussion and debris and the other five were injured, two seriously. One of the injured lost a leg and the other a foot.

Tiburon Signs Contract For Waste Pickup

The Tiburon City Council last night agreed to embark on an experimental rubbish collection program for residents affected by the backyard burning ban. (Another Tiburon Council story, page 1)

The council agreed to enter a six-month contract with Mill Valley Refuse Service to collect rubbish, mostly garden clippings and other nongarbage waste, from the Little Reed Heights-Hacienda area.

If the experiment proves successful, the council will extend the service to the entire city. Cost to each homeowner would be about $3 a year.

The experimental program will cost the city a total of $860 — $700 for the collection, and $160 for a debris box to be placed on Mar West for the use of residents living outside the experiment's boundaries.

The Tiburon City Council also:

Referred to its lands and development committee plans for a 27-unit housing development on Mount Tiburon to study questions on density, roads and circulation, and approved unanimously a master plan for a 10,000-square-foot office building adjacent to City Hall at 88 Main Street.

The council adjourned to Monday at 8 p.m. at city hall to finish items on last night's agenda.

Transit Strike In Second Week

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A transit strike affecting 200,000 passengers entered its second week today with no agreement reported.

The 1,432 bus drivers, clerks and mechanics in the Amalgamated Transit Union walked out early June 1 in a dispute over wages and fringe benefits.

Representatives of the union and the pubicly owned AC Transit System met for the fourth day Sunday with state conciliator Thomas Nicolopulos and a fact-finding committee.

Traffic has been jammed daily on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, where buses have been replaced during the walkout by the commuters' cars.

Eminent Spokesmen For High School Class Of '70

DAN JORDAN
Scholars first . . .

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Dan Jordan and Lowell Widmer have been close friends since the sixth grade. At San Rafael High School, where they are graduating seniors, their careers have closely paralleled one another.

Jordan, who stands 5 feet, 9 inches and weighs 165 pounds, was an all-Marin County Athletic League guard in football last season. This was not unexpected, following his selection in 1966 to the Pop Warner All-American Team of Little Scholars.

Widmer, at 5-7" and 140, was an all-MCAL safety in both his junior and senior years, and led the Bulldogs at quarterback.

Jordan maintained a 3.9 grade point average for all four years, achieving lifetime membership in the California Scholarship Federation.

Widmer, who was vice president of the student body last semester, had an overall average of better than 3.2.

Last February the two were named Marin County's 1969 National Football Foundation Scholar-Athletics.

Next fall Jrdan will enroll at Harvard, Widmer at Colby in Maine. Both consider themselves students first and athletes second, and their new schools will give them a chance to prove it. Neigher expects to compete in athletics, except on the intramural level.

With their extraordinary records, both in the classroom and on the field, Dan Jordan and Lowell Widmer qualify eminently as spokesmen for their generation.

Here are some of their thoughts:

On San Rafael High School — Both feel that San Rafael has a lot to offer and that the atmosphere is conducive to involvement.

"The lines of communication between students and faculty are wide open," Jordan said.

Widmer added, "The faculty is concerned to go to the trouble of letting students express themselves."

On the students' view of athletics—They acknowledgedd that a trend has developed during the last few years toward more individual expression within the school, and that this has influenced the approach to sports.

"Students are becoming aware that things like lettermen jackets are not all there is to the high school experience," said Widmer.

Jordan agreed, saying that kids just like to be more individual these days. "They are turning away from the exclusive 'clique' type clubs," he said.

Both also agreed, however, that there has been no shift away from team sports, such as baseball and football, toward the individual sports like track and swimming.

Regarding athletics in general, Jardan said, "Athletics are receiving less emphasis now; people's attention is being drawn in other directions."

He noted that personal rewards to be derived from sports do not depend on the attention given them. And the most long-lasting and worthwhile rewards, he said, are personal ones.

Widmer added that many small colleges recognize this de-emphasis, and have turned more to intramural sports.

On the length of an athlete's hair — Both thought that length should not be a factor, except in team sports, where each member of the team has a responsibility to every other member.

Widmer stated that there was little friction at San Rafael this year, largely because the coaches left the players responsible for their own appearance.

"The coaches never gave us orders to get a hair cut," Jordan said. "Each individual took on that responsibility himself."

Widmer expressed the belief that individual discipline consisted of some self-sacrifices for the good of the team.

On team sports vs. individual sports, Widmer said, "I'd rather play a team sport. If you win a game in a team sport, the sense of achievement will be greater if you know each individual felt the responsibility to the others in doing his own part."

Said Jordan, "I enjoy being a member of a team. There are so many benefits — a feeling of mutual self-sacrifice, a feeling of everybody working toward a common goal. It really creates bonds between players.

"That's one of the big things in life," he said. "Feeling this strong friendship with others."

A Red Letter Day For Mr. Landauer

Thursday will be a red letter day in the life of San Rafael barkeep Henry Landauer.

No, he will not on that day concoct a pousse cafe' blindfolded with one hand tied behind his back. Nor will he mix the world's driest martini.

You see, besides being co-owner and chief mixologist at the San Rafael giggle juice dispensary called Pier 15, Mr. Landauer is one of the world's most proficient soccer officials.

And it will be in that capacity that he will realize his longtime ambition the day after tomorrow.

A note from Henry reads: "Hello from the World Cup in Mexico to you and all my friends in San Rafael. On June 11 I am the referee of the game Italy-Israel. This is the very first time in World Cup history that a U.S. referee will handle a match. I also have been appointed in two other games as a linesman. The game I handle will be played in Toluca at 10,000 feet altitude."

Greatest Honor Possible

For a soccer ref to handle a World Cup game is an even greater honor than, say, an ump working a World Series, a head linesman selected for the Super Bowl or a fight ref handling a world heavyweight championship bout.

The World Cup is truly the world's greatest sports competition and to officiate at a game is. . . well, Henry Landauer's cup runneth over as the first U.S. official so honored. He is one of only 30 referees selected from a list of 1,050 nominated by the 150 participating countries that make up Federation International Football Association.

A native of Germany who came to America in 1947, Landauer became a soccer official in 1957 after several years as a player. He has officiated in many big events, but never in the big cup.

And, in a sport where emotions run extremely high (riots, murders, rampages, etc.) Landauer has had only one close call with violence when an irate fan chased him around a field with clenched fist. The gendarmes averted violence.

Why, it's almost as risky as running a bar.

A Good Week For Dolinsek

JUST A WEEK ago I noted that Novatan John Dolinsek slumped from .320 to .285 for the Columbus, Ga. Astros in the Southern Association. But, like a volatile issue on the stock market, Dolinsek rallied in his next 21 at bats by slapping out 11 hits and hiking his average back to .316. That .524 weeklong spree also gave him 50 hits for the season and 6 triples, both Southern Association pace-setters. The first sacker also has 4 doubles, 2 homers and 20 runs batted in.

Next Batter: S. I. Hayakawa

THURSDAY'S ANNUAL Police Athletic League softball game at the Cow Palace will feature a number of Marin personalities in action, including S.I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley, Carter B. Smith of Tiburon, Jack Carney of Ross, Peter Scott, Terry McGovern and Gene Nelson of Sausalito and Jeff Skov of San Anselmo.

Oh yes, and comedian Pat Paulsen can be called a home town boy for he attended Tam High several years ago.

SHARON WALSH, the 18-year-old San Rafael miss whose high school graduation present is a tennis trip to England to compete in various tournaments including the Wimbledon, has one trophy to her credit after winning the junior girls' title at Surrey Grass Courts Championships a couple of weekends ago. Sharon writes to her mom and dad that she's taking in all the sights of merry olde England.

THE SPORTING GENTRY

Skillful Marin Canoeist

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Gordon Young isn't an Indian but he can sure manipulate a canoe as well as any of those Indians we read about in our early American history books.

Young, 51, of Terra Linda, is treasurer and one of the instructors of the Marin Canoe Club, an outdoor-loving group of about 125 hardy souls which has grown from the handful which started the organization five years ago.

A district sales manager for a pharmaceutical company, Young has been a member of the canoe club since 1968, although he has been interested in canoing since a youngster paddling at Lake Washington in Seattle. He has been living in Marin County for the past 15 years.

Besides getting together for canoe trips twice a month, the club offers canoe lessons to interested persons, whether members or not, sometimes as many as 100 during a summer, mostly at the Civic Center Lagoon.

An affiliate of the Marin Canoe Club is the Quentin Canoers, for high school and college students, numbering about 25 members.

There are about 12 canoe club members, including Young, who are Red Cross certified instructors. A short time with him and you find that there is more to canoing than just getting in a boat and paddling away.

In one of the manuals he handed me were instructions about everything imaginable about canoing, from getting in, getting out, paddling strokes, going sideways, overcoming wind problems.

"It takes a lot of skill to maneuver a canoe properly," said Young. After thumbing through one of the manuals, I'll take his word for it.

Canoes range in size from 15 to 17 feet long, and the club has five of its own for giving lessons. Young has his own, a 17-footer, and has another on order. A canoe will run about $250 to $300 said Young.

"They weigh about 75 pounds," he said, "and that is the advantage of them. I can handle a canoe by myself. Most boats, like cartop boats, require two men to handle them."

Among trips planned by the club are down the Sacramento and Russian rivers, Lake Pillsbury, Richardson Bay, China Camp area of San Pablo Bay. In addition to the actual canoing, there's fishing and camping during the weekend trips.

"A lot of the members are quite active in conservation groups, such as Sierra Club," said Young. "We just like the outdoors."

President of the club is Erik Tryde of San Rafael, and Mavis Marney is secretary. Mrs. Ann Dwyer is chief instructor.

Young and his wife, Gladys, have two sons, Bob, 21, Tom, 17, and a daughter, Sally, 19. Young, one of the original members of the board of directors on the Terra Linda Parks and Recreation District, served in that capacity for four years. He is also one of the founding directors and commissioner of the Terra Linda junior baseball program and a coach for 10 years.

A former Cub Scout master, he is now a merit badge counselor for the Boy Scout.

Soccer Argument Leads To Death

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Police reported Monday the first known slaying caused by an argument about a game in the ninth World Cup soccer championship.

Police accused Epigmenio Sanchez Luna of Mexico City of shooting a neighbor when Herminio Gonzalez cracked, "Mexico didn't accomplish anything by beating El Salvador because the Central American team is a lemon".

Gonzalez was shot in the heart.

Mexico won 4-0 Sunday over El Salvador.

Royals Fire Manager

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Charlie Metro was fired today as manager of the Kansas City Royals and pitching coach Bob Lemon, former Cleveland Indians star hurler, was named as his successor.

Angry Clay Says He's Firing His Attorney

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Cassius Clay says he isn't interested in an 18-hour pass from the U.S. Supreme Court that would allow him to go to Canada to fight Joe Frazier for the heavyweight title.

"I don't want to fight under forced conditions," Clay said Monday after he learned his attorney had appealed to the Supreme Court to allow the deposed champion to go to Canada to meet Frazier, his successor to the championship.

Clay's attorney, Chauncey Eskridge of Chicago, said in an appeal filed Monday with Justice Hugo L. Black that Clay's resources are depleted, and noted that the former champion would be out of the country only 18 hours for the fight in Canada.

Eskridge said he made the application to the Supreme Court because he had an offer for a fight in Canada. "I have permission from Canadian authorities," the attorney said.

"They will sanction the fight. If the application is granted that is the time he (Clay) will have a chance to say whether he will fight."

"I don't know anything about it," said Clay from his $90,000 home in Philadelphia.

"That's my lawyer talking and he is going to be fired for doing these things. I'm not interested in fighting until my case is settled. I'm not even thinking of fighting."

Eskridge, speaking by telephone from Chicago, said he had not talked with Clay before filing the appeal. "When a lawyer files an application in this court he doesn't always talk to his client. I did it on my own."

Eskridge agreed, however, that if Clay formerly disavows the application for freedom to travel the issue will be dead legally.

In the appeal, Eskridge offered to allow U.S. marshals to accompany Clay to Canada, and to place in escrow in the United States 70 per cent of revenues he estimated would amount to more than a million dollars.

"I don't beg for nothing," stormed Clay. "I'm not forcing or breaking down any doors to get back in the ring. Boxing didn't make me. I made boxing."

Clay, who was stripped of his title after he was convicted for refusing induction in the Army, said last week he isn't worried about money. "I'm making more money now than I would if I was fighting every Friday," he said.

The undefeated champion, who insists he is retired and that Frazier is the champion, said all he wants from the Supreme Court is a decision on his appeal from the draft evasion conviction.

He claims to be a Black Muslim minister and is appealing on religious grounds. He adopted the name Muhammad Ali and has been lecturing in various sections of the country.

Clay said his attorney had no right to file the appeal. "It makes me look bad," the fighter said. "I'm not using him (Eskridge) anymore. He's finishing up a few things and then he's fired."

How New Deer Tag Law Will Change Some Lives

By AL GIDDINGS

The deer tag law just passed by the Fish and Game Commission has some far reaching effects. The new law requires that both tags be used on one buck in the "one deer districts." A hunter hunting in Marin who kills one deer will have to stay in Marin or in one of the other "two deer" districts for his second buck.

Possibly, you, like the four hunters in our family, have a real problem. Always in the past, we all took our one deer in Marin County using our "A" tag, then we went to the Sierra where we usually took our second buck.

Vacation time was always taken in the fall in the Sierra, chasing bucks, then fishing for trout about every third day for a rest, then opening the duck season at Honey Lake or Tule; and always trying new places. It was a great way to keep in shape! Having to have two tags to hunt in the Sierras will change our lives.

A FEW evenings ago, I questioned the family as to this year's plans. Both the kids feel that they will try to take their bucks here; Mary and I feel we will head up to the Sierra as usual. The kids feel that we can work the brush for them down here.

Bob Horton, another of our group, wants to go to the Sierra.

Paul Honatius, the old timer from Mill Valley, figures to get his bucks here, but might go north as camp cook, do some fishing, or maybe try for a bear.

As you can see, our group is in a dilemma. And suppose I saw a big buck out on the ranch and couldn't shoot because using a tag would ruin both Mary's and my Sierra trip. Anyone want to buy a ranch? I guess we will work it out, but all of you who have in the past hunted Marin and then saved your "B" tag for up north had better think things over carefully before getting your deer here.

Lots of people believe the non-hunting wives and kids will buy tags this year so dad can save his tags for up north.

OTHERS FEEL that many will buy two sets of tags; taking the calculated risk of not getting caught.

Others feel that the bear and mountain lion tags will be in great demand for the hunters who get early season bucks, but who still want to go north for a week or so. The bear tag sales last year were approximately 32,000. About 800 bears were taken which averages out to 40 hunters for each bear. Amazing! The after season statistics on deer tag sales, duplicate tags, bear and lion tags, etc. will be very interesting this year! The bear tag sales might reach 60,000!

FOR YOU abaloners, I attended the last meeting of the Marin Skindiver's Club. The 35 or 40 members seem to have something going in their sport all the time. The largest abalone taken by the club last year was 10⅛ inches. The biggest ling cod taken free driving was a 20 pounder, and a 9½ pound cabezon was the number one for size.

Renee Ross, one of the gal divers, recently won the women's meet with an 8⅜ inch abalone, winning a new surf mat for her efforts.

DON JOSLIN (ol' shark meat) says there's lots of room in the ocean for more members. Don is also a certified skin diving instructor who is presently teaching a new class of 38 students. If you are interested, contact Don at Point Reyes Station, or call Carl Koehler, the club president, at 100 Whittier Avenue, San Rafael.

Incidentally, Joslin told the group about his friend Walter Kantala of Inverness who last week caught a six foot long, seven gill shark near the mouth of Tomales. I suggested the club go up and watch the shark derby put on by the Petaluma Sportsmen at Marshall on the 13th and 14th of June, but psychologically, most of the members felt it was not their bag. Oh well, to each his own!

I received a note from Robin Barnett of Woodacre who says she wants a live baby octopus and that she will come running anytime, anyday, and to any location for the beast. She's a teacher at San Anselmo; it's for the class.

MOLLY AND JOE Mello have tried the mouth of Tomales a couple of times taking one eight pound salmon about six miles out and one 30 pound halibut at the bar. The seas have been rough - be careful - and most days have been windy.

Rich Borba and friends have tried for salmon, skiff fishing off Point Reyes. It's rough there too! Rich says they did catch some rockfish but no salmon seem to be in close.

I FORGOT to mention that "Ove" Hansen and his wife, of Novato, while fishing Webber Lake last week, forgot to watch the current at the mouth of the lake. Before they knew what was happening they were out of the lake and in the rapids of the Little Truckee River! The boat turned over, but no one was hurt. Just chilly!

I ALSO should mention that the old pro at Webber, Bob Wise, has been fishing Lake Tahoe again. He had two Makinaws and one kokanee for Mary and me to bring home with our four trout last week. The rainbow fishing is supposed to explode around June 15. He says the "macks" are a cinch once you learn how! Sounds good!

Giants Vs. Bucs Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Juan Marichal, who gave the San Francisco Giants 21 victories last season, tries for his third this year tonight against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Pitching has been much of the problem for the Giants, who are only 1½ games out of the National League's Western Division cellar as they open an eight-game home stand against Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Chicago. Steve Blass, 2-8, goes for the Bucs.

San Francisco hurlers have completed only 15 of 55 games. Gaylord Perry, 8-6, has accounted for six of the full-route performances. And the staff's earned-run average is a shade under six a game.

Some help for the pitching staff is likely to come from Phoenix, the Giants' farm club in the Pacific Coast League, or be sought in trade before next Monday midnight's dealing deadline.

This was predicted Monday after the club's brass met for nearly four hours at Candlestick Park while the players took the day off.

With eight infielders and six outfielders on the current roster, there is talk the Giants could let one of each go to make room for two more pitchers.

Flood Case To Wind Up Tomorrow

NEW YORK (AP) — Curt Flood's $3.1 million antitrust suit against baseball is expected to end Wednesday after rebuttal testimony by the executive director and counsel of the players' association and Bill Veeck, former big league club owner.

The defense finished its case Monday with a complete day of testimony by Dr. John Clark, an economist from the Arthur Little firm of Cambridge, Mass., who did an involved analysis of certain aspects of baseball.

After Jay Topkis, one of Flood's lawyers, finishes cross examination of Dr. Clark Tuesday, both Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, and Dick Moss, counsel for the group, were due to take the stand.

Veeck is expected to be the final witness Wednesday morning as both sides have told Judge Irving Ben Cooper the Federal Court case will be completed Wednesday.

Both sides will file written summations with the judge and it may be some time before a verdict is announced. No matter what the outcome, it is expected the case will be appealed to a higher court by the loser.

Dr. Clark said player salaries had increased from $19,500 in 1965 to $24,957 in 1969 and $28,033 in 1970 which actually became $28,376 with the addition of newly-won minimum salary increases.

Speaking of the pension fund by which a five-year player gets $300 a month at the age of 50 or $772.50 at 65 and a 20-year-player gets $800 at 50 and $1,945.11 at 65, Dr. Clark said Flood's current status as a 12-year-man would give him a monthly pension of $1,625.11 at the age of 65.

Michigan State's 1979 football team faces rugged assignments the first three Saturdays in October. The Spartans play Notre Dame, Ohio State and Michigan in succession.

Intrepid Off To Fast Start In The Trials

NEW PORT, R.I. (AP) — It just wasn't in the wind for the Valiant at the opening of the preliminary trials for defense candidates for the America's Cup.

Interpid, the remodeled 1967 Cup defender, beat Valiant, a brand new yacht, Monday in two races on Long Island Sound.

Valiant had problems with her sails at critical times after leading in both races.

Intrepid is skippered by Bill Flicker of Newport Beach, Calif., and Valiant is skippered by Bob McCullough of Riverside, Conn.

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox moved to bolster their bullpen Monday by purchasing veteran reliever Cal Koonce from the New York Mets.

A right-hander, Koonce broke into the major leagues with the Chicago Cubs in 1962 and was acquired by the Mets in 1967. He has a 44-44 lifetime record.

The acquisition of the 29-year-old Koonce brings the Red Sox to the 25-player limit. A spot on the roster was opened last week when southpaw Bill Lee went into the Army for six months.

BOSTON — Two New England baseball players were signed by the Oakland Athletics Monday for assignment to the Coos-Bay team in North Bend, Ore., June 20.

Outfielder Steve Tomasetti, a 17-year-old North Quincy High star, and 20-year-old Mike Pstragowski of Manchester, N.H., were signed by Jack Vallely, eastern states scouting supervisor for the Oakland club.

QUALIFYING CONTINUES TODAY

Venturi Misses U.S. Open Bid

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Qualifying was set to continue at seven sites today for the U.S. Open Golf Tournament—with more surprises in store and disappointment lurking for other big-name players.

A surprise Monday came at Dallas where Tom Kite Jr., a University of Texas sophomore, outshot the pros and won the first of six qualifying berths. Kite was medalist with a five-under-par 70-69—139.

Disappointment came to Ken Venturi, the 1964 Open champion, at Charlotte, N.C. Non-exempt for the first time since he won, Venturi failed to qualify by shooting eight over par 75-75—150.

A total of 39 qualified at six sites Monday and 77 more were to qualify today. These 116 will join 34 exempt players for the Open at Chaska, Minn., June 18-21.

The major qualifying site today was Chicago where 139 golfers tried for 35 spots. The players included former Open champions Tommy Bolt, Jack Fleck and former Masters winners Gary Brewer and Bob Goalby and Dave Stockton, Jim Colbert, Larry Hinson, Marty Fleckman and Doug Sanders.

Tom Nierporte, Paul Harney, Grier Jones and Bill Farrell were among 107 trying for 13 spots at New York.

Pros beaten by Kite, but qualifying, at Dallas Monday were Bob Dickson, 139, and Rives McBee, 142. Terry Dill was first alternate at 144, and John Schlee failed to qualify with 148.

Among the 16 qualifying at Charlotte were pros Lou Graham, 135; Kel Nagle, 136; Bert Greene, 137, Bobby Mitchell, 139 and Bob Lunn, 139. Charlie Sifford shot a 145 and was one of four alternates.

Tour veteran Dow Finsterwald was one of three to qualify at Denver. He shot a one-over-par 145.

Amateur David Graham's two-under-par 140 was the medal score of five qualifers at Cincinnati, including Sam Snead and his nephew, Jess, each with a 142.

Amateur Vic Loustalot of Sacramento shot a two-over-par 144 at Hesperia, Calif., to be the best of seven qualifers. One of the others was pro Jerry Barber, with 148.

Seals' Issue Gets Back To Courtroom

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The question of who will wind up as owner of the Oakland Seals National Hockey League club went back into court Tuesday, with indications the franchise's worth will be aired.

Superior Court Judge Robert H. Schancke ruled one week ago that Trans-National Communications, Inc., of New York and the Knox brothers of Buffalo, N.Y. lost the team by defaulting on several loans assumed when they bought the team a year ago.

But they challenged the $4.1 million offer of Charles O. Finley to buy the franchise, saying it was improperly negotiated and was commercially unreasonable.

By that, they said they mean the franchise is worth $6 million.

Judge Schancke gave the Seals owner, Barry Van Gerbig's Seals Ltd., a week for accepting other offers.

Seal president William N Creasy Jr. has said there are others interested in buying the franchise, but he would not name them. The only name mentioned previously was Jerry Seltzer of Oakland, Roller Der by promoter.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

The bowler in today's illustration is not likely to achieve much pin-fall. Her left (sliding) foot has reached the foul line, but her right hand has not yet delivered the ball to that point. The left foot and ball should be moving in unison at release. This bowler has probably speeded up her footwork. Don't hurry. You want to reach the foul line "all together."

Mike Garrett Announces He'll Turn To Baseball

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Garrett, at the height of his career as a star running back for the Kansas City Chiefs, formally announced his retirement from pro football Monday because "I just want to try something else" — baseball.

The 26-year-old member of the Super Bowl champion Chiefs confirmed that he would play out the final year of his reported $450,000, five-year contract with Kansas City next season, and then turn to baseball.

Garrett, 5-foot-9, 200 pounds, had talked about quitting for some time when his present pact ran out, and he let it be known last Friday after Baseball's Los Angeles Dodgers picked him in the free agent draft that the time had come. The formal announcement came at a press conference Monday.

Mets Blank Astros

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

All good things must come to an end and so must all bad ones. A good thing ended for Houston's Jack Billingham Monday night and it helped a bad one end for the New York Mets.

Billingham was duelling Jim McAndrew in a scoreless match through five innings and had extended his personal shutout streak to a healthy 25 innings. Then Art Shamsky did a very unhealthy thing to the streak, cracking a two-run homer that carried the Mets to a 2-0 victory over the Astros.

FOURTH STRAIGHT

Shamsky's shot not only ended Billingham's good thing but also halted New York's bad one—a five-game losing streak.

It was New York's fourth straight victory over the Astros—two more than the Mets managed against Houston all of last year. And it came in the Astrodome where the Mets were 0-6 en route to their World Championship in 1969.

McAndrew allowed just five singles and had his only trouble spot in the seventh inning when the Astros bunched three of their hits. But a double play pitch to Jimmy Wynn pulled him out of the jam.

The victory moved McAndrew's record to 2-4. Billingham is 3-1.

BREWERS WIN

In the only other game scheduled Monday, Milwaukee trimmed the Chicago White Sox 5-2 with Tommy Harper's first-pitch homer setting the pace.

Lew Krausse scattered six hits to pick up his fourth victory with the Brewers making it easy by bunching four hits for four runs in the third inning.

Ed Herrmann homered for the White Sox.

Teammate Cleared In Hockey Death

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — New York Rangers' right wing Ron Stewart has been cleared of any responsibility in the death of his teammate, goalie Terry Sawchuk, a National Hockey League veteran.

A Nassau County grand jury heard nine witnesses Monday, then ruled that Sawchuk's death May 31 was accidental.

Sawchuk, 40, was hospitalized April 29, following a scuffle with Stewart. The two shared a house in East Atlantic Beach, N.Y.

Nassau County Dist. Atty. William Cahn said all the witnesses had testified that no punches had been thrown between the two players, who reportedly had been arguing over housecleaning.

The witnesses said Sawchuk and Stewart, 37, began quarreling in a local bar and later continued their shoving and pushing match on the lawn of their home, where Sawchuk was injured.

The record-setting goalie died of a blood clot in New York Hospital following several operations.

Cahn termed the death "tragic, senseless, bizarre."

No Television For 49ers In Oakland

Very few fans of the San Francisco 49ers will be able to see their big National Football League game against cross-bay rival Oakland Raiders at the Oakland Coliseum next Dec. 20.

Already assured of being a sellout, with the great majority of tickets reserved for Raider fans, a proposal to locally televise the game has been turned down by Raider managing general partner Al Davis.

"The decision not to televise home games was made years ago," said Davis.

A disappointed 49er president Lou Spadia, who strongly urged the telecast, said: "Forty-Niner fans have always seen all 49er regular league road games on television. This not only deprives them of that privilege but will also prevent many Oakland Riader fans from seeing the game."

The usual home area blackout has been lifted in at least two other areas for the new pro football alignment.

The New York Jets and Giants and the Los Angeles Rams and San Diego Chargers will televise their home league games next fall, it was announced yesterday.

Said Jets President Philip H. Iselin: "We agreed to relax the blackout rule for this game since it did deprive Giant ticket-holders of seeing their team in action in a road game. If the situation had been reversed, we certainly would have asked the Giants to do the same thing."

The 49ers and Raiders do not meet in another league game until 1974. Then it will be the 49ers' chance to call the shots on local TV.

Rudi Takes Over Jackson's Spot

CLEVELAND (AP) — Reggie Jackson, Oakland's star 1969 home run hitter, probably won't be in the lineup when the A's open a road trip against the Cleveland Indians here tonight.

His repdacement, Joe Rudi, is a new Oakland batting luminary and Manager Joe McNamara indicated Monday he will keep him at the plate.

Rudi had been on Marine Corps reserve duty Sunday and arrived at the Oakland Coliseum—just in time to hit a three-run, ninth-inning homer as the A's beat Detroit 5-2.

McNamara has been keeping Jackson out of the lineup against left-handed pitchers most of the season. Jackson has been in a slump since the start of the campaign.

McNamara has named John "Blue Moon" Odom, 4-4, who has been having shoulder difficulties, to pitch the opener of the three-game series against Cleveland. Bob Moore, 3-4, is scheduled to start for the Indians.

The manager also said he has decided to keep Dick Green in the lineup, for the time being at least.

Green hit .275 and was the American League's top fielding second baseman in 1969, but he is stroking only .185 this year.

"We know he is a better ballplayer than that," McNamara said.

Libya Looms Large In Firm's Future

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I now have 50 shares of Occidental Petroleum bought at 25. Should I buy more at present prices or could you suggest something better? — J.M.

A. A sliding market and investor fears, generated by Occidental's extensive Libyan holdings, have beaten OXY shares down to levels not seen since 1967. The company's oil and gas sales account for approximately 60 per cent of total revenues, a major portion of which is derived from Libyan oil. Thus if the Libyan government should decide to nationalize oil fields, Occidental would be hard hit.

Earnings growth was again curtailed in the initial 1970 quarter. Net income slipped to $42.4 million from $43 million in 1969; per share profits remained at 62 cents year-to-year. Company chairman predicts a 10 per cent increase in full-year earnings which falls well below previous estimates. Moreover, the gain is based on the assumption that a mutually acceptable increase in the posted prices of Libyan oil will be reached. Unless you are willing to gamble, a switch to Phillips Petroleum is suggested.

Q. Just what does a 2-for-1 split mean! Melville Shoe recently sent me, for the second time, additional shares. The first time I received $1 in extra dividend payment. — C. H.

A. The purpose of a stock split is to reduce the share trading price to a level that is considered more marketable. A stock selling at over $50 is apt to have a narrower appeal for potential buyers than one selling at below that level. To you as a stockholder, there is no loss or gain; you now hold two shares worth $25 each rather than one worth $50. A split is often accompanied by a small dividend increase.

Melville has increased its payments annually since 1964, providing long-term holders with a modest but well-covered dividend. Projected earnings improvement again this year could conceivably result in further liberalizing of the dividend later this year.

New Site Bought For Trailer Plant

RIVERSIDE (BW) — Fleetwood Enterprises Inc., a leading national manufacturer of mobile homes, travel trailers and motor homes has announced the purchase of a new plant site in Lawrence, Kan.

According to Dale T. Skinner, president, the site consists of approximately 10 acres. The construction of a plant to produce the company's Fleetwood line of mobile homes will commence shortly.

New Chairman Is Announced For PayLess

OAKLAND (BW) — William L. Gherra, 57, has been elected chairman of the board of Skaggs PayLess Drug Stores, Oakland-based retail chain.

Gherra has been president and chief executive officer of the firm since 1964 and will continue in that capacity.

Roy Martin Jr., currently general manager-store operations, was elected vice president-store operations.

July 1 is the effective date for both new offices, it was announced at the board of directors meeting June 4.

L. J. Skaggs, 72, who steps down as chairman of the board on July 1, is the founder of Skaggs PayLess, opening one of the West's first self-service drug stores in Tacoma, Wash., in 1932.

Stock Dividend Is Announced

LOS ANGELES (BW) — A stock dividend of 5 per cent payable Aug. 15 to stockholders of record June 29 has been declared by the board of directors of the Flying Tiger Line Inc.

This stock dividend would increase the number of outstanding shares from 4,550,638 to 4,778,170.

The air cargo carrier paid a cash dividend of 10 cents per share in 1969.

Robert W. Prescott, president, and Wayne Hoffman, chairman, said the board felt that the stock dividend more appropriately reflects the growth of the company than a nominal cash dividend.

To Buy Shares

NEW YORK (UPI) — Home Insurance Co. will purchase 275,520 shares representing minority interests in the company. City Investing Co. owns about 97 per cent of the outstanding shares of home.

Penn Central Highlights Dull Trading

NEW YORK (UPI)—Penn Central chugged along a firmer path on the New York Stock Exchange today in a session otherwise notable only for its unusually light turnover and narrow price swings.

The railroad issue, which headed the Big Board's most active list, traded more than 225,000 shares and gained 3-4 to 14 following a major shakeup at its top executive level.

Turnover of around 7 million shares compared with 8,040,000 shares Monday.

Chemicals and oils moved in both directions. Steels and motors generally moved in fractions.

DuPont closed up 1 3-8 at 116 3-8 and Jersey Standard gained 1-8, closing at 54 1-2. Bethlehem Steel closed at 23 7-8, up 3-8, and U.S. Steel gained 1-2 to 33 1-8.

Parke, Davis was an active stock as a result of a big block transaction. An early block of 118,200 shares at 16 1-2, off 5-8, was handled by Salomon Brothers & Hutzler for institutions on both sides of the market.

Certain-Teed Products Corp., the Big Board's most active stock Monday, was off 1 1-2 near the close.

Prices were mixed in light turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS

This choice location, on Terrace Ave., offers the rare opportunity of owning a 4-bdrm., 2-bath home with lovely grounds and mature trees plus a gigantic outdoor deck and a patio, all designed to blend in with the beautiful natural resawn cedar exterior. The kitchen is all electric and features custom cabinet work. All windows and patio doors are aluminum and recently installed. The large master bdrm. features beam ceiling and a dressing room with patio doors opening out to the large outdoor deck. You will wonder why the ridiculously low price. The reason is that the remodeled kitchen, 1 bath and some of the trim and painting is not completed. However we have an estimate for completion or do it yourself. You cannot lose either way. Owner moving to east coast and must sell immediately. Don't miss this rare opportunity. Only $33,950.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Computers Finding Increasing Beneficial Use In Medicine

Computers are used in many medical centers and hospitals, but as yet, none has been programmed to replace the physician. These ingenious machines have no bedside manner, or personality. Nor can they express an emotion.

Nevertheless, these labor-saving devices will make the learning of medicine easier, more extensive, and interesting. Screening programs for the evaluation of community mental health already utilize these machines.

PRESENTLY, THE equipment is used most extensively in medical libraries and hospitals.

When I was on the board of regents of the National Medical Library of Medicine, we used giant computers (Medlars) for cataloging, storing, and retrieving scientific data. An astronomical amount of material can be stored in these machines, and it is surprising how quickly needed information can be retrieved.

HOSPITALS ALSO use computers in dietetics, purchasing, inventory, bookkeeping, and billing.

The card begins at the admission desk and it is constantly altered as it passes through the hands of physicians, interns, nurses, and lab technicians. In other words, computers integrate all medical, statistical, and financial data of the hospitalized individual.

Computers also are geared for specific information. When a certain poison is ingested, the physician calls a poison control center for information on severity, treatment, and prognosis. If the data is not available locally, a call is placed to the National Clearing House for Poison Control where all pertinent information is stored. A similar setup is used to match donor and recipient for kidney transplantation.

CONSIDERABLE RESEARCH is being done on computer interpretation of electrocardiograms. Abnormalities are recorded and analyzed, and the computer prints out possible diagnoses.

Various methods also are being investigated on the best way to obtain a medical history. This is difficult because the computer has no way of analyzing the importance of each symptom. It can, however, suggest a possible diagnosis.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

EXTRACTING TEETH

Mrs. R. T. writes: Would it be safe for a woman in the fourth month of pregnancy to have the upper teeth pulled?

REPLY

Yes, if removal is absolutely necessary. Most surgical procedures can be carried out during pregnancy but surgeons play safe by doing only those that are essential. Extractions, for example, will not affect the pregnancy per se but the procedure may interfere with eating. This in turn would alter the nutritional status of mother and child.

TWO PERIODS A MONTH

A reader writes: What would cause a woman to have a period twice a month? Is there any danger in the future?

REPLY

This lady needs a gynecological examination. Periods that occur every 10 days ought to be investigated. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on menstrual irregularities.

OIL FOR BABY

A reader writes: I just had a new baby and would like to know if I should put oil on his skin each time he gets a bath? P.S. I bathe him twice a day.

REPLY

No, excessive oiling is not recommended because the oil may produce skin eruptions. Why are you bathing the little fellow twice a day?

Today's Health Hint—Skin diving is not for novices, it requires special training.

House Will Send Team To Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring it needs a new look at Indochina, the House has decided to send its own task force to Vietnam to review the progress of the war.

After three hours of wrangling and four roll calls, the House Monday approved 223 to 101 a resolution creating a special 12-member committee to investigate all aspects of U.S. military involvement in Southeast Asia within 45 days.

The resolution was sponsored by Rep. G. V. "Sonny" Montgomery, D-Miss., who is expected to lead the committee. He said it would provide the House with information independent of that gathered by presidential commissions or other study groups.

It is planned for the House committee to leave after a special group of senators, representatives and other governmental leaders returns from a Vietnam trip requested by President Nixon.

Monday night a farmer, a housewife, a minister and a retired professor left at Nixon's instigation as part of an eight-member delegation going to Vietnam for a repeat of a trip they made more than two years ago.

The House debate Monday split along hawk-dove lines, with antiwar members contending the committee would be "carrier pigeons" of the military view of the war.

"We need this committee just like we need extra holes in the head," Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo., remarked.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, suggested all 430 House members be armed with rifles and go to Southeast Asia to relieve two Army battalions.

The committee will be composed of six members of each party.

On a separate roll call the House voted against a preamble Montgomery originally had written into his resolution.

The preamble was eliminated by an amendment in the House Rules Committee. It stated the use of U.S. troops in Cambodia had "added a new dimension to the war in Southeast Asia."

While Americans may be smoking less, the rest of the world seems to be puffing more, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture in reporting a record 153 billion packs of cigarettes were consumed in 1969.

Mace Bearer Asserts His Authority

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — A 77-year-old professor of Romance languages has asserted the authority of Cornell University by swinging its symbol--a mace--on a young demonstrator.

Morris Bishop, Alpha Kappa professor emeritus, carried the university mace in Monday's commencement exercises here and used it to beat back a youth trying to wrest the microphones from university officials.

"The mace," Bishop related, "was originally a weapon of offense in the Middle Ages. Richard the Lionhearted used to carry one at his side all the time.

"So I saw no reason why I shouldn't use it for the same purpose. I poked him and pushed him back."

Witnesses said Bishop, a stocky man, took the 14-pound silver and gold instrument from his right shoulder and delivered a blow at the young man's side.

"He stumbled back a few feet," Bishop said, "then a couple of the strong-arm boys (campus police) took him away."

Police arrested three of the demonstrators. Two, a student and a former student identified by university officials as an activist leader during his days on campus, were charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

The third man, who police said was not associated with the university, was charged with third degree assault.

The 4-foot mace is a tapered silver shaft with a gold terrestrial globe at the top. The globe is surrounded by silver ribs and a 1½-inch image of a bear holding an oar sits on top.

It was designed by Sir Eric Clements of the Goldsmith's Guild of London.

Bishop is no stranger to campus disorders, though his research in the subject has centered mainly on the 19th Century variety.

In a recent talk before the Board of Trustees of the Cornell University Council, Bishop termed current campus demonstrations tame compared to those of the early 1800s.

Speaking on the "lower depths of higher education," he detailed pitched battles with faculty members, horsewhipping and cannon bombardments. On occasion, he said, the faculty fought back.

Innocent Plea To Charge Of Hit-Run Driving

Gerald Thomas Fisher, 42, of Woodacre, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of hit-and-run driving stemming from an accident in North Marin December 18.

Two additional hit-run charges were dismissed, and Fisher was told to appear in superior court Thursday for setting of a sentencing date.

Fisher was charged with causing three accidents, one in Bel Marin Keys where he sideswiped a car; one on Highway 37 where he allegedly went the wrong way on an on-ramp, causing a car to overturn, and a final one on Highway 101, where he again reportedly drove on the wrong side of the highway striking a car and causing it to hit another one head-on. Three persons were injured in the accidents.

Fisher apparently fled on foot after the last accident, hitchhiked home and was taken to Marin General Hospital by his wife. Hospital authorities called police after treating him for a cut.

TV REVIEW

Critics Cast Votes For Honors

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The children's series "Sesame Street," Anne Bancroft's special and the drama "My Sweet Charlie" have been named the best television programs of the past year in the fifth annual Critics' Consensus Poll.

Participants in the balloting were 15 daily television columnists including this writer from New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago, Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, Boston, Houston, Detroit, Miami, St. Louis, San Diego, Newark and Memphis. The period covered was from mid-May to mid-May.

"Sesame Street," an offering of National Educational Television; "My Sweet Charlie," an original two-hour movie on NBC-TV, and Miss Bancroft's CBS comedy-and-music special, "Annie, the Women in the Life of a Man," were the only shows to get the required two-thirds vote.

IN CONTRAST

In contrast to the Emmy awards, the critics' consensus has no categories. Programs, people and organizations are nominated by poll patricipants strictly on the basis of merit rather than merely to fill out a voting form. There were 36 nominees this year.

No nominee ever has received the unanimous vote of the critics, but "Sesame Street" came closest, getting 14 of the 15 possible ballots. Miss Bancroft's special and "My Sweet Charlie," which concerned the friendship of a poor southern white girl (Patty Duke) and a young black lawyer from the north (Al Freeman Jr.) each got 10 votes.

Receiving eight votes were ABC-TV's "Room 222," a comedy-drama series about an integrated big city high school; and "Hospital," Frederick Wiseman's NET documentary.

MOON LANDING

There were seven votes each for all the networks' coverage of the first manned moon landing; the syndicated David Frost show; the "CBS Children's Hour" drama, "J.T.," about a Harlem boy; and NET's "The Forsythe Saga" and "Trial—The City of Denver vs. Lauren B. Watson."

Six votes went to Miss Duke's performance in "My Sweet Charlie" and an equal number of columnists cited the late Dean Gysel of the Chicago Daily News for "excellence in TV criticism."

Four ballots apiece were recorded for the anti-smoking commercials of the American Cancer Society and the American Heart Association; NBC-TV's Documentary "Arthur Rubinstein;" CBS-TV's "Health in America, Part One;" the "CBS Playhouse" comedy-drama "Sadbird," about a young man torn between the hippie and business worlds; and Al Freemans' performance in "My Sweet Charlie."
